Introduction

The following information is presented as supplied and filed by the Napa County Superior Court of California. This resource contains over 3700 pages of documentation, consisting of over 400 separate documents.

The Napa County Superior Court has arranged these documents beginning in reverse chronological order, and then reverting to standard chronological order. Accordingly, pages 3-2945 run from May 16, 2005 to July 24, 2003. Pages 2946-3738 run from June 2, 2005 to April 10, 2007.

Though the filing order is somewhat disconcerting, this PDF data collection has bookmarks with date stamps to assist in understanding the sequence of events. The first bookmarked document on page 3 is dated 050516 (year/month/day).

The sheer number of documents would, in the opinion of this author, create such an unwieldy table of contents as to make it self-defeating. For this particular presentation, the built in bookmarks will better serve as a table of contents.

When the Court originally supplied these documents it inadvertently released pages that should have been sealed. Pages 3685 to 3701 of this collection show the result. In particular, pages 3687 and 3701 detail and explain what occurred.

10. Client is hereby notified of the following effects this order may have upon parties.

NOTICE TO CLIENT

Your present attorney will no longer be representing you. You may not in most cases represent yourself if you are one of the parties on the following list:

- A guardian
- A conservator
- A trustee
- A personal representative
- A probate fiduciary
- A corporation
- A guardian ad litem
- An unincorporated association

If you are one of these parties, YOU SHOULD IMMEDIATELY SEEK LEGAL ADVICE REGARDING LEGAL REPRESENTATION. Failure to retain an attorney may lead to an order striking the pleadings or to the entry of a default judgment.

11. Client is notified that, if the client will be representing himself or herself, the client shall be solely responsible for the case.

NOTICE TO CLIENT WHO WILL BE UNREPRESENTED

You will not have an attorney representing you. You may wish to seek legal assistance. If you do not have a new attorney to represent you in this action or proceeding, and you are legally permitted to do so, you will be representing yourself. It will be your responsibility to comply with all court rules and applicable laws. If you fail to do so, or fail to appear at hearings, action may be taken against you. You may lose your case.

12. Client is notified that it is the client's duty to keep the court informed at all times of the client's current address.

NOTICE TO CLIENT WHO WILL BE UNREPRESENTED

The court needs to know how to contact you. If you do not keep the court and other parties informed of your current address and telephone number, they will not be able to send you notices of actions that may affect you, including actions that may adversely affect your interests or result in your losing the case.

TO: ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD HEREIN:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on August 16, 2005, at 8:30 a.m. before the Honorable W. Scott Snowden in Dept. B of the above-entitled Court, defendant CHRISTIAN CONGREGATION OF JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES ("CCJW") will and hereby does seek an order granting it summary judgment or, in the alternative, summary adjudication against each cause of action alleged against it by each plaintiff in each of these coordinated cases.

These motions are brought pursuant to CCP § 437c on grounds that there is no dispute as to any material fact and CCJW is entitled to summary judgment or summary adjudication as a matter of law. The basis for CCJW's motions for summary judgment or alternative motions for summary adjudication is that CCJW did not exist as a legal entity at any time period relevant to these coordinated cases, i.e., during the periods in which plaintiffs each contend they were abused and, therefore, CCJW cannot be liable under any legal theory alleged by plaintiffs in these coordinated cases.

These motions are based on this notice and the concurrently filed memorandum of points and authorities, the separate statement of undisputed material facts, the Affidavit of William H. Nonkes, and all other papers and pleadings on file in these coordinated cases.

AND COORDINATED CASES

Case No.: 26-22191 (lead case)

JCCP No. 4374

DEFENDANT CCJW'S MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT OF MOTIONS FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT AND ALTERNATIVE MOTIONS FOR SUMMARY ADJUDICATION IN ALL COORDINATED CASES

Date: August 16, 2005
Time: 8:30 a.m.
Dept: B
Trial Dates: Not yet set

Introduction

The alleged facts in these coordinated cases relevant to these motions for summary judgment or alternative motions for summary adjudication are straightforward. All causes of action alleged by each plaintiff in each of these coordinated cases arise from alleged sexual abuse committed by an individual or an individual defendant against each plaintiff. (Each plaintiff alleges that only one person allegedly abused him or her, and each individual defendant has been sued in only one or two cases.) The complaints in these coordinated cases generally allege that the alleged abusers were each in an appointed position with a local congregation when the abuse occurred.

Each plaintiff alleges eight causes of action against CCJW, as follows: (a) Common law negligence; (b) negligent appointment, retention, and/or supervision of the alleged abuser; (c) gross negligence – willful misconduct; (d) breach of fiduciary duty; (e) intentional infliction of emotional distress; (f) fraud – misrepresentation; (g) fraud – concealment; and (h) conspiracy.[1]

However, in view of the indisputable fact that CCJW was not incorporated and thus did not come into existence until August 21, 2000, which was well after the dates of the alleged abuse in each of the coordinated cases, it was legally impossible for CCJW to have acted negligently at any relevant time period, to have owed and/or breached any legally cognizable duty to any plaintiff at any relevant time period, to have committed fraud at any relevant time period, to have conspired with any person or entity at any relevant time period, etc. As a result, CCJW is entitled to summary judgment or, in the alternative, summary adjudication as to each plaintiff's causes of action alleged in each of the coordinated cases.

Undisputed Material Facts

CCJW's required separate statement of undisputed material facts establishes the following: The moving defendant, CCJW, was incorporated as a non-profit corporation in Putnam County, New York on August 21, 2000. (Undisputed Material Fact ("UMF") No. 1) The address of CCJW is 2821 Route 22, Patterson, New York, 12563-2237. (UMF No. 2) CCJW is a not-for-profit corporation and exists as a separate corporate entity that is distinct from all other corporations and entities. (UMF No. 3)

No other corporation or entity controls CCJW by reason of interlocking directorates or other reasons. (UMF No. 4) CCJW is not financially accountable to or financially responsible for any other corporation or entity. (UMF No. 5). Upon incorporation, CCJW did not purchase or otherwise acquire, and has not since purchased or otherwise acquired, any other corporation or entity that existed prior to August 21, 2000. (UMF No. 6) When CCJW was incorporated it did not assume any liabilities, contingent or otherwise, of any other defendant named in these coordinated cases, nor has CCJW assumed any such liabilities since incorporation. (UMF No. 7)

[1] Some of those causes of action were dismissed as a result of the court's April 2005 rulings on the Church Defendants' demurrers. However, for purposes of the instant motions, those rulings are inconsequential, because defendant CCJW moves against all causes of action alleged against it by each plaintiff.

Plaintiffs in the coordinated cases have alleged that their abuse took place during the following years:

10. Tim W. v. Watchtower New York, et al.
Tehama County Superior Court no. 52594
Alleged abuse: 1994, First Amended Complaint, ¶¶ 21-22

(UMF No. 8)

In sum, the earliest abuse is alleged to have taken place in Charissa W. v. Watchtower et al. (Napa County Superior Court no. 26-22191) in the year 1972, which was 28 years before CCJW was formed as a corporation. On the other hand, the most recent incident of abuse is alleged to have taken place in Javier C. v. Watchtower et al. (Placer County Superior Court no. SCV16723) in the year 1998, which still was two years before CCJW was formed as a corporation.

CCJW brings these motions for summary judgment or alternative motions for summary adjudication on the grounds that, because CCJW did not exist as a corporation or other legal entity until August 21, 2000, CCJW cannot be held liable or responsible under any legal theory alleged by plaintiffs for their alleged abuse which, as detailed above, plaintiffs variously allege occurred in the years 1972 to 1998.

Discussion

Standard for summary judgment. The standard for summary judgment is set forth at the Code of Civil Procedure ("CCP") § 437c(a), which provides in pertinent part: "Any party may move for summary judgment in any motion or proceeding if it is contended that the action has no merit or that there is no defense to the action or proceeding." CCP § 437c(c) provides, in part:

> The motion for summary judgment shall be granted if all the papers submitted show that there is no triable issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. In determining whether the papers show that there is no triable issue as to any material fact, the court shall consider all of the evidence set forth in the papers, except that to which objections have been made and sustained by the court, and all inferences reasonably deductible from the evidence....

The purpose of the summary judgment procedure is to protect the rights of the parties from spurious or meritless complaints or answers and to expedite litigation by avoiding needless trials. McCreery v. Eli Lilly and Co. (1978) 87 Cal.App.3d 77, 81. The primary duty of the court in ruling on a motion for summary judgment is to determine whether there are any material issues of fact to be tried. Blair v. Pitchess (1971) 5 Cal.App.3d 268, 284. If examination of the affidavits and other evidence filed in connection with a motion for summary judgment reveals that no triable issue of fact exists, summary judgment is appropriate. Conde v. Union Oil Co. (1945) 129 Cal.App.2d 558, 562.

When the defendant is the moving party, the defendant has the initial burden of putting forth evidence that one or more of the plaintiff's causes of action cannot be established or that there is a complete defense to that cause of action. CCP § 437c(c)(1), (2). Once the defendant meets this burden, the burden then shifts to plaintiff to show that a triable issue on one or more material facts exists to the action or defense. Id. If plaintiff fails to carry this burden, summary judgment must be granted.

The plaintiffs cannot prevail on any claim against CCJW, because there is no actual case or controversy between plaintiffs and CCJW. It is well settled that California courts may only render judgments in actual controversies between parties. As the California Supreme Court has stated:

> It is settled that "the duty of this court, as of every other judicial tribunal, is to decide actual controversies by a judgment which can be carried into effect, and not to give opinions on moot questions or abstract propositions, or to declare principles or rules of law which cannot affect the matter in issue in the case before it."

Paul v. Milk Depots, Inc. (1964) 62 Cal.App.2d 129, 132, 41 Cal.Rptr. 468, 470 (citation omitted); see also National Ass'n of Wine Bottlers v. Paul (1969) 268 Cal.App.2d 741, 746, 74 Cal.Rptr. 303, 306. The controversy itself must be "definite" and "concrete" and affect the legal relations of parties having adverse legal interests. Alameda County Land Use Ass'n v. City of Hayward (1995) 38 Cal.App.4th 1716, 1722, 45 Cal.Rptr.2d 752, 755.

The case or controversy principle "'is a tenet of common law jurisprudence, the precise content of which is difficult to define and hard to apply. ... A controversy is 'ripe' when it has reached, but has not passed, the point that the facts have sufficiently congealed to permit an intelligent and useful decision to be made.'" Id. (citing California Water & Telephone Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1967) 253 Cal.App.2d 16, 22, 61 Cal.Rptr. 618). Thus, a court has no jurisdiction over a matter where there is no actual controversy between two parties, and such matters must be dismissed.

With respect to each of the coordinated cases, CCJW was not incorporated until August 21, 2000, which was some two years after the last alleged incident abuse in all of the coordinated cases. (See UMF Nos. 1 and 8) Because CCJW did not exist at any time during the various time periods of alleged abuse of plaintiffs, it was legally impossible for CCJW to have acted negligently at any relevant time period, to have owed and/or breached any legally cognizable duty to any plaintiff at any relevant time period, to have committed fraud at any relevant time period, to have conspired with any person or entity at any relevant time period, etc. Simply stated, CCJW could not have been legally responsible or liable for the welfare of the various plaintiffs during the time periods in which plaintiffs each allege they were abused.

Although plaintiffs may argue that CCJW is somehow an alter ego of one of the other corporate defendants, Mr. Nonkes' affidavit establishes that CCJW was incorporated as a not-for-profit corporation in 2000 and exists as a separate corporate entity that is distinct from all other corporations and entities. (UMF Nos. 1 and 3). Additionally, CCJW is not controlled by any other corporation or entity, is not financially accountable to or financially responsible for any other corporation or entity, and did not purchase or otherwise acquire any other corporation or entity that existed prior to CCJW's incorporation on August 21, 2000. (UMF Nos. 4-6) In addition, CCJW did not and has not assumed or acquired any liabilities, contingent or otherwise, of any other defendant named in these coordinated cases. (UMF No. 7)

Thus, as a matter of law, CCJW could not have been an alter ego of any other corporation or entity prior to the time CCJW came into existence. It necessarily follows that any such alter ego argument by plaintiffs here would be disingenuous at best and, indeed, as a matter of law would lack all merit.

Conclusion

Defendant CCJW, a corporation, was formed and came into existence only after the alleged abuse of each plaintiff had occurred in all of the coordinated cases. Plaintiffs thus fail to allege any viable causes of action against CCJW, because CCJW could not have had any connection whatsoever to the alleged liability producing conduct in each of the coordinated cases. It follows that the Court should grant CCJW's motions for summary judgment or alternative motions for summary adjudication as to each and every one of plaintiffs' causes of action alleged in each of the coordinated cases. CCJW should be dismissed with prejudice from all of the coordinated cases and awarded its costs herein.

I, William H. Nonkes, after having been duly sworn, hereby depose and say:

1. I am over the age of eighteen (18) years, of sound mind, and am legally competent in all respects. I have personal knowledge of the matters stated herein, and they are all true and correct.

2. I am the Secretary and Treasurer of Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses (hereinafter "CCJW") and in such capacity, I am the designated agent of CCJW for the purposes of this litigation.

3. CCJW was incorporated in the State of New York, County of Putnam, on August 21, 2000. The address of the corporation is 2821 Route 22, Patterson, New York 12563-2237. CCJW did not exist prior to its date of incorporation and, therefore, did not exist at any time from 1972 to 1998, the dates of the alleged abuse identified in the plaintiffs' complaints in the coordinated lawsuits.

4. CCJW is incorporated and operates as a not-for-profit corporation. CCJW has not been and is not controlled by any other corporation or entity by reason of interlocking directorates or other reasons. CCJW has not been and is not financially accountable to or financially responsible for any other corporation or entity involved in these lawsuits.

5. CCJW did not purchase or otherwise acquire any other corporation or entity that existed prior to CCJW's incorporation on August 21, 2000, nor has CCJW done so since then. At the time of its incorporation, CCJW did not assume or acquire, and since that time has not assumed or acquired, any liabilities, contingent or otherwise, of any defendant named as a party in any of the coordinated cases.

6. CCJW is a separate corporate entity from all other corporations and entities, including, but not limited to, Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses, Kingdom Support Services, Inc., and all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

7. At the time of the alleged abuses that are the bases of these coordinated lawsuits, namely 1972 to 1998, none of the co-defendants including, Edward Villegas (Charissa W. v. Watchtower and Tabitha H. v. Watchtower), Carlos Vasquez (Javier C. v. Watchtower), Albert W. (Red) Harriman (Ken L. v. Watchtower), Timothy Silva (West v. Watchtower), Donald Glew (Jocelyn A. v. Watchtower and Dennis S. v. Watchtower), Shawn Appling (Danielle A. v.

Watchtower), Alvin Heard (Wimberly Gutierrez v. Watchtower), or James Henderson (Wimberly Gutierrez v. Watchtower and Tim W. v. Watchtower), were acting as a volunteer, agent, servant, employee, officer, director, or representative of CCJW, and none of them ever acted in such capacities for CCJW prior to 1972 or since 1998.

I declare under the penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my information, belief, and knowledge.

9. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, associate, or otherwise, of defendants DOES 1 through 20, inclusive, are unknown to Plaintiffs who therefore sues such defendants by such fictitious names, and will amend the complaint to show the true names and capacities of each DOE defendant when ascertained. Plaintiffs allege on information and belief that each defendant designated as a DOE is legally responsible in some manner for the events, happenings, and/or tortuous, and unlawful conduct that caused the injuries and damages alleged in this complaint.

10. The Defendant entities are collectively referred to herein as the "WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS" and each is the agent, servant and alter ego of each other and operates as a single business enterprise. Each Defendant was acting within the scope and course of his or its authority as an agent, servant, and/or alter ego of the other and each of them engaged and joined with the other wrongdoers in carrying out the unlawful activities alleged in this complaint.

II.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

11. Each Plaintiff has been damaged in an amount exceeding the minimum jurisdictional requirements of this Court.

12. Venue is proper in Napa County, California because most of the acts or omissions that give rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in Napa County, California and Defendant NAPA KINGDOM HALL now doing business as NAPA CONGREGATION OF JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES and OAK KNOLL CONGREGATION and JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES SIVERADO CONGREGATION is a resident of Napa County.

III.

FACTS COMMON TO ALL CAUSES OF ACTION

13. In the past, certain Elders, Ministerial Servants, Pioneers, agents, volunteers and other leaders and representatives of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization, including Edward Villegas, have used their appointed positions of authority within the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization to sexually abuse minors, including Plaintiffs. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS were notified of the abuse of these minors perpetrated by their appointed elder, Edward Villegas, and others, but intentionally concealed this information and continued to place Edward Villegas in positions of authority where he could abuse children while pursuing activities within the scope of his appointment. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to take reasonable steps to ensure the safety of Plaintiffs and other minor children entrusted to their care and to prevent future acts of molestation. This suit seeks compensation for Plaintiffs who were victims of this sexual abuse.

14. All paragraphs of this Complaint are based on information and belief, except for those allegations, which pertain to the Plaintiffs and their counsel. Plaintiffs' information and belief are based upon, inter alia, the investigation conducted to date by Plaintiffs and their counsel. Each allegation in this Complaint either has, or is likely to have, evidentiary support upon further investigation and discovery.

15. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization has a hierarchical structure with a strict chain of command that extends over individual and entity in the organization. These individuals and entities act agents, servants and alter egos of each other.

16. All of the Defendants are the agents and servants of each other and are vicariously liable for each other's acts. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS are so organized and controlled and their affairs are so conducted that they are alter egos of each other and operate as a single business enterprise.

17. Through its hierarchical structure, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS assume responsibility for the development, protection and discipline of its membership, especially the children of members. Elders, Ministerial Servants, Pioneers and other leaders are appointed and empowered by the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS to carry out this responsibility.

18. To further their goals, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS authorize male Elders, Ministerial Servants, Pioneers and other appointed male leaders to develop relationships of trust with women, children and families and to assume a role of counselor and advocate for problems that might arise, including claims of child abuse. It is the responsibility of the Elders and those higher in the chain of command to decide if abuse has occurred and how it should be handled.

19. Despite knowledge of a problem with sexual abuse of minors by appointed leaders in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS acted to continue to appoint these sexual offenders to positions of authority and put them in positions which gave them the opportunity to abuse children through activities within the scope of their appointment. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS demonstrated willful indifference and/or reckless and/or intentional disregard for the interest and safety of the children entrusted to their care. Rather than implement measures to redress and prevent the sexual molestation of these children, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS engaged in a systematic pattern and practice of suppression of information to cover-up and hide incidents of child molestation from law enforcement and their membership in order to protect the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' reputation as well as those within the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization who committed acts of sexual molestation against children.

20. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS have likewise engaged in the routine practice of maintaining secret archival files regarding sexual abuse by Elders, Ministerial Servants, Pioneers and other appointed leaders in the organization. The existence of these files and the contents thereof were not disclosed or made available to law enforcement authorities or others in order for law enforcement to investigate the crimes of these leaders in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS concealed complaints of sexual misconduct to law enforcement authorities and failed to remove molesting leaders or prevent their access to children. Known molesting leaders were reaffirmed as leaders in good standing in the organization and were given authority that permitted continued frequent and unsupervised access to children in the organization.

21. At all material times, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS prohibited the victim and/or accuser from warning others or speaking about the matter to anyone under penalty of discipline. Victim/accusers were not permitted to report suspected abuse to outside authorities or to other Publishers within the organization, despite secular laws and duties regarding the reporting of sexual Abuse. Violation of this policy would lead to severe sanctions.

22. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS also failed to provide Plaintiffs and their families with any notice or warning regarding the past misconduct of, and abuse by, Edward Villegas. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS represented to Plaintiffs, members and the public that Edward Villegas and other leaders were fit to lead, when in fact they were predator pedophiles. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS knew or had reason to know that Edward Villegas and other leader molesters would continue to sexually molest children, using their leadership positions to gain access to and control over their victims.

23. Beginning in at least 1970, if not earlier, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS appointed Edward Villegas to the leadership position of Elder with authority over women and children in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization.

24. In approximately 1970, Plaintiff CHARISSA W. and her mother, Betty Hopkins, came under the instruction and care of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization through their agent, Edward Villegas, and his wife, Marsha Villegas. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS used the daycare center run out of the Villegas home to attract new converts. Plaintiff CHARISSA W. was approximately 1 year old at the time. Betty Hopkins became one of those new converts and entrusted her daughter, Plaintiff CHARISSA W. to the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care.

25. In approximately 1971, Plaintiff NICOLE D. and her family came under the care of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization and entrusted NICOLE D. to the leadership of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent, Edward Villegas. Through his position of leadership with the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS, Edward Villegas developed a relationship of trust and confidence with Plaintiff NICOLE D. and her family, working with them at WATCHTOWER DEFENDANT events and inviting them into his home.

26. Beginning by at least 1972, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent, Edward Villegas, used his position as an Elder to gain access to children under the care of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS organization and to sexually abuse them. Villegas also exploited the victims' youth.

27. In about 1972, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent, Edward Villegas began sexually molesting Plaintiff, CHARISSA W. by, among other things, fondling her genitals, digitally penetrating her vagina and forcing her to have oral sex. She was approximately three (3) or four (4) years old at the time. For the next twelve (12) to thirteen (13) years, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent, Edward Villegas continued to use his leadership position as an Elder to gain access to and sexually abuse Plaintiff, CHARISSA W., who was under the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care. Plaintiff's position as a minor in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization, as well Edward Villegas' position as a spiritual leader and authority figure in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization allowed him to maintain control and influence over Plaintiff and others. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS enabled Edward Villegas to abuse Plaintiff and others by appointing him to positions of authority to engage in activities that gave him access to children, and then actively concealing his ongoing sexual abuse. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS, each of them, used their positions in the organization to aid and abet Edward Villegas and other leaders in the sexual abuse and exploitation of minors in the organization and in furtherance of the conspiracy to conceal the sexual molestation occurring within the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization.

28. During this time period, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent, Edward Villegas, was also using his appointed position of authority as an Elder to sexually abuse other children under the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care.

29. In approximately 1978, Edward Villegas used his appointed position as an Elder and leader in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization to gain access to and sexually abuse Plaintiff, NICOLE D., a child under the care of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization. Plaintiff, NICOLE D. was approximately seven (7) years old when the abuse occurred. Using his delegated authority as a leader in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization, Edward Villegas forced Plaintiff, NICOLE D. to have oral sex with him.

30. When Plaintiff, NICOLE D. told her parents about the abuse, her father immediately reported it to the Elders of Defendant, NAPA KINGDOM HALL pursuant to instructions by the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS. In response, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS took no steps to hold him accountable or to otherwise notify members and the families of the children whom they had placed under the authority of their agent, Edward Villegas to sexually abuse minor children. Instead, they intentionally concealed this information. Therefore, Edward Villegas was able to continue to use his position of authority.

31. For over two decades, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS knew or should have known that their appointed agent, Edward Villegas was using his position of authority in the organization to gain access to and sexually molest and physically abuse adolescents under the care of the organization. Nevertheless, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS continued to appoint Edward Villegas to leadership positions in their local congregations, entrusting him with the welfare of numerous adolescents in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' local congregations. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' agent then used his position of authority in the organization to gain access to and sexually molest Plaintiffs and others. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to notify anyone that their agent, Edward Villegas was molesting or had sexually molested adolescents under the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care. They further failed to take any steps to protect these young victims from his abuse. Instead, they knowingly concealed this information from Plaintiffs and others, thereby aiding and abetting the abuse.

32. When the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS received reports of their agent's acts of sexual abuse against children entrusted to their care, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS assumed the exclusive responsibility for dealing with the problem. They instructed families of victims that they should leave the matter to the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS to handle. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS chose not to report the abuse to law enforcement authorities nor did they warn any other members of the organization that they had appointed a dangerous pedophile to positions of leadership with authority over children. They did not act to help Plaintiffs or their families deal with the trauma of abuse and actively prevented them from obtaining help from trained professionals and other available sources. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to take appropriate steps to hold their agent, Edward Villegas, accountable for his conduct or to assist him in addressing his propensities.

33. Edward Villegas used the authority of his position in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization to gain access to and sexually abuse Plaintiffs and others. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS directly and vicariously caused foreseeable harm to Plaintiffs by, among other things:

a. aiding and abetting the abuse of children by their appointed agents;

b. blaming, humiliating, sanctioning and/or disciplining victims/accusers of sexual abuse instead of the perpetrator;

c. intentionally failing to report such sexual abuse, including the abuse by Edward Villegas to law enforcement and governmental child welfare agencies and requiring that members not make such reports;

d. intentionally refusing to warn Plaintiffs, their families, and others of the risk of abuse by Edward Villegas after they knew or should have known of his propensities to use his positions of leadership to engage in acts of sexual abuse against children entrusted to the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care;

e. negligently failing to train its Elders, Overseers, Ministerial Servants and other appointed leaders to identify, investigate, prevent and respond to or report child abuse;

f. negligently failing to adopt adequate policies and procedures for the protection of children and other members and/or to implement and comply with such procedures that did exist;

g. failing to properly investigate matters brought to the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' attention involving child sexual abuse and/or suspicions of child sexual abuse;

h. negligently failing to provide child abuse victims and their families with assistance in coping with the trauma of abuse and preventing Plaintiffs and their families from reporting the abuse to outside authorities and obtaining outside help to deal with the trauma of abuse;

i. intentionally concealing from Plaintiffs and their families that the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS had information that their agent, Edward Villegas was using his position of authority to abuse young children entrusted to their care by the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS;

j. negligently retaining and failing to properly supervise Edward Villegas as a leader in the organization or to monitor his activities after they knew or should have known of his propensities to use his position of leadership to engage in acts of sexual abuse.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
COMMON-LAW NEGLIGENCE

34. Plaintiffs incorporate herein by this reference and re-allege paragraphs 1 through 33 of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

35. Plaintiffs allege, at all times herein mentioned, that the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS assumed a duty to protect Plaintiffs from sexual predators within the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS further knew or should have known that Plaintiffs were at risk of foreseeable harm by their agent, Edward Villegas, but failed to act to protect them from said harm. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS breached their duty to Plaintiffs, thereby causing great harm to Plaintiffs.

36. As a legal result of Defendants' conduct as described hereinabove, Plaintiffs have suffered, and will continue to suffer great pain of mind, body, shock, emotional distress, physical manifestations of emotional distress, embarrassment, loss of self-esteem, disgrace, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life. Further, Plaintiffs were prevented and will continue to be prevented from performing daily activities and obtaining the full enjoyment of life. Each Plaintiff has sustained loss of earnings and earning capacity. Each Plaintiff has incurred and will incur expenses for medical and psychological treatment, therapy, and counseling.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
NEGLIGENT APPOINTMENT, RETENTION AND SUPERVISION

37. Plaintiffs incorporate herein by this reference and re-allege paragraphs 1 through 36 of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

38. Plaintiffs allege, at all times herein mentioned, that the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS knew or should have known of their agents, Edward Villegas', propensities to use his position as a leader in the local congregation to engage in acts of sexual abuse of young, vulnerable and defenseless victims such as Plaintiffs. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to adequately investigate, evaluate, and otherwise research the background of their agent, Edward Villegas, prior to appointing him to leadership positions and allowing him unsupervised access to young victims such as Plaintiffs.

39. Plaintiffs further allege that after Edward Villegas was appointed by WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS acting on behalf of and under the supervision of the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS, WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to adequately investigate, evaluate, monitor and supervise the conduct of their agent, Edward Villegas, during his interactions with children to whom WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS allowed him unsupervised access.

40. Plaintiff's further allege that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS failed to provide adequate warning to Plaintiffs and their families of their agent's dangerous propensities and unfitness to lead.

41. Plaintiffs further allege the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS negligently investigated, appointed, retained and supervised Edward Villegas in the organization at a time when they knew or should have known of his propensities to use his appointed position to engage in acts of sexual abuse against Plaintiffs and other young children under the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' care.

42. As a legal result of Defendants' conduct as described hereinabove, Plaintiffs have suffered, and will continue to suffer great pain of mind, body, shock, emotional distress, physical manifestations of emotional distress, embarrassment, loss of self-esteem, disgrace, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life. Further, Plaintiffs were prevented and will continue to be prevented from performing daily activities and obtaining the full enjoyment of life. Each Plaintiff has sustained loss of earnings and earning capacity. Each Plaintiff has incurred and will incur expenses for medical and psychological treatment, therapy, and counseling.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
GROSS NEGLIGENCE/WILFUL MISCONDUCT

43. Plaintiffs incorporate herein by this reference and re-allege paragraphs 1 through 42 of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

44. Plaintiffs allege, at all times herein mentioned, that the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS demonstrated a conscious indifference to the safety and welfare of Plaintiffs. Defendants knew or should have known of the dangerous propensities of their agent, Edward Villegas, yet failed to act to protect the health, safety and welfare of children in the custody and care of WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS, thereby allowing Plaintiffs to be sexually abused. But for the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' wilful misconduct and gross negligence in failing to implement safeguards to protect Plaintiffs, in violation of WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' duty to protect the children entrusted to their and Edward Villegas' care and custody, the sexual abuse would have been prevented.

45. Plaintiffs further allege that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' actions, constituting wilful misconduct and gross negligence described hereinabove, caused significant mental, emotional, and physical injuries as a result of the acts of sexual abuse described hereinabove.

46. As a legal result of Defendants' conduct as described hereinabove, Plaintiffs have suffered, and will continue to suffer great pain of mind, body, shock, emotional distress, physical manifestations of emotional distress, embarrassment, loss of self-esteem, disgrace, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life. Further, Plaintiffs were prevented and will continue to be prevented from performing daily activities and obtaining the full enjoyment of life. Each Plaintiff has sustained loss of earnings and earning capacity. Each Plaintiff has incurred and will incur expenses for medical and psychological treatment, therapy, and counseling.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY

47. Plaintiffs incorporate herein by this reference and re-allege paragraphs 1 through 46 of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

48. Plaintiffs allege, at all times herein mentioned, that by holding Edward Villegas out as a qualified Elder and leader in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization, and by undertaking the religious instruction and spiritual and emotional counseling of Plaintiffs, who were young and vulnerable, the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS, created a fiduciary relationship with Plaintiffs. The WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS were in positions of trust and confidence with Plaintiffs and such relationship imposed on them a duty to act to protect Plaintiffs' best interests.

49. Plaintiffs further allege that because of this special relationship, Plaintiffs, who were young and vulnerable, and their families placed their trust and confidence in the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS to protect them from harm and to warn Plaintiffs of potential harm. This conduct was a breach of the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiffs by WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS.

50. As a legal result of Defendants' conduct as described hereinabove, Plaintiffs have suffered, and will continue to suffer great pain of mind, body, shock, emotional distress, physical manifestations of emotional distress, embarrassment, loss of self-esteem, disgrace, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life. Further, Plaintiffs were prevented and will continue to be prevented from performing daily activities and obtaining the full enjoyment of life. Each Plaintiff has sustained loss of earnings and earning capacity. Each Plaintiff has incurred and will incur expenses for medical and psychological treatment, therapy, and counseling.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
INTENTIONAL INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS

51. Plaintiffs incorporate herein by this reference and re-allege paragraphs 1 through 50 of this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

52. Plaintiffs allege WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS purposefully, intentionally, and after much deliberation, engaged in a pattern of conduct, as described more fully hereinabove, designed and intended to cover up allegations, acts, and investigations pertaining to sexual abuse suffered by children in their organization including, but not limited to, Plaintiffs.

53. Plaintiffs further allege WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' conduct of quelling complaints of sexual abuse by Plaintiffs and others created a dangerous environment for Plaintiffs and others to be sexually abused by members and agents in good standing with WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' organization.

54. Plaintiffs further allege that after WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS were on notice that their members and agents, including Edward Villegas, were sexually abusing Plaintiffs and others, WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS purposefully, intentionally and deliberately took action to prohibit and prevent Plaintiffs and their family from reporting the acts of sexual abuse to legal or secular authorities, where Plaintiffs and their family could have obtained assistance to address, prevent and/or resolve the continuous sexual abuse and its residual aftereffects.

55. Plaintiffs further allege that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' conduct was extreme and outrageous and exceeded the bounds tolerated by any civilized community because they purposefully, intentionally and deliberately engaged in a pattern and practice of quelling complaints by Plaintiffs and their family of the sexual abuse inflicted by WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' members and agents. Additionally, their conduct was outrageous based on their knowledge, imputed or otherwise, that their member Edward Villegas sexually abused other organization members since at least 1970, if not earlier, yet refrained from taking any action whatsoever to prevent or prohibit Villegas from sexually abusing Plaintiffs, or to protect Plaintiffs from being sexually abused.

56. Plaintiffs further allege that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS intended to cause Plaintiffs emotional distress by engaging in the above described conduct in order to prevent harm to their organization's reputation and to avoid civil liability.

57. Plaintiffs further allege that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS acted with reckless disregard of the of the probability that Plaintiffs would suffer emotional distress, knowing that Plaintiffs were present when the conduct was occurring, on-going and continuing to occur because of inaction on the part of WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS to protect Plaintiffs entrusted to their care from sexual abuse.

58. As a result of WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' extreme and outrageous conduct, Plaintiffs suffered and continue to suffer extreme emotional distress and that WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' conduct was a substantial factor in causing Plaintiffs' severe emotional distress.

59. As a legal result of Defendants' conduct as described hereinabove, Plaintiffs suffered, and will continue to suffer great pain of mind, body, shock, emotional distress, physical manifestations of emotional distress, embarrassment, loss of self-esteem, disgrace, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life. Further, Plaintiffs were prevented and will continue to be prevented from performing daily activities and obtaining the full enjoyment of life. Plaintiffs sustained loss of earnings and earning capacity. Plaintiffs incurred and will continue to incur expenses for medical and psychological treatment, therapy, and counseling.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs demand judgment against the WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS individually, jointly and severally as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;
2. For past and future medical expenses according to proof;
3. For past and future loss of earnings according to proof;
4. For prejudgment interest;
5. For costs of suit incurred herein; and
6. For such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Watchtower Coordinated Proceeding 26-22191 (lead case)

1) CHURCH DEFENDANTS' DEMURRERS

TENTATIVE RULING:

Sexual Battery – Sustained without leave to amend as to Church defendants. Plaintiffs explain that they are not bringing this cause of action against the Church defendants.

Conspiracy – Sustained without leave to amend. The complaints allege that each defendant is the agent, servant or alter ego of the other. It is settled that agents cannot conspire with their principal. Additionally, and as plaintiffs recognize, conspiracy is not a separately cognizable cause of action, but is, rather, a theory of liability. As discussed below in the ruling on defendants' motion to strike, the plaintiffs may amend their complaint to clarify their theory of liability based upon conspiracy.

Fraud – Sustained with 20 days leave to amend. The fraud causes of action do not contain the specificity required for a fraud claim against a corporate defendant. No specifics have been alleged as to who made what specific representations (or concealed what specific information) when, and to whom, and by what means. Additionally, because the causes of action are directed to corporate defendants, they must contain specific allegations concerning the alleged speaker's authority on behalf of the corporation. (Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 645.)

Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress – Overruled. The allegations are sufficient to state a cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Negligence/breach of duty Causes of Action – Overruled. The facts alleged state a cause of action for negligence. The complaints allege duty and a special relationship in various ways by alleging, for example, that the Church defendants "assumed responsibility for the development, protection and discipline of its membership, especially the children of members" and that they undertook "the religious instruction and spiritual and emotional counseling of plaintiffs." The complaints further allege that the Church defendants breached their duty to the plaintiffs by failing to report known abuse, preventing plaintiffs and their families from reporting known abuse, placing leaders with known pedophiliac propensities in positions with easy access to and authority over young members. Whether the alleged duty did, in fact, exist, is not a matter to be decided on demurrer. As the court noted in Juarez v. Boy Scouts of America, Inc. (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 377, 401, "Duty, being a question of law, is particularly amenable to resolution by summary judgment.... ¶ Since Rowland was decided, its innumerable judicial descendants have adopted the Rowland court's multi-element duty assessment in determining whether a particular defendant owed a tort duty to a given plaintiff. These factors include: (1) the foreseeability of harm to the injured party; (2) the degree of certainty that the injured party suffered harm; (3) the closeness of the connection between the defendant's conduct and the injury suffered; (4) the moral blame attached to the defendant's conduct; (5) the policy of preventing future harm; (6) the extent of the burden to the defendant; and (7) the consequences to the community of imposing a duty to exercise care, with resulting potential liability."

Failure to Report Suspected Child Abuse – Sustained without leave to amend. Plaintiff has presented no authority for stating a private right of action for violation of the California Child Abuse and Neglect reporting Act (Pen. Code § 11164 et seq.)

Plaintiffs shall have 20 days leave to amend their fraud causes of action. Defendants shall have 20 days thereafter to respond.

2) CHURCH DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO STRIKE

TENTATIVE RULING.

References to ecclesiastical discipline – Denied. The complaints' references to various defendants being members in "good standing" is not irrelevant in the context of allegations of the complaint. The allegations are relevant to, for example, plaintiffs' allegations that the defendants held positions of trust, which facilitated their ability to abuse young members. Contrary to defendants' assertion, the complaints do not attempt, by the reference to the members good standing, to enmesh this court in questions of ecclesiastical discipline.

Allegations concerning conspiracy – Granted with 20 days leave to amend. As noted above, the complaint currently alleges that each defendant was the agent, servant or alter ego of the other. Yet, the complaints allegations make reference throughout to conspiracies among the various defendants to conceal or cover up the alleged abuses. If plaintiffs believe they can allege facts entitling them to recover under a conspiracy theory, they may amend their complaint to make clear the various relationships among the defendants that would allow such a theory to stand.

Negligent employment and retention allegations – Denied. Plaintiffs' claims are not barred by the First Amendment. (See this Court's 12/17/03 Ruling on Demurrer in Charissa W. Case No. 26-22191.) The case relied on by defendants, Schmoll v. Chapman University (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1434, is readily distinguishable. There, a minister sought the court's intervention in her employment dispute with her employer, a religious organization. The court held that a judicial review of the employment decision (reducing plaintiff's hours) would have constituted an excessive entanglement with religion. The court found that under the free exercise clause, there was no state interest sufficiently compelling to override defendant's interest in deciding how the plaintiff could best serve the spiritual needs of the relevant community. By contrast, here, the state has a strong interest in protecting children from sexual molestation and in allowing civil damages against a church that facilitates such behavior.

Failure to report allegations – Denied. The court has sustained defendants' demurrer to plaintiff Pence's failure to report cause of action. Nevertheless, the general allegations included throughout the complaints concerning the Church defendants' failure to report abuse to police authorities may properly remain in the complaints, because they contribute to the allegations of negligence.

Re: The Watchtower Cases, JCCP No. 4374

Dear Mr. Schnack,

Judge Snowden has signed the order that you submitted on the demurrers and motions to strike in these coordinated cases. I have filed the signed original and filed it for Napa County. I will place the original in Charissa W. et al. Case No. 26-22191, and a copy in Tabitha H. Case No. 26-23929.

I am returning to you two copies. One is a fully endorsed copy of the order as signed. The second is a copy stamped with the judge's name, but not endorsed. Please submit a copy of this to each court in which there is a coordinated case. The order should be filed in each court. I am sending a copy of this letter to each court, so that they will know what to expect in regard to the filing of this order.

As you are no doubt aware, Mr. Bresford, attorney for the plaintiffs, has submitted a second amended complaint in the Charissa W. et al. case. It is my understanding that it has been agreed to proceed with this case until the issues are clarified. At that point, amended complaints should be filed in each coordinated case.

Please feel free to contact me at any time regarding these coordinated cases. Thank you for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Related Case: Tabitha H, vs. Watchtower Bible Tract Society of New York, LLC, et al
Case NO: 26-23929

Hearing:
This matter comes on this date for Motion to Compel, Motion to Strike and Demurrer.

By order of the Court, the Tentative Rulings are adopted and incorporated into the minute order subject to the agreement counsel made in court.

The Court vacates the court date of April 29, 2005 and continues the matter to May 16, 2005 at 9:30 A.M. in Courtroom B. TE: ½ day.

1) CHURCH DEFENDANT'S DEMURRERS

RULING:

Sexual Battery – Sustained without leave to amend as to Church defendants. Plaintiffs explain that they are not bringing this cause of action against the Church defendants.

Conspiracy – Sustained without leave to amend. The complaints allege that each defendant is the agent, servant or alter ego of the other. It is settled that agents cannot conspire with their principal. Additionally, and as plaintiffs recognize, conspiracy is not a separately cognizable cause of action, but is, rather, a theory of liability. As discussed below in the ruling on defendants' motion to strike, the plaintiffs may amend their complaint to clarify their theory of liability based upon conspiracy.

Fraud – Sustained with 20 days leave to amend. The fraud causes of action do not contain the specificity required for a fraud claim against a corporate defendant. No specifics have been alleged as to who made what specific representations (or concealed what specific information) when, and to whom, and by what means. Additionally, because the causes of action are directed to corporate defendants, they must contain specific allegations concerning the alleged speaker's authority on behalf of the corporation. (Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 645.)

Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress – Overruled. The allegations are sufficient to state a cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Negligence/breach of duty Causes of Action – Overruled. The facts alleged state a cause of action for negligence. The complaints allege duty and a special relationship in various ways by alleging, for example, that the Church defendants "assumed responsibility for the development, protection and discipline of its membership, especially the children of members" and that they undertook "the religious instruction and spiritual and emotional counseling of plaintiffs." The complaints further allege that the Church defendants breached their duty to the plaintiffs by failing to report known abuse, preventing plaintiffs and their families from reporting known abuse, placing leaders with known pedophiliac propensities in positions with easy access to and authority over young members. Whether the alleged duty did, in fact, exist, is not a matter to be decided on demurrer. As the court noted in Juarez v. Boy Scouts of America, Inc. (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 377, 401, "Duty, being a question of law, is particularly amenable to resolution by summary judgment.... ¶ Since Rowland was decided, its innumerable judicial descendants have adopted the Rowland court's multi-element duty assessment in determining whether a particular defendant owed a tort duty to a given plaintiff. These factors include: (1) the foreseeability of harm to the injured party; (2) the degree of certainty that the injured party suffered harm; (3) the closeness of the connection between the defendant's conduct and the injury suffered; (4) the moral blame attached to the defendant's conduct; (5) the policy of preventing future harm; (6) the extent of the burden to the defendant; and (7) the consequences to the community of imposing a duty to exercise care, with resulting potential liability."

Failure to Report Suspected Child Abuse – Sustained without leave to amend. Plaintiff has presented no authority for stating a private right of action for violation of the California Child Abuse and Neglect reporting Act (Pen. Code § 11164 et seq.)

Plaintiffs shall have 20 days leave to amend their fraud causes of action. Defendants shall have 20 days thereafter to respond.

2) CHURCH DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STRKE

RULING:

References to ecclesiastical discipline – Denied. The complaints' references to various defendants being members in "good standing" is not irrelevant in the context of allegations of the complaint. The allegations are relevant to, for example, plaintiffs' allegations that the defendants held positions of trust, which facilitated their ability to abuse young members. Contrary to defendants' assertion, the complaints do not attempt, by the reference to the members good standing, to enmesh this court in questions of ecclesiastical discipline.

Allegations concerning conspiracy – Granted with 20 days leave to amend. As noted above, the complaint currently alleges that each defendant was the agent, servant or alter ego of the other. Yet, the complaints allegations make reference throughout to conspiracies among the various defendants to conceal or cover up the alleged abuses. If plaintiffs believe they can allege facts entitling them to recover under a conspiracy theory, they may amend their complaint to make clear the various relationships among the defendants that would allow such a theory to stand.

Negligent employment and retention allegations – Denied. Plaintiffs' claims are not barred by the First Amendment. (See this Court's 12/17/03 Ruling on Demurrer in Charissa W. Case No. 26-22191.) The case relied on by defendants, Schmoll v. Chapman University (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1434, is readily distinguishable. There, a minister sought the court's intervention in her employment dispute with her employer, a religious organization. The court held that a judicial review of the employment decision (reducing plaintiff's hours) would have constituted an excessive entanglement with religion. The court found that under the free exercise clause, there was no state interest sufficiently compelling to override defendant's interest in deciding how the plaintiff could best serve the spiritual needs of the relevant community. By contrast, here, the state has a strong interest in protecting children from sexual molestation and in allowing civil damages against a church that facilitates such behavior.

Failure to report allegations – Denied. The court has sustained defendants' demurrer to plaintiff Pence's failure to report cause of action. Nevertheless, the general allegations included throughout the complaints concerning the Church defendants' failure to report abuse to police authorities may properly remain in the complaints, because they contribute to the allegations of negligence.

3) PLAINTIFF'S MOTIN TO COMPEL DISCOVERY FROM DEFENDANT WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA

RULING:

Serbian* objection – The court will not rule on the defendants' "Serbian" objection at this time. Notwithstanding defendants' objection that the requested discovery "seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog," they responded to the discovery requests. Therefore, the issue of the validity of the objection is not currently before the court.

PMK deposition - Documents requested

#3 – Denied. Defendants have produced documents. Plaintiffs' apparent belief that defendants may be withholding some responsive documents cannot form the basis for an order to compel.

#4 – Granted to the extent documents exist for time periods now encompassed by coordinated actions. Otherwise, denied. Plaintiffs' apparent belief that defendants may be withholding some responsive documents cannot form the basis for an order to compel.

#8 - Granted to the extent documents exist for time periods now encompassed by coordinated actions. Otherwise, denied. Plaintiffs' apparent belief that defendants may be withholding some responsive documents cannot form the basis for an order to compel.

PMK deposition – areas of inquiry

The parties' arguments on the PMK areas of inquiry are confusing. As presented the court cannot tell precisely what is in dispute. The court will hear oral argument and decide the matter at the hearing or take the matter under submission.

Form Interrogatories

#4.1 – Denied. Notwithstanding plaintiffs' belief that Watch Tower Pennsylvania obtains insurance for California Kingdom Halls, this interrogatory does not ask for such information. It asks for information concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's own insurance, which is not relevant to the issue of whether defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

#4.2 – Denied. Notwithstanding plaintiffs' belief that Watch Tower Pennsylvania obtains insurance for California Kingdom Halls, this interrogatory does not ask for such information. It asks for information concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's own insurance, which is not relevant to the issue of whether defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

Request for Production, set one

#1 – Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "the Corporate Book relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#2 – Denied. Defendants have produced documents. Plaintiffs apparent belief that defendants may be withholding some responsive documents cannot form the basis for an order to compel.

#3 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "the organizational meeting minutes relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#4 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all Board of Director meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#5 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all shareholder or member meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#6 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all committee meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#7 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all resolutions from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#8 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "a complete list of all shareholders and/or members from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#9 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "any and all documents indicating corporate restructuring or reorganization from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#10 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "the hierarchical flow chart of positions/personnel from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#11 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all documents reflecting officers and directors from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#14 - Denied. This request asks defendant to produce "all documents which indicate a relationship to or with other business or corporate entities relating to your organization/operation." The request is clearly overbroad, as it is not narrowed for the limited purpose of discovering defendant's contacts in California during the relevant time period, as permitted by this court's order concerning defendant's motion to quash service of summons.

#20 – Granted. This requests asks for documents relating to financing or purchases of buildings for use by assemblies or congregations in California. This request is relevant to the limited issue presented here. Defendant has responded that it provided funds to 197 congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California. This response is inadequate. Defendant shall produce documents responsive to the request.

#21-24, 26-28 – Granted. Defendant can produce documents indicating the money it has admittedly received from 1,997 congregations in California. Aside from asserting that it does not segregate the contributions it receives by state of origin, defendant has not explained in detail how responding to this request would be oppressive and burdensome.

#25 – Denied. The financial information sought will be adequately provided in response to document requests 21-24 and 26-28. There is no reason at this time to require the production of defendant's tax returns.

#29 – Denied. The request for "all corporate or governmental filings from 1970 to the present" is overbroad.

Special Interrogatories, set one

#1 – Denied. The interrogatory asks for a description of defendant's function/purpose within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Defendant has provided a general response to the general question. If plaintiffs desired more specific responses concerning certain functions, they could have asked for them. Also, more details were requested and provided in the PMK deposition.

#2 – Denied. This interrogatory asks defendant to "describe all changes to its function/ purpose since 1970." Defendant has provided a general response to the general question. If plaintiffs desired more specific responses concerning certain functions, they could have asked for them. Also, more details were requested and provided in the PMK deposition.

#3 – Denied. See 1 and 2, above.

#4 – Denied. See 1 and 2, above.

#13 – Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#14 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintifsf wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#15 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#16 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#17 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#18 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#19 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#20 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiff wanted a more detailed response it should have asked a more detailed question.

#21 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#22 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response it should have asked a more detailed question.

#23 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiff wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#24 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#25 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#26 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#27 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory and provided additional information concerning Kingdom Hall financing in its PMK deposition. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#29 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory and provided additional information concerning Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangements in its PMK deposition. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#30 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory and provided additional information concerning risk management in its PMK deposition. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#31 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory and provided additional information concerning Kingdom Hall loans in California in its PMK deposition. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#32 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory and provided additional information concerning Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangements in its PMK deposition. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#33 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

#34 – Granted. The identity of the person who oversaw the Risk Management Office during the relevant time period could lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of California's right to exercise personal jurisdiction over defendant.

#35 - Granted. The manner in which the Risk Management Officer administered the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangements fund during the relevant time period could lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of California's right to exercise personal jurisdiction over defendant.

#36 - Granted. The manner in which the Risk Management Officer purchased insurance to protect congregations during the relevant time period could lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of California's right to exercise personal jurisdiction over defendant.

#37 - Denied. Defendant has responded to the interrogatory. Plaintiffs dissatisfaction with the nature of the response is not a ground to compel a different response. If plaintiffs wanted a more detailed response they could have asked a more detailed question.

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, vs. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al. Defendants.	CASE NO: 26-22191 Judicial Council Coordination Proceeding No. 4374 PLAINTIFFS' REPLY BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCHTOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES, REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND PMK DEPOSITION RESPONSES Date: April 8, 2005 Time: 9:30 a.m. Dept. B Trial Date: None

PLAINTIFFS' REPLY TO WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY

I. SERBIAN OBJECTION

Defendant Watch Tower Pennsylvania interposed its Serbian Objection forty-nine times to the discovery currently at issue[1], but attempts to avoid having this Court rule on that objection by attacking the breadth and scope of Plaintiffs' discovery.

Although Defendant arguably has waived its specious assertion of ecclesiastical privilege to Plaintiffs' minimum contacts discovery, the parties need guidance from this Court on whether the Serbian case has any application to this controversy. The Watchtower Defendants have asserted the Serbian Objection sixty-seven (67) times in response to the most recent sets of discovery propounded by Plaintiffs, and no doubt will continue to obstruct discovery based on their tortured construction of Serbian until this Court rules on its application to these cases.

II. SCOPE OF DISCOVERY

A. Appropriate Scope of Discovery

This Court's December 2, 2003 Order states:

> Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

Thus, Plaintiffs were limited to conducting discovery concerning the issue of whether Watch Tower Pennsylvania had sufficient contacts with California during the relevant time periods of to justify a California court's exercise of jurisdiction over that entity. The scope of minimum contacts discovery has been well-defined by California courts and is fully briefed in Plaintiffs' Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

B. Calcor Case

In its Response, Watch Tower Pennsylvania did not address the law or analysis regarding the appropriate scope of minimum contacts discovery. Instead, it cited the Calcor Space Facility, Inc. v. Superior Court for the proposition that Plaintiffs' discovery is abusive. (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 216; 61 Cal.Rptr.2d 567. Calcor held that a subpoena for documents to a non-party must describe the documents to be produced with reasonable particularity and that the party seeking discovery must demonstrate a reasonable relationship between the materials sought to be produced and the issues involved in the case.

The discovery Plaintiffs propounded to Watch Tower Pennsylvania is very narrowly-tailored and particular. Plaintiffs have attempted to meet and confer with Watch Tower Pennsylvania to address questions and concerns without much success.[2] In their Motion to Compel, Plaintiffs have described the information sought and its relationship to the minimum contacts issue. Plaintiffs discovery does not run afoul of Calcor.

III. DISCOVERY IN DISPUTE

A. Organization of Watch Tower Pennsylvania

Plaintiffs have attempted to discover Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization during the relevant time periods and changes to its function within the relevant time periods (1972 through 2003). The answers given by Watch Tower Pennsylvania (subject to the Serbian Objection) have been inadequate and misleading.

Plaintiffs have requested documents concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's corporate structure and organization during the relevant time period of 1972 through 2003. The documents requested have nothing to do with the religious doctrine of the Jehovah's Witness organization, but instead are those that all corporations customarily generate and keep. See Requests 1-10:

No. 1: Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Corporate Book

No. 2: Bylaws

No. 3: Organizational meeting minutes

[2]See Exhibits A-C attached to Declaration of William Brelsford in support of the instant Motion to Compel.

No. 4: Board of Director meeting minutes

No. 5: shareholder/member meeting minutes

No. 6: committee meeting minutes relating to organization/operation

No. 7: resolutions

No. 8: list of shareholders

No. 9: corporate restructuring

No. 10: hierarchical flow chart of positions/personnel

The records requested above are non-privileged, relevant and discoverable.

PMK Inquiry Area No.1 asked for an opportunity to depose a representative concerning Defendants' organizational and corporate structure. Once Plaintiffs are given appropriate responses to the discovery in issue, Plaintiffs would request an order compelling Watch Tower Pennsylvania to produce a PMK witness for deposition testimony.

B. Relationship Between The Various Watchtower Entities

Plaintiffs have alleged that Watchtower Pennsylvania is involved in a large single business enterprise wherein several corporations, entities and individuals act as agents for and on behalf of one another. As briefed in Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel (with no response by Watch Tower Pennsylvania), agency is a theory that confers general jurisdiction on the entity that is shown to have agency relationships within California or doing business in California. Discovery of the relationships between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and other Watch Tower corporations that have not challenged personal jurisdiction, as well as entities that are carrying on work in California on behalf of the Jehovah's Witnesses organization, is surely germaine to the minimum contacts issue.

Again, Plaintiffs have served on Watch Tower Pennsylvania specifically tailored discovery requests.

No. 13: Relationship between WTPA and Napa Congregation

No. 14: Relationship between WTPA and Oak Knoll Congregation

No. 15: Relationship between WTPA and Watchtower New York

No. 16: Relationship between WTPA and Christian Congregation of JW

No. 17: Relationship between WTPA and the Service Department

No. 18: Relationship between WTPA and the Legal Department

No. 19: Relationship between WTPA and the Writing Department

No. 20: Relationship between WTPA and the Office of Public Information

No. 21: Relationship between WTPA and Public Affairs Office

No. 22 Relationship between WTPA and Governing Body

No. 23: Relationship between WTPA's Board of Directors and the Governing Body

No. 24: Relationship between WTPA' officers and the Governing Body

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's responses to these interrogatories (subject to several objections including the Serbian Objection) are either misleading or untrue. For example, Plaintiffs requested a description of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's relationship with the Jehovah's Witnesses' Legal Department in Interrogatory No. 18. Subject to several objections (including the Serbian Objection), responded that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is a "client" of the Legal Department. These lawyers, however, are on Watch Tower Pennsylvania's legal staff as reflected in Watch Tower Pennsylvania's "Statement Pursuant to Section 496 of the Judiciary Law" which was filed in New York (and attached hereto as Exhibit A). Similarly, Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses (ROJW) and Kingdom Support Services (KSS), both corporations associated with the Jehovah's Witnesses organization, file similar Statements identifying the same legal staff (similar Statements for ROJW and KSS are attached hereto as Exhibits B and C).

Plaintiffs have alleged that the Jehovah's Witnesses' Legal Department is a legal department that serves all of the corporations and individuals associated with the Jehovah's Witnesses organization, including involvement in child sexual abuse matters. Watch Tower Pennsylvania would like to avoid the discovery of information that associates its legal department with the allegations contained in Plaintiffs' Complaint by calling itself a "client". This response is misleading, at best. The responses to the other Interrogatories listed above are similarly misleading.

Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court overruling Watch Tower Pennsylvania's objections and compelling complete responses to the interrogatories.

PMK Inquiry Area No. 3 requests testimony concerning "the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Governing Body, Watchtower New York, Branch Committees, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, California District, California Circuits and California Congregations)."

This information is relevant to the issue of an agency analysis, which Plaintiffs' counsel repeatedly attempted to explain before and during the PMK deposition.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania relied upon the Serbian Objection, among others, to prevent discovery in this area. Additionally, the PMK witness admitted that he was not the person most knowledgeable about the corporate structure of the organization.

Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court that overrules Watch Tower Pennsylvania's objections and compels Watch Tower Pennsylvania make available a "person most knowledgeable" regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's relationships with the entities listed in Inquiry Area No. 3 after complete answers are given to the other discovery requests at issue here.

IV. WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S BUSINESS IN CALIFORNIA

Watch Tower Pennsylvania has been directly and indirectly conducting significant business transactions in California for decades. In California alone, Watch Tower Pennsylvania has loaned millions of dollars for the purchase of real estate through its Kingdom Hall Financing program; the purpose was to create buildings that would further the business of the Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Watch Tower Pennsylvania would secure their interest in the California properties with deeds of trust (not yet produced). The PMK deposition revealed that hundreds of loans have been made in California (all interest bearing) and that there are records going back as far as the mid-1980s. Plaintiffs have directed discovery to Watch Tower Pennsylvania to obtain the very records their PMK has testified exists.

a. Kingdom Hall Financing

Interrogatory No. 27, 31: Kingdom Hall Financing (KHF)

Request for Production No. 20: financing kingdom hall buildings

PMK Inquiry Area Nos. 6-8: Kingdom Hall Financing and California property interests

By these requests and interrogatories, Plaintiffs seek to obtain records regarding loans made in California including loan files, deeds of trust and payment information. Plaintiffs seek to learn how much profit Watch Tower Pennsylvania has made and continues to make through its California loan business.

After receiving the documents, Plaintiffs seek a PMK deponent that will provide testimony regarding the Kingdom Hall Financing program and the amounts received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from this business program between 1972 and 2003.

b. KHAA and Risk Management

Watch Tower Pennsylvania has been engaged in the insurance and risk management business in California for over 25 years. Watch Tower Pennsylvania relating to the Jehovah's Witnesses organization's business Through its insurance programs (including KHAA) during the relevant time periods, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collected millions of dollars from California for the purchase of insurance policies. Additionally, Watch Tower Pennsylvania operated a Risk Management business that included investigating and discretionarily paying claims in California. Those claims include a significant payment by Watch Tower Pennsylvania for "Elder Misconduct" by one of the Track 1 defendant Elders.

Through the narrowly drawn discovery requests listed below, Plaintiffs have attempted to discover the details of this significant California contact. Plaintiffs seek information regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's risk management business, the processing of claims made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania from California and the process for investigating and paying claims in California.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania has been collecting a stream of insurance invoice payments from California for at least 20 years. Plaintiffs have attempted to discover the deficit or surplus that Watch Tower Pennsylvania operates its insurance and risk management businesses.

Interrogatory Nos. 29-30, 32-37 request Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide information regarding its involvement in the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA), the function of the Risk Management Office, the people involved in the operation of the KHAA, the administration of the KHAA program and the Risk Management Office, the purchase of insurance policies and contributions made by congregations to fund the insurance program

Plaintiffs requested through the PMK deposition notice in PMK Request No. 4 that Watch Tower Pennsylvania produce the same types of documents: "Documents related to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present, including but not limited to instructions (present and prior), invoices (or "letters suggesting a contribution") from Watch Tower PA to California congregations, forms used in the operation of the KHAA, and claims paid in California.

PMK Inquiry Area Nos. 4-5 requested deposition testimony regarding "the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) and its operation from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to amounts collected and amounts paid by the KHAA)" and the "Risk Management Office and its operation from 1970 to the present."

Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court overruling Watch Tower Pennsylvania's objections and compelling complete answers to the Interrogatories and Requests before Watch Tower Pennsylvania provides a PMK witness to testify about the areas described in Inquiry Areas 4 and 5.

c. Other Monies Received From California (i.e. donations)

Request for Production Nos. 21-28: monies received from California

PMK Request No. 8: monies received from California (donations, premiums, payments)

Records already produced indicate that all Jehovah's Witnesses congregations and individuals in California were instructed that donations were to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Plaintiffs have sought to discover the amount of money donated to Watch Tower Pennsylvania from individuals and congregations in California. Watch Tower Pennsylvania has refused to provide this information that should describe its donation solicitations as a significant contact in California.

V. ALTER EGO v. AGENCY

Area of Inquiry No. 2 requested a deponent who could address "the make up and function of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present."

In its Opposition, Watch Tower Pennsylvania argues that "Plaintiffs here attempt to do an end run around and create confusion concerning the 'alter ego' issue".[3] However, again, Watch Tower Pennsylvania ignores Plaintiffs' allegations of agency, which confers general jurisdiction over the entity found to have contacts in a forum state through its agents.[4]

To the extent to which Watch Tower Pennsylvania has conducted business in California, both as an agent and through agents, is relevant to the minimum contacts analysis this Court must make.[5]

[4] Agency may confer general jurisdiction in the forum state over a foreign corporation. Sonora Diamond at 540 (citing 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1996) Jurisdiction, Section 167, p. 730). Whether an agency exists is a question of fact to be determined from the circumstances of each case. Stevens v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Fresno, (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 877, 884. The significant test of an agency relationship is the principal's right to control the activities of the agent. Id. The Stevens court held that the priest was the corporation's agent and that he was acting within the scope of the agency at the time of the [motor vehicle] accident... the corporation had a right of control over the priest's activities within its geographical jurisdiction. Control is the key characteristic of the agent/principal relationship. Sonora Diamond 83 Cal.App.4th at 541. The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of religious organizations have been held to be relevant to the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies and religious workers. Stevens 49 Cal.App.3d at 883 (citations omitted).

I, Don Adams, after being duly sworn, depose and say:

1. I am over 21 years of age and reside at 124 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201. I have never been convicted of a felony or a crime of moral turpitude and I am competent to testify.

2. I am the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., and, as such, I am familiar with the books, records, publications and operating procedures of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. I have personal knowledge of the facts set out herein and I am a custodian of the official records and publications described herein.

3. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. is the parent organization of all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, including the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses located in Bonham, Texas.

4. It is the teaching and practice of Jehovah's Witnesses to follow the example of first century Christians. A Governing Body, at present comprised of thirteen men, direct all teaching, preaching, disciple-making and congregational activities of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world. (See the basic organization manual of Jehovah's Witnesses, Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 10 and 25, and The Watchtower, the official semimonthly journal of Jehovah's Witnesses, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, page 598.)

5. Regarding the position of the Governing Body, Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 28:

> All in the organization recognize God's way of theocratic control. The congregations acknowledge and conform to the guidance of the Governing Body as it outlines organizational arrangements for the benefit of all.

6. To implement their decisions, the Governing Body uses a hierarchial organization together with corporate entities, when appropriate, to accomplish its worldwide work of teaching and declaring the good news of God's established Kingdom. The principal corporation used by the Governing Body is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 26.)

7. Under the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, the Governing Body directs 95 branches through Branch Committees that report their progress to the Governing Body and implement the directives of the Governing Body in a uniform manner. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 26 and 27.)

8. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New

York, Inc. is a branch used to administer to the needs of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 26 and 27.)

9. The United States Branch is part of a zone, which is supervised by a Zone Overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 53:

> Periodically, arrangements are made by the Governing Body to have qualified brothers serve each of the branches throughout the earth.

These visits are comprehensive and cover every aspect of the branch's activities. A primary objective is to assure that each branch is working in harmony with the directives of the Governing Body.

10. Each zone is made up of districts. Each district is supervised by a District Overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 51:

> The district overseer is a traveling elder who is also appointed by the Governing Body and assigned by the branch office to serve a number of circuits that comprise a district.

At regular intervals, the District Overseer reports to the branch on the progress and spiritual health of the circuits which make up the district to which he is assigned. Like the Zone Overseer, he is charged with the responsibility to assure that all of the activities in the district conform to the directives of the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 51 and 52.)

> [I]t is Jehovah's arrangement and he will hold the overseers responsible for their actions. They are representing him and his theocratic rule. He will remove from office [through the actions of the Governing Body] those overseers who fail to manifest the fruitage of the spirit and whose pattern of life falls short of the Scriptural requirements.

(Also See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 41-53.)

14. The responsibility of all of these positions is to assure the unity and oneness of the congregations throughout the world with the direction of the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 54.)

15. Each position is filled by appointment from the Governing Body and each appointed representative is required to cooperate with the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 41 and The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, page 598.)

16. Appointed representatives within the congregations fall into two catagories, elders or overseers and ministerial servants. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 28 to 40 and The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, pages 599 to 601.)

17. It is the responsibility of the body of elders to see that the congregation is managed according to the directives of the Governing Body. In harmony with these directives, each body of elders has specific responsibilities to be filled by qualifying elders. Each congregation has the following positions to be filled: the presiding overseer, secretary, service overseer, Watchtower Study conductor and Theocratic Ministry School overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 42:

> The presiding overseer serves as chairman at the meetings of the body of elders. Communications and important records of the congregation are handled by the secretary who keeps the elders informed about important communications. Arrangements for field activity and other service-related matters come under the direction of the service overseer.

18. There are five scheduled meetings of worship which each member of the congregation attends. While these meetings are conducted by the local body of elders in each congregation, the material covered in the meetings is prescribed by the Governing Body in order to assure that all of the congregations are receiving the same information and direction. (See The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, pages 601 to 603.)

19. One area in which the body of elders would conduct matters for the benefit of the congregation and subject to the Governing Body would be in the area of buying or selling real estate to be used by the local congregation as a place of worship know as the Kingdom Hall.

20. By "Memorandum on Kingdom Halls" from Hayden C. Covington, General Counsel for Watchtower Society and Jehovah's Witnesses, dated September 1960, bodies of elders in the United States Branch received instructions regarding ownership of Kingdom Halls. Under the subheading, "Relationship Between Congregation and Titleholders," the memorandum states in part:

> When either a corporation or trustee arrangement is made and title to property is vested in the corporation or trustees, the titleholders have the same relationship to the congregation as does any other instrument, equipment or property necessary to carry out the work of the congregation, which is preaching the good news in the assigned territory and holding meetings. All such instruments or tools are used to serve the congregation in harmony with the theocratic government.
> The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed that can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide and direct its policies. The titleholders (trustees or corporation) are merely special servants of the congregation in whom is vested legal title to the Kingdom Hall. Titleholders as such do not act as a part of the congregation committee to operate the Kingdom Hall or run the business of the congregation. They have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property and cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is to be done in it.
> The operation of the Kingdom Hall, making of repairs and improvements, payment of expenses and obligations and all other business in connection with owning and maintaining the property are all under the direction of the theocratic organization through the elders and ministerial servants appointed by the Society.

21. By memorandum entitled "Information Regarding Ownership of Kingdom Halls" from the Office of the Secretary and Treasurer of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, dated April 1, 1982, similar language defines the relationship between congregation and titleholders:

> The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed that can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide and direct its policies. The titleholders (trustees or corporation) are merely special servants > of the congregation in whom is vested legal title to the Kingdom Hall. The titleholders as such do not act as a part of the committee to operate the Kingdom Hall or run the business of the congregation. The titleholders, as such, have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property. They cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is to be done in it.

> The operation of the hall, making repairs and improvements, payment of expenses and obligations and all other business in connection with owning and maintaining the property are all under the direction of the theocratic organization through the elders and ministerial servants appointed by the Society.

22. The trustees holding title for any Kingdom Hall resemble the "Trustees" which held title to the church property which was the subject of the controversy in a landmark United States Supreme Court case, Watson v. Jones, 80 U.S. 679 at 681:

> Connected with each local church, and apparently without any functions in essence ecclesiastically, are what are called the "Trustees;" three persons usually, in whom is vested for form's sake, the legal title to the church edifice and other property; the equitable power of management of the property being with the Session. These Trustees are usually elected biennially; they are subject to the Session, and may be removed by the congregation.

23. In 1964 when the Bonham Congregation secured a mortgage through the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, it was determined by vote from the congregation that it would be willing to contribute to cover the expenses of a mortgage and contemplated construction expenses. All matters were handled between the body of elders and Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. acting in harmony with the directives of the Governing Body as expressed in the above-mentioned correspondence and other publications of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

24. By notice dated June 4, 1985, the following duly appointed elders of the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were deleted from their appointed positions and are no longer elders of Jehovah's Witnesses: (1) Wendel Baker; (2) Trymer L. Berry; (3) James E. Coleman; (4) Ralph E. Deal; and (5) Tony M. Jones.

25. There are currently four duly appointed elders in the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses who are recognized by the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses. They are (1) Luther Brogdon; (2) Richard L. Scofield; (3) Ronald H. Williams; and (4) Bennie Bolin. Their dates of appointment were (1) Luther Brogdon—July 4, 1985; (2) Richard L. Scofield—June 4, 1985; (3) Ronald H. Williams—November 28, 1985; and (4) Bennie Bolin—November 28, 1985.

26. From the dates of their appointment, the above-mentioned duly appointed elders (Luther Brogdon, Richard L. Scofield, Ronald H. Williams, and Bennie Bolin) have had the duty and responsibility to insure that the Kingdom Hall property located at 1105 Pecan Street, Bonham, Texas, is properly cared for and secured on behalf of the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

27. Each Kingdom Hall owned by Jehovah's Witnesses, including the Bonham Kingdom Hall, is dedicated solely to the worship and service of Almighty God Jehovah by means of a solem ceremony conducted in harmony with the Holy Scriptures and by virtue of such dedication, may not be used for any secular or mundane purpose or for religious services which are in conflict with the Holy Scriptures and the theocratic organization of Jehovah's Witnesses which is directed by the Governing Body and of Jehovah's Witnesses through the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

28. Only the four above-mentioned appointed elders act on behalf of the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses under authority customarily delegated to congregational elders. They and the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, are entitled to the uninterrupted use and enjoyment of the Bonham Congregation Kingdom Hall located at 1105 Pecan Street, Bonham, Texas.

CHURCH DEFENDANTS' REPLY IN SUPPORT OF MOTIONS TO STRIKE PORTIONS OF PLAINTIFFS' COMPLAINTS

DEPT.: B
TRIAL DATES: Not yet set

1. Plaintiffs' references to ecclesiastical discipline or standing should be struck.

Plaintiffs go to great length in their opposition brief (at pp. 4-6) to discuss sex abuse claims in general and how courts across the country have arguably addressed such claims, thereby skirting the narrow issue presented by this motion. Indeed, Plaintiffs' lengthy discussion does not demonstrate that the allegations concerning the individual co-defendants or alleged abusers being a "member in good standing" of a congregation are either "essential" or "pertinent" to any of the claims alleged in the complaint. See CCP §431.10(b)(1), (2).

Moreover, the courts cannot constitutionally substitute their judgment for that of a church as to whether a church member should be in "good standing," "bad standing," or some other category of standing. The Church Defendants have cited and discussed only California cases and Ninth Circuit case law that expressly hold that such questions of religious faith, discipline, and custom are expressly reserved to the church judicatories. See Church Defendants' original supporting memorandum at pp. 5-6. Plaintiff's opposition brief does not even address those cases or the points on which Church Defendants rely.

This motion to strike should be granted.

2. As pled by Plaintiffs, the Church Defendants are legally incapable of conspiring with themselves. Therefore, all conspiracy allegations should be struck.

Plaintiffs' opposition ignores the similarly pled paragraphs of each Plaintiff's complaint, in which each Plaintiff unambiguously alleges that each of the Church Defendants were "the agent of . . . each other" and, at all relevant times, were each "acting within the scope and course of his or its authority as an agent . . ." with respect to certain alleged activities. Thus, as expressly pled by each Plaintiff, the agent's immunity rule articulated in the Applied Equip. Corp. and Wise cases discussed in the Church Defendant's original supporting memorandum (at pp. 7-8) renders each of the Church Defendants legally incapable of conspiring with each other. As a result, each Plaintiff's conspiracy allegations are legally immaterial and impertinent and should be struck.

3. Plaintiff's negligent appointment and retention allegations should be struck.

Plaintiffs' opposition brief does not properly address the issues raised in this motion, because Church Defendants did not move to strike the negligent supervision allegations from each Plaintiff's cause of action; instead, the motion very specifically addressed only the constitutionally impermissible negligent appointment and negligent retention allegations. Thus, Plaintiffs' citation to and reliance upon case law from across the country concerning negligent supervision claims is both misplaced and wholly irrelevant to the this motion.

The case law cited in Church Defendants' original supporting memorandum (at pp. 9-10) supports this motion, because courts may not constitutionally interfere with the appointment and retention decisions of a church with respect to its clergy or ministers. The courts simply are prohibited from imposing standards on such appointment and retention decisions by churches, so those allegations are legally impermissible and immaterial.

Accordingly, this motion to strike also should be granted.

4. The allegations concerning failure to report should be struck.

Plaintiffs essentially admit that the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act, or CANRA, is inapplicable to these cases. Moreover, plaintiffs do not even discuss, much less dispute, that church entities and corporations have never had a duty to report, as briefed by the Church Defendants. Thus, there is neither a statutory basis nor a negligence per se theory on which Plaintiffs can rely here to support their failure to report allegations.

Instead, Plaintiffs now argue there is a new common law duty to report, notwithstanding a complete absence of legal authority to support such a contention. (Indeed, given Plaintiffs' penchant for citing case law from across the country on the other pending motions, it is a fair assumption that they found no case law supporting assertion of a purely common law negligence theory underlying a failure to report claim.)

The failure to report allegations should be struck from each Plaintiff's complaint.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons discussed in the Church Defendants' supporting memorandum and this reply, each of the four motions to strike should be granted in each of the coordinated cases.

I. DISCUSSION[1]

A. Plaintiffs have failed to plead their fraud claims with the particularity required by California law.

The crux of the demurrer against Plaintiffs' fraud causes of action is that a fraud claim requires the pleading of "how, when, where, to whom, and by what means the representations were tendered." Lazar v. Superior Court of Los Angeles (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 645, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 385. Here, Plaintiffs admit in their opposition that they have not complied with California law requiring that fraud claims be pled with that degree of particularity.

[1] Notwithstanding the allegations in Plaintiffs' complaints, Plaintiffs now belatedly state that the cause of action alleging sexual battery in each complaint was not alleged against the Church Defendants. Plaintiff's Opposition at p. 5. The Church Defendants accept Plaintiffs' concession, and the demurrer should thus be sustained.

As the Court in Lazar stated, a plaintiff's burden in pleading fraud against a corporation is so great that the plaintiff must allege the names of the persons who made the allegedly fraudulent representations, their authority to speak on behalf of the corporation, to whom the representations were made, what they said or wrote, and when the representations were made. Id., 12 Cal.4th at 645.

Even though Plaintiffs specifically pled that each of the Church Defendants is a corporation, Plaintiffs have not in turn pled their fraud claims with the particularity required by Lazar in any of the coordinated cases. Accordingly, the demurrers to Plaintiffs' fraud causes of action should be sustained in each of these cases.

B. Plaintiffs do not allege the unique circumstances necessary to support their breach of fiduciary duty claims.

Plaintiffs fail to allege the foundational facts necessary to support the required element of a fiduciary duty owed to each of them by each of the Church Defendants and instead rely on allegations that are nothing more than legal conclusions. Also, while case law supports the view that an individual priest may have a fiduciary relationship with a parishioner under certain limited circumstances, Richelle L. v. Roman Catholic Archbishop (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 257, 279, 130 Cal.Rptr.2d. 601, 616, Plaintiffs here have neither pled the unique factual circumstances required to establish that the corporate Church Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty nor cited any case law to support such a view. The demurrer to each Plaintiff's breach of fiduciary duty claim thus should be sustained.

C. Under the agent's immunity rule, Plaintiffs' conspiracy causes of action fail as a matter of law.

Plaintiffs specifically pled in their complaints in each of the coordinated cases that each of the Church Defendants "is the agent, servant, and alter ego of each other and operates as a single business enterprise. Each Defendant was acting within the scope and course of his or its authority as an agent, servant, and/or alter ego of the other and each of them engaged in, joined in and conspired with the other wrongdoers in carrying out the unlawful activities alleged in this complaint."

Thus, under the agent's immunity rule, and as specifically pled by each Plaintiff, the Church Defendants are legally incapable of conspiring with each other. Applied Equip. Corp. v. Litton Saudi Arabia Ltd. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 503, 512, 28 Cal.Rptr.2d 475, 479. Accordingly, the agent's immunity rule dictates that this demurrer be sustained.

Moreover, Plaintiffs' opposition recognizes that under California law (see Applied Equip. Corp., 7 Cal.4th at 510-11), conspiracy does not constitute a separate, cognizable cause of action. For that reason also, the demurrer to the conspiracy cause of action should be sustained.

D. As a matter of law, Plaintiffs cannot assert failure to report claims under negligence per se or common law negligence theories.

Plaintiff Shane Pence continues to assert that he has a viable claim under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act ("CANRA"), Penal Code §11165.7(a)(32). However, Plaintiff ignores the fact that corporate entities like the Church Defendants do not fall within the statutory definition of "clergy member" in that sub-section and thus are not mandated reporters under §11165.7(a)(32). It necessarily follows that Plaintiff's argument fails as a matter of law, and the demurrer should be sustained.

Moreover, as previously briefed in their original supporting memorandum (at pp. 14-15), CANRA does not create a private right of action on behalf of a person like Plaintiff Shane Pence. For that reason also, the demurrer should be sustained.

E. Plaintiffs' IIED claims fail as a matter of law.

Plaintiffs' intentional infliction of emotional distress ("IIED") claims rely on alleged inaction of the Church Defendants to protect them. However, Plaintiffs' complaints in these coordinated cases fail to allege how any such inaction, or omission, was primarily directed at each Plaintiff, as required by California law. See Potter v. Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 965, 1002, 25 Cal.Rptr.2d 550 ("The requirement that the defendant's conduct be directed primarily at the plaintiff is a factor which distinguishes intentional infliction of emotional distress from the negligent infliction of such injury.")

Thus, Plaintiffs here each fail to allege facts sufficient to support that required element of an IIED claim. This demurrer should be sustained.

F. Plaintiffs' negligence causes of action against the Church Defendants fail because Plaintiffs have not alleged the foundational facts necessary to support the legal duty element.

To proceed on a negligence claim, Plaintiffs here must establish that Church Defendants each had an actionable legal duty to use due care with respect to each Plaintiff, that this duty was breached, and that the breach proximately caused Plaintiff's alleged injuries. Nally v. Grace Community Church (1988) 47 Cal.3d 278, 292, 253 Cal.Rptr. 97. However, Plaintiffs have failed to allege any foundational facts that would establish that any of the Church Defendants owed any of the Plaintiffs an actionable legal duty.[2] [3]

Bryan R. v. Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.*, and Meyer v. Lindala, et al. provide guidance on the special relationship issue. It is instructive to first look to appellate court decisions from other jurisdictions involving Jehovah's Witnesses that address the special relationship issue. The Maine Supreme Court faced this precise issue in Bryan R. v. Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (Maine 1999) 738 A.2d 839, cert. denied (2000) 528 U.S. 1189, which was dismissed at the pleading stage of the case. There, the Maine Supreme Court expressly "decline[d] to recognize a general common law duty on the part of an organization such as a church to protect its members from each other." 738 A.2d at 845. The creation of a general common law duty on the part of a church or other voluntary organization requiring it to protect its members from each other would give rise to "both unlimited liability and liability out of all proportion to culpability." Id. at 847. In affirming the dismissal of the Bryan R. case at the pleading stage, the Maine Supreme Court did not allow a generalized common law duty to be imposed on voluntary organizations to protect their members from one another in the absence of a finding of a special relationship between the

[2] "[T]he existence of a duty is a question of law, not an issue of fact." Parsons v. Crown Disposal Co. (1997) 15 Cal.4th 456, 465, 63 Cal.Rptr. 291. Also, Plaintiffs disingenuously contend in their opposition that this Court has already ruled as that the Church Defendants did, in fact, owe Plaintiffs a legal duty. A review of the Order's submitted by Plaintiffs simply do not support that contention.

[3] In the coordinated of Charissa W. (Napa County case no. 26-22191), this Court previously overruled a demurrer against negligence causes of action based largely on plaintiffs' allegations in Charissa W. that the alleged abuser, Edward Villegas, "used a daycare center run out of the Villegas home to attract new converts" to the local congregation. Charissa W., Amended Complaint at ¶24. Any such allegations or alleged nexus to church activities is notably absent from the operative complaints in the coordinated cases from other counties.

In another case involving Jehovah's Witnesses, Meyer v. Lindala (Minn. App. 2004) 675 N.W.2d 635, the plaintiffs sued the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York and a local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, alleging that the plaintiffs had been sexually abused by a congregation member who was his late teens at the time. The plaintiffs alleged that the Church Defendants had a legal duty to protect them from foreseeable harm and that they had a special relationship with the Church Defendants. However, the trial court granted the Church Defendants' motion for summary judgment, holding that the Church Defendants had no such duty and that the plaintiffs had no special relationship with the Church Defendants.

The Minnesota Court of Appeals affirmed, holding that "[p]roviding faith-based advice or instruction, without more, does not create a special relationship." Id. at 640. Additionally, the court of appeals stated that even if "the organization's doctrine ... requires members to bring complaints exclusively to the attention of elders ... [the] Congregation and Watchtower did not assume a duty owed to [plaintiffs] but rather acted within their constitutional right to religious freedom, which includes the authority to 'independently decide matters of faith and doctrine' and 'to believe and speak what it will.'" Id. at 641 (citations omitted). The Minnesota appellate court accordingly concluded that the trial court "did not err in finding there was no special relationship between the parties and therefore no duty owed." Id. (In May 2004, the Minnesota Supreme Court denied review of the Court of Appeals' ruling that there was no special relationship between the plaintiffs and the Church Defendants.)

In sum, Church Defendants here had no "special relationship" with Plaintiff and thus owed no legally cognizable duty to Plaintiff. The demurrers to Plaintiff's tort-based causes of action should each therefore be sustained.

Under California law there is no duty to warn a plaintiff of foreseeable harm absent a special relationship. With respect to the duty element of each Plaintiff's negligence causes of action, Plaintiff's opposition brief really makes no argument at all. However, California law is clear: "One is ordinarily not liable for the actions of another and is under no duty to protect another from harm, in the absence of a special relationship of custody or control." Nally, 47

Cal.3d at 293 (emphasis added). Later cases have recognized this pronouncement as the beginning "proposition" that led the Nally Court to hold that "unlicensed spiritual counselors had no duty to prevent even a foreseeable suicide, and no general professional duty of care." Quigley v. First Church of Christ, Scientist (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 1027, 1034, 76 Cal.Rptr.2d 792, 796.

As explained by the California Supreme Court in Nally, "[m]ere foreseeability of the harm or knowledge of the danger is insufficient to create a legally cognizable special relationship giving rise to a legal duty to prevent harm." Nally at 297 (emphasis added). This is true even if it involves the foreseeable harm of a criminal act of a third party. Rodriguez v. Inglewood Unified School District (1986) 186 Cal.App.3d 707, 712, 230 Cal.Rptr. 823. Thus, any argument by Plaintiffs about a foreseeability of harm analysis is inapposite and essentially puts the cart before the horse.

Each Plaintiff alleges that he or she was injured as a result of the criminal acts of an individual defendant and that Church Defendants negligently failed to warn him or her that the individual defendant was a child molester. Plaintiffs' allegations in each case against Church Defendants thus sound in nonfeasance, not misfeasance. Rodriguez, 186 Cal.App.3d at 712. As previously briefed, the distinction between misfeasance and nonfeasance is important in determining whether a defendant owes a plaintiff a legal duty of care. But even if it is assumed, arguendo, that Church Defendants knew an individual defendant was a child molester, the Church Defendants still did not owe a legal duty to any Plaintiff. A person has no legal duty "to control the conduct of another, nor to warn those endangered by such conduct" unless he "stands in some special relationship to either the person whose conduct needs to be controlled or in a relationship to the foreseeable victim of that conduct." Tarasoff v. Regents of the University of California (1976) 17 Cal.3d 425, 435, 131 Cal.Rptr.14.

As a matter of law, Church Defendants did not have a "special relationship" with any Plaintiff. California law does not recognize a special relationship between a minister and a parishioner, nor does a minister owe a parishioner a heightened duty of care. Rodriguez, 186 Cal.App.3d at 712, 713; Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego v. Superior Court (1996) 42

Cal.App.4th 1556, 1568, 50 Cal.Rptr.2d 399; Richelle L., 106 Cal.App.4th at 270 (holding that there is not a special relationship between ministers and their parishioners for purposes of a negligence claim). It follows that, as a matter of law, a church entity cannot have a special relationship with a parishioner.

Moreover, Plaintiffs here simply have not alleged any foundational facts that would support a claim of a special relationship with the corporate Church Defendants. Rather, each Plaintiff relies on an allegation of a pure legal conclusion that the Church Defendants somehow "assume[d] responsibility for the development, protection and discipline of its membership," which, in turn, created a special relationship. See, e.g. Complaint, in Javier C. at ¶16. But that conclusory allegation and other similar allegations in the other complaints do not give rise to a special relationship under California law.

In Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, supra, the plaintiff alleged that she had been sexually abused by a priest and that the diocese and parish were liable for damages because the church had placed priests "in a unique position of trust and confidence" and because the priests' vow of celibacy "add[ed] to their aura of spiritual power and authority, [under which] a child [parishioner] should suppose herself to be safe from sexual abuse." Id., 42 Cal.App.4th at 1567-68. Nonetheless, the Court of Appeal affirmed the diocese's motion for summary judgment and held that a special relationship did not exist because "the church had no greater civil duty based upon its religious tenets." Id. at 1568. The Court of Appeal also noted that plaintiffs are precluded from alleging a special relationship based on a church's religious structure or practices or on a church's beliefs. Id.

In Richelle L., supra, the plaintiff sued a Catholic priest and the Archdiocese of San Francisco, seeking damages for injuries she allegedly sustained as a result of a sexual relationship initiated by the priest. Id., 106 Cal.App.4th at 264. The complaint alleged a cause of action for "general negligence" against both the priest and the archdiocese. Id. at 265. To establish the requisite element of duty, the plaintiff argued that the priest's or archdiocese's nonfeasance, i.e., their alleged failure to act to protect her, was actionable because of her "special relationship" with the priest. Id. at 268. To support that special relationship argument, the plaintiff pointed to such long-established special relationships as the physician/patient and attorney/client relationships. Id. However, the Court of Appeal rejected that argument, holding that a minister "cannot be liable to [the plaintiff] for breach of a duty to arising out of a special relationship" with a parishioner because that would be equivalent to a prohibited clerical malpractice claim. Id. at 270. The Court of Appeal held that, as a matter of law, no "special relationship" exists between ministers and their parishioners for the purposes of a negligence claim, thereby foreclosing the plaintiff's "general negligence" claim against the archdiocese as well. Id.

Plaintiffs here also each make the conclusory allegation that they were a child "entrusted" to Church Defendants' care, custody, and supervision, again without alleging any foundational facts to support that allegation. E.g., Complaint in Javier C. ¶¶ 1, 16, 26, 43. However, such general and conclusory allegations are insufficient to establish a special relationship. Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, 42 Cal.App.4th at 1567. In Quigley v. First Church of Christ, Scientist, 65 Cal.App.4th at 1033-36, the Court of Appeal refused to recognize a legal duty of care owed by a church to one of its members. In Quigley, a child's mother sued the church and various individuals who had provided her son with the spiritual treatment, alleging they had breached a duty of care owed to her child when they failed to refer him to traditional medical care. The mother further alleged that the church had voluntarily assumed a duty of due care because the child had been entrusted to the church's care.

Relying heavily on Nally, the Quigley court found that a spiritual counselor is not in a special relationship with a parishioner and is thus under no actionable legal duty to protect the parishioner from harm. As a secondary argument, the mother in Quigley also asserted that the church had voluntarily assumed a duty of due care regarding the child's illness because his physical well being had been "entrusted to defendants' nationally coordinated system for treating seriously ill children." Quigley, 65 Cal.App.4th at 797. However, the court flatly rejected that argument because it was clear that the church's involvement was meant to address spiritual, not physical problems. Id.

As was the case in Quigley, Plaintiffs here have not alleged that they had any secular connection or relationship with Church Defendants. Thus, because, as pled by Plaintiffs, Church Defendants' alleged relationship to each Plaintiff is spiritual in nature, California case law bars this Court from imposing a duty of care on Church Defendants. Nally, 47 Cal.3d at 292; Quigley, 65 Cal.App.4th at 1033-36; Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego, 42 Cal.App.4th at 1568.

Finally, the Quigley court refused to "create a general duty of care owed by all persons toward children." Quigley, 65 Cal.App.4th at 1034. Rather, the court correctly pointed out that only the father (who had legal custody of the child) owed the child a duty of care and that the child's dependency was on his father, not the church. Id. at 1035. In these cases, Plaintiffs allege they were young children at the time of the alleged abuse. As such, each Plaintiff's dependence here was clearly on their parents, not the Church Defendants.

II. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above and in the Church Defendants' original supporting memorandum, this Court should sustain the Church Defendants' demurrers to each of the causes of action alleged against the Church Defendants in Plaintiffs' complaints.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 (lead case) JCCP No. 4374 WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY Date: April 8, 2005 Time: 9:30 AM Dept: B Trial Dates: Not yet set
AND COORDINATED CASES

INTRODUCTION

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") appears specially herein, in that it earlier moved to quash service of summons and complaint based on the personal jurisdiction defense. The Court then allowed plaintiffs to conduct "limited discovery" regarding "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California [.]"[1] Following that, plaintiffs propounded broad ranging discovery, much of which was plainly out of bounds on the personal jurisdiction issue. Last August, plaintiffs also spent about a day and a half deposing

[1] The Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint stated: "Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

the person most knowledgeable, or "PMK," of Watch Tower PA concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California. Plaintiffs now move to compel further discovery from Watch Tower PA, based largely on cumulative, overly broad and unduly burdensome discovery requests, as well as with regard to many requests to which Watch Tower PA did in fact respond, but which plaintiffs simply do not like the responses provided. Thus, the Court need not even reach the ecclesiastical structure issue and other issues briefed ad nauseum by plaintiffs, because their broad ranging and often repetitive discovery requests are demonstrably infirm for these other reasons.

OVERVIEW OF PLAINTIFFS' DISCOVERY TO DATE

Information already "discovered" from Watch Tower PA. At the outset, it is important for the Court to understand what information has been "discovered" to date about "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period" (which, as noted in footnote 1 above, is the issue now before the Court). Watch Tower PA's discovery responses, document production, and PMK deposition testimony have already revealed the following information about Watch Tower PA's non-traditional contacts in California:

1. Watch Tower PA is a Pennsylvania not-for-profit corporation. It has no subsidiaries or parent corporations. The corporate charters, by-laws, articles of incorporation, etc., have been produced to plaintiffs, and plaintiffs' counsel had the full opportunity to query the PMK about those documents in deposition.

2. Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most Jehovah's Witnesses publications. Those publications are distributed to and used by congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 congregations in California) and worldwide, although the actual publishing and distribution is accomplished by other entities.

3. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA.

4. For some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program.

5. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition, there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans.

6. Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, all U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York.

7. Watch Tower PA also receives bequests of real property from Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the U.S. (including California). The property bequests from California include burial plots and remainder interests in real property, but Watch Tower PA currently has less than 10 such properties, which include remainder interests in six properties.

8. Watch Tower PA has been used in the past to communicate the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committee's of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world (there was never a U.S. Branch Committee until about April 2002), but no longer does so and has never done so to the U.S. Branch Committee. Watch Tower PA has never communicated the appointment of elders and ministerial servants to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the 48 contiguous states of the U.S.

In addition, the Court needs to be aware that in advance of the August 25 - 26, 2004 videotaped deposition of the designated PMK of Watch Tower PA taken by plaintiffs' Texas counsel, Watch Tower PA produced a large number of documents responsive to the document requests contained in plaintiffs' fourth amended notice of the Watch Tower PA "PMK" deposition. See Exhibit A to the declaration of Robert J. Schnack, which is a true copy of defendant Watch Tower PA's objections and response to the fourth amended notice of PMK deposition.

The PMK deposition. Perhaps even more significantly, all of the topics referenced above, as well as others, were addressed at length in the August 25 – 26, 2004 deposition of the Watch Tower PA PMK taken by plaintiffs' Texas counsel. For example, issues relating to the KHAA (including administration of the KHAA by Watch Tower PA, contributions to the KHAA from California congregations, claims paid in California from the KHAA, insurance purchased through KHAA, etc.), the KHF (including contributions to the KHF from California, loans made to California congregations from the KHF, and the general terms of such loans), and insurance purchased prior to the inception of the KHAA consumed several hours of testimony and were addressed at the following pages of the deposition transcript, among other places: Pages 51-52, 79-94, 118-183, 223, 269-318, 322-324, and 334-378. Watch Tower PA's holding of the copyrights to Jehovah's Witnesses publications that were or are distributed in California was addressed at, among other places, pages 55-68 and 382-383 of the deposition transcript.

It thus necessarily follows that the additional information and documents requested by plaintiffs in the instant motion are wholly cumulative or duplicative, unduly burdensome, and transparently intended to harass and cause undue burden to defendant Watch Tower PA rather than being targeted to reveal any additional relevant information "concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

Moreover, as discussed in Watch Tower PA's response to plaintiffs' separate statements, many of plaintiffs' discovery requests were vague and overly broad such that plaintiffs' "argument" section was needed to explain what plaintiffs now seek from Watch Tower PA. Plaintiffs' own "arguments" thus demonstrate the vagueness and overbreadth of the requests.

For all of these reasons, plaintiffs' discovery motion should be denied.

PERMISSIBLE SCOPE OF DISCOVERY

California discovery rules are admittedly broad; however, the discovery process is not limitless, and the information sought must be, at a minimum, reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. C.C.P. §2017(a); Calcor Space Facility, Inc. v. Superior Court (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 216; 61 Cal.Rptr.2d 567. Specifically, the Code of Civil Procedure states: "Unless otherwise limited by order of the court … any party may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, that is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action … if the matter either is itself admissible in evidence or appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence…" C.C.P. §2017(a) (emphasis added).

Here, the Court's December 2, 2003 Order specifically limited the scope of discovery: "Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." (Emphasis added.) As is readily apparent from plaintiffs' separate statements in support of their motion to compel discovery, as well as by their extensive briefing, plaintiffs here seek to go well beyond any "limited discovery" regarding "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California [.]"

Moreover, the Code of Civil Procedure specifically sets forth when a court should limit discovery: "The court shall limit the scope of discovery if it determines that the burden, expense, or intrusiveness of that discovery clearly outweighs the likelihood that the information sought will lead to the discovery of admissible evidence…." C.C.P. §2017(c).

Code of Civil Procedure section 2019 sets forth the methods of discovery that are available to the parties engaging in the discovery process. That section also sets forth limitations to the discovery processes that can be employed so that abusive behavior can be avoided. Specifically, with regard to limitations, section 2019 states:

"(b) The court shall restrict the frequency or extent of use of these discovery methods if it determines either of the following:

(1) The discovery sought is unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, or is obtainable from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive.

(2) The selected method of discovery is unduly burdensome or expensive, taking into account the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, and the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation." C.C.P. § 2019(b)(1)(2)

The case law that has addressed the limitations of the discovery process states "although the scope of civil discovery is broad, it is not limitless." Calcor, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at 223 (emphasis added). Calcor involved a contractual dispute between corporate entities regarding the supply of gun mounts. The plaintiff corporation served a subpoena pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 2020 on a non-party corporation. The subpoena encompassed thirty-four categories of documents and gave facially detailed descriptions of the categories, but it also contained three pages of definitions and another three pages of instructions. The Court of Appeal observed that although the demands "would seem to satisfy a requirement of 'particularity,' it is, in effect, a blanket demand and hardly constitutes 'reasonable' particularity." Id., 53 Cal.App.4th at 222. The court went on to state that the "12-page demand might as well be condensed into a single sentence: Produce everything in your possession which in any way relates to gun mounts." Id. The court in Calcor determined that "whether served on a party or a nonparty, the procedure used here was to compel production of documents and other materials represents an outrageous abuse of the discovery system, and exemplifies the misuses to which the discovery statutes are prone absent judicial consideration for the great burdens which may be imposed on parties and nonparties alike." Id. at 221.

Plaintiffs' conduct in this case is similar to that chastised by the court in Calcor. Through their motion here, plaintiffs plainly are abusing the discovery process. The Calcor court set forth its disdain for abusing the discovery process as follows:

> "Sometime ago, this court recognized the potential for such abuse in Mannino v. Superior Court (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 776, when we noted 'We are also aware the discovery process is subject to frequent abuse, and like a cancerous growth, can destroy a meritorious cause or defense...' [Citation omitted]." Our observations of the day-to-day practice of law lead us to conclude the cancer is spreading and judges must become more aggressive in curbing these abuses. Courts must insist discovery devices be used to facilitate litigation rather than as weapons to wage litigation. These tools should be well calibrated; the lancet is to be preferred over the sledge hammer." Id., 53 Cal.App.4th at 221. (emphasis added).

Plaintiffs here are abusing the discovery process and transparently using it as an economic tool to punish and harass defendant Watch Tower PA. The original discovery requests from plaintiffs simply were not tailored to the issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California [.]"[2] Although plaintiffs now appear to have abandoned many of those improper discovery requests, their pursuit by the present motion of cumulative and duplicative discovery, through interrogatories, document requests, further PMK depositions, and so on, certainly gives pause and makes one question plaintiffs' true intentions in pursuing the gluttony of cumulative and duplicative discovery, particularly in connection with a straightforward issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California [.]" Given the information detailed above that has been "discovered" about "Watch Tower PA's contacts with California," plaintiffs' further efforts here seem transparently aimed at harassing Watch Tower PA and economically punishing Watch Tower PA for having brought its motion challenging personal jurisdiction.

Code of Civil Procedure section 2023 states:

[2] For example, plaintiffs propounded a number of requests for admissions and interrogatories concerning the Governing Body, alleged agents or representatives of the Governing Body, the Watchtower Legal Department, circuit and district overseers, etc. (E.g., "Admit or deny that the congregation Elders are expected by the Governing Body to follow the directives given by the Legal Department," "Admit or deny that it is an objective of the Governing Body to assure that each branch, district, circuit and congregation is acting in conformity with the directives of the Governing Body," and "What has been the purpose/function of a District Overseer with respect to judicial committees[.]") Notwithstanding the patently improper nature of such discovery requests on the narrow issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California," plaintiffs still propounded a large number of such discovery requests and required Watch Tower PA to respond.

"Misuses of the discovery process include, but are not limited to the following: (1) Persisting over objections and without substantial justification, in an attempt to obtain information or materials that are outside the scope of permissible discovery." [C.C.P. § 2023(a)(1)];

(3) Employing discovery in a manner or to an extent that causes unwarranted annoyance, embarrassment, or oppression, or undue burden or expense." [C.C.P. § 2023(a)(3)].

In this case, plaintiffs are abusing the discovery process in that they have moved to obtain cumulative and duplicative discovery by means of vague, duplicative, and overly broad requests. The motion and discovery requested in it are oppressive and intended to harass and cause Watch Tower PA undue burden and expense. The motion should be denied.

OPPOSITIONS TO PLAINTIFFS' SEPARATE STATEMENTS

Defendant Watch Tower PA also responds separately to each of plaintiffs' "arguments" in their "separate statements." Rather than repeat and discuss those responses here, Watch Tower PA respectfully refers the Court to Watch Tower PA's responses contained in the separate statements in the concurrently filed oppositions to plaintiffs' separate statements. (For the Court's easy reference, Watch Tower PA's responses to plaintiffs' arguments are set out in bold type therein.)

CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated herein and in Watch Tower PA's oppositions to plaintiffs' separate statements, plaintiffs' motion to compel discovery should be denied.

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 39, 40, and 54.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The scope of the requested information sought from Watch Tower Pennsylvania is appropriate in light of their on-going tortious conduct as alleged in Plaintiffs' Amended Complaint.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch

Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." Ironically, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's own President signed an Affidavit under penalty of perjury establishing that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is a conduit, if not the conduit, which directs its congregational activities. But they failed to produced that affidavit. Clearly, this multi-million dollar corporation has documents, which explain their relation with the other corporate defendants, and all such documents should be produced to evaluate their contacts with California, in conjunction with further deposition testimony of a person most knowledge for further inquiry and explanation.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA produced documents in response to this request. No further response is required. Notwithstanding its objections, Watch Tower PA identified its current and former directors and produced an excerpt from the publication "Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry" entitled "Use of Religious Corporations." (Those documents are referenced as Exhibits 39, 40, and 54.) Watch Tower PA also produced its charters, bylaws, and articles of incorporation (see Exhibit 59). Thus, it is not clear what further documents plaintiffs are requesting.

Plaintiffs' argument also ignores a key point, that being the objections that the request is vague and overly broad with respect to the question of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." Plaintiffs' argument references an almost 20-year old affidavit from a Texas lawsuit and then, without explanation, suggests some nefarious withholding of documents by Watch Tower PA. Notwithstanding that this request is vague and overly broad, defendant Watch Tower PA produced responsive information and documents. In any event, the objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUESTED DOCUMENT NO. 4:

Documents related to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present, including but not limited to instructions (present and prior), invoices (or "letters suggesting a contribution") from Watch Tower PA to California congregations, forms used in the operation of the KHAA, and claims paid in California.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and an invasion of privacy of individuals not parties to this lawsuit, unduly burdensome, and intended for purposes of harassment.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See documents for 1972 to 1985 and 203, attached hereto as Exhibits 5, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 36, 37, 38, 49, 50, 51, 52, and 58. Defendant Watch Tower PA had less than 20 claims in California involving the KHAA for the year 2003 and no claims paid from 1972 to 1985 because the KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

ARGUMENT:

This case is part of a coordination action wherein numerous plaintiffs allege Watch Tower Pennsylvania engaged in systematic tortious conduct since approximately 1970 to the present. The scope of requested is not overbroad, in light of their on-going activities in the State of California. Documents reflecting covered claims in the form of an insurer reflect on-going business activities in this State creating what Plaintiffs contend are the requisite contacts for this Court to exercise jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be estopped from asserting their motion to quash, and then fail to provide documents that would establish their contacts with this State.

Such documents should be produced as discussed at pages 26-32 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, and further deposition inquiry into these documents should be allowed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request. No further response is necessary. The above response to this request shows that, notwithstanding valid objections, a large number of documents were produced to plaintiffs (see the exhibit numbers referenced in the response), including Exhibit 58 concerning claims paid by or through KHAA in California. In addition, plaintiffs' Texas counsel spent several hours questioning the PMK of Watch Tower PA about Exhibit 58 and claims paid in California, about the KHAA and its relationship to California congregations, about insurance purchased by Watch Tower PA that covered California congregations who chose to participate in the insurance program, and so on. It is important to note that the discovery already undertaken has revealed the following: Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989; KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California); the KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world; one of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA; for some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program; and claims have been paid in California from or through the KHAA.

Thus, contrary to plaintiffs' unsupported assertion, Watch Tower PA has not failed in any way to disclose information regarding the nature of its contacts with California. The only plausible purpose in plaintiffs now requesting the cumulative and duplicative documents and information is to harass Watch Tower PA and drive up the expense of this lawsuit. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUESTED DOCUMENT NO. 8:

Documents related to monies received by you from California for any reason from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to donations, payments, premiums, and rental/lease income).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, an invasion of privacy, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA sends letters on a monthly basis to each congregation acknowledging the receipt of donations sent by the congregation to Watch Tower PA. See also Exhibits 1, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 25, 26, 29, 30, 36, 37 and 38.

ARGUMENT:

This case is part of a coordination action wherein numerous plaintiffs allege Watch Tower Pennsylvania engaged in systematic tortious conduct since approximately 1970 to the present. The scope of requested is not overbroad, in light of their on-going activities in the State of California. Documents reflecting covered claims in the form of an insurer reflect on-going business activities in this State creating what Plaintiffs contend are the requisite contacts for this Court to exercise jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be estopped from asserting their motion to quash, and then fail to provide documents that would establish their contacts with this State.

Such documents should be produced as discussed at pages 32-34 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, and further deposition inquiry into these documents should be allowed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINITIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request. No further response is required. The above response to this request again shows that, notwithstanding valid objections, a large number of documents were produced to plaintiffs (see the exhibit numbers referenced in the response). In addition, the issue of monetary donations to Watch Tower PA was discussed at length in the August 2004 PMK deposition, including donations to Watch Tower PA's general fund, to the KHAA, and to the KHF. In addition, much of plaintiffs' argument immediately above does not even relate to the request at issue here. The deposition inquiries made by plaintiffs' Texas counsel also addressed the state of information currently available to Watch Tower PA regarding donations made to the corporation, thus demonstrating further the undue overbreadth of this request.

In any event, the request for documentation of money donations, of other unidentified forms of "payments," and of insurance premiums is redundant and cumulative of the information already obtained by plaintiffs in this case. (There are no lease payments or rental income for California properties, as was testified to in the PMK deposition.) The clear intent of plaintiffs is to harass and create undue burden and expense for Watch Tower PA rather than to obtain truly relevant additional information about "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California." The objections should be sustained.

FOURTH AMENDED NOTICE OF DEPOSITION OF

PERSON MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE - INQUIRIES

INQUIRY NO. 1:

Organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony relevant to the secular organizational structure of the Watch Tower PA corporation for the time periods of 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's organizational structure.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the organizational and corporate structure of this "out-of-state" corporation since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Notwithstanding valid objections, Watch Tower PA has responded and, moreover, plaintiffs have "discovered" substantial information about Watch Tower PA's "organizational" and "corporate" structure (as well as about the relevant issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California"). For example, plaintiffs have discovered the following information about Watch Tower PA's "organizational" structure:

1. Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most Jehovah's Witnesses publications. Those publications are distributed to and used by congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 congregations in California) and worldwide, although the actual publishing and distribution is accomplished by other entities.

2. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA.

3. For some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program.

4. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition, there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans.

5. Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, all U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York.

6. Watch Tower PA also receives bequests of real property from Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the U.S., including California. The property bequests from California include burial plots and remainder interests in real property, but Watch Tower PA currently has less than 10 such properties, which include remainder interests in six properties.

7. Watch Tower PA has been used in the past to communicate the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committee's of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world (there was never a U.S. Branch Committee until about April 2002), but no longer does so and has never done so to the U.S. Branch Committee. Watch Tower PA has never communicated the appointment of elders and ministerial servants to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the 48 contiguous states of the U.S.

In addition, Watch Tower PA produced its corporate charter, articles of incorporation, and bylaws, and plaintiffs' counsel had the full opportunity to inquire at the PMK deposition about those documents. Thus, plaintiffs already have the answers to this topic, but appear not to like the answers provided. Therefore, it is not clear what plaintiffs truly seek here, other than to harass and cause undue burden to Watch Tower PA. At this stage of discovery, particularly after having deposed the Watch Tower PA PMK, a further PMK deposition on this topic would truly be cumulative and redundant. Plaintiffs' motion should be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 2:

The make up and function of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This request is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Also, because the Governing Body is involved with spiritual and ecclesiastical matters related to the Jehovah's Witnesses religion, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected fro discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's make up and function of the Governing Body.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the make up and function of the Governing Body of this "out-of-state" corporation since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Plaintiffs here attempt to do an end run around and create confusion concerning the "alter ego" issue. The issue is whether Watch Tower PA is the alter ego of the defendant California congregations sued in these coordinated cases, not whether Watch Tower PA is the alter ego to some other alleged out-of-state "parent entity" that is not a party defendant to these coordinated cases (i.e., the Governing Body).

With respect to the alter ego doctrine, the acts of a subsidiary corporate entity may only be imputed to an out-of-state parent entity for purposes of asserting personal jurisdiction over the parent when there exists justification to disregard the subsidiary's independent identity. "Ordinarily, a corporation is regarded as a legal entity, separate and distinct from its stockholders, officers and directors, with separate and distinct liabilities and obligations." Sonora Diamond Corp. v. Superior Court, 83 Cal.App.4th 523, 538, 99 Cal.Rptr.2d 824, 836. However, the corporate identity "may be disregarded – the 'corporate veil' pierced – where an abuse of the corporate privileges justifies holding the equitable ownership of a corporation liable for the acts of the corporation." Sonora Diamond, 83 Cal.App.4th at 538, citing Roman Catholic Archbishop v. Superior Court, 15 Cal.App.3d 405, 411, 93 Cal.Rptr. 338 (1971). "[C]ourts will ignore the corporate entity and deem the corporation's acts to be those of the persons or [parent] organizations controlling the [subsidiary] corporation," thereby justifying the assertion of personal jurisdiction over the parent or controlling organization. Id.

In California, two conditions must be met before the alter ego doctrine will be invoked: First, there must be "such a unity of interest and ownership between the corporation and its equitable owner that the separate personalities do not in reality exist[;]" and second, there must be an "inequitable result if the acts in question are treated as those of the [subsidiary] corporation alone." Id. (emphasis added).

For example, factors that would support applying the alter ego doctrine include commingling of funds and other assets of the two entities, the holding out of one entity that it is liable for the debts of the other, identical ownership in the two entities, use of the same officers and employees, and use of one as "a mere shell or conduit for the affairs of the other." Id., quoting Roman Catholic Archbishop, supra, 15 Cal.App.3d at 406, 411.

While the alter ego doctrine may be supported by any of the above factors, "so long as the separation between parent and subsidiary corporations is real, even if merely formal, the use of the subsidiary to conduct business in California does not automatically subject the parent to suit in this state." Sammons Enterprises, Inc. v. Superior Court, 205 Cal.App.3d 1427, 1434, 253 Cal.Rptr. 261, 265 (1988) (emphasis added). As the Sammons court stated,

> Sole ownership of the subsidiary by the parent is not enough; in addition, there must be 'clear evidence that the parent in fact > controls the activities of the subsidiary.*' Where ... there is no showing the subsidiary is undercapitalized, that corporate formalities are not maintained, or that the subsidiary is held out as the agent of the parent, plaintiff has not met his burden to show personal jurisdiction based upon the alter ego theory.

205 Cal.App.3d at 1434, 253 Cal.Rptr. at 265; quoting Ryder Truck Rental v. Acton Foodservices Corp. 554 F.Supp. 277, 279 (1983) (citations omitted).

Thus, plaintiffs' bald inquiry here about the Governing Body, without reference in any way to Watch Tower PA or the limited issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California," dictate that plaintiffs' motion be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 3:

Relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Governing Body, Watchtower New York, Branch Committees, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, California District, California Circuits and California Congregations).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's relationship between Watch Tower PA and other entities.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA has provided ample discovery on this topic, notwithstanding valid objections. Plaintiffs apparently did not like the answers given, both in the PMK deposition and in discovery responses. There are no corporate relationships with the entities and person identified in the topic. Based on similar interrogatories propounded by plaintiffs, it also is not clear what plaintiffs mean by an "organizational" or "theocratic" relationship with the other entities referenced. Nonetheless, even though not truly responsive here, in other discovery plaintiffs have learned that Watch Tower PA cooperates with Watch Tower New York and, since CCJW's inception in 2000, with CCJW. Watch Tower PA has provided some funding to Watchtower New York and to CCJW and carries those as long-term receivables. Plaintiffs also have learned that Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to literature that Watchtower New York published and distributed to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California). In any event, an order compelling a further PMK deposition here would be another empty gesture, unless and until plaintiffs clarify what information they really are seeking. However, Watch Tower PA expects that whatever further responses its PMK might provide on this topic would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INQUIRY NO. 4:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) and its operation from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to amounts collected and amounts paid by the KHAA).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v Boyle &

Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, furnishing details as to amounts collected and paid by the KHAA is unduly burdensome, an invasion of privacy, harassment, and is not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to KHAA and its operation with respect to California in 2003. The KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's KHAA.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the KHAA since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

It appears the KHAA acts as a conduit for receiving monies from California and then purchasing insurance or acting as a self-insured retention fund to cover claims that occur in California. Accordingly, inquiry into the KHAA is proper to address the Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA here refers the Court to its response to plaintiffs' argument to Inquiry No. 1 above. Plaintiffs' Texas counsel questioned the PMK at length about the KHAA, the related insurance issues, contributions to the KHAA from congregations, etc., and further discovery on this topic would plainly be unduly cumulative and duplicative. Plaintiffs' motion should be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 5:

The Risk Management Office and its operation from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This line of questioning is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this request seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Risk Management's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's Risk Management Office.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the Risk Management Office since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

It appears the KHAA acts as a conduit for receiving monies from California and then purchasing insurance or acting as a self-insured retention fund to cover claims that occur in California. Accordingly, inquiry into the KHAA is proper to address the Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA again refers the Court to its response to plaintiffs' argument to Inquiry No. 1 above. Plaintiffs' Texas counsel questioned the PMK at length about the KHAA, related insurance issues, etc., and it also has been "discovered" that one of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA. Further discovery on this topic would, again, be unduly cumulative and duplicative. Plaintiffs' motion should be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 6:

Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Reinmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Reinmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Reinmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the concurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's organizational structure.

It appears that Watch Tower PA provides mortgages for the loans and financing of Kingdom Halls within the Watchtower organization. Approximately nine areas of inquiry referenced in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 24-26 were addressed at the deposition of Mr. Reinmueller. Mr. Reinmueller and Watch Tower PA's counsel failed to provide appropriate documentation and meaningful testimony to adequately respond to the nine areas of deposition injuries sought to be compelled. These areas of inquiry will shed further light on Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA here also refers the Court to its response to plaintiffs' argument to Inquiry No. 1 above. Plaintiffs' Texas counsel questioned the PMK at length about the KHF (Kingdom Hall Fund), loans made to congregations in California from the KHF, the terms of those loans, etc., and further discovery on this topic would certainly be unduly cumulative and duplicative. Plaintiffs' motion should be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 7:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses (assemblies or congregation functions) from 1970 to the present (this category to include but not be limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA here also refers the Court to its response to plaintiffs' argument to Inquiry No. 1 above. Like the KHAA, plaintiffs' Texas counsel questioned the PMK at length about the KHF (Kingdom Hall Fund), loans made to congregations in California from the KHF, the number of those loans, terms of those loans, etc., and further discovery on this topic would certainly be unduly cumulative and duplicative. The PMK testified that Watch Tower PA does not lease any properties in California and owns less than 10 properties in California that were bequeathed to Watch Tower PA, including remainder interests in six properties, some burial plots, etc. The bottom line is that plaintiffs' simply do not like Watch Tower PA's responses. Plaintiffs' motion should be denied.

INQUIRY NO. 8:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). These areas of inquiry will shed further light on Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA refers the Court to its response immediately above. For the reasons stated, this motion should be denied.

AND COORDINATED CASES

Case No.: 26-22191 (lead case)

JCCP No. 4374

DEFENDANT'S OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFFS' SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO FORM INTERROGATORIES

DATE: April 8, 2005
TIME: 9:30 AM
DEPT.: B
TRIAL DATES: Not yet set

FORM INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.1:

At the time of the INCIDENT, was there in effect any policy of insurance through which you were or might be insured in any manner (for example, primary, pro-rata, or excess liability coverage or medical expense coverage) for the damages, claims, or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, for each policy state:

(a) the kind of coverage;

(b) the name and ADDRESS of the insurance company;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each named insured;

(d) the policy number;

(e) the limits of coverage for each type of coverage contained in the policy;

(f) whether any reservation of rights or controversy or coverage dispute exists between you and the insurance company; and

(g) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the custodian of the policy.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This interrogatory asks only about Watch Tower PA's insurance, not about insurance coverage for Kingdom Halls, congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in California, circuit overseers and district overseers in California, etc. Thus, plaintiffs' argument above is confusing, in that the argument appears to address some interrogatory other than form interrogatory no. 4.1. Indeed, whether Watch Tower PA has insurance that might provide coverage for the claims alleged against Watch Tower PA by plaintiffs simply does not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.2:

Are you self-insured under any statute for the damages, claims or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, specify the statute.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Like form interrogatory no. 4.1 above, this interrogatory asks only about Watch Tower PA's self-insurance, not about any such self-insurance for other entities or persons. Thus, plaintiffs' argument above is again confusing, in that the argument appears to address some interrogatory other than form interrogatory no. 4.2. Indeed, whether Watch Tower PA is self-insured under some statute for the claims alleged against Watch Tower PA by plaintiffs simply does not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. The objections should again be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

JCCP No. 4374

DEFENDANT'S OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFFS' SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION, SET ONE

DATE: April 8, 2005
TIME: 9:30 AM
DEPT.: B
TRIAL DATES: Not yet set

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS, SET ONE

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

Please produce the Corporate Book relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, set forth in their Corporate Book, is directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of a corporation will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

The Serbian objection raised by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This is particularly true with regard to the Court's Order, which limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." Production of Watch Tower PA's Corporate Book, in its entirety and for all time periods, i.e., not limited to the time relevant time period, would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. Such a production of documents also is not calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion must be denied. (Additionally, Watch Tower PA did not make a so-called Serbian objection here, so plaintiffs' argument against such an objection is meritless.)

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2:

Please produce the Bylaws relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

See the attached documents Bates nos. WTPA 00001-4.

ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower Pennsylvania provided the 4 pages attached hereto as Exhibit 1. These 4 pages hardly reflect all of the by-laws of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, a multi-million dollar corporation. This response is incomplete and the remaining by-laws should be produced.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request and also produced a number of documents concerning Watch Tower PA's corporate charter, articles of incorporation, etc. (See Exhibit 59 to Watch Tower PA's document production in response to the fourth amended notice of PMK deposition.) Plaintiffs' Texas counsel had the full opportunity to query the PMK on these documents at the August 25 – 26, 2004 deposition. Thus, no further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answers given, and plaintiffs' counsel neglected to take the opportunity to inquire at the PMK deposition. No different response can be compelled, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3

Please produce the organizational meeting minutes relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Organizational meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request also is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This is again particularly true with regard to the Court's Order, which limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." Production of all of Watch Tower PA's organizational meeting minutes would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California, and production of such documents also is not calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time, particularly after the PMK deposition already taken. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4

Please produce all Board of Director meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Board of Director meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This is particularly true with regard to the Court's Order, which limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." Production of all of Watch Tower PA's Board of Director meeting minutes would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California, nor would such a production of documents be calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5

Please produce all shareholder or member meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Shareholder or member meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Like the foregoing requests, this request also is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. The Court's Order limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period," and production of all member meeting minutes of Watch Tower PA would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. Any such production of documents also is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6

Please produce all committee meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Committee meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is, again, plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. The Court's Order limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period," and production of all of Watch Tower PA's committee meeting minutes would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. Such a production of documents also is not calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time, so the objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7

Please produce all resolutions from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Corporate resolutions will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. In addition, Watch Tower PA has produced corporate resolutions relating to California properties (see, e.g., Exhibit 53 to Watch Tower PA's document production in response to the fourth amended notice of PMK deposition), and plaintiffs' counsel queried the PMK on those properties and corporate resolutions at the August 25 – 26, 2004 deposition. Thus, Watch Tower PA has responded consistently with the Court's Order, which limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period." Moreover, production of all of Watch Tower PA's organizational resolutions from 1970 to the present does not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8

Please produce a complete list of shareholders and/or members from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad.

ARGUMENT:

A list of all shareholders and members since 1970 will provide background information regarding the individuals, and/or other corporations, that formulate policy making decisions or carry out the activities of the corporation. This evidence is directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California, especially if such individuals reside in California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This is, again, particularly true with regard to the Court's Order, which limits discovery to "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

Nonetheless, Watch Tower PA has produced lists of its current directors and its former directors dating back to 1970. See Exhibits 39 and 40 to Watch Tower PA's document production in response to the fourth amended notice of PMK deposition. Moreover, production of a complete list of all of Watch Tower PA's members would not affect whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California, as it is not calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence regarding Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9

Please produce any and all documents indicating corporate restructuring or reorganization from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has no responsive documents, because there has been no corporate restructuring.

ARGUMENT:

Documents regarding corporate restructuring or reorganizing will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania indicated in its response that there has been no restructuring but failed to identify whether there has been any reorganizing.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request, notwithstanding valid objections, stating that there has not been any corporate restructuring of Watch Tower PA. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given, and they now make an argument that is patently frivolous (i.e., that corporate "restructuring" is somehow different from corporate "reorganizing"). Moreover, Watch Tower PA, as noted above, produced corporate charters, articles of incorporation, and bylaws. No different response can be compelled, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10

Please produce all documents describing the hierarchical flow chart of positions/personnel from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, no responsive documents.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California. It seems implausible that a multi-million dollar corporation like Watch Tower Pennsylvania will not have documents describing how its personnel interacts with one another.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiff simply did not like the answer given, i.e., that there are no documents concerning a "hierarchical flow chart." No different response can be compelled, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11

Please produce all documents reflecting officers and directors from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, see Watch Tower PA's response to special interrogatory no. 10.

ARGUMENT:

Documents identifying officers and directors from 1970 to the present may assist in identifying who is responsible for governing the conduct of this statewide, national, and international corporation. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request, notwithstanding valid objections, and as noted above, has identified current directors and former directors dating back to 1970. No further response is required. Plaintiff simply did not like the answers given. It is unclear to Watch Tower PA what additional information plaintiffs are seeking. No different response can be compelled, and plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14

Please produce all documents which indicate a relationship to or with other business or corporate entities relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and vague. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA will supplement this response if Plaintiff's clarify specifically what "other business or corporate entities" this request refers to.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel clarified to defense counsel that this request is an attempt for Plaintiffs to understand the relationship between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and "other business and corporate entities"; more specifically, any person, organization, corporation or entity that is somehow related to the Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Watch Pennsylvania never supplemented its response.

Documents regarding the relationship Watch Tower Pennsylvania has with other business or corporate entities will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA has provided ample discovery on this topic, notwithstanding valid objections. Plaintiffs apparently did not like the answers given, both in the PMK deposition and in discovery responses. There are no corporate relationships with the entities identified in the topic. Also, in other discovery plaintiffs have learned that Watch Tower PA cooperates with Watch Tower New York and, since CCJW's inception in 2000, with CCJW. Watch Tower PA has provided some funding to Watchtower New York and to CCJW and carries those as long-term receivables. Plaintiffs also have learned that Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to literature that Watchtower New York published and distributed to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California). In any event, the document request here does not particularize specifically what documents plaintiffs are requesting. Thus, unless and until plaintiffs clarify what documents they really are seeking, Watch Tower PA cannot reasonably respond. However, Watch Tower PA expects that whatever further responses might be provided, they would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. Given all of the foregoing, the objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 20

Please provide documents relating to financing or purchases of building(s) for use by assemblies and/or congregations in California, including but not limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has provided funds to 197 congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California.

ARGUMENT:

These requested documents relate to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's business contacts with California. They are directly relevant to "minimum" contacts inquiry this Court will be asked to make as a result of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Motion to Quash for lack of Personal Jurisdiction. Watch Tower Pennsylvania indicated in their response that they have provided funds to 197 Jehovah's Witnesses' congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California, but failed to provide any document referencing these loans. These documents should be produced.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This request is indeed overly broad, vague and unduly burdensome as to the scope and volume of documents requested. In addition, plaintiffs have already discovered substantial information about this topic, through the August 25 – 26, 2004 PMK deposition and related document production. For example:

1. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA.

2. For some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program.

3. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition; there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans.

4. Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, all U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York.

Additional information about Watch Tower PA's California-related activities was obtained in the August 2004 PMK deposition. Thus, at this stage of discovery, particularly after having deposed the PMK, a further response to this request would elevate form over substance. The objections should be sustained, and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 21

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to organizational financial statements from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential financial information in the form of financial statements for purposes of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This request is indeed overly broad, vague and unduly burdensome as to the scope and volume of documents requested, particularly in light of Watch Tower PA's response that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin. In addition, plaintiffs have already discovered substantial information about Watch Tower PA's contacts with California, as outlined in the response to request no. 20 above. Watch Tower PA also expects that whatever further response it might provide to this request would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. At this stage of discovery, particularly after having deposed the PMK on issues regarding contributions to Watch Tower PA, a further response to this request would, again, elevate form over substance. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 22

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that indicate or reflect the origin of monies received by you.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA refers the Court to its response to request no. 21 immediately above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO.23

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that describe how monies from California congregations are received by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California, which contributions are received by cash, checks and electronic transfers.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA again refers the Court to its response to request no. 21 above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 24

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to treasurer summaries and reports from 1970 to the present

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential documents for purpose of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA refers the Court to its response to request no. 21 above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 25

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to tax returns and other government filings or reportings from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request violates privacy interests and privacy rights. This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and is intended to harass Defendant.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will reflect monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This request is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. This request is indeed overly broad, vague and unduly burdensome as to the scope and volume of documents requested. Watch Tower PA also refers the Court to its response to request no. 21 above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 26

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that memorialize wire transfers or deposits from congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA refers the Court to its response to request no. 25 immediately above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 27

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to deposit summaries from individuals and/or congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA again refers the Court to its response to request no. 25 above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 28

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to bank statements reflecting amounts received from California by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA refers the Court to its response to request no. 25 above. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 29:

Produce all corporate and/or governmental filings (state or federal) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that there are none in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will likely reflect monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA responded to this request. No further response is required. Plaintiff simply did not like the answer given and appear to be confused (as evidenced by the argument submitted, which is not remotely relevant to the actual request) about what they are actually seeking. Plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

JCCP No. 4374

DEFENDANT'S OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFFS' SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

DATE: April 8, 2005
TIME: 9:30 AM
DEPT.: B
TRIAL DATES: Not yet set

SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe your function/purpose within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous.

This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to, and without waiving those objections, Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania (Watch Tower PA") responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a legal non-profit corporation that in the past has communicated with Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committees of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world. Watch Tower PA no longer does so. Watch Tower PA never communicated the Governing Body's spiritual counsel to the U.S. Branch Committee which went into operation in about April 2002. Watch Tower PA is the copyright holder for publications of Jehovah's Witnesses, holds funds donated for the world wide work of Jehovah's Witnesses and to the Kingdom Hall Building Fund, operates the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, and provides funds to branches and congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world who may be in need of such funds.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent (1) they are the holder of the copyright for Jehovah's Witnesses' publications (which are disseminated throughout California), (2) they communicated the Governing Body's counsel to the Branch Committees throughout the world (which include California) over an extended period of time, (3) they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, (4) they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. This interrogatory is indeed vague, overly broad, and ambiguous as to what information plaintiffs are requesting. However, notwithstanding those valid objections, Watch Tower PA has responded and, moreover, plaintiffs have discovered substantial information about the relevant issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California." For example, plaintiffs have discovered the following information about Watch Tower PA's contacts with California:

1. Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most Jehovah's Witnesses publications. Those publications are distributed to and used by congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 congregations in California) and worldwide, although the actual publishing and distribution is accomplished by other entities.

2. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA.

3. For some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program.

4. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition, there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans.

5. Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York.

6. Watch Tower PA also receives bequests of real property from Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the U.S., including California. The property bequests from California include burial plots and remainder interests in real property, but Watch Tower PA currently has less than 10 such properties, which include remainder interests in six properties.

7. Watch Tower PA has been used in the past to communicate the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committee's of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world (there was never a U.S. Branch Committee until about April 2002), but no longer does so and has never done so to the U.S. Branch Committee. Watch Tower PA has never communicated the appointment of elders and ministerial servants to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the 48 contiguous states of the U.S.

If plaintiffs clarify what information they are seeking, Watch Tower PA could likely further respond. However, information about Watch Tower PA's California-related activities was obtained in the August 2004 PMK deposition, and Watch Tower PA also expects that whatever further response it might provide to this interrogatory would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. At this stage of discovery, particularly after having deposed the PMK, a further response to this interrogatory would truly elevate form over function. The objections should be sustained.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe all of the changes to your function/purpose since 1970.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant refers Plaintiffs to the answer to No. 1 above.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent (1) they are the holder of the copyright for Jehovah's Witnesses' publications (which are disseminated throughout California), (2) they communicated the Governing Body's counsel to the Branch Committees throughout the world (which include California) over an extended period of time, (3) they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, (4) they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. First, Watch Tower PA has produced its charters, bylaws, and articles of incorporation (Exhibit 59). Second, as detailed above by Watch Tower PA in the response to plaintiffs' argument about special interrogatory no. 1, plaintiffs have obtained substantial discovery about the very issues identified in plaintiffs'

"argument" immediately above, including information about the KHAA, the KHF, etc. Thus, it truly is not clear what further information plaintiffs are suggesting be provided here. In addition, Watch Tower PA also expects that whatever further response it might provide to this interrogatory would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The clear intent of plaintiffs is to harass and create undue burden and expense for Watch Tower PA rather than to obtain truly relevant additional information about "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California." The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, why and when such changes were made.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent (1) they are the holder of the copyright for Jehovah's Witnesses' publications (which are disseminated throughout California), (2) they communicated the Governing Body's counsel to the Branch Committees throughout the world (which include California) over an extended period of time, (3) they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, (4) they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Watch Tower PA here incorporates its response to plaintiffs' arguments to interrogatories nos. 1 and 2 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, please state who made the changes.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent (1) they are the holder of the copyright for Jehovah's Witnesses' publications (which are disseminated throughout California), (2) they communicated the Governing Body's counsel to the Branch Committees throughout the world (which include California) over an extended period of time, (3) they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, (4) they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Watch Tower PA here incorporates its response to plaintiffs' arguments to interrogatories nos. 1 and 2 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses - Napa Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

Other discovery uncovered by Plaintiff's counsel reveals there is a "financial" relationship between the congregations in Napa and Watch Tower Pennsylvania, as discussed in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at page23.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with its own Napa based congregations.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. Again, as detailed above, plaintiffs have obtained substantial information about "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California," but plaintiffs appear unsatisfied with the responses. An order compelling a further response here would be an empty gesture, as it will not change the response that was given. Plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 14:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses - Oak Knoll Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

Other discovery uncovered by Plaintiff's counsel reveals there is a "financial" relationship between the congregations in Napa and Watch Tower Pennsylvania, as discussed in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at page23.

This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in as sufficient detail to understand its relationship with its own Napa based congregations.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. An order compelling a further response here would be an empty gesture, as it will not change the response that was given. Plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 15:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship, because Watchtower NY is a separate legal entity that is neither a parent corporation nor subsidiary of Watch Tower PA.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry out the essential purposes of this organization. Surprisingly, Defendant Watch Tower New York and Watch Tower Pennsylvania are located in the same building in the State of New York, but Watch Tower Pennsylvania filed a motion to quash for lack of personal jurisdiction, while Watch Tower New York did not. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no corporate relationship. It truly is not clear what plaintiffs mean by an "organizational" or "theocratic" relationship. Nonetheless, even though not truly responsive here, in other discovery plaintiffs have learned that Watch Tower PA has provided funding to Watchtower New York and carries it as a long term receivable and that the two corporations cooperate. Plaintiffs also have learned that Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to literature that Watchtower New York published and distributed to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California). In any event, an order compelling a further response here would be another empty gesture, unless and until plaintiffs clarify what information they really are seeking. Indeed, Watch Tower PA expects that whatever further response it might provide to this interrogatory would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 16:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no corporate relationship. It truly is not clear what plaintiffs mean by an "organizational" or "theocratic" relationship. In addition, plaintiffs' counsel is fully aware that CCJW (Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, a non-profit corporation) did not come into existence until 2000, which was at least two years after the last allegation of abuse was alleged in plaintiffs' pleadings in the coordinated cases. Thus, this interrogatory, besides being disingenuous, is plainly not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 17:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Service Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Service Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Service Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no "corporate" relationship. Again, as plaintiffs' counsel are fully aware, prior to March 2001, the Service Department, as well as the Office of Public Information and the Convention Office, all of which are located in* New York, generally carried out their activities through Watchtower New York and not through Watch Tower PA. (The Writing Correspondence Department also generally carried out its activities through Watchtower New York, although Watch Tower PA holds the copyrights to the material written.) Those departments all cooperate with each other but there are no reporting relationships. On a hierarchical basis, those departments all stand in equal position and one does not supervise or direct another.

In any event, an order compelling a further response would not change the response already provided. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 18:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Legal Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Legal Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Legal Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. This interrogatory is plainly objectionable, but a response was still provided: "Watch Tower PA is a client" of the Watchtower Legal Department. It is not clear what else plaintiffs expect Watch Tower PA to answer here, but those six words, "Watch Tower PA is a client[,]" fully describe the relationship. The objections should otherwise be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 19:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Writing Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch

Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to writings published by the Writing Department of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Writing Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Writing Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no "corporate" relationship, but Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to literature written by the Writing Department. This issue also was addressed in the August 2004 PMK deposition (see, e.g., transcript at pp. 56 – 57).

An order compelling a further response here would not change the response already provided, including the response in the PMK deposition. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 20:

Describe the relationship between you and Office of Public Information (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Office of Public Information is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Office of Public Information is essential to understanding their contacts with California. Their response that "Watch Tower PA is a client" is rather vague and further clarification should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no "corporate" relationship, but Watch Tower PA is a client. In any event, an order compelling a further response here would not change the response already provided. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 21:

Describe the relationship between you and Public Affairs Office (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: The Public Affairs Office is now known as the Office of Public Information. See also response to No. 20 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. There is no "corporate" relationship, but Watch Tower PA is a client. Again, an order compelling a further response would not change the response already provided. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 22:

Describe the relationship between you and Governing Body (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with Governing Body and how the Governing Body uses Watch Tower Pennsylvania, generally and specifically (in California), in light of the deposition testimony of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that monies are held with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for loans, funding and insurance of California congregations.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. There is no "legal" relationship between Watch Tower PA and the Governing Body. Again, an order compelling a further response would not change the response already provided. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 23:

Please describe the relationship between the Board of Directors for Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Until October 1971, Watch Tower PA's board of directors consisted exclusively of individuals who later became members of the Governing Body. Since about October 2000, no Governing Body member is or has been on the Watch Tower PA board of directors.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with Governing Body and how the Governing Body uses Watch Tower Pennsylvania, generally and specifically (in California), in light of the deposition testimony of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that monies are held with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for loans, funding and insurance of California congregations.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's response seems to indicates that the members of the Board of the Directors and Governing Body are somehow one in the same. If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. As discovery has revealed, there is no "corporate" relationship, but during the time period relevant to the allegations of abuse in these coordinated cases, some members of the Governing Body were on the board of directors of Watch Tower PA. Prior to that, and up to about October 1971, Watch Tower PA's board of directors consisted exclusively of individuals who later became members of the Governing Body. Also, since about October 2000, no Governing Body member is or has been on the Watch Tower PA board of directors.

It appears from plaintiffs' argument above that plaintiffs now seek some other information about the "relationship" of the Governing Body to the Watch Tower PA board of directors, because plaintiffs' argument includes Watch Tower PA's funding of Kingdom Hall loans, purchase of insurance, etc. Such information indisputably was not requested by the specific interrogatory at issue here (which suggests that the interrogatory was either vaguely or even inartfully worded). In any event, the objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 24:

Please describe the relationship between the officers of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See response to No. 23 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. Much like the response to plaintiffs' argument immediately above, it appears that plaintiffs now seek some other information about the "relationship" of the Governing Body to the "officers" of Watch Tower. Again, such information indisputably was not requested by the specific interrogatory at issue here (which again suggests that the interrogatory was either vaguely or even inartfully worded). The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 25:

Please describe every way that the Governing Body used the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania to help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, including but not limited to the State of California, from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous as to what is specifically meant by the phrase "help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses." Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Up until about 2001, Watch Tower PA was occasionally "used" to communicate with congregations in California by mail. Watch Tower PA has held, and still holds, copyrights to literature published by Jehovah's Witnesses and used by many publishers in California. See also response to No. 1 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with Governing Body and how the Governing Body uses Watch Tower Pennsylvania, generally and specifically (in California), in light of the deposition testimony of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that monies are held with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for loans, funding and insurance of California congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's response seems to indicates that the members of the Board of the Directors and Governing Body are somehow one in the same. If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. In addition, here again, plaintiffs have discovered substantial information about the relevant issue of "Watch Tower PA's contacts in California." To repeat, plaintiffs have discovered the following information about Watch Tower PA's contacts with California, all of which arguably are responsive here:

1. Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most Jehovah's Witnesses publications. Those publications are distributed to and used by congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 congregations in California) and worldwide, although the actual publishing and distribution is accomplished by other entities.

2. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA.

3. For some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program.

4. Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition, there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans.

5. Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, all U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York.

6. Watch Tower PA also receives bequests of real property from Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the U.S., including California. The property bequests from California include burial plots and remainder interests in real property, but Watch Tower PA currently has less than 10 such properties, which include remainder interests in six properties.

7. Watch Tower PA has been used in the past to communicate the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committee's of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world (there was never a U.S. Branch Committee until about April 2002), but no longer does so and has never done so to the U.S. Branch Committee. Watch Tower PA has never communicated the appointment of elders and ministerial servants to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the 48 contiguous states of the U.S.

Additional information about Watch Tower PA's California-related activities was obtained in the August 2004 PMK deposition. Thus, it is not clear to Watch Tower PA what additional information plaintiffs are seeking. If plaintiffs clarify what information they are, in fact, seeking, Watch Tower PA could likely attempt to further respond. However, Watch Tower PA also expects that whatever further response it might provide to this interrogatory would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. Also, at this stage of discovery, particularly after having deposed the PMK, a further response to this interrogatory would again elevate form over substance. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 26:

Please describe how Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has not operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with Governing Body and how the Governing Body uses Watch Tower Pennsylvania, generally and specifically (in California), in light of the deposition testimony of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that monies are held with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for loans, funding and insurance of California congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's response seems to indicates that the members of the Board of the Directors and Governing Body are somehow one in the same. If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Again, plaintiffs simply did not like the answer given. The answer was that "Watch Tower PA has not operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body" [emphasis added], and no different response can be compelled. Plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall financing from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has provided money to congregations upon request so that the congregations could build Kingdom Halls.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. The issue of Kingdom Hall loans in California was addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004, as discussed above, and supplementing that deposition testimony (and the prior document production and discovery responses) on this topic would again elevate form over substance. In any event, whatever further response Watch Tower PA might provide to this interrogatory, such a response likely would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 29:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall Assistance

Arrangements (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that is has received annual contributions from congregations to fund the KHAA since about 1989 and has managed the funds in KHAA.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Like with the issue of Kingdom Hall loans in California addressed above, the issue of KHAA was addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. Supplementing that deposition testimony and the prior document production and discovery responses on this topic would, again, serve only to elevate form over substance. Watch Tower PA again believes that whatever further response Watch Tower PA might provide to this interrogatory, such a response would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 30:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with risk management for California congregations and their respective Kingdom Halls from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. The issue of risk management, like the issues of Kingdom Hall loans in California and the KHAA addressed above, was addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. Supplementing that deposition testimony and the prior document production and discovery responses on this topic would, again, serve only to elevate form over substance. Watch Tower PA again believes that whatever further response Watch Tower PA might provide to this interrogatory, such a response would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 31:

Please describe your involvement with the purchase and/or financing of Kingdom Halls, generally, and the specific Kingdom Halls used by Defendant Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and Defendant Oak Knoll Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's

Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it provides money to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses upon request in order to financially assist the congregations with building Kingdom Halls of Jehovah's Witnesses. Watch Tower PA was not involved in the purchase or building of the Kingdom Hall used by Defendants Napa and Oak Knoll Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses and did not provide any monies to those two congregations for that purpose.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

Other discovery uncovered by Plaintiff's counsel reveals there is a "financial" relationship between the congregations in Napa and Watch Tower Pennsylvania, as discussed in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at page 23.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with its own Napa based congregations.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections.

No further response is required. The issues of Kingdom Hall loans in California and the KFH have been addressed above and, again, were addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. Supplementing that deposition testimony and the prior document production and discovery responses on this topic would, again, serve only to elevate form over substance. Watch Tower PA again believes that whatever further response Watch Tower PA might provide to this interrogatory, it would not be acceptable to plaintiffs' counsel. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 32:

Please describe the existence and operation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "describe the existence" of KHAA. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the KHAA was established in about 1989 to consolidate the insurance needs of congregations Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the United States. Each congregation may contribute to the fund. In turn, those monies are used to purchase a CGL insurance policy for all congregations and to cover certain claims for which there is no insurance.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. The issues of the KHAA and insurance purchased for congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California) have been addressed above at length and, again, were also addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 33:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide all of the functions of the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the Risk Management Office of Watch Tower PA does not operate within the United States, except with respect to KHAA.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. The issues of the KHAA and insurance purchased for congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California) have been addressed above at length and the question here about the Risk Management Office has been answered. As noted repeatedly above, these issues were addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 34:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide who at the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania oversaw/oversees the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

This interrogatory is plainly objectionable, and those objections should be sustained. Moreover, issues regarding the KHAA and insurance purchased for congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California) and the Risk Management Office have been addressed above at length. As noted repeatedly above, these issues were addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 35:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe how the Society's Risk Management Office administers the KHAA Fund 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32,

Moreover, issues regarding the KHAA and insurance purchased for congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including in California) and the Risk Management Office have been addressed above at length. As noted repeatedly above, these issues were addressed at length in the PMK deposition on August 25 – 26, 2004. The objections should be sustained and plaintiffs' motion denied.

INTERROGATORY NO. 36:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe from 1970 to the present how the Risk Management Office purchases commercial excess insurance to protect congregations from catastrophic loss.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

INTERROGATORY NO. 37:

Please describe the input the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has in seeking contributions for the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "input." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that Watch Tower PA informs congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States once each year of the need to support the KHAA and suggests to them a dollar amount per publisher in each congregation that they may wish to contribute toward the fund.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. WATCH TOWER PA'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower PA answered this interrogatory, notwithstanding valid objections. No further response is required. Documents have been produced in this regard, and plaintiffs' counsel queried the Watch Tower PMK about this topic in the August 25 – 26, 2004 deposition. Again, it appears that plaintiffs simply did not like the answers given. However, no different responses can be compelled. Plaintiffs' motion must be denied.

Attorneys for The Church Defendants

FILED

MAR 14 2005

Clerk of the Napa Superior Court
By: Sara O'Sheets
Deputy

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 (lead case) JCCP No. 4374 DECLARATION OF ROBERT J. SCHNACK IN SUPPORT OF WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY DATE: April 8, 2005 TIME: 9:30 AM DEPT.: B TRIAL DATES: Not yet set
AND COORDINATED CASES

I, Robert J. Schnack, declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney licensed to practice law in California and Oregon, a shareholder in the law firm of Bullivant Houser Bailey PC, and one of the attorneys of record for defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") in these coordinated actions. I make the following statements from personal knowledge.

2. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a true copy of defendant Watch Tower PA's objections and response to plaintiffs' fourth amended notice of PMK deposition.

3. I personally attended the deposition of Watch Tower PA's designated PMK, Alexander Reinmueller, on August 25 - 26, 2004. Attached hereto as Exhibit B are true copies of excerpts from the transcript of that deposition that are referenced at p.4 of Watch Tower PA's response in opposition to plaintiffs' motion to compel discovery and, subject to the errata sheet submitted by Mr. Reinmueller, I believe those excerpts accurately reflect the testimony given.

4. Attached hereto as Exhibit C are true copies of the documents produced in conjunction with defendant Watch Tower PA's objections and response to plaintiffs' fourth amended notice of PMK deposition (see paragraph 2 above) that were identified as Exhibits 39, 40, 54, 58, and 59, as referenced in Watch Tower PA's response and opposition papers to plaintiffs' motion to compel discovery. The other documents produced with defendant Watch Tower PA's objections and response to plaintiffs' fourth amended notice of PMK deposition will be made available to court at the hearing or otherwise as may be requested or necessary.

5. I have been personally involved as one of Watch Tower PA's attorney in discovery in these coordinated cases. Through that discovery, plaintiffs have learned the following: Watch Tower PA cooperates with Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. and, since the inception of Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses ("CCJW") in 2000, with CCJW; and Watch Tower PA has provided some funding to Watchtower New York and to CCJW and carries those as long-term receivables.

6. In addition to the discovery noted above in paragraph 5, plaintiffs have "discovered" the following about Watch Tower PA's non-traditional contacts with California: (a) Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most Jehovah's Witnesses publications. Those publications are distributed to and used by congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 congregations in California) and worldwide, although the actual publishing and distribution is accomplished by other entities; (b) Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"), which was started in 1989. KHAA pays some claims on a discretionary basis and provides funds to secure insurance for many congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California). KHAA is funded by contributions from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world. One of the activities of the Risk Management Office is to process claims made to the KHAA; (c) for some period of time prior to the creation of KHAA in 1989 and for a few years thereafter, Watch Tower PA purchased insurance policies that provided general liability and certain other insurance coverage to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) that chose to participate in the insurance program; (d) Watch Tower PA administers the Kingdom Hall Fund ("KHF"), which was started in 1983 and provides loans upon request to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world for construction or remodeling of Kingdom Halls (i.e., places of worship for local congregations). There have been about 375 such loans to California congregations since the mid-1980s and, as of the August 2004 PMK deposition, there were 197 existing loans to California congregations through KHF. Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and throughout the world donate funds to the KHF that are used for such Kingdom Hall construction loans; (e) Watch Tower PA receives monetary donations to its general fund from Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including California) and worldwide. Watch Tower PA has only received monetary contributions to its general fund from congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the U.S. (including the approximately 1,997 California congregations) since September 1, 2001. Prior to that time, U.S. congregations sent monetary contributions to Watchtower New York; (f) Watch Tower PA also receives bequests of real property from Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the U.S., including California. The property bequests from California include burial plots and remainder interests in real property, but Watch Tower PA currently has less than 10 such properties, which include remainder interests in six properties; (g) Watch Tower PA has been used in the past to communicate the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committee's of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world (there was never a U.S. Branch Committee until about April 2002), but no longer does so and has never done so to the U.S. Branch Committee. Watch Tower PA has never communicated the appointment of elders and ministerial servants to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the 48 contiguous states of the U.S.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States and of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct upon my knowledge, information and belief.

Executed this 11th day of March, 2005, at Gold River, California.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 DEFENDANTS' OBJECTION TO THE FOURTH AMENDED NOTICE OF DEPOSITION OF THE PERSON MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") earlier filed a motion challenging personal jurisdiction which is still pending with the Court and, therefore, specially appears herein to object to plaintiffs' CCP §2025(d)(6) notice of deposition duces tecum to Watch Tower PA regarding (1) the areas of inquiry of the Watch Tower PA representative, and (2) the documents requested in the notice of PMK deposition, as follows:

OBJECTIONS TO SCOPE OF SUBJECT MATTER INQUIRY

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 1:

Organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 1:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony relevant to the secular organizational structure of the Watch Tower PA corporation for the time periods of 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 2:

The make up and function of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 2:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This request is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Also, because the Governing Body is involved with spiritual and ecclesiastical matters related to the Jehovah's Witnesses religion, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 3:

Relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Governing Body, Watchtower New York, Branch Committees, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, California District, California Circuits and California Congregations).

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 3:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to its relationship, if any, with any entity that carried out any activity for Jehovah's Witnesses in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 4:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) and its operation from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to amounts collected and amounts paid by the KHAA)

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 4:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, furnishing details as to amounts collected and paid by the KHAA is unduly burdensome, an invasion of privacy, harassment, and is not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch

Tower PA will provide testimony as to KHAA and its operation with respect to California in 2003. The KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 5:

The Risk Management Office and its operation from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 5:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This line of questioning is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this request seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Risk Management's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 6:

Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 6:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the Defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 7:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses (assemblies or congregation functions) from 1970 to the present (this category to include but not be limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings).

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 7:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972

to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 8:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 8:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 9:

Watch Tower PA's operation as the Service Committee of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 9:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Service Committee's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 10:

Watch Tower PA's participation in Gilead Schools from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 10:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. *DVI, Inc. v. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to Watch Tower PA's participation in Gilead School activity in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

OBJECTIONS TO DOCUMENT REQUESTS

REQUEST NO. 1:

Watch Tower PA's corporate book (which should include lists of officers, directors, organizational meeting minutes, resolutions and changes in organizational function and structure).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has already provided a list of all its directors in its prior response to Plaintiffs' interrogatories. See also Exhibits 39 and 40.

REQUEST NO. 2:

Governmental filings (state and federal) by Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, as well as vague and ambiguous as to what might be termed a "government filing."

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has not made any "government filings" in California. However for the federal filing of the corporation, see Exhibit 59.

REQUEST NO. 3:

Documents describing the organizational structure and reporting relationships within the Watch Tower PA, specifically, and Watchtower Society, generally (describing how Watch Tower PA fits into the overall organization).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 3:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 39, 40, and 54.

REQUEST NO. 4:

Documents related to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present, including but not limited to instructions (present and prior), invoices (or "letters suggesting a contribution") from Watch Tower PA to California congregations, forms used in the operation of the KHAA, and claims paid in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 4:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and an invasion of privacy of individuals not parties to this lawsuit, unduly burdensome, and intended for purposes of harassment.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See documents for 1972 to 1985 and 2003, attached hereto as Exhibits 5, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 36, 37, 38, 49, 50, 51, 52, and 58. Defendant Watch Tower PA had less than 20 claims in California involving the KHAA for the year 2003 and no claims paid from 1972 to 1985 because the KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

REQUEST NO. 5:

Documents related to financing Kingdom Halls and other buildings used by or for Jehovah's Witnesses in California from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Instructions for Congregation Accounting forms and other documents that describe the initiation of the transactions).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 5:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA presently has about 197 Kingdom Hall loans in California. See also Exhibits 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 36, 41, 44, 49, 50, 51, and 52.

REQUEST NO. 6:

Documents provided by Watch Tower PA to any California district office, circuit office, congregation, elder, accounts servant or member from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Service Committee for the Governing Body).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 6:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the Defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, 16, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 41, 42, 43, 45, 46, 47, 48, 56, and 57.

REQUEST NO. 7:

Documents related to Watch Tower PA's involvement in the application process or presentations at the Gilead School from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 7:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003, and to California.

Further, this request is overly broad and vague. Also, this request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 19 and 20.

REQUEST NO. 8:

Documents related to monies received by you from California for any reason from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to donations, payments, premiums, and rental/lease income).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 8:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, an invasion of privacy, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA sends letters on a monthly basis to each congregation acknowledging the receipt of donations sent by the congregation to Watch Tower PA. See also Exhibits 1, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 25, 26, 29, 30, 36, 37 and 38.

REQUEST NO. 9:

Documents sent or prepared by Watch Tower PA that provide instruction for elders and other congregation leaders in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 9:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this request is overly broad and vague. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 41, 43, 45, 47, 48, and 55.

REQUEST NO. 10:

Documents sent or prepared by Watch Tower PA that provide instruction for district or circuit overseers in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 10:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Further, this request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 19, 23, and 24.

EXHIBIT B

SUPERIOR COURT CALIFORNIA
COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D.,

Plaintiffs,

-against-

WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al,

Defendants.

August 25, 2004
9:10 a.m.
333 Adams Street
Brooklyn, New York

DEPOSITION

of ALEXANDER REINMUELLER, a Witness appearing on behalf of one of the Defendants herein, held at the above-noted time and place before Brian Brenner, a Shorthand Reporter and Notary Public of the State of New York, pursuant to Court Order, the Provisions of the CPLR pertaining thereto, and stipulations between counsel.

EXHIBIT B

A. REINMUELLER
just circle that whole level and just take it out?
A. Part from that. The rest of the hierarchy from a religious perspective is reasonably accurate.
Q. If you would, pick up that pen and do that, or if you would like to, hand if back to me, and I'll do that.
A. (Handing).
Q. In California, do you know how many districts there are, or is California just one state of many in a district?
A. Yes, and districts are not allocated strictly by state. There is some overlapping. I'm not exactly sure of how many there are.
MR. SCHNACK: Again, counsel, he's probably not the person most knowledgeable on that. That wasn't in the notice of deposition. I think we haven't designated Mr. Reinmueller as the PMK on that issue.
Q. Do you know how many circuits there are in California?

A. REINMUELLER
A. I'm not exactly sure.
Q. In some of the interrogatory responses that I could show you if you need me to, it indicates that Watch Tower Pennsylvania receives donations from 1,977 congregations in California.
Do you recall that?
MR. SCHNACK: It was 1,997, I believe, in the response.
Q. Even more. 1,997 congregations in California have made contributions to catch Tower Pennsylvania, I assume, last year?
A. That's correct.
Q. Is safe for me to assume that there are at least 1,997 congregations in California?
A. Yes, it's fair.
Q. Using the mathematics of approximately 20 congregations per circuit, is it fair for me to assume there is approximately 100 circuits in California?
A. That would be reasonable.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Of the 100 circuits in California, would it be fair for me to assume that there is one circuit overseer per circuit?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. So there are approximately at present 100 circuit overseers in California, assuming that there are at least 1,997 congregations in California?
A. Yes. That would be reasonable.
Q. With respect to the congregations that donate to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, do you know how many congregations there are that haven't donated to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Im not aware of any that have not.
Q. All of them do, don't they?
A. I would expect that to be true.
Q. In one form or another, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. So is it fair increase know to assume that when I read the interrogatory response that 1,997 congregations are making donations that there are 1,997 congregations, correct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
Q. So there is not just a couple of renegades out there that won't give money?
A. No.
Q. Do you know whether there is a district overseer over California?
A. There are several.
Q. So there are several districts in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. More than ten?
A. Probably around ten.
Q. So there is approximately ten district overseers in California?
A. Yes.
Q. Of course, the one branch that oversees business in California is the US branch, correct?
A. The US branch oversees all of the spiritual activities of Jehovah's Witnesses of the US.
Q. Is the branch committee the

A. REINMUELLER

California, correct?

A. It provides spiritual direction for our preaching work.

Q. Do you consider how to inspect the roof of a Kingdom Hall a spiritual matter?

A. No.

Q. Do you consider checking the security at the Kingdom Hall a spiritual matter?

A. Not specifically.

Q. Do you consider to make sure sharp objects are not left on the premises at a Kingdom Hall a spiritual matter?

A. Not specifically.

Q. Isn't it true that some of the materials copyrighted by the Watch Tower Pennsylvania are not just spiritual instructions?

A. There may be some. There may be some examples. It would be rather minor, however, to my knowledge.

Q. Tell me, what is a regional building committee?

A. REINMUELLER

MR. SCHNACK: If you know?

A. It's a group of elders in an area with construction experience that help congregations build new Kingdom Halls when necessary.

Q. And the Kingdom Hall Fund, describe to me what is the Kingdom Hall Fund.

A. Kingdom Hall Fund is a fund that Watch Tower Pennsylvania operates where congregations contribute monies that, in turn, are made available to congregations on loan when they're building new facilities and need additional financing.

Q. Isn't it true in the process of getting a loan from the Kingdom Hall Fund, a regional building committee is used?

A. Regional building committee provides assistance to the congregation in applying for a loan.

Q. Are there regional building committees, like one in Southern California, one in Northern California, or are they per district? How many of them are there in California?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I don't know exactly, but I would guess it would be less than ten.

Q. Less than ten in California?

A. In California.

Q. And it's made up of elders?

MR. SCHNACK: Again, Greg, I'll object unless you somehow link this to Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Regional building committees have nothing to do with Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

MR. LOVE: It has a lot to do with Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Your materials that I'm about to give him show that the regional building committee was involved in the approval of the loan by Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

MR. SCHNACK: That's fine, but it doesn't -- it doesn't link it to Watch Tower California.

MR. SCHNACK: Go ahead. You could ask that question if you're suggesting that they were under the control of Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

Q. In the interrogatory responses, I want to read this response to you that I've got written in my notes. Tell me if you could agree with it. I'll get it out. "Watchtower Pennsylvania administers a fund for the construction of church buildings entitled to Kingdom Hall Funds. Through this fund, Watchtower Pennsylvania makes funds available for buildings Kingdom Halls and Assembly Halls."

Is that true?

A. With the exception that the monies for the assembly halls do not come from the Kingdom Hall Fund. It's only for Kingdom Halls.

Q. Where does the money come from for the Assembly Halls?

A. Out of the Watch Tower Pennsylvania's general funds.

Q. How many funds are there at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that are available to entities in California?

A. Not sure how to characterize your expression that are available to congregations.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. For Assemblies. To anybody in California?
A. What do you mean by, "are there available"?
Q. You talked about the Kingdom Hall Fund, which you said, was available to only congregations in California.
A. Correct.
Q. Now, you mentioned that there is a general --
MR. SCHNACK: I object. You mischaracterized his testimony. He said it was only available to congregations in California.
Q. I meant only available for the congregations for the building buildings. Is that fair?
MR. SCHNACK: Objection to form of the question. Would you rephrase the question?
MR. LOVE: I understand. It was grammatically correct, but it sounded really bad. Strike that.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Isn't it true that the Kingdom Hall Fund is available to congregations for the building of Kingdom Halls?
A. Yes, that is true.
Q. And that is true in California, correct?
A. That is true in California.
Q. You mentioned then a general fund, which is monies can be used to build Assembly Halls in California, correct? Not just in California, but it is available in California, correct?
A. It's not available. It's not something that could be applied for, but the corporation may use its general funds for a variety of purposes.
Q. Let's talk about the use of that Watch Tower Pennsylvania's funds for the construction of Assembly Halls. From the beginning of the process, explain to me how it would work.
A. To the best of my knowledge, there have been two Assembly Hall products in California which received funding from Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. When?
A. One is very recently in 2003, 2004, and one before that was in the early '90s.
Q. Is it your testimony that those are the only two Assembly Halls that Watch Tower Pennsylvania has contributed funds to, to build, or those are the only ones you're aware of?
A. Those are the only ones in the State of California that I'm aware of.
Q. So prior to the early '90s, there may have been some, that you just don't know about?
A. Not in the records that are available to me.
Q. So you reviewed enough records that you could give testimony that between 1970 and 2003, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's general fund has only been used to construct two Assembly Halls in California?

A. REINMUELLER
A. To the best of my knowledge, yes.
Q. Who seeks those monies that are provided out of the general fund? How does that come about?
A. With respect to either the halls?
Q. Yes.
A. The hall -- when an Assembly Hall is approved to be constructed, generally the congregations that will be using the facility are able to come up with the funds that they need. If they're not, then the directors of that corporation, the Assembly Hall corporation, may approach Watch Tower Pennsylvania to ask for funding.
Q. Let me see if I'm understanding you. A number of congregations decide that they want an Assembly Hall built. They'll create a corporate entity for the ownership of that property in that building?
A. That is correct.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. And they may choose a handful of elders to serve as either trustees or corporate officers of that created entity to own that property and building?
A. Correct.
Q. And that they call themselves anything like an Assembly Hall Committee or anything like that?
A. Not the directors. They will be just the directors of that corporation.
Q. Besides owning the property, that is all they do, correct, in that corporate capacity?
A. Yes.
Q. With respect to the group of people that are a committee to have that Assembly Hall built, do they call themselves anything?
A. I'm not the most knowledgeable on the organizational procedure, but to the best of my knowledge, once the facility is close to completion and ready to be operated, then an operating committee is established.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. But prior to that, it's still a collection of people going through a building program?
A. Correct.
Q. How does that group of elders communicate to Watch Tower Pennsylvania that they want funds or need funds?
A. Generally, they'll write a letter.
Q. Who will they write the letter to?
A. Usually to -- just to the branch office, a number of departments would be involved.
Q. Would the branch office is not Watch Tower Pennsylvania, is it?
A. No, it is not.
Q. How does the communication get to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. When a project has been approved and funds are -- have been approved, the board of directors will direct the treasurer's office to follow through and establish the funding and whatever loan agreement is arrived at.

Q. So the financing will be arranged on the front side, correct, before anything is built? They'll organize how it will be paid for, and they involve Watch Tower Pennsylvania money, correct?
A. It may, and the -- the financing may come in later. As I said, Assembly Halls are mostly financed locally. So we may come in only towards the end of a project.
Q. Is there a loan application?
A. There is for Kingdom Hall, a Kingdom Hall Fund.
Q. Is there a loan application for the Assembly Halls?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Is there a promissory note?
A. A promissory note would be executed if a loan was approved.
Q. And it would be executed to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. And it would be a loan with interest, correct?
A. Generally speaking, yes.
Q. We've talked briefly about the Kingdom Hall Fund, and we've talked about the general fund.
Are there any funds at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that are used to do business in California?
A. Kingdom Hall's Assistance Arrangement.
Q. Is there any other?
A. There are no other funds in Watch Tower Pennsylvania that are used.
Q. Where do the funds come from at Watch Tower Pennsylvania from which they make these loans?
MR. SCHNACK: You're talking about the Kingdom Hall Fund?
Q. I am talking about the Kingdom Hall Fund or the general fund.
A. All of the funds in Watch Tower Pennsylvania are received by voluntary donations.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And is it also true that some of the monies received are interests income on loans?

A. Yes, that is true.

Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have records of how many Kingdom Hall loans have been made in California since 1960?

MR. SCHNACK: Since 1960? That is overly broad for the purposes of the lawsuit.

MR. LOVE: I know, but there are records that say that the loans are up to ten years in term, which would be loaned that reach into our scope that we're talking about.

MR. SCHNACK: I'll let you ask from 1974, otherwise I'm going to object.

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, does the Watch Tower Pennsylvania have any records that can identify how many Kingdom Hall loans have been made since 1970?

A. Our records on Kingdom Hall

A. REINMUELLER

loans presently go back to the mid 1980's.

Q. Why is that so?

A. Just retention schedules, there was no need to keep them beyond seven years once they're completed.

Q. But you don't have any records that show who may have received the loan?

A. Not prior to that time.

Q. No database, nothing?

A. No.

Q. If someone from Watch Tower Pennsylvania were to call a congregation in California and ask if they had ever had a Kingdom Hall loan, do you suppose the people in the congregation would know?

MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll instruct the witness not to guess. If you hadn't asked the question, "do you suppose," it involves a guessing by the way that your question is phrased.

If you have an answer, go ahead.

A. I wouldn't know the answer you would get.

Q. What did you personally do, if anything, to research what loans had been made to Kingdom Halls in California since 1970?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I reviewed the number of loans that are in our records that were made to the State of California. That is as far as back as our records go.

Q. In preparation for this deposition?

A. Yes.

MR. SCHNACK: Actually, I think that was involved with prior discovery responses, as opposed to this deposition.

Q. What exactly did you review, and what form did it exist in?

A. I reviewed the list of congregations that received loans according to our records in the State of California.

Q. How many congregations appeared on that list?

A. About 375.

Q. Does that include the loans that are presently in existence?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, it does.

Q. So there's been 375 loans made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to California congregations for the purposes of building Kingdom Halls since the mid 1980's?

A. That's correct.

Q. Did the list you looked at also indicate the amount of the loans?

A. No.

Q. Are there records at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that would verify the amount of those loans?

A. Yes, thre are.

Q. Are there records at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that would indicate how much money had come in by virtue of the 375 loans in the form of interest income?

A. I believe so. I can't verify exactly for the early part that, because our computer systems may not have segregated it prior to the mid '90s, but I believe so.

Q. Let me make sure I didn't

A. REINMUELLER
misunderstand you. You said 375 loans from the mid '90s or the mid '80s?
A. The mid '80s.
MR. SCHNACK: I believe that number is high, based on our discussion previously.
MR. LOVE: Again, if you have better information, I would like to have it.
MR. SCHNACK: I'm not sworn to testify. My understanding was 250 to 300, but I'll go with his recall.
I'm just trying to create an accurate record for you, Greg.
MR. LOVE: I know you are, and I would like it to be from somebody with knowledge. I would like to be able to use that information. If there is a way in which you could give that to me in a form which I can use it, I would appreciate it.
MR. SCHNACK: We could discuss it over a break and address the number again.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. LOVE: Then let's discuss all of those things on break.
MR. SCHNACK: Fine. Give me a list.
MR. LOVE: I don't want any of your comments on the record, other than objections.
MR. SCHNACK: Some of the earlier comments, Greg, were on topics that you asked were not noticed as being a topic of this deposition. Don't get on my case about trying to give you an accurate record.
MR. LOVE: I just need the information that supports what you understand, if this witness doesn't know it.
MR. SCHNACK: He's giving you his best testimony.
MR. LOVE: Please mark these as 10 and 11.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibit 10 and 11 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I'm handing you what was marked as deposition Exhibits 10 and 11.
Have you reviewed these letters in the course of your preparation for this deposition?
A. Briefly.
Q. Do they appear to be true and correct copies of letters from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. They do.
Q. Now, both of these letters relate to Kingdom Hall financing; is that correct?
A. Yes, they do.
Q. Do you see that the letterhead of this particular document, Exhibit 10, is Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. Does it say Watchtower New York anywhere on that document?
A. Not that I could see.
Q. Do you see underneath the letterhead Watch Tower Pennsylvania,

A. REINMUELLER
office of the secretary and treasurer?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you see an address underneath that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that address is of Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. That doesn't say office of the secretary treasurer of Watch Tower New York, does it?
A. No, it doesn't.
Q. Is there a separate office of the secretary and treasurer, other than the one you've testified about, at Watchtower New York?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the question, to the extent it mischaracterizes his prior testimony.
Go ahead and answer.
A. The secretary treasurer office of the Pennsylvania corporation does have an office in that capacity that is different and distinct from the department all.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Because it goes further and says, "Coverage can be arranged through the Brooklyn office."

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania in the mid '80s would loan the funds to congregations in California, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And it would be considered an insured in California, correct?

A. The congregation?

Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania would be named as an insured with respect to property in California?

A. In some cases, yes.

Q. With respect to the insurance arrangement handled out of Brooklyn, that was also arranged by Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Yes, whatever insurance program was in place at that time was in Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the tools with respect to a loan in California to loan the money and then arrange for the insurance of itself in connection with that property, correct?

A. Yes. That would be correct.

Q. In parenthetical number 18, it asks, "Do you hold a properly executed promissory note for the amount of the loan, showing the amount, the monthly payments, and the interest at six percent?"

Did I read that right?

A. Yes, you did.

Q. Would there be a promissory note evidencing the loaning of monies by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to congregations in California?

A. Yes, there would.

Q. Do you know where those notes are kept?

A. Those notes are kept in the treasurer's office.

Q. If I asked you for a note on a

A. REINMUELLER

California congregation's Kingdom Hall, would you walk to a particular filing cabinet to access that particular information?

A. Yes, I would.

Q. Is the information with respect to the promissory notes in connection with loans in California all in one place?

A. Yes, it is.

Q. How far back do those records go?

A. As I mentioned earlier, to about the mid '80s.

Q. So the 197 present congregation loans in California, loaned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, there are promissory notes for each one of those loans, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. With Watch Tower Pennsylvania as the lender, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. With the stated amount of interest in one each of those notes?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. There would be a term also of that note, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And identified monthly payments, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And in most cases, it would include Watch Tower Pennsylvania in connection with that transaction as an insured, correct?

MR. SCHNACK: You're talking about the promissory note?

MR. LOVE: The transaction.

A. In what sense are you saying?

Q. I backed up to paragraph 15, in connection with the 375 promissory notes between 1970 and the present, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is listed as an insured on the property of most of them, correct?

A. I believe not, because the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement began in 1989, and since that time, I do not believe that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania is named in connection with the insurance of that particular property. The congregation would be named.

Q. So is it fair for me to assume that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was a named insured up until the creation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. That is likely.
Q. And the system just changed, correct?
A. Correct.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 12.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 12 for identification.)
Q. I want to hand you what I marked as Exhibit 12. I will represent to you that it's a document that I received from the Yolo County Records Department in California which is a deed of trust in connection with Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Inc.
Take a moment to look at that document, and I want to ask you some questions about that document.

Are you familiar with that form of a document?
A. Generally, although I'm not really an expert in these matters.
Q. Do you recognize this as a short form deed of trust?
A. Yes.
Q. I'll represent to you that your interrogatory response to interrogatory 16 indicates that Woodland Hall Congregation received a Kingdom Hall loan that was paid in full in 2001, okay?
A. Okay.
Q. Do you have any idea as to whether this particular transaction which appears to have originated in April of 1967 is that same loan, or was there another one?
A. It's unlikely that it was the same loan.
Q. Talking about this document, do you see at the top left-hand corner the identification of one of the parties to this transaction as Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes, I do.
Q. The address was this address at the time, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. It looks like it was filed in April 21, 1967. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It indicates Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witness, Inc., a California corporation, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And I believe we've sued that entity, just to let you know.
Is it your testimony that that corporation did anything, other than own the title to the property?
A. To the best of my knowledge, the corporation would have only been involved in holding title to the property.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as Exhibit 13.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned

A. REINMUELLER
document was marked Exhibit 13 for identification.)
Q. I'll hand you what I marked as Exhibit 13 (handing). Do you recognize that document?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And is it a true and correct copy of the November 1, 1995 communication from the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania in connection with the ownership of Kingdom Halls?
A. It appears to be.
Q. When a congregation receives information regarding the ownership of Kingdom Halls from the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, would they consider this information to be authoritative?
MR. SCHNACK: Same objection as to the word "authoritative."
Go ahead and respond.
A. I believe that they would respect it.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And they would follow the instructions laid out here, wouldn't they?

A. To the best of their ability, I'm sure.

Q. Do you see at the bottom of the left-hand corner of the first page, two ways to take title?

A. Yes.

Q. It mentions in there that you could take title either in a trustee on behalf of the congregation or a corporation formed by the congregation, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And on the bottom right-hand side, it describes that process of incorporation to own title to a Kingdom Hall, doesn't it?

A. Yes.

Q. Obviously, the Woodland Congregation chose the corporation method, correct?

A. It would appear so.

MR. LOVE: Please mark these as

A. REINMUELLER

14 and 15.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibits 14 and 15 for identification.)

Q. I'm handing you what was marked as Exhibits 14 and 15 (handing). I'll represent to you that those are legal pleadings filed in litigation that existed in Bonum, Texas, or thereabouts, in dispute with a Kingdom Hall ownership.

I want to ask you a couple of questions about some of the exhibits that are attached to those just so you understand the context in which I have them, because they're document that weren't produced to me.

I don't know that you reviewed them in the course of your preparation. All right?

MR. SCHNACK: Counsel, are you going to link these to California somehow?

MR. LOVE: Absolutely.

MR. SCHNACK: Can you give me a little highlight as to how?

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Yes. Let me first find my copies.

MR. SCHNACK: Unless you could link these up to California, I'll just instruct him not to answer at all. This is so far outside the grounds.

MR. LOVE: I understand.

Q. On the document --

MR. SCHNACK: Do you want to talk about this off the record first?

MR. LOVE: I'll take you to where I'm going, and you could make your objection.

Q. There is an exhibit attached to number 15. One of those attachments is the Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry. You identified that, and we talked about that book, haven't we?

MR. SCHNACK: Counsel, I won't let him answer anything until you tell me where you're going with this. I have two Texas documents. One was filed in 1987 in the Sixth Supreme

A. REINMUELLER

Judicial District Court, and the other is also in Texas.

Unless you could link it up to California somehow, I won't allow him to answer any questions on this.

MR. LOVE: I want to talk about the general memorandum attached to Exhibit B to that pleading, and I'm just trying to lay the predicate to describe to the witness where I am going.

MR. SCHNACK: You're going to need to describe to me where you're going, or I'm not going to let him answer. You could do it on the record or off the record, but this --

MR. LOVE: Exhibit B is entitled memorandum on Kingdom Halls. I believe that some of the language pulled from this 1995 document comes from the memorandum, because I don't have November 5, 1995, instructions preceding 1995. I want to know him what was Jehovah's Witness instruction in 1959, 1960-ish, and ask him if there are any changes between that period in 1995. I suspect that all of these relate to Kingdom Halls in California.

MR. SCHNACK: Why go through all of this by attaching a Texas pleading?
MR. LOVE: I want to be able to show you and the record the context for me having it. You didn't produce it to me.
MR. SCHNACK: I didn't produce it to you. We're going to get into Texas from 18 years ago?
MR. LOVE: Are you finished?
MR. SCHNACK: I'm just trying to figure out where you're going with this. How is this related to California? I haven't heard anything yet.
MR. LOVE: I'll explain it to you on the record, if you will let me.
MR. SCHNACK: Proceed, counsel.
Q. California is included in the

A. REINMUELLER
United States. This memorandum ways attached to this pleading is only authoritative to me because somebody as a representative of the Watch Tower Society considered it authoritative. They're citing to a Court, Here is our position with respect to Kingdom Halls.
This precedes his involvement, so by being attached to this document, it carries with it with the authority that I'm expecting that it has that it's instructional. In the 1980's --
MR. SCHNACK: I haven't heard California in that whole discussion.
MR. LOVE: California is not mentioned in the November 1, 1995 document, either they're generally relating to the ownership of Kingdom Halls in the US.
As soon as I'm allowed to ask him the question about how that works, I want to follow that up, because it's very important for me to follow that up, that it -- let me finish -- that it involves California.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: You're getting a little touchy, counsel.
MR. LOVE: I'm getting there.
MR. SCHNACK: I agree. You're getting touchy. If you want to take a break and calm down --
MR. LOVE: No. I'm perfectly calm. Are you going to allow me to ask this witness questions about memorandum on Kingdom Halls?
MR. SCHNACK: Yes, but not on Texas lawsuits. I've got a half-inch of paper from two different Texas lawsuits. You could stare me down all you want. It's not going to get you anywhere.
MR. LOVE: I'm waiting for you to finish talking, because you don't let me.
MR. SCHNACK: Talk all you want. I'll listen.
MR. LOVE: I want to ask this witness questions about this memorandum. If you don't see how it relates, and if it doesn't, you could tell the Court all about it. How is it going to hurt you?

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: How is it going to hurt me? I would like to follow the Court's orders. This is on limited discovery on the issue of whether Watch Tower Pennsylvania is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. You're drawing out 18-year-old lawsuits from Texas saying that it's relevant. If you want to ask about Watch Tower Pennsylvania, I suggest you do it.
Did I let you finish your speech on it?
MR. LOVE: I hope I've been clear.
MR. SCHNACK: You haven't. That is why we continue to debate this, apparently.
MR. LOVE: I'm ready to move forward.

A. REINMUELLER

MR. SCHNACK: I am, too, but I get the impression you aren't. I'm ready to move forward with the issue we're here for.

We both traveled across the country for a deposition on the personal jurisdiction issues. If you're willing to proceed with that, let's proceed. If you're going to talk about 18-year-old Texas lawsuits, let's go to another topic.

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, please turn to Exhibit B of Exhibit 15, which is a memorandum entitled "Memorandum on Kingdom Halls."

Do you see that document?

A. I do.

Q. Do you who the name -- do you know who Hayden Covington is?

A. I know only that he was general counsel for the Society.

Q. It says so on the top of that document, correct?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. If you would, turn to the second page of that Exhibit B. Do you see a paragraph on the right-hand side that says "Relationship between congregation and title holders"?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Do you see a subparagraph 23?

A. Yes.

Q. It says, "The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed. It can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide its policies."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that a true statement, even today?

A. Corporations are trustees that hold title to a Kingdom Hall property do not in any way -- are not in any way involved in the operation of the congregation.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. It goes further. "The title holder (trustees or corporation) are merely special servants of the of the congregation in whom is vested the legal title to the Kingdom Hall."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. That is what you're trying to say, isn't it?

A. That those -- the legal entities who hold title to the property are not involved in making decision for the congregation.

Q. And that is true in California, correct?

A. That's true.

Q. And where it has the parenthetical of trustees or corporations, the Woodland Congregation used a corporation, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Then it goes further. "Title holders as such have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property. They cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is going to be done in it."

A. REINMUELLER

Is that still true today?

A. That is still true today.

Q. And that would have been true as to the Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Inc?

A. To the best of my knowledge.

Q. Down at the bottom, there is paragraph 25. Do you see that?

A. Yes, I think I do.

Q. It says, "The title holder (trustees or corporation) -- and Woodland, of course, is a corporation, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. " -- are mere figureheads or puppets who hold legal title to the property for the use and benefits of the congregation and instead of the congregation. The fact that the Kingdom Hall is under the jurisdiction of the congregation servant and the committee acting for the entire congregation does not mean that they ought to disregard sound business practice."

In other words, it means that they still work together, but the corporation only owns title, correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. The November 1, 1995 directions from Watch Tower Pennsylvania, which is Exhibit 13, there is also a section entitled Relationship Between Congregation and Title Holders, isn't there?

A. Yes.

Q. If you would, read through paragraphs 25, 26, and 27. Tell me if you think it says anything different than Hayden Covington's memorandum.

A. "The title holders, either trusties or corporation, have the same relation to the congregation as any other instrument, equipment, or property necessary to carry out the work of the congregation."

Q. You could read it to yourself if you want.

A. REINMUELLER

A. Oh.

MR. SCHNACK: Your question is whether those in substance are the same, or whether they're identical?

MR. LOVE: Whether in substance they're the same.

A. In substance, they're the same.

Q. So am I safe in assuming that between the period when Hayden Covington created his memorandum and the time when the November 1, 1995 information piece came from Watch Tower Pennsylvania, that these congregations had been operating under the same instructions with respect to the ownership of title to Kingdom Halls?

A. To the best of my knowledge, that would be a safe assumption.

Q. And from November 1, 1995 forward, what changes in that substance have been instituted with respect to owning title to a Kingdom Hall?

A. There have been no changes in substance since that time.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Of course when you read Mr. Abrahamson's deposition with regard to the Florida case, Mr. Abrahamson was saying the same thing about the Florida corporation; isn't that correct?

A. I believe that's true.

Q. It's real hard to read on this exhibit number 12, the Woodland Congregation Deed of Trust. Do you see Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, a non-profit corporation, listed right on the top of that boxed area?

A. Yes.

Q. It's essentially identifying the parties to this deed of trust. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. It lists Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania as a beneficiary. Do you see that?

A. Oh, yes, I see that.

Q. Do you know what it means to be a beneficiary of a dead of trust?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I am not familiar with that.

Q. Are you aware of the fact that a beneficiary of a deed of trust, in this case Watch Tower Pennsylvania, enjoys the protection of California law as it relates to this transaction?

A. I'm not personally familiar with the details of that.

Q. So you're not familiar then with the effect of a deed of trust as it relates to Watch Tower Pennsylvania as the beneficiary?

A. No.

Q. Who would be knowledgeable about that?

A. Likely someone in my office that works with this program.

Q. Who would that be?

A. I would have to ascertain who is the best qualified to answer that.

Q. Are there certain departments within your area?

A. Certain assignments of responsibility.

142

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Who is assigned to the real estate area?
A. In what aspect are you talking about? The Kingdom Hall loan program?
Q. Yes.
A. David -- David Giglio works directly with those files.
Q. And how do you spell that last name?
A. G-I-G-L-I-O.
Q. What is his position?
A. We don't have positions. It's just his assignment to care for the Kingdom Hall loan processing.
Q. He is a volunteer in the accounting office?
A. In the treasurer's office.
Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have a copy of the deed for trust of which they are named as the beneficiary?
A. I would expect that to be true, yes.
Q. And where do you expect it to be?

143

A. REINMUELLER
A. They would be in the file together in the file with any documents relating to a loan application.
Q. And did you review any deeds of trust before giving your testimony today?
A. No, I didn't.
Q. Are you familiar enough with the real estate transactions that if the Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses would have defaulted in their loan, Watch Tower Pennsylvania had legal rights pursuant to this lead of trust, does it not?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the extent it calls for a legal conclusion. He's already testified about his educational background, and it doesn't include legal training.
You could go ahead and respond, if you can.
A. I'm not particularly sure of the legalities involved.
Q. In this document, it lists Title insurance and Trust Company as the trustee

144

for Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Do you know who Title Insurance and Trust Company is?
MR. SCHNACK: I object to the characterization as worded in the question.
You could go ahead and respond, if you can.
A. I don't. I am not familiar with that organization.
Q. Do you see that it references it as being a California corporation?
A. I see that.
Q. So is it safe for me to assume that there is a promissory note that was created in connection with this transaction involving Woodland Congregation in 1967?
A. That would be safe to assume, yes.
Q. But it's your testimony that you don't have those records?
A. Not from 1967.
Q. Do you know of anybody that would have a copy of that record?

145

A. REINMUELLER
A. To the best of my knowledge, we don't keep closed files for that period of time.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 16.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 16 for identification.)
Q. I've handed you what we've marked as Exhibit 16. Take a second to look at the document and see if you recognize it as a similar form of deed of trust.
I'll represent to you that there are two deeds of trust in connection with the Red Bluff Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, a corporation.
A. Yes. There appears to be two deeds of trust here.
Q. And like the prior document, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the beneficiary of this deed of trust, correct?
A. Which one are we referring to?

A. REINMUELLER

Q. The top one, the one filed in February of 19 -- that is a good question. Let's stop and go over to the older one, which is the third page of that collection.

It's a transaction, dated May 15, 1960. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any reason to doubt that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania was making Kingdom Hall loans in 1960?

A. No, I have no reason to doubt that.

Q. Do you see this document which indicates Watch Tower Pennsylvania as the beneficiary of the dead of trust in connection with this Red Bluff Congregation transaction?

A. Yes, I see that.

Q. It says to Tahama County Title Company, a corporation herein called trustee. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know who the Tahama

A. REINMUELLER

County Title Company is?

A. No. I'm not familiar with it.

Q. Do you know that they are acting as a trustee on behalf of the beneficiary Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes, I understand that.

Q. And that the trustee is a California corporation, correct?

A. Yes.

MR. SCHNACK: It doesn't say that.

A. It doesn't say that.

MR. LOVE: Well, by law, it has to be.

Q. If you would, turn to the first page of that stapled Exhibit 16. Do you see that the Red Bluff Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses also was involved in a real estate transaction in February of 1973?

A. Yes.

Q. Again, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania is the lender, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. And they are listed as a beneficiary of the deed of trust in California?

A. That's correct.

Q. Have you ever seen a deed of trust with respect to a loan in California?

MR. SCHNACK: Prior to today?

Q. Prior to today?

A. No, I haven't.

Q. But you are pretty confident there are documents like this on file in your office?

A. Yes.

Q. Have you seen records indicating a loan by Watch Tower Pennsylvania that precedes 1960 to a California congregation?

MR. SCHNACK: I'll draw the line. We're talking about 1970 to 2003. Move on.

MR. LOVE: You are instructing him not to answer?

A. REINMUELLER

MR. SCHNACK: Yes. It's, again, outside the scope of what the deposition is about.

MR. LOVE: I'm required to show the Court continuous and systematic transactions and contacts in California. I'm just trying to find out if this witness has any idea of how continuous it has been.

MR. SCHNACK: You could address the Court. The Court put the parameters on this.

Q. Now, you reviewed the interrogatory responses prior to the deposition, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall one of the responses, more specifically number 31, that says, "Watch Tower Pennsylvania was not involved in the purchase or building used by the Defendants, Napa, and did not provide any monies to the congregation for that purpose"?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. What did you do or look at or research to confirm to yourself that that was true?

A. We had Mr. Giglio check the files.

Q. Does Mr. Giglio know more about the real estate transactions in California than you do?

A. Perhaps certain details, but not in total. I would suspect not.

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as number 17.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 17 for identification.)

Q. I'm handing you what was marked as Exhibit 17 (handing). Do you recognize that as an additional deed of trust document?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Do you see Watch Tower Pennsylvania listed as the beneficiary of that trustee -- of that transaction?

A. Yes, I do.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you see where the maker of the loan in this deed of trust, the trustee -- the trustor, is the Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Inc.?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Napa, obviously, in terms of its title holding used the corporation method, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. It appears that there is a transaction involving the loaning of money from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania to the Napa Congregation in April of 1976, correct?

A. Correct it appears to.

Q. We've seen records here an hour ago that the terms of the loan were usually at six percent for a ten-year period, right?

A. Correct.

Q. So if this loan were paid monthly, it would have extended into 1986, correct?

A. That's correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. I'll represent to you also that this was not produced to me.

Do you know whether or not this loan has been paid from the Napa Congregation?

A. Given that we did not have any records on them, I would assume that the loan was paid off and the file was closed and no longer in our possession.

Q. Turn to the second page of the document, if you would. There is an Exhibit A, which references a mortgagor agreeing to deliver certain things to the mortgagee. Do you see that?

A. I do.

Q. I'll represent to you that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania would be the mortgagee. All right?

A. All right.

Q. What can you tell me about Watch Tower Pennsylvania acting as the mortgage company with respect to loans in California?

MR. SCHNACK: I'll object. It's overbroad. How do you want him to respond? "What can you tell me with respect to this?"

A. REINMUELLER

Q. You testified earlier that there were promissory notes, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. This is referencing a mortgage with a deed of trust.

What records exist that could we are help me understand the transactions that precede the order, the understanding of the loan?

A. The mortgages used to be obtained for these Kingdom Hall loans, but until about 1980's. After that time -- my previous responses were the present practice. It's been many years since we required mortgages, and I don't believe that any of the existing 197 loans have a mortgage attached to them anymore.

Q. Do you understand the period of time that we're to discuss in this deposition is to include 1970 to 2003, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. What can you tell me between 1970 and the mid '80s was the procedure for transactions that involved mortgages, or are you not the right guy?
A. All I could tell you is that we were -- it was the practice during that period of time to have each of the loans secured by a mortgage up until about the early to mid '80s.
Q. You don't have any of those records anymore?
A. I believe not.
Q. Again, Watchtower Pennsylvania in connection with the 1976 transaction was protected as the beneficiary of the trust; was it not?
A. It appears so.
Q. And it would be protected by the laws of the State of California, correct?
A. I am not a legal expert.
Q. Isn't it true that the Jehovah's Witnesses Organization considered these loan transactions to Kingdom Halls to be investments?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I wouldn't characterize it that way.
Q. Let's look at Exhibit 3 again. Of course, that is entitled the branch office procedure, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. If you would, look at paragraph 16, subparagraph 50, with me. Do you see a paragraph entitled Annual Branch Report of Activities and Financial Status?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you see at the bottom where it reads, "Kingdom Hall loans are considered as an investment which means they will be listed under assets on your balance sheets"?
A. I do.
Q. This is a document that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyright to, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And these were materials that were disseminated by the Governing Body,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?
A. That is correct.
Q. Not only are they investments, but they're used to advance the Kingdom work, correct, the loans to build the congregation's Kingdom Halls?
A. Yes. The Kingdom Halls provide meeting places which are where the congregations can perform their work.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 18.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 18 for identification.)
Q. I will hand you what was marked as Exhibit 18. I'll represent to you that those three points were produced to me. I'll also represent to you that it's three different documents from three different periods of time.
A. That's correct.
Q. I'll just call these remittance forms. Is that fair?
A. It's fair.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And these remittance forms relate to monies paid from the congregations to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. And/or Watchtower New York.
Q. Then let's start with the first one. Do you see any reference on that particular remittance form to Watchtower New York?
A. No, I don't.
Q. In fact, there is a list of things that you could give money for that you total at the bottom, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Where does it say to make the check payable to?
A. To Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.
Q. Do you see a date on that form?
A. Yes.
Q. September of 1990?
A. That's correct.
Q. One of the things listed on this remittance form to pay to Watch Tower

A. REINMUELLER

Pennsylvania was contributions for Society Kingdom Hall funds. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. That is not necessarily the payment on the loan, is it?

A. No, it is not.

Q. That is an opportunity for the congregation to simply pour money into that fund and it can be made available to the congregation of the Kingdom Halls; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Down on the bottom part of the list, it says, "Payment for property loan number one and payments for property loan number two."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes, you did.

Q. And, of course, there's a place to identify how many payments are being made and the amount, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. In 1990, payments for those loans were not made to Watch Tower New

A. REINMUELLER

York, were they?

A. No, they were not.

Q. Prior to this form of September 1990, isn't it true that the same payments that are listed in this remittance form were made payable to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. That's correct -- Excuse me, can you rephrase that question again?

Q. Isn't it true that the same list of things being asked to remit payment to Watch Tower Pennsylvania prior to 1990 were also payments that were made to Watchtower Pennsylvania?

In other words, this form didn't institute a change for what would be happening in the years prior?

A. No. That is correct.

Q. The next document in that collection is a form called Loan Remittance Form, dated March 1993. Do you see that?

A. I do.

Q. Again, this is a form used by congregations to make payments on their Kingdom Hall loan, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Correct.

Q. These were the types of remittance forms used in California, correct?

A. Likely so, yes.

Q. It also indicates where the payments are to be made, doesn't it?

A. Yes, it does.

Q. And it says they're to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

Q. Please turn to the last one. Do you see that the form is entitled Record of Electronic Funds Transferred, but it's dated August of 1997?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, it appears that the congregation has available to them the opportunity to make their payments electronically. Correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Do you see at the very last

A. REINMUELLER

statement on that document, it says, "All property loan payments will be acknowledged on your Pennsylvania Corporation statement."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes, you did.

Q. What is the Pennsylvania Corporation statement?

A. Every congregation that has an outstanding loan with a Pennsylvania Corporation receives a monthly statement acknowledging their payments on that loan and the outstanding balance.

Q. When did that procedure get instituted, or has it been the case for as long as you know?

A. As long as I know.

Q. Are there records available that show those communications back to the congregation?

A. We do not keep a copy of the statement.

Q. For how long do you keep them before you destroy them?

A. REINMUELLER

A. We don't keep a copy in our file since we've been doing it on computer.

Q. So are the records kept on computer?

A. Yes, they are.

Q. If I wanted to recreate a loan transaction that was made to one of these present 197 Kingdom Halls with an outstanding loan, and all of the documentation that has gone back and forth between that congregation and Watch Tower Pennsylvania or whoever was related to that transaction, in what form would those records be kept?

A. They would be kept electronically for the last few years.

Q. And at whose computer would I need to get access?

A. Any one of several people in the treasurer's office.

Q. Which includes you?

A. Probably not myself, but some others in the office.

Q. Who would someone else be that would have more knowledge about obtaining the documents than you?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Mr. Giglio or others working with him.

MR. SCHNACK: Do you want to break here?

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record at 12:16.

[TIME NOTED: 12:16 p.m.]

[Whereupon, after a luncheon recess was taken, the following was had:]

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: What was my last question before lunch?

[Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the Court Reporter.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record. The time is now 1:35 p.m.

ALEXANDER REINMUELLER, the Witness, having earlier been duly sworn by the Notary Public, was examined and continued to testify as follows:

EXAMINATION BY

MR. LOVE:

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, we were talking about -- before we took a break, we were talking about the remittance forms. What exhibit was that?

A. It was 18.

Q. Those particular three forms cover about a nine-year period, don't they? One's in 1990, one is in 1993, and one is in 1997, correct?

A. Right, so that's about -- almost

A. REINMUELLER

eight years. Yes.

Q. And all of them reference making payments to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. With respect to the property loan payments, that's correct.

Q. In fact, the first two of these three documents, every payment listed there is to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Before we leave the area of the loan transactions and switch to another subject, I want to hand you another document that was produced to me that I don't have. I want to be careful, because they're not stapled.

MR. LOVE: Please mark these documents as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 for identification.)

Q. I want to hand you what I marked as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 (handing).

A. REINMUELLER

I'll stand up and kind of look over it with you.

Have you seen those documents before?

A. Yes, I have.

Q. Are they form documents used in connection with the loan process for Kingdom Hall loan?

A. Yes, they are.

Q. The first document, what is the title of that document?

A. Kingdom Hall Loan Application.

Q. And that is Exhibit 19; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Do you see a date that the form was created, it's on the left-hand side of the page?

A. It was last revised on April 2004.

Q. Meaning that it's not the first time a Kingdom Hall loan application has been in existence, that's just the version it was revised in 2004, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Correct.

Q. So there may have -- not may have -- there were prior versions of the loan application; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did it look similar to that application, to the best of your knowledge?

A. To the best of my knowledge, it contained similar information.

Q. Similar information requested to be able to process the loan, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. If you would, move document 19. Documents 20 and 21, as far as I could tell, are the same document, except for one is relating to a transaction with a congregation that creates a corporation. The difference is, 21 relates to a congregation that chooses to do its title ownership by trustee. Is that correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. In both situations, they are forms that are approving a loan request,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And that loan approval is being communicated from Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

MR. SCHNACK: What is the Bates number on 20?

MR. LOVE: 387.

Q. Of course, there are blanks in both of those documents because they're not relating to a particular congregation, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. When these were filled out and sent to congregations, that would include California, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. Would they go to the congregations monthly or yearly?

A. This particular form?

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. This is simply the form that stipulates "We're going to loan you the money"?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. And it identifies the terms and also identifies what is required now that the relationship of lender-lendee is going to be created, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And it's again coming from Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. When the elders of the congregations in California receive letters like the ones marked as Exhibits 20 and 21, these instructions are intended to be followed; is that correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And again, this letter comes out of the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Is this the letter that is still used today?

A. It is.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Is a similar letter --
MR. LOVE: Strike that.
Q. Has a similar letter been used in years before today?
A. Essentially. To the best of my knowledge, yes.
Q. So Exhibits 20 and 21, or some similar form of them, have been sent to the congregations for years, correct?
A. To all congregations with whom we have extended a loan.
Q. And that would include California, correct?
A. That would include California.
Q. Do you keep copies of these letters when they go to the congregations?
A. A copy of this letter would be kept in the active loan file.
Q. And is there a different active loan file for every congregation that has an active Kingdom Hall loan?
A. That's correct, yes, sir.
Q. Does this particular document, Exhibit 21, relate to a payment being made for communication with Watchtower New York?

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: Could you repeat the question?
A. I'm not sure I understand it.
Q. Is there anything in the instructions contained in Exhibit 21 that relate to payments being made for obligations to Watchtower New York?
A. No, there are not.
Q. I want to hand you (handing) Exhibit 20. Would your answer be the same with respect to the congregations that have a loan by virtue of creating a corporation?
In other words, your answer is not different, is it?
A. No. This document does not provide for any payments to be paid to Watchtower of New York.
Q. And there are no instructional instructions given in either of those letters of required communication with Watchtower New York, is there?

A. REINMUELLER
A. No, there are not.
Q. All the communication and all the instructions relate to a relationship between the congregation and Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. For the purpose of this loan.
Q. And these loans occur in California; is that correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And the same instructions would be provided to the congregations in California?
A. To each of the congregations a loan has been extended.
Q. True?
A. Yes.
Q. Exhibit 19 is a Kingdom Hall loan application form.
Would that form or something like it have been used in California for the loans extended to those congregations?
A. Yes.
Q. These documents refer to the creation of a promissory note evidencing

A. REINMUELLER
the loan between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the congregation, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Who prepares that promissory note?
A. The treasurer's office prepares that promissory note, and it's executed by the congregation.
Q. The office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. With the assistance of staff from the treasurer's office.
Q. Would the promissory note be created by the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower of Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's been true for as long as loans have been made to the congregation in California, correct?
A. To the best of my knowledge.
Q. Of course, the terms of the loan were already preset, correct?
A. In the majority of cases, that would be true.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Generally, ten-year notes at six percent, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And those were terms created by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Who, if anyone, inspected the real estate relating to the property for which loans were being made in California?

A. During the entire period in question?

Q. During the initial part of the loan transaction?

A. Presently, or --

Q. Tell me about presently first.

A. Presently, the congregations would avail themselves of the assistance of contacts that the regional building committee would have to assist them with inspection. They may use local experts to help them do that.

Q. And the purpose of the inspection is to be sure that the transaction is a reasonable one for the lender, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. And for the congregation.

Q. But in part, the committee is acting on behalf of the lender; are they not?

A. To a greater extent, on behalf of the congregation, is our perspective.

Q. To some extent, the regional building committee is acting on behalf of the lender to inspect the property, correct?

MR. SCHNACK: Objection. It's been asked and answered. Go ahead and answer again.

A. To some extent.

Q. And the regional building committee is made up of elders, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that is true for California; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. When a loan was going to be memorialized in paper, who would do that paperwork? Would it be the office of the secretary of treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. REINMUELLER

MR. SCHNACK: Can you clarify what you mean by "memorialized on paper"? Are you talking about the promissory note, or are you talking about other documents?

MR. LOVE: Just the loan transaction documents.

Q. If all there is, is the promissory note, then tell me that.

A. The actual loan application or the documentation of the loan?

Q. Once the application is received and approved, there is paperwork created to memorialize that loan, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. What documentation does that include, and who prepares it?

A. It includes the promissory note primarily and a copy of these form letters that we just reviewed, Exhibits 20 and 21, and they would be prepared in the treasurer's office.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And that is the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

Q. I need to follow up on a question regarding the regional building committee.

You described to me how that is done today. How would that process have been different before today?

A. The regional building committee's only been in existence --

Q. Since 1986?

A. About '86. So prior to that time -- they were not always involved in the selection of property. That is only -- that only occurred within the last ten or twelve years. Prior to that, the congregations would have sought local expertise through their own contacts to examine those properties prior to purchase.

Q. With respect to the title companies in California, who hired them?

A. REINMUELLER

A. The local congregations, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. So in the documents that we've seen, the deeds of trust documents, do you have any idea who hired those particular title companies to serve as the trustee for Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. To the best of my knowledge, it was done at the local level by the trustees or the corporation that would be holding titles to the properties.

Q. You understand that the congregation's corporation didn't hold the claim title to the property, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. There was a title company acting as a trustee for Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. But you don't know who hired that particular California company?

A. I don't know specifically.

Q. Was the legal department ever -- the Watch Tower's legal --

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. There is such thing as the legal department; is that correct?

A. At the Watch Tower?

Q. Yes. Mr. Moreno is a member of that department, correct?

A. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has a legal department, correct.

Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have a separate and distinct legal department?

A. No, it does not.

Q. Does the Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses have a distinct legal department?

A. No.

Q. And neither does Kingdom Support Services, does it?

A. No, it does not.

Q. Does the legal department you're referring to ever have any involvement in the loan transaction to congregations in California?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I'm not specifically aware of what involvement they may have had.

Q. So maybe, maybe not?

A. Maybe, maybe not. Not on a regular basis.

Q. Who from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania, if anyone, signed the promissory notes?

A. One of the officers generally would have done so.

Q. One of the officers of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Correct.

Q. Isn't it true that up until the year 2000, the officers of Watch Tower Pennsylvania were also members of the Governing Body?

A. That's correct.

Q. Do you have any records that indicate how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on its Kingdom Hall loans in the year 2003?

A. We do not --

MR. SCHNACK: I'll restrict that

A. REINMUELLER

to California, if at all.

MR. LOVE: I'll re-ask the question. I apologize for not doing that.

Q. Is it possible to determine how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on its Kingdom Hall loans in California in the year 2003?

A. It would be possible to determine. It's not something that we track separately as an item or -- certainly not by state.

Q. And I assume sitting here today, you don't know how much that was?

A. No, I don't.

Q. Is it possible to determine how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on Kingdom Hall loans in California since 1970?

A. No, it's not.

Q. Why not?

A. The records just don't exist anymore.

Q. How far back do the records go,

A. REINMUELLER

such that you could tell me from what years forward I could determine that?

A. To the best of my knowledge, it goes back to somewhere in the middle of '97.

Q. So if I asked you how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on California Kingdom Hall loans, the only accurate information you could give me would be from 1997 forward?

A. With some effort, we could probably get the figures -- that figure from 1997, middle of 1997 forward.

Q. But you at least -- but you could at least have access to loan records from 1986-ish forward, correct?

A. Physical loan files, yes.

Q. Are you able to determine how much money has been loaned to California congregations by Watch Tower Pennsylvania since 1970?

A. No. That would not be possible to determine accurately.

Q. For what time periods can you tell me money had been loaned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to California congregations?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Probably from -- probably all new loan activity from about ten years ago are in our current active files. So 197 or so loans that are still active.

Q. With respect to the information that you reviewed to come up with the 397 loans number that we discussed earlier, would that information have also indicated the amount of those loans?

MR. SCHNACK: I object to the extent you mischaracterized the number. Go ahead.

A. It didn't. The information I reviewed did not have the amount. Just the congregations that received loans.

Q. Isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania owns real estate in California?

A. Watch Tower Pennsylvania at the present time owns less than ten properties that were part of bequests to the corporation, of which the majority have -- the individuals still live on them with life rights, so we haven't been able to divest ourselves of any of them as of yet.

Q. I believe your interrogatory responses mentions that six of the properties, Watch Tower Pennsylvania owns a remainder interest?

A. Correct.

Q. So, in other words, you don't retain possession until something future happens?

A. That's correct.

Q. Usually the death of the person that occupies the property; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. With respect to the other properties that make up that ten or so, your discovery responses indicated property in Apple Valley, California, just northeast of Loss Angeles, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. What is the nature of --

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. What is the property?

A. I am not familiar with the details of that property, other than its current use.

Q. What is its current use?

A. We have a member of our Religious Order using -- living there at the moment.

Q. And who lives there at the moment?

A. I don't know them by name.

Q. Who is he by position?

A. They are a member of our Religious Order.

Q. Under what arrangements does he live in this home or this property?

A. He is, as any member of our Religious Order, permitted to live on this property until they die. They are a retired member, and we're providing them a place to live.

Q. Why don't I ask you this instead: What type of place is this? Is bottom.

Do you see the word "resolution" in the middle?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is resolving to hire a lawyer to act for and in behalf of Watch Tower Pennsylvania in California?

A. Yes.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're ending tape number two at 2:36.

[A recess was taken.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Back on the record. The time is now 2:41 p.m., and it begins tape number three.

Q. If you would, turn to the document WTPA33. In that body of that paragraph entitled Resolution, it's resolved that WL Barry and JE Barr of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, being they hereby are authorized and directed to execute for and as the acting deed of Watch Tower Pennsylvania request for full reconveyance of the estate held by Central State Title Company.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Reconveyance means that they were holding a deed of trust to a piece of property, correct?

A. I believe that is true.

Q. Somebody paid off a loan and Watch Tower Pennsylvania is executing the document to release the deed of trust, correct?

A. Yes. That is my understanding.

Q. It's a reconveyance of that deed to the person who just paid off the loan, correct?

A. As I said, I am not a legal expert, but that is my understanding.

Q. With respect to this document --

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. Was Watch Tower Pennsylvania loaning money to anybody, other than congregations in California?

A. Not to my knowledge.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. So is it fair for me to assume that this transaction relates to reconveying a deed to a congregation corporation?

A. That would be my conclusion.

Q. Look at the next page. Tell me if your conclusion would be the same about that March 19, 1985 transaction.

A. I'm not familiar with the details, but I would draw a similar conclusion.

Q. Are you familiar with a corporation called the Fontana Company of Jehovah's Witnesses, a corporation?

A. No, I'm not, but the term "company" used to be used before we formed congregations. My understanding would be that Company Fontana must be an older congregation in California, and when they were incorporated, they simply used the name company, which was the common term in those days.

Q. So this is referencing a congregation corporation?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Correct.

Q. If you would, turn to the next page. Do you see that that one now is dated June 4, 2003?

A. Yes.

Q. And now we have the signature of all of the board of director members, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. If you would, turn to the second next page, which is dated August 6, 2003. It mentions Daniel Reis. I believe you've mentioned his name. Who is Danny Reis, and what is the real property office?

A. For about five or six years, the real property office has been a small group in Watchtower of New York to provide services for various property-related regulatory issues of our properties in New York, and from time to time, they are also -- they provide services with respect to the conveyances with respect to some of the properties that are conveyed to us by bequest in various parts of the country.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. On the right-hand column, do you see the first full paragraph that starts "At that unforgettable"?

A. Yes.

Q. Does it read: "At that unforgettable annual meeting in 1971, a distinction was clearly drawn between the spirit anointing members of the Governing Body and the directors of the Pennsylvania corporation"?

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And it goes further, "Still, members of the Governing Body continue to serve as the directors and officers of the Society."

Of course, we've seen that, haven't we?

A. Yes.

Q. And they did, in fact, remain as officers and directors of the Watch Tower Pennsylvania until October 5, 2000, correct?

A. Correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. I want to refer you back to Exhibit 8, which is the Organize To Accomplish Our Ministry book.

MR. SCHNACK: That is actually number 9, I believe.

MR. LOVE: You're right.

Q. Number 9. Again, this is the particular document that was used by Don Adams in support of that paragraph six and seven, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. If you would, turn to page 26. Do you see the section entitled "Use of religious corporations"?

A. Yes.

Q. I want to look at the sentence that picks up on the right right-hand side with the word "it."

It reads: "It has proved to be the course of wisdom for the faithful slave to organize certain corporations that are recognized by the laws of various countries. These religious corporations own and operate print facilities that produce and distribute bibles and bible literature on a worldwide basis for the use in the Kingdom Ministry."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And it goes further, "The first in time and the principal corporation used in this way is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania."

Correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And again, the policy makers, officers, and directors of Watch Tower Pennsylvania were the Governing Body members between October 1970 and October 5, 2000; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 35.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 35 for identification.)

Q. I hand you what was marked as Exhibit 35 (handing). Do you recognize that document?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. One of them is a memorandum to circuit overseers, and there is an attachment entitled Key Facts About Congregation Insurance, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And the cover memorandum has a note on it that it was dated in 1987, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe otherwise?

A. No.

Q. Is the attachment also 1987?

A. It appears to be, yes.

Q. This is not referring to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, is it?

A. No, it is not.

Q. I want to look at this attachment which starts on the second page of the document, the key facts.

Again, the letterhead is Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Correct.
Q. And the specific reference is to the office of the secretary and treasurer, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. At this point, that would have been Grant Suiter?
A. In -- I'm not entirely sure.
Q. It's either Grant Suiter or Lyman Swingle?
A. Either Grant Suiter or Lyman Swingle, yes.
Q. Correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Either way, it's a member of the Governing Body, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And that office of the secretary and treasurer in 1987 was separate and distinct from anything at Watchtower New York, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. This is a memorandum that was directed to the body of elders, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. In the middle of the page, there is a section entitled "How to Obtain Information."
Did I read that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it says, "If after reading this memorandum you have questions concerning your coverage through the Society's group arrangement, contact the Society directly at the following address."
Correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And the entity that you're directed to contact with Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.
Q. And it mentions an insurance desk, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. That insurance desk still exists?
A. It's now referred to as the risk management desk.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. But your inquiry is directed to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. So at the time, the insurance desk was within Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Technically, or specifically, the insurance desk was part of the treasurer's office, as we talked about earlier today, that provides financial services to Watchtower of New York, Pennsylvania, and other corporations.
The insurance desk was a part and continues to be a part of the treasurer's office operating -- communicating in this respect under the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.
Q. Now, that is not how I recall your testimony. I recalled your testimony being the office of the secretary and treasurer was an office of a particular individual at Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. REINMUELLER

A. It is.
Q. So is it your testimony now that the office of the secretary and treasurer is not only Watch Tower Pennsylvania, it's larger than that and serves more people --
A. No.
Q. -- or are you talking about a department?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object. You've mischaracterized his prior testimony. You further implied it or inferred it -- whichever word you want to use. I think it's improper.
Go ahead and respond.
A. My clarification's with respect to the insurance desk, not the office of the secretary and treasurer. The insurance desk is part -- was and continues to be part of the treasurer's office that services the various corporations. The office of the secretary and treasurer is distinct.
Q. This particular letter is directing someone to make an inquiry to

A. REINMUELLER
Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it gives a specific attention to the insurance desk; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. This document goes further and describes an insurance policy, doesn't it?
A. Yes. It appears to.
Q. And isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania purchased one large insurance policy and let different congregations participate?
A. I believe that's correct, yes.
Q. The fact, there were different levels of insurance, wasn't there?
A. Yes.
Q. If you have questions about the insurance or the extent of your coverage, you're directed again to contact Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania; that is correct?
A. Yes, correct.
Q. It goes further and describes

A. REINMUELLER
how to protect your Kingdom Hall or some suggestions for protecting your Kingdom hall. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It talks about making an inspection on a regular basis, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. And analyzing your security needs?
A. Yes.
Q. Frequent maintenance checks, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Those aren't spiritual matters, are they?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Those are practical business directions, correct?
A. I guess you could characterize them that way.
Q. "Check your roof for seasonal problems."
Is that a spiritual instruction?
A. Not specifically, no.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. "Starting, increasing, or cancelling your insurance."
Then there are some instructions given, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. It's talking about congregations obtaining insurance, and it's done through Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. It says in the third paragraph underneath that title, "To cancel your insurance, notify the Society. Your insurance will not be cancelled because failed to pay your premium."
Did I read that right?
A. Yes.
Q. What is a premium?
A. In a general sense, or the way it's being used here?
Q. If it's different from the way it's being used here, in a general sense?
MR. SCHNACK: I object. I don't understand the question.
MR. LOVE: I'll start again.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. It says premium, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. It doesn't say volunteer donation, doesn't?
A. Right.
Q. The bottom describes reporting and handling a property loss, injury, or lawsuit, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. And it describes the three categories of claims that your insurance covers, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. One of those is listed as lawsuits, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And if there is a lawsuit, you should report it immediately to the Society, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And again, the Society's Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. "To make all reports directly to the Society at the address shown on the following page, attention legal department."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. "The address on the following page is Watch Tower Pennsylvania."

Is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. It says, "Attention legal department," correct?

A. Yes.

Q. So once again, somebody is being instructed to send the notice of a lawsuit to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, attention the legal department, correct?

A. That's the direction given here.

Q. The all-capped section in the middle of the page that starts with "If you're being sued," do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And it gives four instructions. Do you see that below that heading?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. It gives you the instructions, "do not discuss it with who is suing you or threatening to sue you," correct?

A. Correct.

Q. "Don't talk to the media," correct?

A. Correct.

MR. SCHNACK: Are you going to tie this to California at some point?

Q. And other instructions, correct?

A. Right.

Q. It goes on and says, "Appoint an elder" below that if you have a property loss. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

MR. SCHNACK: Greg, are you going to read most of this into the record? I'm trying to save you some time here.

Q. You mentioned earlier, Mr. Reinmueller, that there are circuit overseers in California; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. There is up to 100 of them, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And this particular document is that has that cover memorandum on it, do you have any reason to believe that it wasn't sent to every California circuit overseer?

A. No, I have no reason to believe that.

Q. So it's your expectation that it was, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And again, the cover memo on the front is from Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct? The office of the secretary and treasurer?

A. Yes, correct.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that this particular document was distributed to every congregation in California that existed in 1987?

A. The instructions were that it only pertains to congregations enrolled in the insurance arrangement, which leads me to believe that there were some congregations that were not. So I can't say that every congregation in California received it.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. It probably went to every one of them, and the people didn't get enrolled in the program just discarded it; is that correct?

A. I can't confirm that.

Q. With respect to the congregations that participated in Watch Tower Pennsylvania's insurance programs in the mid '80s, do you have a list of how many congregations that was?

A. That list wouldn't exist anymore. Not from the mid '80s. We just have current.

Q. But is it your testimony that this document went to every congregation in California who was enrolled in that insurance program?

A. Likely, that would be the case.

Q. On page four of that attachment in the middle of the page, it instructs that if you have an injury or liability claim, to do the following things. Do you see that?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. Now, these are instructions that Watch Tower Pennsylvania expected to be followed if there was an injury or liability claim in the congregation, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the authority to issue these instructions, correct?

A. Yes, to all those who were enrolled in this program. Certainly.

Q. And any California congregation that received these instructions understood them to be authoritative as it relates to these matters, correct?

A. If they participated in these matters, they viewed them as authoritative.

Q. If you would, turn to page five.

A. REINMUELLER

Do you see the section Renewing and Paying for Your Insurance?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see where it mentions that on October 30, you will receive an invoice for your insurance.

A. Yes.

Q. And what to do when you receive the invoice?

A. Yes.

Q. Again, those are instructions, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. It says "invoice" and not "voluntary donation," correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Actually, paragraph three, it says to "Keep in mind that the Society pays your premiums in advance and waits for reimbursement from congregations." Doesn't it?

A. That's correct.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania would go and purchase these levels of insurance and simply send premium notices to the congregations, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. That's correct.

Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania would front all of the money and then collect if from the congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. On the next page, do you see the item number two listing who's covered by the insurance?

A. I am not sure I'm following you. We're on page six?

Q. Yes. Do you see the reference under paragraph two that the insurance covers claims against elders and ministerial servants?

A. Yes.

Q. That would include elders and ministerial servants in California congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?

A. Yes.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going

A. REINMUELLER

off the record at 4:13 p.m.

[A recess was taken.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time is now 4:19 p.m.

MR. LOVE: Mark these as Exhibits 36 and 37.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document were marked Exhibits 36 and 37 for identification.)

Q. I'll hand you what I marked as Exhibits 36 and 37 (handing). I've clipped together what I understand to be some documents that relate to an insurance purchase for the period of October 1, 1990 through October 1, 1991.

Are you familiar with this type of document?

A. Yes.

Q. Does it appear to be a true and correct copy of some of the insurance documents for that period?

A. Yes, they do.

Q. Who is Mr. Dan Blackwood?

A. REINMUELLER

A. He was a former volunteer in our office.
Q. Which office is that?
A. The treasurer's office.
Q. In February of 1993, was he there?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see the policy number, GL, and then a policy identification?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. I just want to point that out to you that as we go through the different pages, the same policy number will appear. So we're talking about the same transaction. All right?
A. Okay.
Q. If you turn to the second page of the document, do you recognize that as being a declaration page from a commercial general liability insurance policy?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. If you would, turn over two more pages where it says some of the binding instructions. Do you see that?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. Do you see the name of the insured listed there, Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc.?
A. Yes.
Q. And then it lists their address, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Do you see right above that where it says page "one of four"?
A. Yes.
Q. In flipping through this, I'll represent to you that I have pages one --
MR. SCHNACK: Greg, what page are you on where it says Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania? I'm just trying to follow along.
MR. LOVE: Your number 47 at the bottom.
MR. SCHNACK: Thank you. I was a page ahead of that.
Q. Do you see that it indicates that this should be a four-page document?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that page three is missing?
A. Yes.
Q. Back to the first page of that four-page set, do you see where it references $1 million per occurrence and $3 million aggregate?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recognize this policy period as being well into what you testified as being the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement period?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing commercial general liability insurance, in addition to providing Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement benefits?
A. Yes, but that was part of the strategy initially when the Arrangement was set up.
Q. Prior to the strategy, Watch Tower Pennsylvania had been purchasing policies similar to the one we're looking at for several years prior; had it not?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. In fact, that 1987 document that we were looking at just a moment ago, which was Exhibit 35, was referencing a insurance policy similar to this one?
A. Yes. That is accurate.
Q. If you would, turn to Exhibit 37. There's the blue sticker that I put on there. What is the title of that document?
A. Commercial umbrella declarations.
Q. Do you see that it's for the same period of time under item two?
A. Yes.
Q. If you would, turn the page where it lists a schedule of underlying insurance.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see the commercial general liability with National Union Fire listed there?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. For the same time periods, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And this particular listing of insurance is the different levels and layers of insurance being purchased by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. One of those policies is an automobile liability policy; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Who is covered by this particular policy?
A. The automobile liability?
Q. Yes. In 1991?
A. It would be the fleet of vehicles owned and operated primarily by -- in 1991 -- by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.
Q. Would that cover the traveling overseers?
A. No.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Is there any insurance provided by Watch Tower Pennsylvania for the traveling overseers?
A. At the present time, their vehicles are being insured through a joint program of automobile insurance.
Q. Is that program administered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. No, it is not.
Q. During 1991, were the traveling overseers insured for their vehicles?
A. I am sure they were insured, yes.
Q. Were they given the opportunity to be insured through a program administered by Watch Tower of Pennsylvania?
A. That, I am not certain.
Q. Who would be?
A. We have to go back to the records, probably.
Q. And those are records that are available to you?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. When I say "traveling overseer," that is a district overseer and a circuit overseer, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And there are -- they are referred to as traveling overseers, even if they are in California, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. What is your understanding as to who insured district and circuit overseers between 1970 and, say, 2000?
A. Up until 1989, travelling overseers had personal arrangements for their own vehicles. Sometimes they received assistance from local congregations or circuits, but there was no program to provide them any assistance with their vehicles for their insurance.
Q. Going back to that page one of four in Exhibit 36, do you see the section entitled Self-Insured Retention?
A. Yes.
Q. It mentions that the SIR -- the self-insured retention -- to be handled by

A. REINMUELLER

GAB. What does that mean?
A. If I recall correctly, a third-party claims administrator.
Q. Like a Crawford & Company?
A. I believe so.
MR. SCHNACK: GAB is Gallagher and Bassett.
Q. The next page, two of four, it lists in the bottom of the document the extensions of coverage. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that "Item A indicates the person's insured provision is amended to include any elder other ministerial servant designated as such by the named insured."
Did I raid that right?
A. Yes.
Q. You understand what an elder and ministerial servant is, don't you?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that it indicates the elders and ministerial servants as designated as such by the name insured?

A. REINMUELLER
The named insured is Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. That is correct.
Q. Now, this goes on, picks up on the following page, with number nine.
Do you know who else and what else was insured under this policy in items two through eight?
A. I'm not familiar with particulars of this particular year of coverage.
Q. Now, a circuit overseer in California in 1991, was that person also an elder?
A. Yes.
Q. And district overseers in California in 1991, they were also elders as well?
A. Yes.
Q. So under this policy, wouldn't you agree with me that it appears as if circuit overseers and district overseers in California would be covered by this policy?

A. REINMUELLER
A. For the coverages specifically named in this policy, yes, that would be true.
Q. And those coverages being commercial general liability on this particular page?
A. On this particular page, I believe the extension was for clergy counseling liability.
Q. But in terms of the covered individual, it would include circuit overseers and district overseers in California; is that correct?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object. It's been asked and answered.
Go ahead.
A. For this particular coverage, clergy counseling, yes.
Q. The circuit overseers don't get the same letters that congregations do to participate in this insurance program, do they?
A. Generally, circuit overseers would be copied on any correspondence going to bodies of elders.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Do circuit overseers get notices of premises that they have to pay for their individual coverage?
A. It depends -- it would depend on the type of coverage and on the year and the program. I can't answer you generally over a period of time of 30 years.
Q. I just want to talk about this particular policy.
A. This particular year, this particular coverage, would they have received any --
Q. Were district overseers and district overseers asked to contribute, to pay for this policy?
A. I can't answer authoritatively, but I would expect not.
Q. And that expectation of circuit overseers and district overseers in California not paying for part of the policy would be true for the years 1970 through what year?
MR. SCHNACK: I'm not

understanding the question. When you say "this policy," what --
MR. LOVE: I've asked him about this policy, and he's given me an answer. Now I'm just trying to -- I think I understand his answer, that if he were to receive the exact same documents for 1990 or 1989, his answer would be the same, that they are insureds, but you would expect that they not be contributed personally with respect to paying the premium.
MR. SCHNACK: With respect to the clergy counselling coverage?
MR. LOVE: Certainly, or whatever other coverage is provided that was not given to me as listed.
A. The difficulty is that the types of coverages and the types of programs changed dramatically from the years in question.
I can't give you a blanket answer for all of those years without analyzing specifically what types of programs were in place year by year.

Q. Neither can I, Mr. Reinmueller. I'm doing the best I can with a little bit of documents. I apologize for not having more information available to ask you those questions.

With respect to those changes in programs, how many different changes have there been from 1970 to the present?

A. I wouldn't be able to wager a number, but I know that the programs have changed fairly from 1970 to the present. They've changed quite significantly.

Q. Starting with 1970, what is the first change that you're familiar with?

A. I couldn't give you a year-by-year or decade-by-decade analysis.

Q. Can you give me any more information, other than the fact that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement was brought on around 1989?

A. In what are you interested specifically?

Q. I'm interested in knowing what contract Watch Tower Pennsylvania had in the State of California relative to insurance provision for anybody associated with the organization in California.

A. REINMUELLER

A. Well, the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement does provide coverage to all of the congregations there.

Q. We'll get to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

A. Okay.

Q. Is there any other program change or other any in way insurance was handled in California between 1970 and 2003?

MR. SCHNACK: I am not clear on what you mean. Program change or insurance? It sound like you're mixing apples and oranges. Maybe it's late in the day.

Q. You've been designated as the person with most knowledge about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

MR. SCHNACK: With respect to the issues in the notice of deposition.

Q. One of those issues relates to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And that is an insurance program, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Are there any other insurance programs that have been in effect in California, besides the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement and the arrangement similar to what we're describing or discussing in this policy?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Turn to the very last page of Exhibit 36, entitled "Endorsement" at the top. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see at the bottom it says "page one of four"?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you notice like I have that there is no page two, three, or four?

A. Yes, I notice that.

Q. Do you see item number two, definition of insured?

A. Yes.

Q. That says at the very bottom, insured, and it also includes the following, and there is a colon?

A. Yes.

Q. There is nothing listed thereafter, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Do you have any copies of insurance policies like this in your office?

A. Yes, we do.

Q. For the person to have been able to produce this to me, they would have had to have gotten this policy out of your office, correct?

A. Probably so, yes.

Q. Are there documents like this for other time periods, besides 1990 to

A. REINMUELLER

1991?

A. Yes, there would be.

Q. And those policies would have covered people and congregations in California, correct?

A. Congregations certainly, yes.

Q. Well, we saw the elders are covered, didn't we?

A. Yes.

Q. And ministerial servants, correct?

A. During certain periods, yes.

Q. We got those in California, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. How far back do your records go of insurance policies and levels of coverage?

A. I'm not sure specifically on the year, but evidently, at least back to the early '90s.

Q. You mentioned --

MR. LOVE: Strike that. Mark this as 38.

A. REINMUELLER

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 38 for identification.)

Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Deposition Exhibit -- what is it, 38?

MR. SCHNACK: 38.

Q. That document is also something sent by Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania?

A. Correct.

Q. And it indicates that it was sent to a congregation in Texas, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. But is this also a form document that would have also something similar to it have been sent to California congregations?

A. To all those enrolled in the insurance program.

Q. And we don't know how many congregations were enrolled in the insurance program for any period of time back in the '70s or '80s, do we?

A. REINMUELLER

A. That is correct. We do not know.

Q. What is the title of this document?

A. Insurance invoice.

Q. It's dated February 1991; is it not?

A. Yes.

Q. And it also indicates that coverage is automatically renewed, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. It indicates or references at the bottom that it's for that same coverage date from the insurance policy we just looked at, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. So is it safe for me to assume that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing layers of insurance that covered different people in entities for different things, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that they would turn around

A. REINMUELLER

then, and Watch Tower Pennsylvania would send out letters to the congregations that were enrolled in the program sending them an invoice for their portion of the premium payment, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And those letters would have been directed to the participating congregations in California; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Again, does this sheet anywhere say "voluntary donation" on it?

A. No, it does not.

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 39.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 39 for identification.)

Q. This is Exhibit 39. Do you recognize that as a letter sent from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

Q. Dated November 1, 1981?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. It looks like it was sent to everybody but told to only read it if you're enrolled in the program or the arrangement. Is that fair?
A. That appears to be correct.
Q. So in all likelihood, it was sent to all California congregations with some of those congregations being participants in the Society's arrangement, correct?
A. That appears correct.
Q. Dated 1981, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Far precedes the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And this particular insurance arrangement was being administered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes, correct.
Q. It discusses a new type of coverage being added. Do you see that?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. It makes me assume that there was an old type of coverage that preceded this 1981 letter; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know how far back Watch Tower's administration of an insurance arrangement for a congregation in California goes?
A. No.
Q. It precedes 1981, doesn't it?
A. It does.
Q. Is there anybody who would know the answer to that question better than you?
A. Probably not, unless there's some records still available somewhere, but I -- probably not.
Q. Under the section "What this insurance covers," it references an insurance manual.
Are you familiar with an insurance manual that was in the existence in the 1980's?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you have a copy of one?
A. I haven't been able to locate one, no.
Q. Are there insurance manuals that cover issues presently?
A. There are general instructions, but at the present time, there's no -- nothing I would refer to as a manual.
Q. Who creates those general instructions?
A. The treasurer's office, the risk management desk.
Q. And would that be directed under a letterhead of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. As I said, it's part of the treasurer's office that operates through the Watchtower of New York, and provides services, such as the one communicating with the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.
It may communicate on Pennsylvania letterhead for that purpose, but it provides -- the risk management is part of the treasurer's office in New

A. REINMUELLER

York.
Q. Because, I mean, I've received a fair amount of documentation in responses to request about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for a length of time. I have yet to see a document that addresses instructions regarding Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement from Watchtower New York.
Are you saying that there are things like that?
A. No, because the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is a fund in Pennsylvania corporation, so communication about it is generally made on the Pennsylvania letterhead.
Q. If you would, look at the very bottom, the PS, on the second page. It says, "This coverage also applies to traveling overseers."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know what that means? Was it this new coverage or the old coverage? What coverage applied to traveling overseers?

A. REINMUELLER

A. It's my understanding that for a time, this coverage for injury for volunteer workers was in place through this Alan Ross Insurance Agency, and evidently, it also applied to traveling overseers and special pioneers at the time that it was in force.

Q. And there are traveling overseers and special pioneers in California, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. So that particular coverage protected circuit overseers, district overseers, and special pioneers in California, correct?

A. It would appear to be the case, yes.

Q. There's a paragraph right above that that starts "This coverage." Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. It says, "This coverage is being provided at no extra charge."

A. REINMUELLER

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. At this time, do you have any reason to believe that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was not sending invoices similar to the one we just looked at in Exhibit 37 -38- to the congregations in the United States?

A. No. Evidently -- I would expect that they were sending invoices at this time.

Q. And that would included to the congregations in California, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And even though they probably didn't get an invoice, the coverage extended to district overseers and circuit overseers?

A. Evidently.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as 40.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 40 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER

Q. I'm handing you what I marked as Exhibit 40. It, too, is a letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. This one is addressed to the bodies of elders who are insured through the Society or its arrangement; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Dated 1987, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the reference on that is the 1987 annual insurance billing, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And it references the enclosure of an invoice for insurance. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. And it covers a period of October 1, 1987 to October 1, 1988. Correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any reason to believe that there weren't California participants participating in the Society's insurance program in 1987?

A. REINMUELLER

A. No, I have no reason to believe that.

Q. Is October 1 the beginning of a fiscal year for the Jehovah's Witnesses Organization?

A. No, it is not.

Q. Is there anything special about that particular time period?

A. It appears to have been for many years just a convenient first time for the insurance policy renewal.

Q. Was Watch Tower Pennsylvania have a fiscal year?

A. Yes.

Q. What is the date that it begins?

A. It begins in September and ends on August 31.

Q. Do you see in the second paragraph reference to, again, that Watch Tower Pennsylvania paid the premiums in advance?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. It doesn't say "voluntary donations," does it?

A. Sorry?

Q. It doesn't say "voluntary donations," does it?

A. With respect to whom?

Q. With respect to paying a premium?

A. No, it does not.

Q. Of course, it references the fact that they are enclosing a memorandum entitled Key Facts About Kingdom Hall Insurance, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Earlier, we looked at a document entitled Key Facts About Congregation Insurance.

Is it possible that those are the same things?

A. It's likely that they are similar in form, substance.

Q. Are you familiar with the document called Key Facts About Kingdom Hall Insurance?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Those documents don't exist anymore. Since it became the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement has been en effect, it's been referred to in Key Facts in the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

Q. So all of those documents of prior arrangements were destroyed?

A. I am sure they were.

Q. Where did these come from?

A. The letters?

Q. That we're looking at?

A. I am not sure.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as 41.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 41 for identification.)

Q. I've marked Exhibit 41.

Do you recognize that also as a letter on Watch Tower Pennsylvania's letterhead?

A. Yes.

Q. The fact that the next document is so similar, I'll try to ask you questions about those at the same time.

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 42.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 42 for identification.)

Q. Do you recognize the first document, the letter of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania to the bodies of elders?

A. Yes.

Q. And that would include the bodies of elders in California, correct?

A. Likely so.

Q. And it doesn't say those elders that have insurance arrangements, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Now, you mentioned the fact that the Kingdom Hall program involved insuring all of the congregations. Did I understand you right?

A. Could you rephrase that question again?

Q. Sure. My understanding of your testimony is that the Kingdom Hall

A. REINMUELLER

Assistance Arrangement has only so many congregations contributing, but it's to the benefit of all congregations.

A. That is true. The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

Q. Was that not true with respect to the insurance arrangement?

A. It was not true with respect to the insurance arrangement.

Q. On Exhibit 36 that we looked at earlier, do you see anything in that document which narrows the coverage to particular participating congregations?

A. I don't see that here, but it's my understanding that a schedule of congregations had to be submitted to the insurer under the programs that we had in effect before the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

Q. Had you ever seen any one of those lists of the participating congregations?

A. Yes, I had. Years ago.

Q. Have you seen one lately?

A. REINMUELLER

A. We don't need to do that anymore, because all of our congregations are covered.

Q. So you don't have any records relating to congregations that were particularly covered or not covered by the umbrella policy and the CGL policy?

A. Prior to -- I mean, as of the dates we're looking at here, I don't believe we have those records anymore.

Q. So it's your testimony that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is available to any congregation with a claim, but it's only funded by participating congregations?

A. Any congregation is welcomed to contribute towards that fund, but all of them are -- benefits of the program are available to every congregation.

Q. Would the benefits of the program also extend to circuit overseers and district overseers in California?

A. Of the Kingdom hall assistance arrangement? Yes, in certain respects.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Both the letters 41 and 42 originate from the secretary's office and treasurer, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And that was either Grant Suiter or Lyman Swingle, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Both of these relate to an annual inspection of your Kingdom Hall, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. In the first letter, isn't it true that the elders are being instructed to inspect the roof of the Kingdom Hall?

A. Yes.

Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania even provides a roof inspection checklist, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And that, too, is on Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Now, these elders that are receiving these instructions regarding inspection of the Kingdom Hall recognize Watch Tower Pennsylvania's authority to give them these instructions, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes. I would say they review this kind of instruction as being helpful advice to help them fulfill the responsibilities towards their congregates' meeting place. I don't feel or view it as it as being authoritative instruction that you say they had to follow.

Q. Isn't it true on the next page it talks about the circuit overseer is going to make sure that you inspected the roof?

A. I think the particular expression that says, "We want you to help the brothers."

Q. Read along with me on the paragraph that is right after the number two. It starts with "The."

"The circuit overseer will check with you to verify that the inspection was made."

A. REINMUELLER

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania is going to rely upon the circuit overseer to see to it that that inspection of the roof is made, correct?

A. To see whether or not it has been made, yes.

Q. And there are instructions to the bottom to the circuit and district overseers, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And it says, "During your next visit, please ask if the inspection has been completed"?

A. Yes.

Q. And this is then sent to the district and circuit overseers in California, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And they would be responsible for doing that as it relates to the congregations within the circuit overseer's circuit --

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: I want to object to the form of the question. Finish it first.
MR. LOVE: I don't know where I was in my question now.
MR. SCHNACK: I apologize. I thought you took a breath, and I thought you were done.
Q. With respect to the instruction given to the district and circuit overseers, they would relate to their respective jurisdictions, correct?
A. The circuit and district overseers would follow through on this encouragement in the congregation to which they are signed.
MR. SCHNACK: You avoided the objection. See?
Q. The purpose is given for this insurance in the bottom of the second paragraph on the first page. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. The purposes is to reduce losses

A. REINMUELLER
and to lower insurance premiums. Correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And, of course, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is fronting the money for those insurance premises, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania is looking for a financial benefit from these particular instructions, correct?
A. I don't believe that's correct.
Q. Let's look at Exhibit 42. This is the letter instructing an inspection relating to security, correct?
A. Yes, correct.
Q. And again, this predates the creation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, the second paragraph to the bottom in the second line, "The purpose of the letter again was to keep insurance costs at a minimum."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Like the other letter, it mentions that "The circuit overseer will verify that you make this inspection," correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And there's also a PS to the circuit overseers to be sure to do that, right?
A. Yes.
Q. This would have been a letter that went to all the bodies of elders in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Regardless of whether they were participants in the insurance program, right?
A. It appears that way.
Q. And it would have gone to all the circuit overseers in California, correct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
MR. LOVE: Let's stop for the day here. I'm at a stopping place.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This ends our deposition for today at 5:02 p.m. on August 25, 2004. We're going off the record at this time.

ALEXANDER REINMUELLER, the Witness herein, having first been duly sworn by the Notary Public, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION BY
MR. LOVE:

Q. Please state your name for the record.

A. Alexander Reinmueller.

Q. What is your address?

A. 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're on the record. The time is 8:40 a.m., and we begin tape number one in the continued deposition of Alex Reinmueller.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit

43.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 43 for identification.)

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I want to stay on the topic of insurance-related things. I'll hand you what was marked as Exhibit 43.

Do you recognize that as a document written by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. And does it appear to be a true and correct copy of a letter written by Watch Tower Pennsylvania on October 1, 1995 relating to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

A. It does.

Q. At the time the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement was created, isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was still purchasing commercial insurance?

A. Yes, that's true.

Q. And in that commercial insurance that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing, there was a self-insured retention amount, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Correct.

Q. And it was a substantial amount?

A. That's correct.

Q. So am I understanding this correctly that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement and the commercial insurance worked together to protect the Society's interests?

A. That's the case since the inception of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. That would be accurate.

Q. So as far back to at least 1980, which is what our records show, there has been an insurance provision created by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, and Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement simply became a part of that in or about 1989; is that correct?

A. I would characterize it slightly differently, that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement really was an expansion and an adjustment in our arrangements with the congregations to shift away from strictly purchasing commercial insurance for the congregations and switching over to providing a broader assistance arrangement that is now the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

Q. It was far more flexible, wasn't it?

A. The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes.

Q. And it allowed far more ability to resolve issues that came up, correct?

A. Yes, and it also no longer required -- it was not just purchasing insurance and passing along the costs to the congregations, but rather, now it was an arrangement provided for all congregations, regardless of whether they contributed to the arrangement or not.

Q. And not just to congregations, but traveling overseers, assemblies, and different other Jehovah's Witnesses' functions, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And in the beginning, that was an arrangement that was administered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. In the October 1, 1995 document which I've labeled as Exhibit 43, if you would, turn to the second page of the document, under the "What is covered by the KHAA," do you see a list there?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. There is a number of property damage items listed, correct?

A. Right.

Q. And also is an arrangement that covers personal injuries and accidents, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. On the third page of the

A. REINMUELLER

document, if you turn with me, do you see a section in the middle of the page that claims against elders and ministerial servants performing assigned work on behalf of the congregation?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see that as an item listed under included matters covered by the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

A. Yes.

Q. So that doesn't just say counselling or clergy counselling, does it?

A. No, it does not.

Q. If you would, turn to page ten. Do you see there a list of instructions from Watch Tower Pennsylvania about what to do if there is an incident or an accident?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you agree that in the event there was an accident or an incident that elders are required to follow these instructions?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. If you would, turn the page again. Turn to the final instructions given under accidents resulting in bodily injuries, number nine, do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that it mentions that if there is any correspondence or inquiry coming from an attorney, you could contact the branch immediately?
A. Yes.
Q. That would include the United States, correct?
A. Yes.
MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 44.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 44 for identification.)
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I want to hand you what was marked as Exhibit 44 (handing).
Do you recognize that document?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you consider it a true and correct copy of a letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania with respect to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that it's dated September 1, 1998?
A. That's correct.
Q. With respect to both exhibits, 43 and 44, isn't it true that those particular documents would have been distributed to all of the congregations in California?
A. Yes, that's true.
Q. Regardless of whether they contributed to the arrangement, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Do you see the office of the secretary and treasurer underneath the letterhead?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you also see the identification of a risk management office?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. And that is under the Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. The last sentence in that first paragraph reads or indicates that: "The fund is used to purchase commercial excess insurance to protect congregations and the Society."
Do you see that?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And the Society includes any part of the Jehovah's Witnesses Organization, correct?
A. I'm not sure I would characterize that expression. I believe in this document -- it's more related to the Watch Tower Pennsylvania.
Q. So your understanding of that particular phrase is, is that the insurance is purchased to protect the congregations and Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. I believe that is correct, yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And those monies that are contributed to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement in part come from California, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Some of those contributions then from California are used to purchase commercial excess insurance to protect in part Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Do you see the heading "How do we participate in the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement"?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see there that it says, "In here, you will receive a letter suggesting a contribution amount"?
A. Yes.
Q. Does it say there --
MR. LOVE: Strike that.
Mark these as Exhibits 45 and 46 and 47.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked as Exhibits 45, 46, and 47 for identification.)

Q. I'll hand you what I've marked as Exhibits 45, 46, and 47. Take a moment to look over those (handing).

Do you recognize all of those as being letters from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

Q. And do they appear to be true and correct copies?

A. Yes, they do.

Q. And do you see that they range from the years 1988, 1989, and 1991?

A. Correct.

Q. They're all essentially communicating the same thing, aren't they?

A. They appear to be.

Q. The Watch Tower Pennsylvania is sending you the remittance slips and the envelopes for which to remit money back to the Society Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. In connection with payments for certain services, correct?

A. Yes, correct.

Q. Is it true, Mr. Reinmueller, that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the entity that determines how much money the congregations needs to contribute?

A. No, that is not true.

Q. That's never been true?

A. Certainly not in an expansive -- I am not sure what your term includes. You said -- you didn't -- you didn't limit it to anything specific. In what area?

Q. With respect to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania determines the amount the congregation should contribute?

A. Suggests an amount that they should contribute to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 48.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 48 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER

Q. I'll hand you Exhibit 48 (handing).

Is that a true and correct copy of a letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania to all of the United States, including California?

A. Yes, it appears to be.

Q. It's dated October 12, 2003, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And a letter goes out like this every year to the congregations, correct?

A. Generally.

Q. Again, the first paragraph indicates that the purpose of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is to use designated funds to pay for damages and injuries, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. In the second paragraph, it indicates that Watch Tower Pennsylvania suggests each contribution again contribute $4.50 per publisher, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And a publisher is a member, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. So they're being told to add up the number of people in their congregation, multiply that by $4.50, divide that by twelve, and pay that amount monthly, correct?

A. That is the suggestion.

Q. Or that they can make it all in one lump sum, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And this is a letter that is provided to the congregations in California, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And contributions were, in fact, received from the congregations in California, correct?

A. From many of the congregations, that's correct.

Q. From the program's inception, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, I believe that's correct.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 49.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 49 for identification.)

Q. I'll hand you what was marked as Exhibit 49 (handing).

I'll ask you, can you describe to me what that document is?

A. This is a document which summarizes the amounts paid under the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement to -- for various claims submitted by congregations in California from as far back as our records go.

Q. Your records go back how far, 1997?

A. 1996, I believe, in this case.

Q. Are you the one who prepared this particular document?

A. No, I'm not.

Q. Do you know how this particular document was prepared?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Describe that to me, please.

A. It was a report out of the program that is used to track correspondence with respect to various claims made under the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

Q. So this is a document that is prepared from a database, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And you could search it by different fields, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And you could create your own document just by entering the type of field you want it to provide to you?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. So in the category where it says "reimbursing," normally, it would list a name there?

A. Yes. That would be a name of the congregation that submitted the claim.

Q. In Exhibits 43 and 44, there is instruction provided for how to file a claim. Are you familiar with that process?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, in general I am.

Q. Would it be your testimony that all of the claims paid listed in Exhibit 49, that there were claims submitted? Would these have followed the process?

A. Yes, I would expect that to be true.

Q. And that process would include what?

A. We would receive report of an injury or a property loss, either by telephone or in writing, and then the congregation would be contacted, and it would be determined how -- what assistance would be needed.

Q. Congregation would be contacted by whom?

A. By someone in the risk management office of the treasurer's office.

Q. Which is Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Again, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is a client of the treasurer's office, but the treasurer's office is a department in Watchtower of New York.

Q. Before the creation of the risk management office, who would contact the congregations?

A. The treasurer's office.

Q. And that is Watch Tower Pennsylvania --

A. The insurance desk in the treasurer's office.

Q. And that was Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. No. That would be New York.

Q. Didn't we see a document earlier that described Watch Tower Pennsylvania, attention insurance desk?

A. Yes, that is true, but that directs it inside -- since it's the same office, it directs it to the proper desk.

Q. But the direction was to contact Watch Tower Pennsylvania; was it not?

A. Yes. That's what it said.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Attention insurance desk, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. When was the risk management office created?

A. The insurance desk, as you've seen in all the documentation, has existed as long as the Society was providing insurance. The name was changed to risk management sometime in the early to mid '90s.

Q. Was it in 1998?

A. I'm not exactly sure of the year that the terminology changed.

Q. Would you compare 43 and 44 which are key facts about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, Exhibit 44 says to replace the 1995 document, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Is it true that the 1998 document is the first one that mentions a risk management office?

A. Of these two documents, yes, that's true.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And if there would have been a risk management office, don't you think it would appear in the 1995 key facts document?

A. Not necessarily. Just knowing practice...

Q. If somebody contacts the congregation after a claim is made --

A. Yes.

Q. -- and prior to the risk management office, you said that was the insurance desk, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And then in some period of time, that became the risk management office, correct?

A. Or a risk management desk, more appropriately.

Q. And what would be the purpose of their contacting the congregation?

A. To determine what assistance is required.

Q. And what would the insurance desk do to investigate that particular claim?

A. It would depend on the nature of the claim. In many cases, the local elders would be asked to, perhaps, provide a report on the circumstances of the injury or loss and any need for financial or other restitution or assistance.

Q. And then somebody at the insurance desk would evaluate it, process it, and determine what to do?

A. As long as the claim would be something that would be handled under our self-insured retention.

If it involved something that we had commercial insurance coverage for, then it would be turned over to a third-party administrator to process the claim.

Q. Or to make sure if there's any amount that may be above your self-insured retention, then the insurance company itself is potentially liable, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. The self-insurance retention is pretty high?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania would administer that self-insured portion, and then ultimately use the commercial general liability insurance if it was above that amount, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. So the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement acted as that self-insured retention in those areas that involved a claim that triggered insurance, correct?

A. Yes, and goes beyond, but that's -- it would -- with respect to the self-insured retention, yes.

Q. So there is one claim in here that is in the amount of, I think, $143,000. That is on the very last page in the -- in the middle of the page, involving mold in a congregation Kingdom Hall, I assume?

A. Yes. That would like likely.

Q. Is that $142,256 paid out of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes. That would be the case.
Q. In the event a claim is submitted, it wasn't simply something you could identify the cost and pay it, but involved an on-going investigation, we have seen instructions in the key facts documents that talk about not talking to a lawyer, not talking to the media, not providing any liability type of statements. Do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. In the event there was an on-going process of an investigation or a claim, who, if at all, would be involved in the organization in that respect?
A. Well, the risk management desk would be taking the lead in working with either our third-party administrator and any legal counsel that they would appoint.
Q. So that could be the legal department at the Jehovah's Witness Organization, or it could be legal counsel local, correct?
A. That's correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And it would be handled by the insurance desk, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Do you know what bank the Kingdom Hall assistance funds are kept in?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. What bank is that?
MR. SCHNACK: Go ahead.
A. It's the Merrill Lynch Bank.
Q. The New York branch of that bank?
A. Yes, a New York bank.
Q. Any other banks?
A. During the period of time we're talking about here?
Q. Yes. From 1970 to 2003?
MR. SCHNACK: You're talking about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
MR. LOVE: Right.
MR. SCHNACK: Well, that wasn't in assistance that long.
Q. Insurance then?
MR. SCHNACK: What is the

A. REINMUELLER

relevance of the other banks it was represent in with respect to California?
MR. LOVE: I want to know about the minimum contact, if there's anything that has to do with California.
MR. SCHNACK: If there are any banks in California, go ahead and respond.
A. No, there were no banks in California.
Q. Since the creation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, what banks has it used--
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll have him answer with respect to any California banks.
MR. LOVE: Now I'm asking for any banks, and I need you to instruct him not to answer if you want him to not answer.
MR. SCHNACK: I'm not going to instruct him not to answer. I'll tell him to limit his answer to California banks.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. My question to you is: What banks has the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement Fund been kept in since its inception?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object that it's outside the scope of the deposition, but I'll allow him to answer with respect to any California banks.
A. There were no California banks involved.
Q. Are you simply refusing to answer my question about the names of the banks?
A. Yes.
MR. SCHNACK: And that is based on my objection, that it's improper under the scope of this limited deposition as ordered by the Napa County Court.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, does it potentially pay claims that involve elder misconduct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
Q. What elder misconduct is not covered? Can you think of any?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the question. How is this related to California?
MR. LOVE: I just want to know about how the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement works.
MR. SCHNACK: Again, can you --
MR. LOVE: I've got a hand --
MR. SCHNACK: Hold on. Let me finish my comment. How does this relate to the contact with California?
MR. LOVE: All the claims that I'm holding in my hand, you provided me in Exhibit 49 are claims made and paid in California. I want to ask him about that.
MR. SCHNACK: How does it relate? We've admitted there were claims paid in California? How is

A. REINMUELLER
this line of questioning going to further the issue of new contacts --
MR. LOVE: Because I want to ask him about the process in which these particular claims in California were paid, who, if anyone, was involved, and how it works.
MR. SCHNACK: Your question didn't involve the process.
MR. LOVE: I'm going to ask the questions to get to the process, but I need to ask my predicate questions first.
MR. SCHNACK: You could ask then, but I'll object and direct him not to answer. Again, this is outside the scope of the deposition.
MR. LOVE: I understand.
Would you read back my question, please?
[Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the Court Reporter.]
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll object

A. REINMUELLER
to the question. It's outside the scope of this deposition. Unless you tie this to California contacts, I'll instruct the witness not to answer.
Q. You heard my question, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you refusing to answer my question?
MR. SCHNACK: He's refusing to answer based on my instruction that this is outside the scope of this deposition.
A. Yes, that's...
Q. On page 265 of that exhibit --
MR. SCHNACK: Refer to the Bates number.
MR. LOVE: I am.
Q. There is a little number on the very left-hand side of the page. Do you see them right here (indicating)?
A. Okay, um-hmm.
Q. There is a list of types of claims listed there. Do you see that?
A. Sorry, 256 or 265?

A. REINMUELLER
Q. 265?
A. Your question again?
Q. Do you see that on that page, there is a whole list of types of claims?
A. Yes.
Q. In fact, this document is full of different types of claims that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement has paid in California, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you see in the middle of the page an item "elder misconduct"?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any idea what kind of elder misconduct that was?
A. No, I don't.
Q. Do you see that this says the Red Bluff Congregation California?
A. Yes, I see that.
Q. Do you have any understanding as to whether or not the Red Bluff Congregation contributed funds to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. I cannot say specifically

A. REINMUELLER

whether they have or not.
Q. Do you have records that would allow you to determine that?
A. Yes, we do.
Q. And are those in your office?
A. Yes.
Q. Before processing this claim, for example, what communication would have taken place from the congregation and then from Watch Tower Pennsylvania's insurance desk back to the congregation?
A. The congregation likely would have contacted the risk management desk with particulars of the situation, and the risk management desk would have communicated back to determine what assistance would be needed.
Q. How many people are available to answer that phone at the insurance desk?
A. There are, um, five that would answer the phones.
Q. Has a always been a handful, like five, or less?
A. Probably less. Five is probably

A. REINMUELLER

the most we've had.
Q. Is there a high turnover at the desk, or has it been pretty much the same people?
A. There has been a considerable turnover through the years.
Q. Would there be records to determine who could have processed this particular elder misconduct claim at the legal -- at the insurance desk?
A. I'm not certain.
Q. If I wanted to know more about that particular elder misconduct, what records exist?
A. Likely would be the computer database records what we're looking at here, which would be the payment. There'd likely be a file of the correspondence with the congregation. From 1989, I'm not certain whether that file still exists, if the file is complete. I couldn't say that specific file still exists, but likely in a typical case, there would be a file with the correspondence.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And where would that file be kept?
A. In our office.
Q. That is a file that you would have access to if you were asked to access it?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with any claim ever being paid out of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement in California for child sexual abuse?
A. I am not personally aware.
Q. Do you know whether or not child sexual abuse is a claim that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is available to cover?
A. Yes. I believe if there was a claim, that Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement would be available to cover.
Q. And that would be true in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any idea whether this particular elder misconduct was child sexual abuse?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I do not.
Q. Before this amount of $50,000 was paid, what information or processing went into deciding that that would be the appropriate amount?
MR. SCHNACK: He's already testified he's not aware of it. Are you asking him in general terms what might happen?
Q. I'm just asking what that process might look like.
A. This particular case?
Q. In a case such as this?
MR. SCHNACK: He's asking in general terms.
A. In general terms, there would be communication with the congregation. There would be communication with legal counsel. Depending on the circumstances, there may also be communication with a higher-up. Immediate oversite, before making a final decision.
Q. When injury in California, and there is a number of them listed on this document, involves someone who was not a Jehovah's Witness, would there customarily be a settlement agreement or release document created?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Customarily, if there is a settlement agreement, there would be a release document executed.

Q. And who would prepare that document?

A. The legal counsel appointed to work on that particular file.

Q. Would there potentially be a legal counsel in the legal department or a legal counsel appointed in California?

A. That's correct.

Q. And would a copy of that settlement agreement, if one were created, be kept in the file in your office?

A. Yes. I believe that would be the case.

Q. And it would be fair for me to assume that if your file contained a settlement agreement, it would also contain the rest of the correspondence that was involved in that claim being processed?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, as I've already indicated.

Q. So with respect to this particular elder misconduct claim that was paid, if, in fact, Red Bluff Congregation was not a participant in the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, then the monies being paid to resolve this particular claim would have been contributions from other congregations, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Administered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know of any legal or other requirement that Watch Tower Pennsylvania provide insurance coverage to elders, circuit overseers, or district overseers in California?

A. I'm sorry. I am not sure I fully understand your question. Are we legally required to provide such? Is that your question?

Q. Yes.

A. I'm not aware of that.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania's decision to provide or extend insurance coverage to people in California is a voluntary choice, correct?

A. As I said, I am not aware one way or another whether there are legal requirements.

Q. So from the creation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, isn't it true that elders, circuit overseers, district overseers, Kingdom Halls, and Assembly Halls in California have all been protected by a Watch Tower Pennsylvania insurance program?

A. To varying degrees, that's correct.

Q. And part of the money used to provide that insurance coverage comes from congregations in California, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. We have seen in Exhibit 49 a substantial amount of that money has been used by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to pay claims in California, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I don't know if I would characterize it as substantial, but yes.

Q. Now, with respect to investigating a potential claim out of California, isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania relies upon elders and circuit overseers to investigate and provide them information before processing that claim?

A. I'm sorry. Could you rephrase that question again?

Q. Let me try to break it down. For Watch Tower Pennsylvania to issue a check to pay a claim in California, they have to satisfy themselves that that is an actual claim that needs to be paid, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And they rely upon elders and circuit overseers to give them the information to make those decisions,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?

A. The local congregation elders would -- or at least some of them -- would be involved in those investigations. It would be highly unlikely for a circuit or district overseer to be involved in such.

Q. Let me ask you a better question, then.

Isn't it true before Watch Tower Pennsylvania pays a claim in California, that they would we rely upon information and investigation from elders before doing that?

A. Local congregation would appoint one or more elders to be a contact, and they would be involved in an investigation.

There may, of course, be others that are hired or involved either by Watch Tower Pennsylvania or by the third-party administrator of our claims to investigate claims.

So the local elders would be involved in all cases, but others may well

involved in such an investigation.

Q. Let me ask you a better question. Isn't it true that at a minimum, at least a few appointed elders from a congregation would be involved in providing investigation and information to Watch Tower Pennsylvania before they pay a claim in California?

A. Certainly. The ones that are submitting the claim would be involved.

Q. And if Watch Tower Pennsylvania decided it needed more information or more participation, it can appoint or instruct more elders to be involved, correct?

A. Or others.

Q. But it could include more elders, correct?

A. It could potentially.

Q. Tell me all of the ways which the California congregation would have been made aware of the existence of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

A. I believe we've looked at most of the correspondence that would have gone to congregations in the various exhibits that we've examined here. That would have been the only way that we would have been made aware.

Q. Would they also be given information at Kingdom Ministry Schools or assemblies?

A. Not at assemblies. At Kingdom Ministry Schools, I'm not aware that in all the years that I've been an elder that that subject was ever discussed.

Q. So the primary away that you're familiar with the Watch Tower Pennsylvania, it communicates to the California congregations about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement would be through writing and written documents, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And any of these that we've seen today?

A. That's correct.

Q. And all of those have had Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. Wouldn't you agree with me that Watch Tower Pennsylvania intended for the California congregations to be recipients of the information about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's receiving contributions not only from California, but all over the country, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. In connection with the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And every year, they're paying out sums of money in claims, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Who would be able to tell me whether or not the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement operates at a surplus or a deficit?

A. I would.

Q. Does the Kingdom Hall Assistance

A. REINMUELLER
Arrangement operate at a surplus or a deficit?
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll instruct him not to answer this question, as it's outside the scope of this deposition. We've already discussed the parameters of it.
MR. LOVE: The reason why I want that answer to the question is, I want to know whether or not the congregations in California are contributing money to a way in which Watch Tower Pennsylvania profits.
MR. SCHNACK: I'm going to instruct him not to answer. I don't think it's relevant.
Q. Are you going to answer my question?
A. No.
MR. LOVE: Mark these as Exhibits 50 and 51.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibit 50 and 51 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER
Q. I now want to go back and hand you two exhibits, numbers 50 and 51.
Again, I don't have copies of these. I believe you mentioned to me earlier that these relate to Kingdom Hall loan processing.
MR. SCHNACK: Can I get the Bates numbers from the bottom so we could keep track? Exhibit 51 is what?
THE WITNESS: Exhibit 51 is 399 and 400.
MR. SCHNACK: Okay.
THE WITNESS: And Exhibit 50 is 395, 396, 397, and 398.
Q. Exhibit 50, do you see that that appears to be a form letter sent to congregations seeking Kingdom Hall loan simply about a process of accumulating a document in connection with that loan?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And that would have been a type of letter that would have been sent to the congregations in California who were attempting to obtain a Kingdom Hall loan,

A. REINMUELLER
correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And that would be a letter sent by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Now, Exhibit 51 is a form promissory note, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see a date on that form at the very bottom left-hand side?
A. Both forms are dated October 2001.
Q. So is it safe for me to assume that that document was at least updated in 2001?
A. Yes.
Q. But is it also safe for me to assume that there would have been a predecessor form that would have been used in prior years?
A. Yes.
Q. And that document was created by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. And provided to the congregations in California that are desiring a Kingdom Hall loan?
A. That's correct.
Q. I want you to look at Exhibit 29 with me. Do you see that that's a March 15, 1990 Watchtower?
A. Yes.
Q. Earlier, we talked about the fact that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyrights to several things, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. In terms of publications?
A. Yes.
Q. And I believe that you agreed that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyrights to the Society's books, magazines, pamphlets, and things like that, but I think that you mentioned that they did not hold the copyright to Our Kingdom Ministry. Did I understand that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. I want you to look with me on and to care for all His "belongings," or Kingdom interests on earth. (Matt. 24:45-47; Luke 12:42-44) Rather than being an individual Christian, the 'faithful slave' today is the remnant, still living on earth, of the composite body of Christ's anointed footstep followers. Such remaining ones are a part of spiritual Israel, the anointed congregation of God. (Gal. 6:16; compare Isaiah 43:10.) This remnant is faithfully discharging the responsibilities of the "slave" during this time of the end by taking the lead in the preaching of "this good news of the kingdom" throughout all the earth and by providing spiritual food at the proper time for the household of faith.—Matt. 24:14.

USE OF RELIGIOUS CORPORATIONS

During these last days of the present wicked system of things, the "belongings" of the Master have increased abundantly throughout all the earth. This has placed a heavy responsibility on the 'faithful slave.' In discharging its responsibility to provide spiritual food at the proper time and in order to get the good news of the Kingdom preached before the end comes, the remnant on earth, as "the faithful and discreet slave" class, has formed certain agencies, or legal entities. It has proved to be the course of wisdom for the 'faithful slave' to organize certain corporations that are recognized by the laws of various countries. These religious corporations own and operate printing facilities that produce and distribute Bibles and Bible literature on a worldwide basis for use in the Kingdom ministry.

The first in time and the principal corporation used in this way is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. This nonprofit religious society was incorporated in 1884, is made up of dedicated, baptized Christians and is exclusively devoted to advancing the interests of true worship in the earth. The Watch Tower Society has extended its works worldwide, establishing branch offices in various countries. Also, in compliance with local governmental regulations, a number of other religious societies have been legally formed, such as the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (1909) and the International Bible Students Association in London, England (1914). All these legal instrumentalities cooperate with one another. These and other legal corporations are used by the modern-day Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses to facilitate the preaching of the good news worldwide and to care for the spiritual needs of the entire congregation of God in all parts of the earth.

STRUCTURE UNDER BRANCH ORGANIZATION

Whenever a branch office is established, a Branch Committee of three or more elders is appointed to care for the various responsibilities involved in looking after the work in the country or countries under the jurisdiction of that particular branch. One member of the committee serves as the coordinator of the Branch Committee.

Local congregations under each branch organization are arranged into circuits and a number of circuits make up a district. Circuits and districts may be of various sizes depending on geographical and language considerations, as well as the number of congregations within the area assigned to a branch. A circuit overseer is appointed to serve the congregations in each circuit. District overseers visit the different circuits, serve at circuit assemblies and spend some time serving

J. E. Barr	Assistant Secretary-Treasurer	New York, NY.
J. C. Booth	Assistant Secretary-Treasurer	New York, NY.
T. Jaracz	Assistant Secretary-Treasurer	New York, NY.

OLD ARTICLE VIII:

Directors shall be elected by the members at an annual meeting and hold office until successors qualify. At the annual meeting next held after this amendment to the articles of incorporation there shall be an election by ballot for seven directors of the Society, two of whom shall be elected for a term of one year, two for two years and three for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter a number of directors equal to that of those whose terms have expired shall be elected for the term of three years. At expiration of the said term of three years, any director may be re-elected. Directors shall be selected from the membership of the Society.

Officers of the Society, chosen from among members of the Board of Directors, shall be a President (who shall preside at the meetings of the Board of Directors), a Vice President (who shall preside in the absence of the President) and a Secretary and a Treasurer. At the option of the Board of Directors the Secretary also may hold the office of Treasurer. The Board of Directors shall elect officers, who shall hold office for a term of one year, or until successors qualify. Meetings for election of officers shall be held annually at a time and place fixed by the by-laws.

Vacancies in any office or the Board occasioned by death, resignation or removal shall be filled by vote of a majority of the remaining members of the Board, who shall meet for that purpose within thirty days from the time when such vacancy or vacancies shall occur. If the Board fails to fill such vacancy or vacancies in the time and manner above provided, then the President, or if the office of the President be vacant, then the Vice-President, performing the duties of President, shall fill such vacancy or vacancies by appointing the person or persons who shall hold office until the next annual meeting when such vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by election.

Officers may be removed from office upon a vote of a majority of all the directors. Directors may be removed from the Board upon a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Society.

NEW ARTICLE VIII:

Directors shall be elected by the members at an annual meeting and hold office until successors qualify. [AMENDMENT OF 1896]

In re petition for change of name) of Zion's Watch Tower Tract Society) to) No. September Term, 1896
Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society)

To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas No. One of Allegheny County:

The petition of Zion's Watch Tower Tract Society, respectfully represents:

That it is an Association incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by the Court of Common Pleas No. One(1) of said County, on the 13th day of December, 1884, for the purpose specified in Section Two(2) of its charter which reads as follows:

"II. The purpose for which the Corporation is formed is, the dissemination of Bible Truths in various languages by means of the publication of tracts, pamphlets, papers, and other religious documents and by the use of all other lawful means which its Board of Directors, duly constituted, shall deem expedient for the furtherance of the purpose stated."

That said purpose is embraced within the Corporations of the first class, specified in Section Second, of an Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations", approved the 29th day of April, A.D. 1874,

That in pursuance of the provisions of the charter of the General Assembly, the said Association is desirous of changing the name, style and title by which it was incorporated, and at a meeting of the said Corporation duly convened, the following change in the name, style and title as set forth in said charter was duly adopted:

"That the name, style and title of said Corporation be changed from "Zion's Watch Tower Tract Society" to "Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society."

In Witness Whereof, the said Zion's Watch Tower Tract Society has hereunto affixed its corporate seal, attested by its President and Secretary, this 8th day of August, A.D. 1896.

page 250 of the records in said office.

THIRD

Certain resolutions for the proposed amendment of the Articles of Incorporation of said Society were duly adopted under and by virtue of an Act of the Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of May 5, 1933 (Public Law 289), known as the "Nonprofit Corporation Law", as amended April 30, 1943 (Public Law 137).

FOURTH

These said resolutions were adopted at a regular annual meeting of the shareholder-members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society held at Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on Monday, October 2, 1944, at 10 o'clock a.m., which time and place of meeting were the time and place required by the by-laws and the Nonprofit Corporation Law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

FIFTH

There were present at said meeting a quorum and more than a majority of shareholders and voting shares.

SIXTH

All of the shareholding members at said regular annual meeting were duly notified by mailing to each member on or about September 1, 1944 (more than ten days before the date of such meeting) a copy of a written notice describing in detail each of the amendments as hereinafter set forth.

WTPA 00320

SEVENTH

A resolution was offered to said meeting to amend Article II of the Articles of Incorporation. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, being a majority of the members entitled to vote for amendments to the articles of incorporation, that Article II of said articles, reading as follows:

"The purpose for which the corporation is formed is, the dissemination of Bible truths in various languages by means of the publication of tracts, pamphlets, papers and other religious documents, and by the use of all other lawful means which its Board of Directors, duly constituted, shall deem expedient for the furtherance of the purpose stated."

be deleted and amended by changing the same to read as follows:

II. The purposes of this Society are: To act as the servant of and the legal world-wide governing agency for that body of Christian persons known as Jehovah's witnesses; to preach the gospel of God's kingdom under Christ Jesus unto all nations as a witness to the name, word and supremacy of Almighty God JEHOVAH; to print and distribute Bibles and to disseminate Bible truths in various languages by means of making and publishing literature containing information and comment explaining Bible truths and prophecy concerning establishment of Jehovah's kingdom under Christ Jesus; to authorize and appoint agents, servants, employees, teachers, instructors, evangelists, missionaries and ministers to go forth to all the world publicly and from house to house to preach Christian and Bible truths to people of all nations by lecture with such persons said literature and by ordained Bible workers thereof; to improve men, women and children mentally and morally by Christian missionary work and by charitable and benevolent instruction of the people on the Bible and incidental scientific, historical and literary subjects; to establish and maintain private Bible schools and classes for gratuitous instruction of men and women in the Bible, Bible literature and Bible history; to teach, train, prepare and equip men and women as ministers, missionaries, evangelists, preachers, teachers and lecturers; to provide and maintain homes, places and buildings for gratuitous housing of such students, lecturers, teachers and ministers; to furnish gratuitously to such students, lecturers, teachers, educators and ministers suitable meals and lodging and to prepare, support, maintain and send out to various parts of the world Christian missionaries, teachers and instructors in the Bible and Bible literature, and for public Christian worship of Almighty God and Christ Jesus; to arrange for and hold local and world-wide assemblies for such worship; to use or operate radio broadcasting stations for preaching this gospel of the kingdom; and to do any and all other lawful things that its Board of Directors shall deem expedient for the purposes stated.

The foregoing resolution for the said amendment of Article II was discussed and considered and upon being submitted to vote of the members entitled to vote thereon was duly adopted by a vote of more than a majority of said members who voted as a class.

WTPA 00322

NINTH

A resolution was offered to said meeting to amend Article V of the articles of incorporation. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, being a majority of the members entitled to vote for amendments to the articles of incorporation, that Article V of said articles, reading as follows:

"The names and residences of the subscribers are as follows:

Charles T. Russell,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
William I. Mann,	Benwood, West Virginia.
Maria F. Russell,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
Wm. C. McMillan,	Latrobe, Pennsylvania.
Simon O. Blunden,	New York City, New York.
J. B. Adamson,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
Joseph F. Smith,	Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

WTPA 00324

The corporation has no capital stock. Each donation of Ten dollars to the funds of said corporation shall entitle the contributor, or his assigns, to one non-forfeitable, non-assessable, and non-dividend-bearing share, and to one vote for every such share in said corporation. Certificate of membership so acquired shall be issued by the Secretary, countersigned by the President, to the person entitled thereto."

be deleted and amended by changing the same to read as follows:

V. The names and residences of the subscribers are as follows:

Charles T. Russell,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
William I. Mann,	Benwood, West Virginia.
Maria F. Russell,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
Wm. C. McMillan,	Latrobe, Pennsylvania.
Simon O. Blunden,	New York City, New York.
J. B. Adamson,	Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.
Joseph F. Smith,	Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

The corporation has no capital stock. It is not operated on a stock-share basis but on a non-stock basis. It does not contemplate pecuniary gain or profit, incidentally or otherwise, to its members, directors or officers. Its members shall be only men who are mature, active and faithful witnesses of Jehovah devoting full time to performance of one or more of its chartered purposes under its direction and by its authority, or such men who are devoting part time as active presiding minist rs or servants of congregations of Jehovah's witnesses.

a man who is found to be in harmony with the purposes of the Society and who possesses the above qualifications may be elected as a member upon being nominated by a member, director or officer, or upon written application to the President or Secretary. Such nominee shall be elected upon a finding by the Board of Directors that he possesses the necessary qualifications and by receiving a majority vote of the members present at a meeting of the Board of Directors. Membership shall be evidenced by a certificate bearing the statement that this Society is a nonprofit corporation and the signatures of at least two of its officers.

Membership at any one time shall be not more than 500 and not less than 300, including approximately seven residents of each of the 48 states of the United States of America on their becoming members.

All members shall be of the same class and each shall be entitled to one vote at all meetings of members. Voting may be by proxy when done in the manner provided by the by-laws. No member shall sell, transfer or assign his vote. The right to vote is personal and cannot be conveyed by will or other instrument upon a member's death.

A meeting for electing directors and transaction of other business shall be held annually at a time and place fixed by the by-laws. At such meeting a majority of the members shall constitute a quorum.

Any member may withdraw from the Society after fulfilling all obligations to it by giving written notice of such intention to the Secretary, which notice shall be presented to the Board of Directors by the Secretary at the first meeting after its receipt.

A member may be suspended for a period or expelled for cause upon willfully violating any of the by-laws, reasonable rules, or ordinances of the Society, or upon becoming out of harmony with any of the Society's purposes or any of its work, or for willful conduct prejudicial to the best interests of the Society and contrary to his duties as a member, or upon ceasing to be a full-time servant of the Society or a part-time servant of a congregation of Jehovah's witnesses. Suspension or expulsion shall be by a majority vote of the directors, provided that a statement of the cause therefor shall have been sent by registered mail to the member at his last recorded address at least ten (10) days before a regular or special meeting of the directors; and such statement shall be accompanied by a notice of the time when and place where the Board of Directors will act in the premises, provided that said member shall have been given opportunity to present a defense at the time and place mentioned in such notice. Expulsion of a member forfeits any interest he has or had in and to the Society or any office therein, and cancels the right to participate in any meeting as a member and the right to vote, provided he shall have the right to be heard before expulsion.

The foregoing resolution for the said amendment of Article V was discussed and considered and upon being submitted to vote of the members entitled to vote thereon was duly adopted by a vote of more than a majority of said members who voted at a called meeting.

AGAINST the resolution 47 votes.

TENTH

A resolution was offered to said meeting to amend Article VII of the articles of incorporation. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, being a majority of the members entitled to vote for amendments to the articles of incorporation, that Article VII of said articles, reading as follows:

"The said corporation by its Board of Directors, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, shall have full power and authority to make and enact by-laws, rules, and ordinances, which shall be deemed and taken to be the law of said corporation, and do any and everything useful for the good government and support of the affairs of the said corporation; provided that the said by-laws, rules and ordinances, or any of them, shall not be repugnant to this charter, to the constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the Constitution of the United States" be deleted and amended by changing the same to read as follows:

"VII. The government of the corporation vests in its Board of Directors, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The directors shall have full power and authority to make, amend and repeal by-laws, rules, and ordinances, which shall be the law of the Society; to disburse funds; to sell, or delegate to its officers authority to sell, real estate and personal property owned by the Society; to borrow money for the Society; to hold meetings at such times and places as may be designated by the Board; to admit members and suspend or expel them; to elect officers and employ agents, all of which powers are in addition to and not in limitation of the powers usually exercised by the directors; and also to devise and carry into execution such other measures as they may deem proper and expedient to promote the objects of the Society and to protect the interests and welfare of its members and to do any and every useful thing for the good government and support of the affairs of the Society.

The foregoing resolution for the said amendment of Article VII was discussed and considered and upon being submitted to vote of the members entitled to vote thereon was duly adopted by a vote of more than a majority of said members who voted as a class.

AGAINST the resolution None votes.

ELEVENTH:

A resolution was offered to said meeting to amend Article VIII of the articles of incorporation. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, being a majority of the members entitled to vote for amendments to the articles of incorporation, that Article VIII of said articles, reading as follows:

"The said corporation shall have as officers a President, who shall preside at the meetings of the Board of Directors, a Vice President, who shall preside in the absence of the President, and a Secretary, who shall also be Treasurer; and these officers shall be chosen from among the members of the Board of Directors annually on the first Saturday of each year, by an election by ballot to be held at the principal office of the corporation in Allegheny City, Pennsylvania. The members of the Board of Directors shall hold their respective offices for life, unless removed by a two-thirds vote of the share holders; and vacancies in the Board occasioned by death, resignation or removal shall be filled by vote of a majority of the remaining members of the Board, who shall meet for that purpose within twenty days from the time when such vacancy, or vacancies, shall occur; and in the event of a failure to fill such vacancy or vacancies, in the manner aforesaid, within thirty days from the time when such vacancy, or vacancies, shall occur, then the said vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by the appointment of the President, and the person, or persons so appointed, shall hold his, or their, office, or offices, until the next annual election of officers of the corporation, when such vacancy, or vacancies, shall be filled by election, in the same manner as the President, Vice President, and Secretary and Treasurer are elected. The persons entitled to vote at annual elections of the corporation, shall be those who hold certificates of membership acquired in the manner aforesaid." be deleted and amended by changing the same to read as follows:

VIII. Directors shall be elected by the members at an annual meeting and hold office until successors qualify. At the annual meeting next held after this amendment to the articles of incorporation there shall be an election by ballot for seven directors of the Society, two of whom shall be elected for a term of one year, two for two years and three for three years. At each annual meeting thereafter a number of directors equal to that of those whose terms have expired shall be elected for the term of three years. At expiration of the said term of three years, any director may be reelected. Directors shall be selected from the membership of the Society.

Officers of the Society, chosen from among members of the Board of Directors, shall be a President (who shall preside at the meetings of the Board of Directors), a Vice President (who shall preside in the absence of the President), and a Secretary and a Treasurer. At the option of the Board of Directors, the Secretary also may hold the office of Treasurer. The Board of Directors shall elect officers, who shall hold office for a term of one year, or until successors qualify. Meetings for election of officers shall be held annually at a time and place fixed by the by-laws.

Vacancies in any office or the Board occasioned by death, resignation or removal shall be filled by vote of a majority of the remaining members of the Board, who shall meet for that purpose within thirty days from the time when such vacancy or vacancies shall occur. If the Board fails to fill such vacancy or vacancies in the time and manner above provided, then the President, or if the office of the President be vacant, then the Vice President, performing the duties of President, shall fill such vacancy or vacancies by appointing the person or persons who shall hold office until the next annual meeting when such vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by election.

Officers may be removed from office upon a vote of a majority of all the Directors. Directors may be removed from the Board upon a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Society.

The foregoing resolution for the said amendment of Article VIII was discussed and considered and upon being submitted to vote of the members entitled to vote thereon was duly

IN RE
PETITION OF WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY, for approval of amendment to articles of incorporation) No. 44 January Term, 1945

ORDER OF COURT

And Now, to-wit, this 15 day of February, A.D. 1945, the foregoing petition and application for amendments to the charter of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society having been presented in open court and proper proofs of publication of notice having been filed in connection therewith and said petition and articles of amendments having been filed with the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, as provided by law, and the matter having been referred to Horace Thomas, Jr., Esq., as Master, who has filed his report recommending said application, and the court having considered said application fully, the Master's report and the recommendation favoring and recommending the granting of said application, petition and amendments, and being of the opinion that said petition and articles for the amendments prayed for are lawful and do not conflict with the requirements of the Act of May 5, A.D. 1933, P. L. 289 of the State of Pennsylvania known as the Non-Profit Corporation Act, and the amendments and supplements thereto,

IT IS THEREFORE HEREBY ORDERED AND DECREED that the foregoing articles of amendments of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society be and the same are hereby approved and upon the recording of said articles of amendments, together with this Order, with the Recorder of Deeds of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, the amendments specified in the articles of amendments shall become a part of the original charter of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society aforesaid.

WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY

ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT

(Officers' Certificate of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of the WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY pursuant to the Nonprofit Corporation Law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania)

We, the undersigned Nathan H. Knorr and Grant Suiter, being respectively President and Secretary of WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY, hereby certify:

FIRST

The name of the corporation is Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society. The location of its registered office is 4100 Bigelow Boulevard, Pittsburgh 13, Pennsylvania.

SECOND

The corporation was formed under the Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, entitled "An Act to provide for the Incorporation and Regulation of Certain Corporations", approved April 29, 1874. The articles as applied for were granted on December 13, 1884, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of Allegheny County on December 15, 1884, and appear in the Charter Book, Volume 9, page 250, of the records in said office.

THIRD

Certain resolutions for the proposed amendment of the

WTPA 00342

Articles of Incorporation of said Society were duly adopted under and by virtue of an Act of the Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of May 5, 1933 (Public Law 289) known as the 'Nonprofit Corporation Law', as amended April 29, 1943 (Public Law 179).

FOURTH

These said resolutions were adopted at a regular annual meeting of the members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society held at Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, on Saturday, October 1, 1955, at 10 o'clock a.m., which time and place of meeting were the time and place required by the by-laws and the Nonprofit Corporation Law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

FIFTH

There were present at said meeting a quorum and more than a majority of the members.

SIXTH

All of the members at said regular annual meeting were duly notified by mailing to each member on or about September 1, 1955 (more than ten days before the date of such meeting) a copy of a written notice.

SEVENTH

A resolution was offered to said meeting to amend Article First of the Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation dated October 2, 1944. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Watch Tower Bible

WTPA 00343

and Tract Society, being a majority of the members entitled to vote for amendments to the articles of incorporation, that Article First of the Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation dated October 2, 1944, reading as follows:

"The name of the corporation is Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society. The location of its registered office is Wabash Building, 410 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania."

be deleted and amended by changing the same to read as follows:

"1. The name of the corporation is Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. The location of its registered office is 4100 Bigelow Boulevard, Pittsburgh, 13, Pennsylvania."

The foregoing resolution for said amendment of Article First of the Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation was discussed and considered and, upon being submitted to vote to the members entitled to vote thereon, it was duly adopted by more than a majority of said members who voted as a class.

The total number of members entitled to vote and who are in good standing at the time of said meeting was 472.

The total number of votes appearing at said meeting in person and by proxy was 455.

The total vote upon the foregoing resolution when offered and adopted was 455.

FOR the resolution 455 votes.

AGAINST the resolution none votes.

EIGHTH

A resolution was offered to said meeting to authorize and direct the application to the Court to have the foregoing amendment to the articles of incorporation approved by the Court. Said resolution as offered reads as follows:

BE IT RESOLVED that the members entitled to vote on the foregoing amendment and having adopted said amendment to the Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation by a majority vote, do hereby authorize and order the President and the Secretary of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society to prepare the articles of amendment and officers' certificate of amendment to the articles of incorporation and to prepare and file certified copies of the resolution amending said articles of incorporation with the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and cause the same to be advertised in the newspapers by giving legal public notice of the intention to apply to the Court of Common Pleas for an order approving the articles of amendment, and thereafter petition the Court of Common Pleas for an order approving the articles of amendment and take any and all further steps to effectuate the amendment to the articles of amendment to the articles of incorporation, pursuant to the resolution herein made at this annual meeting.

The foregoing resolution to authorize and direct the filing of the articles of amendment, advertisement thereof and application to the Court of Common Pleas for an order approving same was discussed and considered and, upon being submitted to the members entitled to vote thereon, was duly adopted by a majority of said members who voted thereon as a class.

The total number of members entitled to vote and who are in good standing at the time of said meeting was 472.

The total number of votes appearing at said meeting in person and by proxy was 455.

The total vote upon the foregoing resolution when offered and adopted was 455.

FOR the resolution 455 votes.

AGAINST the resolution none votes.

NINTH

The total vote by which each of the aforesaid resolutions amending the articles of incorporation and authorizing the application to the Court was adopted is shown above under each of said resolutions. The undersigned officers do hereby certify that the total vote thus shown is true and correct according to the records of said annual meeting; and said officers do hereby further certify that the foregoing copies of said resolutions adopted at the said meeting by the members are each, respectively, a true and correct copy of each of said resolutions for the amendments of the articles of incorporation and for authorizing the application to the Court, as the same was offered to and adopted by the members at said meeting and as the said resolutions appear of record in the minutes of said annual meeting.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society has caused these Articles of Amendment to be signed by its President, and its corporate seal, duly attested by its

Secretary, to be hereunto affixed this eighteenth day of October, 1955.

I

REFERENCES TO "ECCLESIASTICAL DISCIPLINE" ARE NOT ALLEGED AS A BASIS OF LIABILITY AND MISINTERPRET THE FACTUAL AVERMENTS OF THE COMPLAINT

Watchtower Defendants spent considerable effort arguing that matters of "ecclesiastical discipline" are irrelevant and should be struck from the complaint. Nothing in Plaintiffs' complaints alleges Watchtower Defendants are liable because they improperly "disciplined" the perpetrators who sexually abused Plaintiffs.

The Watchtower Defendants want this Court to believe this case is about the correctness of the Watchtower Defendants' religious tenets and doctrine. This case is about young children who were devastatingly violated by the Watchtower Defendants' appointed agents who used appointed positions of trust and authority within that organization to criminally, sexually abuse children entrusted to the perpetrators' care by the Watchtower Defendants. These cases are also about the Watchtower Defendants' intentional conduct in not only covering up the abuse, but also actively preventing the reporting of this and other instances of abuse within the organization. At the same time, the Watchtower Defendants continued to appoint these particular perpetrator-agents, to positions of trust and authority after the Watchtower Defendants knew of their propensities to use their appointed positions in the organization to sexually abuse innocent children. Finally, it is a case about this nation's and the state of California's compelling state interest

[1]Plaintiffs' counsel recently learned that in February 2005, Javier C., was shot and killed outside of his residence. His case will likely be dismissed in the near future. Plaintiffs' counsel has also filed motions to withdraw on behalf of Danielle A. and Fred F.

[2]A copy of all the pleadings in this coordinated matter are on file this Court. In the interest of brevity, Plaintiffs' incorporate by reference the complaints and the oppositions to Watchtower Defendants' demurrers filed in the individual cases.

in protecting its children from the crime of sexual abuse through the application of secular laws designed to hold accountable those responsible for such abuse.

Nothing in the First Amendment prohibits this Court from addressing the Watchtower Defendants' knowing appointment and protection of pedophiles who criminally assaulted Plaintiffs after the Watchtower Defendants were on notice that the perpetrators would do just that if they continually appointed to positions of authority over children. Also, the First Amendment does not bar this Court from addressing the Watchtower Defendants' liability for their intentional conduct in coercing the silence of victims and preventing the reporting of abuse, not for religious reasons, but to protect the Watchtower Defendants from liability for their own conduct in knowingly continuing to appoint pedophiles to positions of leadership with authority over children without even taking the minimal step of warning members of the congregations to which they were appointed or reporting the abuse to the proper secular authorities.

None of the cases cited by the Watchtower Defendants in their multiple Memorandum of Points and Authorities on file with Court, address the duty of a religious organization in the context in which Plaintiffs bring their claims. To the contrary, those on point take exception to any argument that the First Amendment bars claims arising out of the criminal abuse of children. Based on all the arguments contained herein, the Watchtower Defendants' motion to strike should be denied in its entirety.

The references to the perpetrators (i.e., Villegas in Charissa W., et. al., and Tabitha H.; Harriman in Ken L.; Henderson and Heard in Kimberley, et. al., and Tim W.,; Silva in West, et. al., etc.) being "members in good standing" are not alleged to argue that because they were held out as "members in good standing," the discipline, or lack thereof, was improper. Instead, such references are alleged to establish the perpetrators were, at all times relevant to when Plaintiffs were sexually abused, held out in a manner that they could be trusted. It further supports all of the legal theories of liability against the Watchtower Defendants. For example, because the perpetrators were held out as a members in good standing and expected to be trusted by other members in the Organization, Plaintiffs were sexually abused by individuals they were expected to trust. Plaintiffs were never notified of the pedophiles' proclivities to sexually abuse young children and were unable to take steps to protect themselves from the sexual abuse endured. Likewise, Plaintiffs' families were unable to take steps to prevent Plaintiffs from being sexually violated as a young children.

As pled in Plaintiffs' Complaints, the Watchtower Defendants knew the perpetrators were sexual predators, yet continued to hold them out in a manner to be trusted. This conduct serves as a basis for the following causes of action: Negligence, Negligent Appointment, Retention, and Supervision, Gross Negligence and Willful Misconduct, Breach of Fiduciary Duty, Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress, Fraud - Intentional Misrepresentation, Fraud - Concealment, and Conspiracy.

Plaintiffs refer this Court to the following additional decisions supporting the rights of Plaintiffs to have these claims heard by this Court: Richelle v. Roman Catholic Archbishops (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 257, 612 (A fiduciary duty independent of a claim of seduction exists, and recovery for its breach does not violate the First Amendment if it falls into one of two patterns: "either a minister is alleged to have taken advantage of a woman he is counseling, or a cleric is said to have sodomized young children under his charge") (emphasis added); Amato v. Greenquist (Ill. App. 1997) 679 N.E.2d 446, 451 (The First Amendment would not bar a claim that a cleric counselor used his position as a spiritual counselor to sexually exploit a counselee. "In the context of spiritual counseling, the free exercise clause is relevant only if the defendant can show that the conduct that allegedly caused the plaintiff's distress was in fact part of the belief and practices of the religious group....clerics cannot, using the shield of the First Amendment masquerade in the form of marriage counselors and then prey on their counselees."); Kedroff v. St. Nicholas Cathedral of Russian Orthodox Church (1952) 344 U.S. 94, 109 (The First Amendment bar is not absolute and is non-existent where religion is used as an excuse for shielding criminal conduct. "Legislative power to punish subversive or hostile action cannot be doubted. If such action should actually be attempted by a cleric, neither his robe nor his pulpit would be a defense."); Sanders v. Casa View Baptist Church (N.D. Texas 1995) 898 F. Supp. 1169 (The First Amendment does not bar claims of professional negligence and breach of fiduciary duty brought by a church member against a minister); Isely v. Capuchin Province (E.D. Mich. 1995) 880 F. Supp. 1138 (The First Amendment does not bar a claim for negligent supervision by a student who was a victim of sexual abuse); Bivin v. Wright (Ill. App. 1995) 656 N.E.2d 1121 (The First Amendment comes into play only when the church defendant can legitimately allege that the sexual conduct of its minister was part of its religious beliefs or practices or was in any way sanctioned by the church); F.G. v. MacDonell (N.J. 1996) 677 A.2d 258 ("When sexual conduct is involved, the fear of treading on doctrinal matters is minimal, and to establish a standard of care involves 'no impenetrable barrier.'"); Nutt v. Norwich Roman Catholic Defendants (D. Conn. 1995) 921 F. Supp. 66 (The Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment does not bar claims for negligent employment based upon alleged sexual abuse by a priest); Moses v. Defendants of Colorado (Colo. 1993) 863 P.2d 310 (The First Amendment does not bar an adult parishioner's claims against bishop and diocese for breach of fiduciary duty and negligent hiring and supervision grounded on the sexual relationship between parishioner and priest); Destanfano v. Gabrian (Colo. 1988) 763 P.2d 275 (The First Amendment does not bar a parishioner's claims for breach of fiduciary duty and negligent hiring and supervision grounded on a sexual relationship with church leader); Alberts v. Privette (N.C. 1998) 495 S.E.2d 395 (A claim of negligent retention and supervision against a church arising out of inappropriate sexual acts by minister is not barred by the First Amendment); Mrozka v. Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis (Minn. Ct. App. 1992) 482 N.W. 2d 806 (The First Amendment does not bar imposition of punitive damages against a church based upon priest's sexual abuse of a child); Konkle v. Henson (Ind. Ct. App. 1996) 672 N.E. 2d 450 (The First Amendment does not bar claims for negligent hiring and supervision against a church for sexual molestation); Byrd v. Faber (Oh. 1991) 565 N.E.2d 584 (Negligent hiring and supervision claims brought by a sexually abused child are not barred by the First Amendment); Kenneth R. v. Roman Catholic Defendants of Brooklyn (1997) 654 N.Y.S.2d 791 (A child's negligent supervision and retention claims against a diocese are not barred by the First Amendment); Bear Valley Church of Christ v. Dubose (Colo. 1996) 928 P.2d 1315 (The First Amendment does not bar a child's various tort claims against pastor and church for "pattern of inappropriate touching".); Bivin v. Wright (Ill. Ct. App. 1995) 656 N.E.2d 1121; F.G. v. MacDonell (N.J. 1997) 696 A.2d 697 (The First Amendment does not bar claim against church for negligent supervision of minister for inappropriate sexual contact); Martinez v. Primera Assemblea de Dios, Inc. (Tex. Ct. App. May 15, 1998) No. 05-96-01458, 1998 WL 242412 (The First Amendment does not bar parishioner's negligence claims against a church based upon allegations that church elder sexually assaulted her); C.J.C. v. Corporation of the Catholic Bishop of Yakima (Wash. 1999) 985 P.2d 262 (The First Amendment does not bar minor sexual abuse victim from bringing tort claims against a priest and church.); Doe v. Hartz (N.D. Iowa 1997) 970 F. Supp. 1375 (The First Amendment did not bar negligent supervision claim against church brought by adult for improper sexual contact by priest.).

Plaintiffs' claims are consistent with those permitted by the above referenced decisions, which consistently found no burdening of First Amendment freedoms, despite the defendants' religious nature. And referencing the fact that the Watchtower Defendants held their agent-pedophiles out as "members in good standing" does not require this Court to tread on religious doctrine.

REFERENCES TO THE WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' CONSPIRATORIAL CONDUCT WAS PROPERLY PLED AND NOT PROPERLY SUBJECT TO A MOTION TO STRIKE

While conspiracy may not a separate cause of action, it is a legal doctrine that imposes liability on persons who, although not actually committing a tort themselves, share with tortfeasors a common plan or design in its perpetration. Applied Equipment Corp., v.

Litton Saudi Arabia Ltd., (1994) 7 Cal.4th 503, 510-511. A complaint for civil conspiracy states a cause of action when it alleges the commission of a civil wrong that causes damage. Okun v. Superior Court (1981) 29 Cal.3d 442, 454.

Plaintiffs pled facts of the defendants' collective conspiracy. Plaintiffs are unable to indicate which specific individuals engaged in the conspiracy as discovery has yet to occur. Nevertheless, the corporate defendants act through their respective figureheads binding the corporate entities and for pleading purposes, sufficient facts have been pled regarding the conspiracy to overcome this motion to strike and Defendants' demurrer already on file with this Court.

Defendants reference the "agency immunity" rule as an alleged bar to the conspiracy element of Plaintiffs' complaints and argued that unless the parties are pled as separate entities, the conspiracy cause of action cannot survive. Plaintiffs pled each Watchtower Defendant as a separate legal entity. Each entity works together as a single business enterprise, but they are still separate legal entities.

Corporations act through their agents. The conduct of an individual vested with authority by the corporation is binding on the corporation. Here, it is has been alleged and pled that the corporations acted in concert with one another, by and through their agents, to conceal and suppress the nefarious conduct of childhood sexual abuse within their organization in attempt to avoid liability for the corporations collectively.

Conspiracy is a simple theory creating a basis of liability for the conspirators. Contrary to Watchtower Defendants' assertions, facts have been properly pled and are not subject to a motion to strike.

III

PLAINTIFFS PROPERLY PLED NEGLIGENT APPOINTMENT, RETENTION AND SUPERVISION

Watchtower Defendants would have this Court believe that a claim for negligent appointment, retention and supervision cannot be pled against their corporate entities for sexual abuse of children committed by their own representatives. However, the case law nationwide holds just the opposite and supports this cause of action.

Plaintiffs alleged the Watchtower Defendants had actual prior notice that their agents repeatedly used appointed positions to sexually abuse children under the Organizations' care. The Watchtower Defendants engaged in intentional conduct to not only conceal this information from Plaintiffs and others, but also to coerce the silence of victims. The Watchtower Defendants further aided and abetted the abuse through an intentional policy of preventing the reporting of child abuse. The Watchtower Defendants engaged in this intentional tortious conspiracy in violation of civil law not for any religious reason, but to protect themselves from liability for their tortious conduct in appointing and protecting known pedophiles.

Numerous courts in various jurisdictions have found no First Amendment bar to claims for negligent supervision and retention of known child abusers. By way of example, Plaintiffs refers this Court to many of the cases cited above and to the following cases: Kenneth R. v. Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn (N.Y. App. Div. 1997) 229 A.D.2d 159, 654 N.Y.S.2d 791 (A church can be held liable for the negligent hiring, retention and supervision of a priest for sexual abuse of children.); Moses v. Diocese of Colo (Colo 1993) 863 P.2d 310 (en banc), cert. denied, (1994) 511 U.S. 1137; Bear Valley Church of Christ v. DuBose (Colo. 1996) 928 P.2d 1315 (Free exercise clause of First Amendment did not protect church from liability for negligent supervision and discipline and minister who sexually abused child in the church.); Doe v. Dorsey (Fla.Dist.Ct.App.1996) 683 So.2d 614 ("Just as the state may prevent a church from offering human sacrifices, it may protect its children against injuries caused by pedophiles by authorizing civil damages against a church that knowingly (including should know) creates a situation in which such injuries are likely to occur."); Konkle v. Henson (Ind.Ct.App.1996) 672 N.E.2d 450 (First Amendment did not bar action against church and church associations for negligent hiring and retention of minister who sexually abused child.); Erickson v. Christenson (1989) 99 Or. App. 104, 977 P.2d 1157. This cause of action should survive this motion to strike.

Other cases similarly do not support a bar to Plaintiff's claims. In fact, both Doe v. Hartz (N.D. Iowa) 970 F.Supp 1375, and Isely v. Capuchin Province (E.D. Mich 1995) 580 F.Supp. 1138, 1151, expressly deny the First Amendment constitutes a bar to a negligent supervision and retention claim against a religious entity, especially at the pleading stage. (Isely dismissed these claims, not as barred by the First Amendment, but because the Wisconsin Supreme Court has never recognized a tort for negligent supervision in any context.)

IV

PLAINTIFFS PROPERLY PLED THE WATCHTOWER DEFENDANTS' FAILURE TO REPORT CLAIMS OF SEXUAL ABUSE TO LAW ENFORCEMENT

The essence of Defendants' motion to strike their failure to report incidents of childhood sexual abuse to law enforcement is premised on their claim that they were not required by law to report childhood sexual abuse by their own appointed agents. The only case where it is alleged that Watchtower Defendants were required to report consistent with Penal Code § 11164, et. seq., is Daniel West, et. al., on behalf of Shane Pence.

The remaining cases allege Watchtower Defendants' failure to report incidents of childhood sexual abuse to law enforcement as a basis of their negligent conduct. This organization could have actively proceeded to protect the children entrusted to their care, but chose not to act in the best of the children. Instead, they chose to protect pedophiles. Plaintiffs contend the Organization's failures to protect victims of sexual abuse by, including but not limited to, failing to notify law enforcement is negligent conduct. Plaintiffs contend that a reasonably prudent organization, like the Watchtower Defendants, should have notified Plaintiffs, Plaintiffs' families, and law enforcement that pedophiles were sexually abusing children within their Organization. Accordingly, these allegations are properly pled and not subject to a motion to strike.

Date: April 8, 2005
Time: 9:30 am

Trial Date: None

COMES NOW Plaintiffs, CHARISSA W., NICOLE D., TABITHA H., DANIEL WEST, SHANE PENCE, AMBER WEST, JULIANNE WIMBERLEY GUITERREZ, JOSHUA

WIMBERLEY, TIM W., KEN L., DANIELLE A., and FRED F., by and through their attorneys of records, Rudy Nolen, Esq., and William Brelsford., of NOLEN SAUL BRELSFORD, Gregory Love, Esq., of LOVE & NORRIS, and Hartley Hampton, Esq., and Kenneth Fibich, Esq., of FIBICH, HAMPTON, LEEBRON & GARTH, LLP, and oppose the Watchtower Defendants demurrers.[1]

I.

INTRODUCTION

Lawsuits have been filed throughout the United States by numerous plaintiffs against Watchtower Defendants based on sexual abuse by appointed agents of Defendants' organization. The coordinated cases before this Court based on similar allegations are:

Charissa W. and Nicole D., Napa County, Case # 26-22191

Tabitha H., Napa County, Case # 26-23929

Daniel West, Shane Pence, and Amber West*, Yolo County, Case # CV03-1439*

Julianne Wimberley Guiterrez and Joshua Wimberley*, Tehema County, Case # 52598*

Tim W., Tehema County, Case # 52594

Ken L., Placer County, Case # SCV 16600

Danielle A., Sonoma County, Case # 234140

Fred F., Sonoma County, Case # 234168

This Court has earlier issued two written opinions responding to the Watchtower Defendants' two demurrers in the Charissa W. and Nicole D. matter. (See Exhibits 1 and 2 attached to the Declaration of William Brelsford, Esq.) Judge Warriner of the Yolo County Superior Court issued a ruling to an identical demurrer, which followed the lead of this Court. (See Exhibit 3 attached to the Declaration of William Brelsford, Esq.) Defendants filed demurrers in the above referenced cases, but no rulings were made

---

[1]Plaintiffs' counsel recently learned that in February 2005, Javier C., was shot and killed outside of his residence. His case will likely be dismissed in the near future. Plaintiffs' counsel has also filed motions to withdraw on behalf of Danielle A. and Fred F.

because of the Coordination process. Now, the Watchtower Defendants assert in their present demurrer that the legal theories asserted by Plaintiffs are without merit and should be dismissed.

In Charissa W., et. al.,the Watchtower Defendants were ordered by this Court to answer Plaintiffs' Second Amended Complaint, which contained the following causes of action:

1) Common Law Negligence;

2) Negligent Appointment, Retention and Supervision;

3) Gross Negligence - Willful Misconduct;

4) Breach of Fiduciary Duty;

5) Fraud, Fraudulent Concealment and Conspiracy.[2]

In Charissa W., Plaintiffs did not assert causes of action against an individual perpetrator because the perpetrator was deceased.

The Tabitha H. case is against the identical defendants as Charissa W., et. al., because Tabitha H. was abused by the same perpetrator, in the same Napa congregation. The causes of action pled were:

1) Common Law Negligence;

2) Negligent Appointment, Retention and Supervision;

3) Gross Negligence - Willful Misconduct;

4) Breach of Fiduciary Duty;

5) Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress;

6) Fraud - Intentional Misrepresentation;

7) Fraud - Concealment;

8) Conspiracy.

With the following exceptions, the causes of action in these two cases are identical: the addition of a cause of action for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress and causes

---

[2]A copy of all of the pleadings in this coordinated matter are on file with this Court. In the interest of brevity, Plaintiffs' incorporate by reference the complaints and the oppositions to Watchtower Defendants' demurrers filed in all of the individual cases.

of action six, seven and eight were separately pled in Tabitha H., whereas these same theories are combined in a single cause of action, number five, in Charissa W., et. al.

The causes of action pled in the remaining cases are:

	D.West	Gutierrez	Tim W.	Ken L.	Danielle A	Fred F.
Sexual Battery	X[3]	X	X	X	X	X
Common Law Negligence	X	X	X	X	X	X
Negligent Appt., Retention & Supervision	X	X	X	X	X	X
Gross Negligence-Willful Misconduct	X	X	X	X	X	X
Breach of Fiduciary Duty	X	X	X	X	X	X
Negligence Per Se & Common Law Negligence Failure to Report Suspected Child Abuse	X[4]
Fraud-Intentional Misrepresentation	X	X	X	X	X	X
Fraud-Concealment	X	X	X	X	X	X
Conspiracy	X	X	X	X	X	X
Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress		X	X	X	X	X

In Daniel West, et. al., Plaintiffs intend to amend their complaint to add a cause of action for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress and concede Sexual Battery is no longer viable following the dismissal of Defendant Timothy Silva. In Charissa W., et. al., Plaintiffs intend to amend their complaint to add a cause of action for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress.

II

ARGUMENT

Plaintiffs will not reiterate the same legal arguments and case law already provided to this Court when it ruled on the Watchtower Defendants' two earlier demurrers on file with this Court in the Charissa W., et. al., matter. Instead, Plaintiffs incorporate the case

---

[3]This cause of action was pled against Defendant Timothy Silva only, who was recently dismissed after having filed for bankruptcy. Accordingly, this cause of action may be dismissed.

[4]This cause of action was pled on behalf of Plaintiff Shane Pence only.

law and legal arguments and request the Court take Judicial Notice of those pleadings pursuant to Cal. Evid. § 452. With that in mind, Plaintiffs will respond briefly to arguments raised by the Watchtower Defendants in their instant demurrer.

A. Sexual Battery Cause of Action:

Plaintiffs' sexual battery cause of action in Julianne Wimberley Guiterrez,et. al., Tim W., Ken L., Danielle A., and Fred F., cases are asserted only against the individual perpetrator-defendants. Accordingly, the Watchtower Defendants' argument that the causes of action are subject to demur is without merit and should be overruled.

B. Conspiracy Cause of Action:

While conspiracy is not a separate cause of action, it is a legal theory that imposes liability on persons who, although not actually committing a tort themselves, share with tortfeasors a common plan or design in its perpetration. Applied Equipment Corp., v. Litton Saudi Arabia Ltd., (1994) 7 Cal.4th 503, 510-511. A complaint for civil conspiracy states a cause of action when it alleges the commission of a civil wrong that causes damage. Okun v. Superior Court (1981) 29 Cal.3d 442, 454. Plaintiffs have pled Conspiracy as a separate cause of action, but contend it creates a form of liability for the Watchtower Defendants collectively, premised on their systemic practice of suppressing incidences of childhood sexual abuse suffered by children, including Plaintiffs, in their Organization by their Organization's appointed agents.

C. Fraud Causes of Action:

Plaintiffs have asserted two fraud-based causes of action, one premised on intentional misrepresentation and the other based on concealment.

1. Intentional Misrepresentation: As pointed out by the Watchtower Defendants, the Civil Code defines deceit in one of four ways. The pertinent language is as follows: "The suppression of a fact, by one who is bound to disclose it, or who gives information of other facts which are likely to mislead for want of communication of that fact (concealment or suppression of fact]." Civ. Code § 1710(3).

2. Concealment: There are four circumstances in which non-disclosure of or concealment constitutes actionable fraud: (1) when the defendant is a fiduciary relationship with the plaintiff; (2) when the defendant had exclusive knowledge of materials facts not known to the plaintiff; (3) when the defendant actively conceals a material fact from the plaintiff; and (4) when the defendant makes partial representations but also suppresses some material facts. LiMandri v. Judkins (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 326-336-337

In all cases, Plaintiffs have pled sufficient facts under both fraud-based theories. For example, in Wimberley, et. al., Plaintiffs pled that specific agents and representatives of the Watchtower Defendants' organizations used positions of authority to sexually abuse minors, including Plaintiffs, and that the Watchtower Defendants were notified of and aware of this abuse, but failed to take any reasonable steps to prevent Plaintiffs from being sexually abused. (Wimberley Complaint at ¶ 14.) It was further pled that the Governing Body, composed of a group of men, are situated at the top of a chain of command of this hierarchical organization and provide authority for the conduct and activity of all members of the organization. (Id. at ¶ 16.) Further, Plaintiffs stated that the leaders of the Watchtower Organization were aware of the wide-reaching problem of sexual abuse within its organization, but failed to implement any measure to protect the children entrusted to its care from acts of sexual abuse and further suppressed information to cover-up these acts of child molestation and hid them from law enforcement to protect the Organization. (Id. at ¶ 20.) This same Organization maintained "secret archival files" regarding the acts of sexual abuse committed by its own leaders and agents, yet never disclosed this information it complied to law enforcement, Plaintiffs, or Plaintiffs' families, so that Plaintiffs, their families, and law enforcement could take steps to protect Plaintiffs from abuse. (Id.) The Organization as a whole, including all of its leaders from Governing Body members, to Presiding Overseers and Elders in the specifically named congregational defendants had notice that the perpetrators were pedophiles, but suppressed such information from Plaintiffs, despite having an affirmative duty(recognized by this Court in its March 30, 2004 Order to Watchtower Defendants' Second Demurrer) to protect children, including Plaintiffs from sexual abuse at the hands of its appointed agents. Fraud based on intentional misrepresentation and concealment has been sufficiently pled.

D. Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress Cause of Action:

This Court has not had an opportunity to render a decision on this cause of action in previous Orders to Defendants' demurrers. This cause of action has been found viable by other Courts in cases of childhood sexual abuse against organizations like the Watchtower Defendants. The elements of Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress have been properly pled. Plaintiffs allege that the Watchtower Defendants engaged in conduct to prevent Plaintiffs, and others, from reporting conduct of known pedophiles to law enforcement. Plaintiffs' families were not notified of the abuse. This conduct was "directed" at Plaintiffs because they were prevented from seeking help for the abuse they suffered and preventing further acts of abuse. Plaintiffs properly pled that Watchtower Defendants knew of the individual perpetrators' acts of sexually abusing children, including Plaintiffs, but failed to take action to stop further abuse.

Courts have recognized the viability of a claim for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress premised on sexual abuse suffered by a child from within an organization similar to the Watchtower Defendants. For example, see: H.R.B. v. J.L.G. (Mo. 1995) 913, S.W.2d 92, 98-99 (holding causes of action such as Intentional Infliction of Emotional for childhood sexual abuse is available to a plaintiff); Erickson v. Christianson (Or. 1989) 99 Or.App. 104, 108 (holding such a claim viable because the plaintiff alleged existence of a confidential relationship, proof of the allegations of forced sexual encounters would permit a jury to infer that the perpetrators actions exceeded the limits of social toleration, that they were done with the knowledge that they would cause plaintiff grave distress and that they in fact caused plaintiff severe emotional distress).

E. Common Law Negligence, Gross Negligence - Willful Misconduct and Breach of Fiduciary Duty Causes of Action:

This Court has already ruled that these causes of action are properly pled and ordered the Watchtower Defendants to answer these causes of action in Charissa W., et.

al. The Watchtower Defendants previously argued these causes of action were barred by the First Amendment, and this Court rejected their argument. Then, the Watchtower Defendants argued that they did not owe a duty to protect Plaintiffs from the sexual abuse they endured within the organizational setting and that no special relationship existed between Plaintiff and the Watchtower Defendants, which this Court also rejected. Now, the Watchtower Defendants assert that these negligence-based causes of action are "conclusory" pled (see Demurrer at Page 10, line 7-18) and that Plaintiffs failed to plead facts supporting the imposition of a duty by the Watchtower to protect children, including Plaintiffs, within its organization from sexual abuse (see Demurrer at page 10, line 15 - page 13, line 15). Again, this Court concluded in its Order dated March 30, 2004 (Exhibit 2) that Defendants owed a duty to Plaintiffs to protect them from childhood sexual abuse from appointed agents within its organization.

Plaintiffs have properly pled these causes of action in all of these cases, thereby justifying this Court to follow its previous Order overruling the Watchtower Defendants' demurrer on these grounds.

F. Negligence Per Se and Common Law Negligence: Failure to Report Suspected Child Abuse:

This cause of action has been asserted on behalf of Shane Pence, only, in the Daniel West, et. al., matter. As alleged in that complaint, Shane was abused by the perpetrator after January 1, 1997. As of January 1, 1997, Clergy members were added to the list of "mandatory reporters" pursuant to Penal Code § 11165.7(a)(32). Shane alleged that from approximately 1992 through 1997, he was sexually abused by Timothy Silva. (See West Amended Complaint at ¶¶ 26 and 57.) Shane also alleged that the Watchtower Defendants had actual and/or constructive knowledge as early as 1987 that Silva, who they appointed to a position of authority, was using his position of authority to sexual abuse children entrusted to their care. (See West Amended Complaint at ¶¶ 22 and 57.) The California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act, enumerated in California Penal Code § 11164, et. seq., became effective January 1, 1997, which mandated that members of the clergy report suspicions of abuse to law enforcement. Shane alleged that the Watchtower Defendants failed to report to law enforcement the abusive and illegal acts of their agent, Silva, both prior to and after Shane was abused. (See West Amended Complaint at ¶ 58.)

Shane was abused after Penal Code § 11164, et. seq., was enacted and Defendants failed to report this abuse to law enforcement, despite their mandatory obligation to do so. They failed to uphold their legal duty, which allowed Silva to continue abusing Shane.

"Civil actions lie in favor or crime victims. Violation os a criminal statute embodying a public policy is generally actionable even though no specific civil remedy is provided in the criminal statute." Angie M. v. Superior Court, (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1217, 1224.

III

CONCLUSION

For all of the reasons set forth herein above, set forth in the two Oppositions to the Watchtower Defendants' Demurrers in the Charissa W., et. al., matter on file with this Court and incorporated herein by this reference, and set forth in the rulings issued by this Court and by the Yolo County Superior Court (attached to the Declaration of William Brelsford, Esq., as Exhibits 1 - 3). Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court to overrule the Watchtower Defendants' instant Demurrer in its entirety.

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, vs. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., Defendants.	CASE NO: 26-22191 ORDER ON DEMURRER AND MOTION TO QUASH SERVICE OF SUMMONS Date: November 21, 2003 Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept: B

TO: ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

The Church Defendants Demur to each cause of action in Plaintiffs' amended complaint and Motion to Quash Service of Summons was regularly scheduled for hearing on November 21, 2003 in the Napa County Superior Court. None of the parties to the action requested a hearing and the tentative ruling was recorded as stated below.

1) CHURCH DEFENDANTS' DEMURRER TO AMENDED COMPLAINT
TENTATIVE RULING: The Church defendants demur to each cause of action in plaintiffs' amended complaint. The court will overrule the demurrers to causes of action 2 through 5 and 7 will sustain with leave to amend causes of action 1, 6, 8 and 9, and will sustain without leave to amend causes of action 10 through 12.

Tort Causes of action for Sexual Battery and Respondeat Superior (1st), Common Law Negligence (2nd), Negligent Appointment, Retention and Supervision (3rd), Gross Negligence/Wilful Misconduct (4th), Breach of Fiduciary Duty (5th), Fraud, Fraudulent Concealment and Conspiracy (7th), and Ratification (8th)

First Amendment

The defendants seek to characterize plaintiffs' action as one for clergy malpractice arising out of a counseling relationship, and as such contend that, under the First Amendment, this court may not interject itself into the inner workings of the church. They assert that the plaintiffs' claims are barred because they seek to impermissibly entangle the court in ecclesiastical affairs and in the interpretation of religious doctrine, practices and beliefs. Put plainly, this is simply not so.

Plaintiffs' complaint alleges, generally, that the plaintiffs and other minors were regularly sexually abused by church leaders, that the Church defendants were notified of the abuse, and that they failed to take steps to protect the children entrusted to their care and to take steps to prevent future acts of molestation. The complaint further alleges that "rather than implement measures to redress and prevent the sexual molestation of these children, the Watchtower defendants acted in a systematic pattern and practice of suppression of information to cover-up and hide incidents of child molestation from law enforcement and their membership in order to protect those within the [defendants'] organization who committed acts of sexual molestation against children." The complaint alleges that leaders who molested children were allowed to remain as leaders in good standing and were given continued access to children in the organization, and that the organization prohibited the victims and accusers from speaking to anyone about the alleged abuse under threat of suffering sever sanctions. The complaint also contains specific allegations about the abuse allegedly suffered by the two individual plaintiffs at the hands of a Church Elder and about the defendants' failure to take steps to protect the plaintiffs or to prevent future abuse, when it was in their power to do so.

Defendants cannot use the First Amendment to shield them from these allegations, and none of the cases cited by defendants say otherwise. As made clear from plaintiffs' thorough review of the relevant case law, this court may hear plaintiffs' claims without treading on the Constitution's free exercise clause. Accordingly, defendants' demurrer to plaintiffs' tort claims on the ground that they are barred by the First Amendment is OVERRULED.

Respondeat Superior (1st) and Ratification (8th)

As currently drafted the complaint fails to state facts to support claims against the church defendants on respondeat superior and ratification theories. (Mark K. v. Roman Catholic Archbishop (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 603, 609; Fretland v. County of Humboldt (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1478, 1490.) The demurrer to these claims is sustained with leave to amend.

Cause of action for Negligence Per Se and Common Law Negligence (6th) and for Negligent Usurpation of Investigatory Function (10th)

The demurrer to the 6th cause of action is sustained as to the allegations of negligence per se premised upon the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act, Penal Code § 11164, et seq. This statute did not apply to the clergy during the time period in question. Accordingly, it cannot support a negligence per se cause of action. The demurrer to the 6th cause of action is sustained with leave to amend to delete the allegations concerning Penal Code section 11164.

The 10th cause of action is premised entirely on Penal Code § 11164. Accordingly, the demurrer to that cause of action is sustained without leave to amend.

Cause of action for Alter Ego and Single Business Enterprise (9th)

"Alter ego" is not a separately cognizable cause of action, rather it is a contract law theory concerning business structures which allows a separate entity to be disregarded and another to be held responsible for the disregarded entities liabilities. Plaintiffs may amend their complaint to state their alter ego allegations generally, but not as a separate cause of action.

Violation of Penal Code sections 182 and 32 (11th and 12th causes of action)

Plaintiffs have presented no authority that allows them to state a private cause of action for asserted Penal Code violations. The demurrers to these causes of action are sustained without leave to amend.

Plaintiffs shall have 20 days to amend their complaint as specified herein. Defendants shall have 20 days thereafter to respond.

2) WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, INC.'S MOTION TO QUASH SERVICE OF SUMMONS TENTATIVE RULING: Plaintiffs request for leave to conduct discovery is granted. Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period. This motion shall be continued to January 21, 2004 at 8:30 in Dept. B.

IT IS ORDERED as follows:

The Court overrules the Defendants' demurrers to causes of action 2 through 5 and 7 will sustain with leave to amend causes of action 1, 6, 8 and 9, and will sustain without leave to amend causes of action 10 through 12. Plaintiffs shall have 20 days to amend their complaint as specified herein. Defendants shall have 20 days thereafter to respond.

The Court grants Plaintiffs' request for leave to conduct discovery. Plaintiffs are permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period. The motion is continued to January 21, 2004 at 8:30 in Dept. B.

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, vs. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., Defendants.	CASE NO: 26-22191 ORDER ON DEFENDANT'S DEMURRER TO PLAINTIFF'S SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT Date: February 19, 2004 Time: 8:30 a.m. Dept: B

TO: ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

The Church Defendants demur to each cause of action in Plaintiffs' second amended complaint was regularly scheduled for hearing on February 19, 2004 at 8:30 a.m. in Department B of the Napa County Superior Court. None of the parties to the action requested a hearing regarding Defendants' demurrer and the tentative ruling was recorded as stated below.

TENTATIVE RULING: The demurrer is OVERRULED.

Plaintiffs' amended complaint contains causes of action for negligence, negligent appointment, retention and supervision, gross negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, and fraud. Defendants demur to the amended complaint on the ground that plaintiffs have failed to state facts to show that the defendants owed plaintiffs a legal duty of care to support each cause of action. A review of the complaint reveals that plaintiffs have stated facts that, if true, would impose a duty running from defendants to plaintiffs under ordinary negligence principles and under plaintiff's breach of fiduciary duty allegations.

As did the earlier complaint, the Plaintiffs' amended complaint alleges generally that the plaintiffs and other minors were regularly sexually abused by church leaders, that the Church defendants were notified of the abuse, and that they failed to take steps to protect the children entrusted to their care and to take steps to prevent future acts of molestation. The complaint further alleges that "rather than implement measures to redress and prevent the sexual molestation of these children, the Watchtower defendants acted in a systematic pattern and practice of suppression of information to cover-up and hide incidents of child molestation from law enforcement and their membership in order to protect those within the [defendants'] organization who committed acts of sexual molestation against children." The complaint alleges that leaders who molested children were allowed to remain as leaders in good standing and were given continued access to children in the organization, and that the organization prohibited the victims and accusers from speaking to anyone about the alleged abuse under threat of suffering severe sanctions. The complaint also contains specific allegations about the abuse allegedly suffered by the two individual plaintiffs at the hands of Edward Villegas, a Church Elder, and about the defendants' failure to provide the plaintiffs and their families with notice or warning regarding the past abuse inflicted by Villegas or take steps to protect the plaintiffs or to prevent future abuse, when it was in their power to do so. The amended complaint alleges that the Church defendants used the daycare center run out of the Villegas' home to attract new converts, that plaintiffs' families became new converts and placed their trust and confidence in Villegas and the church, and that Villegas used his position as a Church Elder to gain access to the plaintiffs and to sexually abuse them.

Defendants seek to go outside the complaint's allegations to assert that the day care center where the plaintiffs were allegedly molested was an in-home day care center that was not church-affiliated. The complaint's allegations assert otherwise, and must be accepted as true for purposes of ruling on a demurrer.

Under the reasoning expressed in Juarez v. Boy Scouts of America (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 377 and other cases cited by plaintiffs, this court concludes that the amended complaint states facts to support all of the asserted causes of action, including the required element of duty. Analyzing the allegations using the factors set down in Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal.2d 108 and considering the existence of duty imposed by a special relationship, as discussed in Richelle L. v. Roman Catholic Archbishop (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 257, the complaint withstands demurrer.

Defendants shall answer within 20 days.

IT IS ORDERED as follows:

The Court will overrule defendants' demurrer. Defendants shall answer within 20 days.

The Church Defendants' Motion to Quash Service of Summons and Complaint also was heard on February 19, 2004 at 8:30 a.m. in Department B of the Napa County Superior Court. The Court having issued its Tentative Ruling on Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania's Motion to Quash Service of Summons as to Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ruled on February 18, 2004 as follows:

TENTATIVE RULING: The motion to quash service of summons for lack of personal jurisdiction is GRANTED. On November 21, 2003, this court continued this motion to allow plaintiffs to conduct discovery into Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts with California. Plaintiffs, who have the burden of proof, have submitted no supplemental evidence to support their opposition to defendant's motion. The defendant has submitted supplemental evidence and points and authorities in support of the motion. The court concludes from all of the evidence presented that moving defendant does not have the requisite substantial, continuous and systematic contacts with California to subject it to this State's general jurisdiction. There is also no basis for asserting personal jurisdiction over moving defendant, as none of the defendant's few contacts with this forum are related to the controversy in question. Finally, plaintiffs have provided no evidence to show that this defendant is the alter ego or that principal of other named defendants.

Counsel for Plaintiffs CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D. requested oral argument regarding the Court's ruling on defendant's Motion to Quash. Appearing for Plaintiffs CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D. was William Brelsford, Esq., of NOLEN SAUL BRELSFORD. Appearing for Defendants was Robert Schnack, Esq., of BULLIVANT HOUSER BAILEY, PC.

After oral argument by the parties, the Court having reviewed all pleadings on file with the Court regarding this motion, the Court ruled as follows:

IT IS ORDERED that the Motion to Quash Service of Summons for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction asserted by Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania is continued until April 14, 2004 at 8:30 a.m. in Department B to allow Plaintiffs additional time conduct discovery on the minimum contacts, if any, Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has with California.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Daniel West, et al., Plaintiffs, vs. Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., et al., Defendants	Case No.: No. CV 03-1439 ORDER AFTER HEARING Date: December 4, 2003 Time: 8:30 Dept: 11

The motion to quash of defendants Kingdom Support Services, Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses and Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the demurrer of defendants Watchtower Bible Tract Society of New York, Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Kingdom Support Services, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses, Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and Quincy Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were heard at the above-noted place and time. Rudy Nolen and William L. Brelsford, Jr., Attorneys at Law, appeared for the plaintiffs. Robert J. Schnack, Attorney at Law, appeared for the defendants.

Having considered all matters submitted in the pleadings and on oral argument, all admissible evidence, the file in this case and the applicable law, the court now rules as follows:

1. The motion of defendants Kingdom Support Services and Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses to quash service of the summons and complaint is GRANTED;

2. The motion of defendant Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania to quash service of the summons and complaint is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. The plaintiffs are authorized to conduct limited written discovery regarding the entity's contacts with California. The plaintiffs are not authorized to depose Richard E. Abrahamson;

3. The demurrer to the first cause of action for respondeat superior is SUSTAINED without leave to amend. The complaint does not allege that defendant Silva was acting within the scope of his employment when he abused the plaintiffs. (Mark K. v. Roman Catholic Archbishop of Los Angeles (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 603, 609.) The plaintiffs argue that a respondeat superior theory is available to them because the entity defendants ratified Silva's acts. However, as discussed below, the plaintiffs have not properly pleaded ratification or shown a reasonable possibility of amending to cure the defect. The cause of action for sexual battery remains pending as to defendant Silva;

4. The demurrer to the second cause of action for negligence, third cause of action for negligent appointment, retention and supervision, fourth cause of action for gross negligence with willful misconduct, fifth cause of action for breach of fiduciary duty and seventh cause of action for fraud, fraudulent concealment and conspiracy is OVERRULED. Although the complaint does contain some allegations about the practices of the Jehovah's Witness church (see e.g. Paragraph 25), the plaintiffs do not allege that they were vulnerable to Silva because of their religious piety. Such an allegation would bar their complaint under the First Amendment and the opinion in Richelle L. v. Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 257. It is clear from the complaint that the plaintiffs were vulnerable to Silva because of their youth;

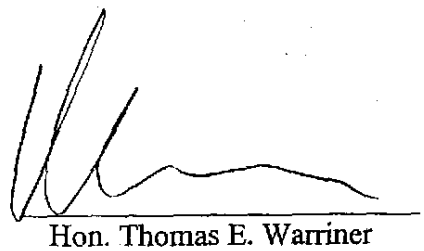
5. The demurrer to the sixth cause of action for negligence per se and common law negligence for failure to report is SUSTAINED with leave to amend. The plaintiffs may amend the complaint to either (1) clearly allege that the defendants acquired knowledge or a reasonable suspicion of child abuse after January 1, 1997; or (2) delete the allegations concerning Penal Code §11164;

6. The demurrer to the eighth cause of action for ratification is SUSTAINED without leave to amend. "Ratification is the voluntary election by a person to adopt in some manner as his own an act which was purportedly done on his behalf by another person, the effect of which, as to some or all persons, is to treat the act as if originally authorized by him. A purported agent's act may be adopted expressly or it may be adopted by implication based on conduct of the purported principal from which an intention to consent to or adopt the act may be fairly inferred, including conduct which is 'inconsistent with any reasonable intention on his part, other than that he intended approving and adopting it." (Fretland v. City of Humboldt (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1478, 1490-1491.) The plaintiffs have not shown, and have not shown a reasonable possibility of alleging, that Silva acted "on behalf of" the entity defendants when he molested the plaintiffs;



7. The demurrer to the ninth cause of action for alter ego and single business enterprise is SUSTAINED without leave to amend. The plaintiffs have conceded that this is not a separate cause of action;

8. The demurrer to the tenth cause of action for negligent usurpation of investigatory function is SUSTAINED without leave to amend. The plaintiffs have not cited any authority supporting this cause of action;

9. The demurrer to the eleventh and twelfth causes of action for violations of the Penal Code is SUSTAINED with leave to amend. The cited code sections do not create private rights of action. However, there is a reasonable possibility that the plaintiffs could amend to allege negligence per se based on violations of the Penal Code sections.

Dear Bob:

As you know, we had a number of disagreements about the scope of the PMK deposition and the documents that were produced in response to the notice and prior discovery. Notwithstanding our disagreements, we went forward with the deposition of Alex Reinmueller in August of 2004. After taking the opportunity to re-read Mr. Reinmueller's testimony and the case law regarding general and specific jurisdiction in California, it is necessary that we address many of our prior disagreements as well as a few new ones. Please consider this letter my framework for a "meet and confer" discussion.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

Of course, Plaintiffs' expectation of examining the PMK regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's structure and its interrelationship with the Governing Body and the other Watchtower Defendants was primary (See Deposition Notice "Subject Matter Nos. 1-3"). Several objections were made in Defendants' Objection to the Fourth Amended Notice; these objections seem to be based on your assertion of The Serbian Objection or that the subject matter was outside the relevant scope regarding jurisdiction. For example, you made objections suggesting that questioning Mr. Reinmueller regarding to reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization was inappropriate inquiry into "ecclesiastical structure". I need to challenge that position and request further testimony; I expect that you cannot agree to that. Additionally, Mr. Reinmueller testified that he is NOT the person with the most knowledge about the Watchtower Society's organizational structure (notwithstanding the notice); see Page 49 Lines 49+.

WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S CONTACTS IN CALIFORNIA

It is Plaintiffs' position that Watch Tower Pennyslvania exercised continuous and systematic business contacts in California from 1970 (and earlier) to the present by involvement in real estate, insurance and other transactions. You have produced some documentation in response to Plaintiffs' discovery requests and the documents sought in the PMK Deposition

Notice. Several documents and categories of documents have not been produced. I have put together a list below and the deposition references within Mr. Reinmueller's testimony.

1. BRANCH OFFICE PROCEDURE MANUAL (BOP)

This is document was acquired by Plaintiffs OUTSIDE of the production from the Watchtower Defendants. In fact, it was specifically requested (see Plaintiffs' Request for Production – West/West/Pence – Request No. 22). It was not produced but should have been. In fact, we would like every version of the Branch Office Procedure (BOP) Manual from 1970 to 2003. Mr. Reinmueller testified that the BOP Manuals should exist at Watch Tower Pennsylvania's offices [Reinmueller Depo Page 69 Line 19 through Page 71 Line 9].

2. WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S GENERAL FUND

Mr. Reinmueller testified about the fact that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is directly involved in the building of Assembly Halls through its "general fund" [Reinmueller Depo Page 81 Line 3 through Page 84 Line 7+]. He testified that Watch Tower Pennsylvania financed the construction of such an Assembly Hall in California which was completed in 2003. I think the documents related to that Assembly Hall and Watch Tower Pennsylvania's general fund should be provided so that Plaintiffs can evaluate this particular "contact" in California.

3. KINGDOM HALL LOANS

Some Documents regarding the Kingdom Hall Loans made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania in California have been produced. There is much, however, that has not been produced. Here is a brief description of documents and document categories that have not been produced that relate to loans made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to California Congregations:

a. List of CA congregations receiving loans

-Reinmueller reviewed "the number of loans in WTPA records made to CA"
-375 congregations appeared on that list since the 1980s
-there are records that would verify the amounts of the loans
-there are records that would show how much money has come in via those notes

b. Promissory Notes from CA loans

Page 119 Line 8 – Page 121 Line 7
-the Kingdom Hall loans would be documented by a promissory note
-the notes are kept in the treasurer's office
-those records go back to the mid-'80s

c. Deeds of Trust

-WTPA has copies of the Deeds of Trust
-in the same files as those that contain the documents regarding a loan

d. Loan Transaction Documentation

Page 170 Lines 16 – 23
-a complete file of a congregation's Kingdom Hall Loan transaction, would be on computer in the treasurer's office
-applications would be in the respective congregation's active loan file

e. Interest Income

-Reinmueller testifies that it is possible to determine the interest income earned from Kingdom Hall loans (at least from 1997 to the present)
-more can be estimated

f. Financial Statements

-Accounting Dept prepared Acct Reports/Financial Reports for all corporate entities including WTPA

g. Additional Corporate Resolutions

-gap in records produced – Bob Schnack to "inquire"

h. Statements to Congretations

-the records are kept on computer

i. Annual Branch Reports

Page 155 Line 5 +
-Annual Branch Report of Activities and Financial Status
-deals with Kingdom Hall loans as investments
-"assets on your balance sheet"

4. INSURANCE/KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT

Some Documents regarding the Watch Tower Pennsylvania's insurance purchases/administration and the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) in California have been produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. There is much, however, that has not been produced. Here is a brief description of document categories that have not been produced that relate to insurance and KHAA:

a. Insurance Policies

-WTPA purchased insurance policies and CA congregations participated -produced incomplete insurance policies not complete (need complete for all years)
-there are files that contain full policies for years from at least 1990 to present

b. Insurance Invoices

-congregations receive insurance invoices from WTPA

c. Elder Misconduct

-we need the Red Bluff database and claim file
-we need the files for all Elder Misconduct or abuse claims paid by KHAA in CA

d. KHAA Surplus/Deficit?

Page 374 Line 3 – Page 375 Line 20
-does KHAA operate at a surplus or a deficit?
-witness instructed not to answer

5. DONATIONS MADE TO WTPA BY CALIFORNIA

Some Documents regarding the donations made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania from people and/or entities in California have been produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. There is much, however, that has not been produced. Here is a brief description of document categories that have not been produced that relate to donations made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania from California:

a. Donations Instructions

-more documents that describe where and to whom to make donations

b. Donations from California

Page 203 Line 6 – Page 204 Line 14
-there have been many donations from CA
-someone could be tasked with job to determine the amount of donations from CA

c. Database of California Donations Information

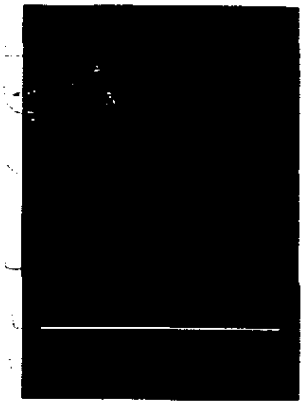
-database exists that has records of CA donations from 1997 to present
-there are financial statements that exist/were created that describe total donations
-no database that breaks out CA only – can do entire USA

Please give me a call when you have a chance so that we can discuss these and the other issues that I have raised. I would like come to agreement on as many matters as possible prior to our next hearing in Napa.



Very truly yours,

GREGORY S. LOVE

Re: West, et al., v. Watchtower, et al.

Dear Bob:

As you know, we have Richard Abrahamson's deposition set and hearings thereafter on Watch Tower PA's Motion to Quash; however, we still have not received complete written discovery responses from your clients. We want to first outline some of our concerns which we need you to address; if we cannot reach agreement, we need to get before the judge before the Abrahamson deposition and the issue of the Special Appearance is addressed by the Court.

I. INITIAL OBSERVATIONS

a) OBJECTIONS

We have reviewed all of the requests for information submitted by the Plaintiffs in this action (Interrogatories and Requests for Production) and have noticed there is an objection lodged to EVERY ONE of the requests ("Irrelevance" and others). To the extent there is an answer provided, it is always "subject to the above objections". To the extent you are withholding discovery based on these objections, it is necessary for us to challenge those objections. We certainly will disagree on whether most of the requests are relevant; it is our expectation that this information be produced, nonetheless.

With respect to the "vague and ambiguous" objections, it is hardly possible for us to be less vague and ambiguous when we are actually naming the document we would like produced (See Request Nos. 16, 17, 18 and 22). It is our impression that many of your objections are boilerplate which discourages us from addressing your objections one-by-one for each interrogatory and request for production. If you, in fact, are having trouble answering one or more of our informational requests based on vagueness or ambiguity, let's work these out by phone.

b. SERBIAN EASTERN ORTHODOX DIOCESE v. MILOVOJEVICH

With respect to your objection based on the holding of Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milovojevich, we think your reliance is misplaced. The Serbian Court held that the courts will not decide matters of church governance and the appointment/removal of religious leaders; BUT, the court also held that it is appropriate for the courts to evaluate church hierarchy and internal information. Likewise, we are asking the court to order the production of information that relates to a dispute about secular matters – the abuse of children.

If you are claiming this is a privilege, we need for you to prepare a privilege log with the documents and provide the log and the documents to the Court.

c. RELEVANT TIME PERIODS

Many of your discovery answers provide information that fails to cover the requested time period. For example, your responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2 provide the standard objections, and then go on to provide anemic responses describing Watch Tower PA's function/purpose since April of 2002. Special Interrogatory No. 2 requests "all the changes in your function/purpose within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization since 1970"; NO ANSWER IS PROVIDED. Giving the issues raised in determining general and specific jurisdiction, we need a complete response that covers the time period from 1970 to the present – not just April 2002 to the present. This is particularly necessary given the fact that three of your responses to Plaintiffs' Requests for Production simply say: "see Defendant's response to Special Interrogatory No. 1" (Responses to Request Nos. 5, 6 and 7).

Please review the Requests/Interrogatories so that answers covering the appropriate time periods is provided.

d. VERIFICATION

Mario Moreno appears to be the person who has verified that the answers provided in Watch Tower PA's Answers to Interrogatories are true and correct; if we need additional information or clarification with respect to Watch Tower PA's responses, do we need to depose Mr. Moreno? In what capacity is Mr. Moreno verifying Watch Tower PA's discovery responses? Is Mr. Moreno part of the Watch Tower PA legal department?

II. SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES

a. INTERROGATORIES 1 AND 2

In your Motion to Quash, you have challenged Plaintiffs' assertions that Watch Tower PA's presence in California is significant and justifies the Court's exercise of general jurisdiction. Plaintiffs are entitled to evaluate Watch Tower PA's business and functions to evaluate its impact in California. Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2 are specific and clear in attempting to gather the information that is needed to respond to Watch Tower PA's Motion to Quash. The Response(s), however, provide virtually no information about Watch Tower PA's function/purpose within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization from 1970 to the present.

Additionally, Plaintiffs need far more information about the KHAA and the Kingdom Hall Building Fund than what is provided; that information also needs to cover the time periods from 1970 to the present.

b. INTERROGATORY NOS. 4 AND 6

Interrogatory No. 4 requests a description of how Watch Tower PA is organized operationally; no information is provided. Plaintiffs understand from your response that you claim to have no subsidiary or parent corporations; however, Plaintiffs still need a thorough description of how Watch Tower PA is organized operationally – how it carries out the functions that should be and are described in your responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2. To the extent you believe Interrogatory No. 4 to have been vague, please consider the above as our attempt to make the informational request clear. Additionally, Plaintiffs need more in your response to Special Interrogatory No. 6 than the names of the corporate officers.

c. INTERROGATORY NOS. 7, 8, 9, 22, 23 AND 24

It is Plaintiffs' position that the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the Governing Body is very important. In anticipation of some of your objections, the Interrogatories were crafted in order to get a description of the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the Governing Body (corporate, organizational and theocratic). No response is given beyond the fact that some of the Governing Body members served as officers and directors of Watch Tower PA prior to October 2000 – this is not enough. We have obtained some of the Jehovah's Witnesses literature which describes corporate, legal, organizational and theocratic relationships between Watch Tower PA and the Governing Body. We expect your client to provide that and much more in response to these Special Interrogatories. We would very much like to take AND FINISH Richard Abrahamson's deposition regarding Watch Tower PA and its California contacts. Unless we get a more complete response to this and other informational requests, we will not be taking the deposition in the West et al v. Watchtower et al case; we can simply fight about adequate responses, get the additional information and then go and depose.

d. INTERROGATORY NOS. 10 THROUGH 21

It is also Plaintiffs' position that understanding the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Defendant corporations/entities (Watchtower NY, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, the Quincy Congregation and the Woodland Congregation) is important. Plaintiffs have attempted to encourage a thorough response by attaching documents that described relationship and being broad enough in language to avoid the word-games. Unfortunately, we got nothing other than objections and simple assertions that "there is no organizational relationship" and "no corporate relationship exists". Someone or some group is orchestrating the Jehovah's Witnesses organization and operations and we have tried to ask those questions with as much precision as possible. Please provide thorough answers.

With respect to the occasional reference to Watch Tower PA lending money to other entities, please thoroughly described what is loaned, how often, how much, under what arrangements, with what documents, who coordinates, what amounts and why. It is especially significant to Plaintiffs that Watch Tower PA is loaning money to the Woodland Congregation and both congregations send money to Watch Tower PA; Plaintiffs need much more information/documents about these transactions. Again, we will wait to take the deposition of Richard Abrahamson until we receive complete responses.

e. INTERROGATORY NOS. 25 THROUGH 34

In order to understand the operations of the Jehovah's Witnesses organization, Plaintiffs have directed specific and clear requests for information regarding Circuit Overseers and District Overseers. It is Plaintiffs' position that Watch Tower PA is intimately familiar with the appointment, removal, training and function of Circuit Overseers and District Overseers; simply stating that Watch Tower does not appoint or remove is insufficient. Watch Tower PA is in a position to provide responsive information and is simply choosing not do so.

f. INTERROGATORY NOS. 35 THROUGH 44 (EXCLUDING NO. 38)

The purpose of Interrogatory Nos. 35 through 44 (though all are different) is to understand the policies, procedures and practices of the Society to allegations of sexual abuse AND to understand the Watch Tower PA's involvement therein. It is very important to understand who authored the child abuse policies, who enforced them and how they are followed, if at all.

Your response to Special Interrogatory No. 35 describes one situation of a California sexual abuse report being brought to the attention of Watch Tower PA; Plaintiffs would like to know much more about this (you can redact the name of the abuser). It is Plaintiffs position that Watch Tower PA's involvement in a California child abuse report is very important for the purposes of general jurisdiction and specific jurisdiction. The fact that several of your responses say: "see response to Interrogatory No. 35" make it necessary for Plaintiffs to learn more about the incident described.

g. INTERROGATORIES 45 THROUGH 50

The purpose of Interrogatory Nos. 45 through 50 is to better understand the existence and use of the sexual abuser database referenced by J. R. Brown and others. In response to these interrogatories, you have provided no responses; instead you simply object and claim that Plaintiffs are not entitled to the information.

It is Plaintiffs' position that the existence of the database and its use by Watch Tower PA in an indication of their specific contacts with California in monitoring the sexual abuse allegations. This is important to Plaintiffs analysis of Watch Tower PA's contacts as it relates to both general and specific jurisdiction. If the database is operated by another Jehovah's Witnesses entity, please identify that entity and how the database is operated separate and apart from Watch Tower PA (if that is the case). Again, the receipt of this information is necessary for Plaintiffs in addressing the matters raised in Watch Tower PA's Motion to Quash. Let us know if we need to seek a hearing before taking the Abrahamson deposition in the West et al v. Watchtower et al case.

III. REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION

a. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1

In Watch Tower PA's Motion to Quash and its subsequent Replies, Watch Tower PA stresses the position that Watch Tower PA is a separate and distinct corporate entity that keeps its own books and records. Accordingly, Plaintiffs have requested those records in their first request. It is in these records that Plaintiffs expect to find a historical record of Watch Tower PA's business and transactions. It is also in these records that Plaintiffs expect to find additional documentation that will describe the relationship between Watch Tower PA and other Jehovah's Witnesses entities. For example, Plaintiffs have attached hereto a copy of the "Annual Meeting of Pennsylvania Corporation – October 7, 2000" which provides considerable information about the Governing Body, Watch Tower PA the relationship between the two as it relates to carrying out the operations of the Jehovah's Witnesses organization.

Plaintiffs' expect the production of other corporate documentation which is easily accessible to you and very valuable to Plaintiffs in understanding the Jehovah's Witnesses organization and how Watch Tower PA has operated within the organization from 1970 to the present. With respect to this case, Plaintiffs will need this documentation to do complete an examination of Richard Abrahamson.

b. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2

Plaintiffs have requested documents that describe your hierarchy and personnel from 1970 to the present. Notwithstanding your objections as to vagueness and relevance, it is hard to believe that there are "no responsive documents". You have provided no information regarding the departments, divisions or offices of Watch Tower PA, who is involved therein and to whom they report. We would prefer to not waste time with Richard Abrahamson and others trying to understand the people, positions and their reporting structure at those depositions; please provide the requested documentation.

c. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4

Plaintiffs are attempting to understand the relationship between Watch Tower PA and "other business and corporate entities"; more specifically, any person, organization, corporation or entity that is somehow related to the Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Please supplement with more than what has been provided in your responses to Request Nos. 1 through 3, and Special Interrogatories 1 through 24.

d. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5

Plaintiffs Request for Production No. 5 is neither irrelevant, vague or overbroad; Plaintiffs expect a full and complete production in response to Request No. 5. Plaintiffs have attempted in good faith to attach similar documents to assist you in gathering documents without result. The Jehovah's Witnesses organization (including Watch Tower PA) have published books, magazines and literature describing the relationship between Watch Tower PA and the Governing Body; in fact, Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most of these published works – please produce.

Watch Tower PA's reference to Watch Tower PA's response to Special Interrogatory No. 1 is inadequate (see above).

e. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NOS. 6 AND 7

Plaintiffs Request for Production Nos. 6 and 7 are neither irrelevant, vague or overbroad; Plaintiffs expect a full and complete production in response to Request Nos. 6 and 7. Again, Plaintiffs have attempted in good faith to attach similar documents to assist you in gathering documents without result. The Jehovah's Witnesses organization (including Watch Tower PA) have published books, magazines and literature describing the relationship between Watch Tower PA and other corporate entities (including Watchtower NY and the Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses); in fact, Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to most of these published works – please produce.

Watch Tower PA's reference to Watch Tower PA's response to Special Interrogatory No. 1 is inadequate (see above).

f. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NOS. 8 AND 9

Plaintiffs recognize that documents (memos and forms) were produced in response to Request Nos. 8 and 9; however, there are no documents produced that were actually used for the California congregations that are at issue in this case (Woodland Congregation and the Quincy Congregation) or any other California congregation. Plaintiff is entitled to all of the documentation that relates to Watch Tower PA's business in or with California; for the purpose of a general jurisdictional analysis, this entitlement is not limited to the Woodland Congregation and the Quincy Congregation. At present, Plaintiffs have received no documentation of actual transactions between Watch Tower PA and any California entity – please produce. Additionally Watch Tower PA has not yet provided the instructional materials/manuals for the congregations' use of the KHAA or the Kingdom Hall Financing Fund. Additionally, Watch Tower PA has not produced the insurance policy under which any of the California congregations are insured (especially the Woodland Congregation and the Quincy Congregations).

g. REQUEST NOS. 10 AND 12

In Request Nos. 10 and 12, Plaintiffs are seeking specific materials relating to child sexual abuse and its reporting. Watch Tower PA has provided no response other than objections to relevance, vagueness, over-breadth and unduly burdensome; Plaintiffs are certainly willing to help you with the vagueness, if the requests are unclear. Also, let us know if you really think Request Nos. 10 and 12 are irrelevant.

With respect to your objection based on Serbian, see above discussion.

h. REQUEST NOS. 11 AND 13

Plaintiffs' position with respect to Watch Tower PA's responses to Request Nos. 11 and 13 is similar to that of Request Nos. 10 and 12, except that it is hard for Plaintiffs to believe that there are no responsive documents. Pay Attention to Yourselves and All the Flock is a book to which Watch Tower PA holds the copyright and is specifically responsive to Request Nos. 11 and 13. It is Plaintiffs' position that there are several other documents that are responsive to these requests. It is frustrating to Plaintiffs that Watch Tower PA is only willing to produce those documents that Plaintiffs demonstrate themselves to already have possession; this needs to stop – please produce all responsive documents.

i. REQUEST NOS. 14 THROUGH 26

In Request Nos. 14 through 26, Plaintiffs have requested very specific categories of documents that are highly relevant in this case; in most of the requests, Plaintiffs have requested a specific publication by its title. Notwithstanding, Watch Tower PA has responded that the requests (among other things) are vague. Please again review the requests and produce the documents.

With respect to your objection based on Serbian, see above discussion.

j. REQUEST NOS. 27 AND 28

Plaintiffs have requested documentation that relates to criminal and civil litigation involving Watch Tower PA. With respect to Request No. 27 (criminal), please indicate whether there are responsive documents that are subject to the objections or whether there simply are no responsive documents.

With respect to Request No. 28 (civil), please provide the documentation regarding those suits. It is clear that Watch Tower PA has been involved in litigation and is willing to use that involvement offensively (use of Abrahamson deposition from the 2001 Florida car wreck case). Plaintiffs are willing at this point to accept a list of all civil litigation in which Watch Tower PA has been involved with a brief description of the case, understanding that Plaintiffs may request additional information thereafter.

k. REQUEST NO. 29 AND 30

In the event you are in possession, custody or control of any documents responsive to Request Nos. 29 or 30, and are withholding documentation based on your assertion of privileges or objections, please provide Plaintiffs with a privilege log of those documents.

l. REQUEST NOS. 31 AND 32

In the event you are in possession, custody or control of any documents responsive to Request Nos. 31 or 32, and are withholding documentation based on your assertion of privileges or objections, please provide Plaintiffs with a privilege log of those documents.

Please contact us after reviewing this letter. It is our understanding that the new deadline, per our earlier agreement, to file a motion to compel is June 4, 2004.

Very truly yours,

Annual Meeting of Pennsylvania Corporation
October 7, 2000

The Opening Prayer was offered by Br. Steve Lett (Governing Body member)

Chairman's Comments – Br. John Barr (Governing Body member). How grateful we should be to be meeting together. Only Jehovah's Witnesses believe that Jesus is already ruling as King. He has already thrown Satan out of the heavens. Soon he will move further to bring about the doing of God's will. With such firm conviction and such a firm faith in these momentous events unseen to human eyes, all of us do heartily endorse Paul's words of our day's text in 1 Thessalonians 1:5. What has been the result of Jehovah's people declaring the good news with holy spirit and power? Tens of thousands are responding. You will be thrilled to read the 2001 Yearbook. Because of a need for an extended session, the additional time normally taken for the election of officers at the Annual Meeting was done at a preliminary meeting with all of the corporation members. Membership as of October 2, 1999, was 317. Three new members were added on May 24 and another 25 were added on June 28. Eight members died or were removed. On October 7, 2000, there were 337 members of the corporation.

HAITI – Br. John Norman – (Branch Committee coordinator). Proverbs 18:10 "The name of Jehovah is a strong tower." When you think of Haiti, you probably think of a land dominated by voodoo. This is true. But this is not a serious problem. The brothers seem to deal with it and leave it alone when they come into the Truth. One witch doctor came into the Truth. He was involved in an accident. Usually people take on voodoo to protect themselves or to hurt others. He lost his leg in the accident. He wondered how this could happen, since he had taken on voodoo. He consulted Protestant churches and other organizations. Then he came into contact with Jehovah's Witnesses. He started to study and learned about time and unforeseen occurrences, and was baptized in August. Others see that their families come into the Truth and are doing well and they wonder why they themselves are not doing so well. So some start to study. A little sister was working with one of the missionaries in service. The missionary said to the householder, "The name of Jehovah is a strong tower." The little sister said spontaneously, "That is true. My family practices voodoo and sometimes I have trouble sleeping. So I pray to Jehovah and then I can sleep." She found that Scripture true.

Haiti went on the donation arrangement and the warehouse arrangement. There were some pessimists, like one brother who said, "Brooklyn won't be able to print literature fast enough." But it is all going well. All of the brothers in the Kingdom Hall now have their own Watchtower. They line up after the meeting from the literature counter to the back of the Kingdom Hall to get literature. Literature placements have quadrupled since that arrangement. Contributions have gone up. Brothers are contributing more and also people in the territory are contributing more. There are more Bible studies. In December before the arrangement they had 10-11,000 Bible studies for the 11,000 publishers. They had 18,000 Bible studies in April because of the many auxiliary pioneers. Now they average 16,000 Bible studies. In Haiti whenever the number of Bible studies goes up, a year later the number of publishers goes up. The Governing Body has seen fit to send missionaries to Haiti 2 or 3 weeks ago. It's a young couple who is assigned to the south of the country. 19 years ago Brother Norman went to Haiti. There was a family with a 12-year-old girl. The parents were preparing to move to the United States. Now this young girl is a Gilead graduate. Yes, it's this same sister who arrived as a missionary recently. Now she is teaching her husband Creole. The branch said they will have others teach him Creole, also. Brothers and sisters from Guadeloupe serve here as special pioneers. They don't need a language class so they are effective immediately. In a few weeks, other special pioneers from the Dominican Republic will arrive to serve in the sign-language field. They are just opening up that field. The first publisher was just baptized since starting that field a few months ago.

The branch in Haiti is expanding. Haiti is not a cosmopolitan country, and brothers from Denmark, Germany, Canada, the United States and England have come here to work on the branch. This permits the Haitian brothers and sisters to see the impact of the foreign brothers. Many brothers have come to serve where the need is greater from England, the United States and Canada. They are looking forward to the construction of Kingdom Halls. Society representatives said 50 Kingdom Halls need to be built in the next 5 years. They had 51,000 at the Memorial. There is a great potential. If we can build Kingdom Halls, the Haitians will fill them. Special arrangements were made during the embargo in Haiti when the brothers couldn't get to the ports. The literature for the branch then came from the Dominican Republic. They found out that doing it this way was better. They got their literature quicker. So they left it that way when the embargo ended.

KOREA – Br. Milton Hamilton – (Branch Committee coordinator). Korea has long been described as the most dangerous flashpoint in Northeast Asia, due to the frictions between North Korea and South Korea. In North Korea there are no witnesses. In South Korea there are 87,500 publishers. The landscape has taken on a more tranquil appearance lately, though. North and South Korea marched together in the Olympics under a single banner, and they are reconstructing the railroad between North and South Korea. There are 22 million people in North Korea. This is an untouched territory. Meanwhile South Korea continues to move forward. There is a wonderful spirit of full-time service. It is looked upon as a privilege. They averaged 40% in full-time service during the last service year. That means that 2 out of 5 were in the full-time service. There are 47 million people in South Korea. The territories are covered once a month on the average. There are numerous foreign congregations and groups. The activity in the sign-language field is exceptional. One circuit of 20 congregations has 800 publishers, including children who are not deaf but from infancy have learned sign language. This circuit has 800 Bible studies. Some special pioneers and Ministerial Training School graduates have proved to be a great help. At their District Convention they had something special. The drama was presented on video to the 1,308 in attendance. The video was made at the branch. They really enjoyed being able to see the facial expressions close up and to be able to see the scenes at night.

Regarding Bloodless Medicine, the Public Affairs Office was notified that on a certain day in August the Korean Broadcasting Company had arranged a 10-minute program on bloodless medicine. This would be shown first in Korea and then broadcast a few weeks later on Korean stations in New York, New Jersey and California. The Public Affairs Office notified cooperating doctors in Korea. This had a very positive effect. A sister contacted the Korean Broadcasting Company to order a copy of the video. They told her she must wait a week because of a backlog of orders. She asked who has been ordering it. They told her, "Many doctors."

Regarding the neutrality issue, over 1,400 brothers are incarcerated. They get a 3-year sentence. They are working with the Chairman's Office and the Public Affairs Office to do something for these brothers. The brothers in prison are doing very well spiritually. The prison officials give them trustworthy jobs. One young brother in Bro. Hamilton's congregation is in prison. He says, "Although the routine life was difficult, I was encouraged to be living with the brothers." He missed his first District Convention while he was in prison but heard about it and was encouraged greatly. His father also faced this issue 30 years ago. He visited his son and noticed positive differences in the treatment and accommodations since he was in prison. A sister hired a taxi to take her to another city to a correctional institution to encourage a brother in prison. The taxi driver began asking her very personal questions like, "Are you visiting your boyfriend?" "Did he hurt someone?" "What crime did he commit?" She answered that she was visiting a fellow believer who is much younger than she. He was not her boyfriend and had committed no crime. He is in prison for serving the Sovereign of the Universe. The driver recognized that she was one of Jehovah's Witnesses. He lived near a gymnasium where Jehovah's Witnesses held their conventions each year. He observed them for 10 years. He was impressed with how polite, quiet and orderly they are. He hoped his children would be that way. When they got to the prison, he refused to accept the fare and said he would wait if she did not stay too long. She was uneasy about his intentions and purposely stayed a long time. But he was still there when she came out. He insisted on taking her back to her city. He again refused to accept the fare. She contacted a local brother and gave him the taxi driver's name and phone number. Then she forgot about it. Three years later her phone rang. The caller said, "I was that taxi driver. I have been baptized for some time now. I have just been appointed a ministerial servant." How happy she was to have had a part! There are 201 at Bethel and 9 missionaries MEXICO – Br. obert Tracy – (Branch Committee Coordinator). There are 1300 at Bethel. Bethel is the center of activity and the Bethel family tries to apply 1 Peter 1:13. They are braced up for activity. Regarding their Kingdom Hall construction, their slogan is "More, better, and larger Kingdom Halls." In September, 19 Kingdom Halls were dedicated. They have a goal to build 240 more this year and they need over 2,000. In the State of Chiapas which is noted for poor people, many Kingdom Halls are being built. The administrators of a hospital admired the local Kingdom Hall construction. They had thought that their hospital was nice, but they thought that the Kingdom Hall was nicer. They gave the brothers a complete set of first-aid supplies and offered training courses to 3 brothers, which were readily accepted.

The Bethel 4 construction project is a complex of 14 buildings. They have been building since 1983 (17 years). In 1983 they had just 1 building. When the construction is completed, they will have 20 buildings. They are building a 2,700 seat Assembly Hall across the street from Bethel 4. No dedication date has been set but it could be the spring of 2002. They had 190 District Conventions. More and more they can rent halls. In July 1999 they contracted for a huge soccer stadium and had 109,000 in attendance. They find that direct and personal contact with government officials has been the key to success. They have prepared a 16-page brochure in Spanish, Jehovah's Witnesses in Mexico. A Bethel brother was able to present this brochure to the newly-elected President of Mexico. He showed real interest in the brochure and promised to read it. A lawyer who is a member of the Committee of Human Rights likes to read the magazines. He enjoys the photos and illustrations and that Jehovah's Witnesses always give answers based on the Bible. Mexico is the warehouse branch for 7 countries of Central America. Literature and magazine orders are shipped from Mexico to these countries. Mexico prints literature in Spanish and magazines in English and Spanish. A few weeks ago the Costa Rica branch ordered 500 of the 9/8/2000 Awake! on the Olympics. A sports federation wanted to distribute this magazine to all of their athletes.

There were 331,665 publishers in August. The zealous activity of young publishers is one reason for their increase. Renee was studying to be a lawyer in the university. He found himself in the auditorium when a priest came on the platform. Renee was ready to leave when he heard the priest ask if there were any Jehovah's Witnesses in the audience. He raised his hand and was invited to the platform. The priest asked him why he was a Jehovah's Witness. There were 400 students in attendance who were studying to be architects, engineers and lawyers. Renee gave a fine witness. He said he was one of 6 million persons who with dignity bear the name of the true God, Jehovah. He also explained that he was a third-generation Witness, but is a Jehovah's Witnesses by conviction, not because of tradition. The priest said, "I would like to have just one like him among my followers. I admire these persons for their strong faith and their use of the Bible. They have defended their faith at the cost of their lives in the Nazi concentration camps." There were over 1,655,000 at the Memorial.

SIERRA LEONE – Br. Billie Cowan (Branch Committee coordinator). This is a country of lush green mountains and valleys. For many years it was like this. In April 1991 civil war broke out. Many have been killed or maimed. The missionaries and Bethelites were relocated to Guinea in June 1997. Eight foreign Bethelites and 15 missionaries moved back a year later. In December 1998 during the District Convention right in the middle of the public talk they heard an explosion. Heavy artillery fire from the troops in the city had caused this. In June 1999 the branch chartered a small airplane to transport reports and people from Sierra Leone. Then in August 1999 they moved back to Freetown. James and Susan were taking care of a missionary home. They heard a shot through the door and a voice saying they would be killed if they didn't open up. They opened up the door. The rebel forces could not find the keys to the car. They held James' hand on a piece of plywood. Intending to chop off his hand. Every time they lowered the machete, James could jerk his hand out of the way. The machete marks in the wood are still there. James finally convinced them that he was not hiding his car keys. While the soldiers pillaged the missionary home, James and Susan and others got away. Several months later a peace agreement was signed.

An overall look at the war and the hardships reveals that the brothers' faith and endurance were put to the test and they came out victorious. Two young brothers reported their experience. Paul and Stephen were in rebel-held territory and were arrested and put in a line with 50 young men who were army conscripts. They were told to sing a war song. Paul and Stephen prayed. Upon their arrival at a training center, Paul was asked to serve as a secretary to record the names. He told the commander that he knew where to find strong men. In the meantime Stephen pretended not to know Paul. The commander told Paul that he could take an assistant and find them, so he told Stephen to follow them. Paul preached to the commander about what it means to be an enemy of Jehovah. They were let go. This past May Paul and Stephen fled. They decided to leave 14 others behind. They wanted to go to the branch to get help. The branch was 170 miles away, including a 50-mile walk through rebel-held territory in order to arrive in government-held territory. They had to go through many checkpoints. They prayed and planned in advance. They took magazines and tracts and prepared their own identification cards and covered them in plastic. Paul's had a picture of him reading from the Bible at the platform by candlelight. Stephen's showed him standing under the Kingdom Hall sign, smiling. At the checkpoints, they gave them some tracts and they could go through. When they arrived at the branch, they asked if they could get some food and transportation money to get the others. After a few days rest, Paul went back to get the others, going through the 50 miles through rebel-held territory. They took a different route back and found themselves in an area where the fighting recently was going on. A United Nations official asked Paul if he knew how to shoot a gun. He replied, "I only know how to shoot the Bible at wicked people for salvation." The officer laughed. He left the tract on Will All People Ever Love One Another? and the 2/15 Watchtower on "Heed the Warning." The group arrived in Freetown safely.

Many people previously indifferent to the message now walk in off the street to attend meetings at the Kingdom Hall. They ask the brothers for literature. The brothers are zealous. There has been a 10% increase in publishers in the 2000 service year. During the severe trials, the publishers averaged 13.9 hours in the service each month. Meeting attendance often exceeds 200%. There were 3,299 at the Memorial, a 40% increase. The brothers in Guinea work under the Sierra Leone branch. There are 34 missionaries and 650 publishers there. They are predominantly Muslim. Things here are not stable. Three missionaries and 2 couples had to flee to the capital city because of fighting and killing close to their assignment. They hope the situation won't escalate. There are 15 Bethelites, 36 missionaries and 3 International Servants in Sierra Leone and Guinea.

SOUTH AFRICA – Br. John Kikot (Branch Committee member) There are 577 at Bethel. Rev. 14:6 – there are many of these in Africa, not only nations, but tribes, tongues and peoples. There were significant developments during the 2000 Service Year. One was that all countries not on the donation arrangement should do so on January 1, 2000. This affected the entire continent of Africa with the supplies of literature and magazines. Previously many did not have their own magazine at meetings, sometimes they had 1 magazine per family. This was due to extreme poverty. This was also the case at the bookstudy. This has had a positive effect on the spirituality of the brothers there. Many more seeds of truth are being planted. There has been a tremendous increase in literature and magazine placements. There was a new peak of over 70,000 publishers. They have over 78,000 Bible studies. Zambia reported over 117,000 publishers in April, more than 10,000 over the previous peak. Regarding production in the factory, 5½ issues of the magazines are printed each month. The Watchtower is being printed in some languages four-fold now. For example, over 40,000 issues of Cibemba were printed previously. Now they print 180,000 issues. There are 80,000 Cibemba-speaking brothers and sisters.

Another development was the arrangement by the Governing Body to assist with building of Kingdom Halls. A Regional Kingdom Hall Office was set up in South Africa to assist all of Africa. They need 8,000 Kingdom Halls in Africa. Some countries do not have even 1 Kingdom Hall. Now hundreds of Kingdom Halls have come up. Instead of meeting in a shack or under a tree, they have a Kingdom Hall. They usually stand out as the most dignified building there. Sometimes after building a Kingdom Hall, the congregation more than doubles the following year. Many letters are sent to the Society. One wrote, "Construction of the Kingdom Hall here has given us a better foothold in the territory. Many have commented that Jehovah's Witnesses have done a miracle." "For the last 2 weeks after building our Kingdom Hall, we came to the Kingdom Hall after field service to marvel at our Kingdom Hall. We just couldn't go home without seeing our Kingdom Hall one more time."

Rev. 14:6 - A vital factor is that it is being declared in all the tongues. This is being done through many Translation Departments. The largest department at the South Africa branch is translation. Over 100 are doing translation into 14 different languages. A few years ago there were very few Tsonga-speaking people taking a stand for the Truth. As more and more publications were translated, more and more people came into the Truth. Thousands today make up the Tsonga circuits and districts. A year ago the New World Translation was released in Tsonga. A brother said, "The Rolls Royce has arrived." South Africa is the warehouse branch for most of the countries south of the equator, caring for 400,000 brothers. This involves literature, magazines, building supplies for Assembly Halls and Kingdom Halls and things for the branch. South Africa also sends relief supplies to Angola, Mozambique and Congo. 400 tons are sent each month. Some letters arrived at the branch regarding the Young People Ask video. "I thank you on behalf of all of the young people who feel the gratitude that I feel to Jehovah and his earthly organization for such a masterpiece." One 13-year-old wrote, "Thank you for the video. I have only one problem with it – it is too short!"

UKRAINE – Br. John Didur (Branch Committee coordinator). Isaiah foretold that people from all nations would stream to Jehovah's house of worship. As a result of this, Ukraine has a new peak of 112,720, an 8% increase over the previous year. They have had their 46th consecutive peak of pioneers. When the work opened up in 1993 they had 500 pioneers. They had 8,326 in August. There were 10,306 baptized during the last service year. 1,000 were baptized each month during the last 8 years. More than 50,000 publishers have been in the Truth less than 5 years. But we must also remember the brothers and sisters who were faithful during the years of ban and imprisonment. They had 251,953 at the Memorial, twice the number of publishers. They have an average of 70,000 Bible studies. Many enjoy our literature, often asking for it on the street. 50 million magazines were placed during the last 2 years which is the population of the country. At the branch 1,000 letters from interested people asking for more information are received each month. One letter was received from a woman asking that Jehovah's Witnesses call at her home. They found a distraught lady whose husband had died a short time ago. He was a regular reader of The Watchtower and Awake!. When he became critically ill, he told his wife, "If what I read is correct, we will see each other again in the future. Please have Jehovah's Witnesses call." A model Bible study was started. She started talking to her relatives and a number of them are studying the Bible. Serge wrote in a letter, "Now my life has changed completely through reading your literature. Please help me to find someone to help me. I need faithful friends."

Even those not interested in Bible standards often respect those who do. A brother (before he came into the Truth) was in business with 2 partners. He learned the Truth. Due to the dishonest practices of his partners, he attempted to pay back their debt by selling his possessions. He could pay all but $5,000. He prayed and discussed the matter with the man to whom the money was owed. He said he needed more time. The man said, "If you continue to serve your God, you need not return the funds. But if you stop serving him, you must pay off the entire amount." He started pioneering.

They hope that their branch facilities will be completed by early spring. The Bethelites are scattered throughout the city now and commute to Bethel. The Ukrainian translation team is located in Warsaw, Poland right now but they will return when the branch is completed. The brothers show a good spirit for Kingdom Hall construction. 12,000 different publishers in 2,400 congregations have shared in this work. A group of brothers travelled 2000 kilometers by train on their Saturday off to help to build a Kingdom Hall. Travel time was 36 hours. The fare was 1 months' wage. They were delighted to have a share. Two large cities each have over 45 congregations and no Kingdom Halls. Getting permits is a long and difficult process. The first quick-build Kingdom Hall was built in June. Many thought it was impossible. Many neighbors came to watch. One asked if he could get a job. The brother said that the workers were all Jehovah's Witnesses. The man asked if he might qualify since he reads the Bible daily. 394 attended the Dedication program, including many neighbors who were pleased with the building. There are plans to construct over 400 in the future. The 5th Ministerial Training School begins shortly. 50% of the travelling overseers are graduates of the school. Some serve over 40 congregations. The Ministerial Training School is held on the property of the branch construction. There has always been a classroom available. Many people in the Ukraine still live simple, uncomplicated lives. Families work in their gardens or field. Young boys and girls spend days with their cows in the fields. Entire families walk arm in arm to the meetings. TV, video and sports have not taken over their lives. The people have a love for reading and learning, which has contributed to the increase. There are 107 at Bethel.

GETTING ACQUAINTED WITH CORPORATION MEMBERS –

Interviews by Br. Gerrit Lösch (Governing Body member).

Getting Acquainted – With Br. Erkki Kankaanpää (Finland).

We are happy to be able to interview you today, Br. Kankaanpää. We are not going to tell the audience that you are 76 years old and that you got the truth in 1939, because they would rather learn when and how you started in full-time service. Please tell us about this.

In January 1941 I started the pioneer work. I hoped to work in Bethel. I mentioned this my hope in summer 1941 to one of the traveling overseers but he said to me: "You'd better quit those dreams; you will never be invited to come to Bethel." First I was disappointed, but in November 1941 I got the invitation. I was only 17 years old, but as it was a wartime the older brothers were in prison and due to this circumstance I was invited. As the Society had a small printery I started to get training for the printing work. Now I have been in Bethel about 59 years.

You certainly give us a goal to work toward, Br. Kankaanpää. Did the military exempt Bethelites from military service at that time?

No. In 1942 I was called up for military service but of course I refused. This meant difficulties. In court the judge pronounced a death sentence which, however, turned out to be mere intimidation, for at a later day I was called before the court again to be sentenced to prison for two years. After this prison period I returned back to the Bethel continuing my work in the printery.

Aside from the authorities somebody else succeeded to interrupt your Bethel service. Tell us please how this happened.

In 1946 I got married but with special permission I was able to continue to stay in Bethel for one year to teach other brothers for the printing work. Then, in 1947, I started the circuit work with my wife. It was a new assignment. At that time there in Finland were about 2,000 publishers but still 20 circuits. After the war Finland was very poor and for that reason also living standard was very low. The circuit work was a challenge. Transportation was very limited. In the circuit where we worked there were 20 congregations and little over 100 publishers.

This means an average of 5 publishers per congregation. Now tell us please, what kind of car Bethel provided for you to visit the congregations.

We had no car. We did not even own a bicycle. Very often it was necessary just to walk from congregation to congregation from 10 to 20 kilometers carrying all our belongings. The reason was a very poor public transportation. Very often we slept with the family in the same room. There were many cases but I remember well one of them. The family had 5 members. The Brother was company servant as we called them in that time. They had only a very small house. The house had a small living room which was also the bed room and then it had a small kitchen. My wife and I we were wondering where we will sleep. In the evening the brother said: "Now is time to go to bed and if you, Erkki and Margit, if you will take the bed there in a corner left from the door." Of course we did so. Soon after that the whole family selected their beds. Finally the brother came with the pressure cooker and put it in the middle of the room and lit the gas and that was the only heating instrument in the room. We were a little wondering could we still be alive in the morning because 7 people in the small room and the pressure cooker which used much oxygen. Anyway, the next morning we woke up and we were ready to start field service.

Could you please tell us an interesting experience or two from circuit work at that time?

In one company there were 7 people at the first meeting during my visit and I asked how many of them are baptized and answer was none. Of course we spoke much about the dedication and we collected material about this subject. Then at the next visit I baptized all of them and I am happy to say that all of them were faithful to their death. Now all of them have passed away.

In another case a company servant wrote: "Do not come, -- because we do not need a circuit servant as we can handle the company well without help." Of course I was asking advice about this from the branch office and the answer was: "Rent a room in the boarding house and take personal contact with the brothers." So I did, and it was a very encouraging week for us and for the company or the congregation too.

Then, in 1948 the branch invited you back to Bethel. What privileges followed?

In 1951 my wife and I attended Gilead, however we did not receive a foreign assignment but were sent back to Finland. In 1955 I was appointed to be factory overseer. In 1957 I was appointed to be temporary Branch overseer and continued as such up to 1975 and since 1976 I serve as Coordinator.

In 1939 there were about 500 publishers and now there are over 20,000 publishers. It has been a very happy privilege to work with the headquarters. I can say that Jehovah has blessed my life in many ways. I am glad that I have had the privilege to work under His direction, because everything is coming from Him. All thanks belong to Him.

Getting Acquainted With Br. Isamu Sugiura (Japan)

Brother Sugiura, you were born in Nagoya, in June 1932, as the youngest of four boys. Your mother was a devout believer of Tenrikyo, a Shinto sect, and brought you up in the Shinto religion. You also worshipped the Emperor as a living god. When World War II came to an end in 1945, soon after you entered junior high school. Subsequently you lost interest in Shinto religion. Tell us please, how your interest in religion was renewed...

I learned English both at school and also from an English program on the radio. I thought that maybe I could learn something from Christianity. So, I joined a Bible class conducted by an army chaplain.

As a teenager, I had started working for a piano dealer. One day in April, 1951, when I was on a short business trip, I saw a foreign lady offering magazines on the street in front of Nagoya station. I obtained an English copy of The Watchtower and accepted the offer to study the Bible. She was the first Witness I had ever met. She was Sister Grace Gregory, one of the eight American missionaries, who had evacuated from Korea when war broke out. Grace from North Carolina and her sister Gladys, who is a missionary in Tokyo, are both in this audience and I am very happy to be here together with them.

We are happy to hear that. What about the truth caught your attention when you obtained your first Watchtower copy?

As I read the Watchtower (1/1/1951 issue) on the train, I noticed that the first word in the opening article was Jehovah. I had never seen God's name before. The study article was titled, "Theocracy's Increase." So right from the beginning I had my attention focused on Jehovah's name and the expansion of God's organization.

Only a few weeks later Brother Knorr visited Nagoya with Brother Henschel on a zone visit and I was privileged to hear the talks given at a hall in front of Nagoya station. I studied from the booklet Joy of All the People. I attended meetings from the beginning and two months later I shared in the house-to-house work with Grace.

In October 1951, about five months after I started studying I attended a circuit assembly held in Osaka. About 300 people attended the assembly, including some 50 missionaries. I was deeply impressed by the international brotherhood. I was baptized at this assembly.

How long have you served in full-time service, Brother Sugiura?

I was enrolled as a pioneer in 1954, and as a special pioneer the following year to serve in Beppu city in Kyushu Island. There were no congregations on the island then, but now there are 22 circuits. I've had the privilege of attending the 29th class of Gilead school in 1957, and also the 38th class for the 10-month course at Brooklyn in 1963.

I enjoyed the traveling work for several years and then I married Junko and continued in the traveling work with her. For the past 25 years we have been blessed to be able to serve at Bethel. Junko serves at graphics department and I, in the translation department. It's been a special privilege to see the growth in Japan, from the small beginning to a large crowd of 220,000 over the past 50 years.

Experience: This happened when I was on the district work in the early 60's. One day, I was traveling from Kyoto to Kure, in a limited express train, which was about 5 hour travel. When the train arrived at Okayama station, about half-way to the destination, I got out of the train to stretch my legs and walked a little toward the rear of the train.

A few minutes later I tried to go back to my seat, but I couldn't locate my seat, so, I came out of the car, and there I saw the front part of the train moving away. What happened was that the train was disconnected in the middle, and the front part of the train went straight but the rear part was to branch off to another direction. So, the rear part was still there in front of my eyes, while the front part of the train had left quietly.

For a moment, I thought I lost all my belongings. I went to the station office and explained what happened, and the clerk assured me that he will take care of everything. I took the next limited express train to go to Kure. I walked a little distance toward the exit. There I saw all my belongings neatly placed. No extra charge or tips were necessary. I appreciated the good service of the national railway. We had a wonderful circuit assembly that weekend.

Getting Acquainted With Br. Franz Muller (South Africa)

Br. Muller, two important things happened in 1928 for which you are very thankful. Tell us please, what they were.

#1: My father got the truth in 1928 and #2: I was born in 1928. So I had the privilege of growing up in the truth. Father was so zealous that he started pioneering right away. But family responsibilities caused him to stop. We did not have a formal family Bible study in those days but because of my father's zeal and love for the truth, all eight children grew up to love the truth. All of them, except my youngest brother who died at an early age, shared in the pioneer work for some years of their lives.

How did you get started in pioneer work, Br. Muller?

During 1944 with World War II being at its height many brothers felt that the end was close, and so our circuit overseer, who was one of the anointed, warned me not to delay in getting into the pioneer work. He said: "You do not want to let Armageddon find you sitting on school benches." I surely did not want that to happen so I quit school and entered the pioneer work on January 1, 1945 when I was about 17 years old. Two years later I was appointed as a special pioneer, -- then I was called to Bethel in 1948.

In 1950 I had the privilege to go to Gilead. I was sent back to South Africa because foreigners were not allowed into our country. I then had the privilege of serving as a circuit overseer.

So you served as a single circuit overseer, which is a rare species. Did you survive as such for a long time?

By this time I was corresponding with a beautiful young pioneer sister. But we had no intention of getting married this side of Armageddon. We were going to copy the example of John and Eunice, a young couple depicted in the book Children, the last book written by Brother Rutherford. According to the book they planned to get married after Armageddon. At that time marriage was frowned upon especially for those in full-time service. The time was too short, the brothers felt, and we had a great preaching work to do. If pioneers talked about getting married the brothers thought there was something wrong with them. But this John and Eunice story did not work for Martie and me. In 1952 we decided to get married. So it was with trepidation that I wrote to Brother Knorr with a copy to the local branch. The local branch was not happy with our decision but said they would await Brother Knorr's reply. When I got Brother Knorr's letter I could not believe my eyes. What an encouraging and sweet letter! Brother Knorr wished me Jehovah's blessing on my forthcoming marriage and encouraged us to stay in the full-time service for then we would have many blessings. I could not believe it; nor could the local branch. I was even given permission to carry on in the circuit work after our marriage. Well, we got married in December, and carried on in the circuit work. At the third congregation we visited, surprising news reached us that explained everything. Brother Knorr himself got married!

Br. Muller, a few years after you got married you were separated from your wife. Why and how did this happen?

After we attended the international convention in New York in 1958 my wife had the privilege of going through Gilead but I had to return to the district work in South Africa since I already had been through Gilead. We were separated for nearly eight months.

Four days after Martie arrived back in South Africa, Brother Knorr also came for a visit and he invited us to Bethel to start there four days later, after winding up convention duties. We gladly accepted. This was in April 1959 and that is where we are still privileged to be.

Four years after having been separated from your wife for so long, Headquarters Office separated you from your wife again. How did this happen?

In 1962 I had the privilege of going through Gilead a second time, this time for the 10-month branch course. My wife could not attend with me and we were again separated, this time for about 11 months. This training stood me in good stead as I was appointed Branch Overseer in 1967 and served as such till 1975 when the Branch Committee arrangement came into being and since then I have had the privilege of serving as coordinator.

Br. Muller, how would you sum up your reflection on your past life?

I have seen the organization in South Africa grow from a small beginning of only about 400 publishers when I started in the ministry as a child till 67,424 now. I served in the Society's offices when we were only 17 Bethelites and we only had a few rented offices and no Bethel home. We now have a beautiful branch complex inhabited by about 550 brothers and sisters of all races in South Africa. How Jehovah made things grow! My wife and I still enjoy our wonderful privilege of Bethel service after 55 and 52 years in full time service respectively. Indeed, our cup is well filled!

Getting Acquainted with Br. Thomas R. Jones (Canada)

Brother Jones, you were born in Hamilton, Ontario in the year 1920. There were seven children in your family, six boys and one girl. You were raised in the Anglican Church for your mother was a sincere Anglican. Father had turned against religion because of the actions of the clergy during World War I. Tell us, please what made your father change his attitude.

In the year 1938 he attended a lecture at Maple Leaf Gardens in the city of Toronto given by Brother Rutherford, entitled "Face The Facts." Father returned home jubilant. He stated, "At last I have heard something that makes sense, -- this is the truth." My father, brother, and I were baptized in the spring of 1939 in Toronto at one of the assemblies.

Br. Jones: When your family embraced the truth was this not the time when the work got banned in Canada?

Yes, in July of 1940 the Canadian government banned Jehovah's Witnesses. Our family was soon embroiled in the flag salute issue as my two youngest brothers were expelled from school. A Society-directed Kingdom School was set up in our home to teach the children. The Society fought this case through the courts and won a victory in the Superior Court of Ontario.

Did you have to face the military issue, Br. Jones?

Yes, soon after I took up pioneering in 1940, I got the call for military service. After refusing, I was arrested and sentenced to one month in prison and two years to an Alternative Service Work Camp. When I was finally freed in 1946 I returned to the pioneer service.

Please, tell us something about your pioneer partner serving with you from 1946 on:

I met an excellent pioneer sister, Flora Nicoll, and we were married at the end of October of 1946. A highlight of our life was the distribution of the pamphlet "Quebec's Burning Hate for God and Christ" at 3:00 a.m. one morning. It was a bitterly cold night but we finished our territory just before sunrise.

In 1948 Flora and I were invited into the circuit work and in 1949 later attended the 13th class of Gilead. Following graduation we did not receive a foreign assignment since we had cases pending from the courts in Quebec that had not been resolved. So we were reassigned to the circuit work, during which I helped with such cases.

In 1956 I was invited into the district work. The years passed quickly and I was invited to the 39th class of Gilead in 1964, which was a 10-month course. This time we got a foreign assignment, namely, to serve in the Chile branch.

Could you please relate an experience to us from your activity in Chile, please?

One of my first Bible studies was with one university student. He was keenly interested in good government and remarked that the only way to get it was not through ballots but with bullets. It developed that he was the leader of the most violent group of young students in the university. However, when he learned that God's Kingdom would clear the earth of all wickedness and establish good government, he wished to study the Bible two times each week. He was baptized within six months.

During the late 1960's there was much political unrest in the country and in 1970 a Marxist government was voted into power September 11, 1973 dawned. Flora and I got up for breakfast with the sound of helicopter gun ships circling. Two planes attacked the Presidential Palace at noon, shooting rockets into it, destroying it. Martial law was declared as the military took over the country.

Was this political unrest the reason you returned to Canada, Br. Jones?

No. In 1975 we decided to return to Canada because Flora became seriously ill. Soon after my faithful companion Flora died from cancer. February 7, 1976 was the saddest day of my life as she passed away.

Thereafter, I was invited to become a member of the Bethel Family and in 1978 was made a member of the Branch Committee. During this time I renewed my acquaintanceship with Sister Estelle Markus and she agreed to marry me. Estelle has a fine record of theocratic service and has been a very loyal companion who exhibits a deep love for Jehovah and his Word. We enjoy our service at the Canadian Bethel where we served for the past 20 years.

Fifty-seven years ago I entered the pioneer service and I can state that life has never been boring but has been filled with wonderful experiences and a joy that can be found no where else. Jehovah God has filled my life with peace and happiness as well as with meaningful work, thrilling experiences, and wonderful friends.

YEARTEXT – Br. David Splane (Governing Body member). The yeartext for 2001 is Colossians 4:12 "Stand complete and with firm conviction in all the will of God." Think about the setting. Paul was under house arrest in Rome when he wrote the letter to the Colossians. He mentioned Epaphras by name. He had been instrumental in forming the congregation at Colossae and concerned about the brothers. About 60-61 CE he travelled to Rome to discuss matters that affected the congregation with Paul. As a result of the visit, Paul wrote his letter. In verse 12 he says Epaphras had been praying. Not for the whole association of brothers but for the fellow believers in Colossae. He was making 2 requests: that they would stand firm and that they would have firm conviction in all the will of God. We can ask ourselves: What do I personally need to do in order to do this? Let us take a closer look.

What does it mean to "stand complete?" The term used here has the sense of perfect, full-grown or mature. Maturity is something all Christians need. It doesn't come automatically but takes time and effort. Paul wrote to the Ephesians that teachers and shepherds should help the brothers to attain to a full-grown man, maturity. Maturity is something you need to work at. You may need help in reaching it. Here are 2 examples of areas in which we may need to make progress. Suppose you grew up in an area that has prejudice of a people of a certain nationality, race or region. You may have felt the same as your neighbors. But you began to study the Bible. You saw Acts 10:34 and you concluded that God is not partial, so you should not be, either. What will you do now in this regard? Will you make progress? Have you grown in your appreciation of other races and nationalities? Not merely "living and let live" or putting up with them, but truly enjoying the differences that make them unique. Philippians 2:3 If we tend to be critical, to put others down, to focus on their imperfections, we need to focus on others' good qualities. Do you look for good in every brother and sister? Do you look for ways in which they are superior? Take up the matter with Jehovah. Ask him to help you to find areas in which you need to grow. All who become Christians do not remain Christians. Satan didn't stand firm. It happened to one chosen by Jesus Christ. Did the rest of the apostles quit? No. Jehovah chose another man and the work went on. This is not the work of man or the work of men. It is the work of the Almighty God. No one is indispensable and no one can interfere. Let all crafty clergymen and their political allies take note. Paul gave anointed Christians in Corinth this sobering reminder. 1 Corinthians 10:12 The Colossians had to make sure that they were standing. They needed to persist, continuing to make progress. What would help the Colossians to stand complete or to endure? They needed firm conviction. They were surrounded by false teachers and intellectuals. Do worldly philosophies foster conviction? No, they promote doubt. James 1:6 Such a man does not have firm conviction. To counteract the harmful effects, the Colossians needed to focus on Jesus Christ. This is a simple solution – "Focus on Jesus Christ." Colossians 2:6, 7 If they stuck to what they had been taught, they would remain healthy in the faith and the worldly philosophies would hold no appeal to them. They had a heavenly hope. They would have to give up their corruptible body. In view of the hostile attitude of the Romans toward the Christians and the fact that some would get martyrdom, they had to be absolutely convinced that they had the heavenly hope. Is it different for the great crowd today? Unlike the anointed, the other sheep don't view death as inevitable for all. Many will survive the great tribulation but they have never made this prospect a condition for serving the living God.

"In all the will of God" – We hope that this system of things will soon come to an end but if God's will is for it to take a little longer, we humbly bow to Jehovah's will. The other sheep recognize that no strings are attached to their dedication. In God's time he will have a yearning for the work of his hands. We are absolutely convinced that we are living deep in the time of the end and the prospect of never dying is still very real to them. What do we mean by "hope?" When we first learned the Truth about the future, the new system, it all sounded so wonderful. This was an initial hope. It attracted you to the Truth. But hope is something more. Romans 5:3-5 Notice where hope comes in, at the beginning or a little further on? Tribulations, endurance, an approved condition and, finally, hope. We face tribulation and opposition but Romans 5:3 shows we can exult because of the wonderful result, endurance. If we are enduring faithfully, it's because Jehovah is giving us the strength. The fact that we are enduring is proof that we have Jehovah's approval, that we are in an approved condition. 1 Peter 4:14 Your ability to endure through tribulation is proof that the spirit of God is with you. It goes beyond the motive that there will be a new world. Tribulation strengthens our hope. It is more real, more personal. It pervades our every fiber. Let each of us approach Jehovah regularly about our hope, praying with firm conviction. Make mention of our hope in our prayers, talk about the new world. Tell Jehovah how you long for it with full conviction that it will come. Ask Jehovah to develop and broaden your conviction, and pray for your brothers like Epaphras did that their hope will be, too. To those in the audience who have endured a long time: 1 Thessalonians 1:2-5 "endurance due to your hope" Can you imagine that it is possible to please the great God of the universe? The Colossians did so. Our brothers and sisters are doing so. During the coming year, in whatever circumstances we face, we are determined to "stand complete and with firm conviction in all the will of God."

A GOVERNING BODY AS DIFFERENT FROM A LEGAL CORPORATION – Br. Daniel Sydlik (Governing Body member). No doubt you will reflect on this grand information before you go to bed tonight, grateful for being here and for witnessing a milestone in the history of Jehovah's organization. Annual Meetings have been held since January, 1885. In the late 19th century when the gathering of the anointed was underway, the first directors and officers had the heavenly hope and such has almost always been the case since then. There was one notable exception. Hayden Covington, the legal counsel for the Society, and one of the "other sheep", was elected as a director in 1940. In 1942 he was chosen as the Society's Vice-President. He continued in that capacity until 1945, when he stepped aside in order to comply with what seemed like Jehovah's will, that all of the officers, directors and members should be of the anointed. Lyman Swingle replaced Brother Covington as a director and Brother Franz was elected as Vice-President. Why did they believe that? Wasn't the great crowd identified in 1935? At that time the officers and directors were closely identified with the Governing Body, which has always been and still is made up entirely of anointed Christians. The 1944 Watchtower first used the term "Governing Body" to describe anointed Christians taking the lead in Jehovah's organization. 1944 was a banner year. On October 2 of that year the Annual Meeting was held in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA. Some in this audience were present there. They will recall that 6 resolutions were presented which proposed changes in the Society's charter. Voting shares had been based upon monetary contributions. The Third Amendment eliminated that. The report of the Annual Meeting that year stated, "Membership of the Society is limited to not more than 500. Each member is a full-time servant of the Society or a part-time servant of a company of Jehovah's Witnesses and must show the spirit of the Lord." The directors were to be voted into office by individuals who were fully devoted to Jehovah. This would be in full accord with Isaiah 60:17. The reference in this verse to overseers and task assigners refers to improvements in organizational procedures. The 2300 evenings and mornings of Daniel 8:14 also referred to this. After this an important question remained. At that time the Governing Body was closely associated with the Board of Directors, and there was a provision for only 7 directors. Did that mean that the Governing Body would never be enlarged but was limited to 7 spirit-anointed Christians? Since the directors are elected by corporation members, were the corporation members electing members of the Governing Body each year? Are the Directors and officers of the Pennsylvania Corporation and members of the Governing Body one and the same? Or are they different?

These questions were answered at the Annual Meeting held on October 1, 1971. The speaker on that occasion reminded the audience that the Governing Body and "the faithful and discreet slave" started hundreds of years ago at Pentecost 33 CE. The first Governing Body consisted of the 12 apostles and later was evidently enlarged because the Scriptures speak of the apostles and older men taking the lead. The speaker said, "The Governing Body of the slave class are not appointed by any man. They are appointed by Jehovah and Jesus. Members of the Governing Body are not being voted into office by the membership of any legal corporation." The speaker made a very significant statement when he said, "The Governing Body does not have officers such as the Society's Board of Directors does. It merely has a Chairman.' For many years the President of the Pennsylvania Corporation was also the foremost member of the Governing Body. This would no longer be the case. While not all are equal in ability and experience, the Governing Body would be equal in responsibility. The speaker said, "Any member of the Governing Body can be Chairman. It depends upon the rotation system for chairmanship." Thus the distinction between the spirit-anointed members of the Governing Body and the directors of the Pennsylvania Corporation was clearly drawn. Still the members of the Governing Body continued to serve as officers of the corporation. The following question arises. Is there any Scriptural reason to stick to the view held in 1945, that all of the directors of the Pennsylvania Corporation should be members of the Governing Body?

The Pennsylvania Corporation is not the only legal entity used by Jehovah's Witnesses. There are others. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York facilitates the work in the United States. Jehovah's blessings are clearly on it, but its directors and members are mainly of the "other sheep." In Britain the Bible Students Association is used. In other lands other legal entities are used. These entities or corporations are controlled by the Governing Body. Indeed their charters are reviewed and approved by the Governing Body. It's beneficial to have these legal entities. The Governing Body has oversight of upwards of 100 different entities. They help us to conform to local laws and regulations. Romans 13:1 They help to distribute printing materials. A large writing staff, translation, graphics and pressroom and people are all needed. Corporations and legal entities are used to provide equipment needed for this work. They also serve as a legal instrument to handle the transactions with regard to property ownership, the use of governmental facilities and relief efforts.

As the oldest and most stable and financially secure of the entities, the Pennsylvania Corporation is significant to the Governing Body in the care of the Master's belongings. Article 2 of the Charter of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania was amended in 1944 to underscore the objectives of this corporation. It is "organized to preach the gospel of God's Kingdom to all the peoples and to make known the 1) Name 2) Word and 3) Supremacy of the Almighty God, Jehovah." The Name: In 1931 Jehovah's Witnesses adopted their new name. Three books were published which highlighted this about the same time, named Vindication volumes 1, 2 and 3, which examined Ezekiel's prophecy. The book Jehovah was published in 1944 and other publications were published later, such as Let Your Name Be Sanctified in 1961 and The Nations Shall Know That I Am Jehovah, ten years later. Special mention was made of the New World Translation, which restored the Divine Name in every place where it should be. How thankful we are that Jehovah has permitted the Governing Body to use all of the international publishing resources to make The Name known in harmony with Psalm 83:18. The Word: Jehovah's people have upheld it by printing millions of Bible-based publications and the Bible itself. In the early 1900's the Watchtower Society became the sole owners of The Emphatic Diaglott by Benjamin Wilson. They also distributed the King James Version of the Bible. In 1942 the Society printed the King James Version on its own presses. In 1944 the American Standard Version of 1901 which featured the Divine Name was printed and widely distributed. In 1972 another Bible that highlighted God's Name was printed, The Bible In Living English by Stephen T. Byington. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society has truly proved to be a Bible society. A wonderful witness is given to the Supremacy of God. When the religious leaders ordered the first-century apostles to stop preaching, they said this: Acts 4:24, 29. Do we not see similar interference today? In many lands false accusations have been levelled against us. This has led to persecution and violence, often spearheaded by the clergy. Jesus forewarned us in Matthew 24:9. Nothing will keep us from fulfilling our commission: The "faithful and discreet slave" take care of the Master's belongings, and these belongings include the "other sheep" as well as facilities at headquarters at Brooklyn, Patterson and Wallkill and at 110 branches. Matthew 24:30 – they will be called to account for the way in which they have used their talents. This does not mean that the "other sheep" cannot be used to care for administrative responsibilities. This leaves the Governing Body more time for other responsibilities.

The Governing Body will continue to make use of the legal entities. These corporations are convenient but not indispensable. If a legal entity is dissolved by a government decree, the work goes on. Even in countries with opposition but no legal entity, the Kingdom work goes on and the good news is preached. No amount of opposition can hinder it. Luke 19:40 As we look to the future, we can be sure that Jehovah will care for the physical and spiritual needs of his people. Zechariah 4:6 We will be able to finish the work Jehovah has given us in this time of the end. Always have plenty to do in the work of the Lord and you know that your labor will not be in vain.

OVERSEERS AND MINISTERIAL SERVANTS THEOCRATICALLY APPOINTED – Br. Theodore Jaracz (Governing Body member). Isaiah foretold that something remarkable would occur in God's due time: Isaiah 60:22. Have these prophetic words been undergoing fulfillment in our day? In the past decade the number of congregations formed has been 2,979 per year or a total of 29,793. From small beginnings in 1879 when there was one congregation in Allegheny, Pennsylvania, settlements flourish in 234 lands. There are over 91,000 congregations worldwide that constitute a mighty nation. This is proof that Jehovah is speeding up the influx of true worshippers before the great tribulation. Caring for 6 million Kingdom proclaimers and 8 million of their associates calls for mature oversight. There are thousands of overseers and ministerial servants in the sud once in the Jersey City Assembly Hall and in the satellite locations. More qualified elders and ministerial servants are needed continually. How are such spiritual men appointed? Not by methods that Christendom employs. Appointments are made according to God's arrangement - the theocratic way. What is involved in such appointments? How are thousands ordained as ministers of the good news? Before submitting to water baptism, they have agreed to serve God unreservedly. They submit to Jehovah's sovereignty. They submit to Jesus as Ransomer and King. They recognize the role of the holy spirit in their lives. 2 Corinthians 3:5 Such ordination comes from Jehovah through his Son, Jesus. They must be led by God's spirit and apply his principles in their lives. Within the congregation certain ones who are already ordained develop to maturity, cultivate the fruitage of the spirit and meet the qualifications to be theocratically appointed. What does this mean, "theocratically appointed"? They are recommended, but not according to human standards by an election or by campaigning. Their qualifications are set out in God's Word. These standards provide the measure of whether a man really qualifies. If he no longer meets the qualifications, the holy spirit acts to remove one from such a position.

A number of factors are involved in making appointments theocratically. Paul reminded the Ephesian elders "they were appointed by holy spirit" in Acts 20:28. How is it that the holy spirit has such an important role to play? Holy spirit inspired the record setting out such qualifications. 1 Tim. 3:1-7 lists the qualifications and also included are the requirements for ministerial servants. There are 16 different requirements. Overseers have a serious responsibility in taking the lead and must be exemplary. Paul could express himself with freeness of speech because he imitated Jehovah. Paul recognized that the requirements were Scriptural and inspired by holy spirit. That's why he emphasized that they were appointed by holy spirit. Holy spirit comes into the picture in another way. They must manifest the operation of holy spirit in their lives by their pattern of everyday living. It affects all aspects of their daily lives. They produce the fruitage of the spirit. Gal. 5:22, 23 Such fruitage is manifest in their dealings with the brothers and the general public. Some may excel in some particular aspect, but their overall pattern of life must show that they are spiritual men and measure up to the requirements. The third factor is that in branch offices and in congregations, those recommending men for appointment have carefully examined these qualifications. They are not to be influenced by educational abilities or material advantages. Is he a spiritual man? They pray for God to guide them. Thus their judgment is inspired by what is written in God's Word. How others in the congregation view him is also a factor. Some may already view the brother as one to whom they can turn for advice and help. When recommendations are sent to the Branch Office, they are examined by mature brothers. The Governing Body appoints all members of Branch Committees. Luke 12:8 While the Governing Body directly appoints the Branch Committee, Traveling Overseers and Bethel Elders, they too commission responsible brothers to act for them, such as Paul and Barnabas did in Acts 14:23. Later when Titus was in Crete, Paul wrote Titus 1:5. Then he outlined the requirements. So today the Governing Body indirectly makes appointments through qualified brothers at headquarters and in the branches.

In the first century, appointments were made theocratically. This pattern is followed today. Appointments are made in 51,000 congregations, but not democratically or by some elaborate ritual. Unlike Christendom, Jehovah's Witnesses stick to God's Word. If elements try to interfere, what do we do? Acts 5:29 Being theocratic certainly has proved to be the wise course because it brings divine approval. Some appointments are transmitted by a letter for the Governing Body with a stamp on it. One form letter may appoint more than one brother in the congregation. It is important to note that no legal entity controls the appointment [of elders, ministerial servants, etc.] even though such entity may be used to transmit the information. The whole process is guided by holy spirit. Isaiah 60:17 contains meaningful words. May we all rejoice in the increase.

Announcement – Br. John Barr. The "faithful and discreet slave" has entrusted to it responsibilities higher than those granted to their legal corporations. In the charters are set out matters that are limited in scope. In caring for the interests on the earth, the Governing Body earnestly endeavors to follow the precious truths in the Bible. Ever since its incorporation in 1884, the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has played an important role but it is merely a legal instrument available for use by the "faithful and discreet slave" when necessary. The Governing Body has determined that certain adjustments should be made. Brothers Carey Barber, John Barr, Milton Henschel, Theodore Jaracz, Albert Schroeder, Lyman Swingle and Daniel Sydlik all submitted their resignations as directors of the Pennsylvania Corporation. Members of the corporation accepted these resignations. In their place the following brothers were appointed: Don Adams (President), Robert Wallen (Vice-President), William Malenfant (Vice-President), Richard Abrahamson (Secretary & Treasurer), Danny Bland, Philip Wilcox and John Wisshuk. On October 5, 2000 at a meeting of the directors of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. Brothers R. Abrahamson, D. Adams, H. Dies, M. Henschel and L. Swingle gave their resignation as directors. Appointed as directors of the NY Corporation are Max Larsen (President), George Couch (Vice President), Jerry Grizzle (Vice President), Bob Pevy, Dave Sinclair.

In view of the range of work, 3 new corporations were set up to be directed from headquarters. They are the Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, the Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses and Kingdom Support Services, Inc. The Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will look after the legal aspects of activities in the United States – religious, educational and charitable – as they relate to the congregations. The Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses will act as a legal entity for the Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses [which includes Bethel volunteers], who in support of Isaiah 6:8 have taken a vow of obedience and poverty. Kingdom Support Services, Inc. will provide engineering support and design of Society projects. It will be the deed holder of all vehicles used at headquarters that are not personal vehicles. Adjustments were made with 3 other legal entities. The Board of Directors of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New Jersey has changed. A Florida corporation holds the title to land in Florida. Several of the brothers resigned and were replaced by other directors. Valley Farms Corporation, which holds title to land in New York, has also made adjustements on the board of directors. All of these serve under the spiritual direction of the Governing Body. We are confident that the formation of these 3 new corporations and adjustments in the others will serve to greatly assist the organization in getting the Kingdom work accomplished.

Dear Bob:

At present, I am preparing a comprehensive "meet and confer" letter to you regarding a number of things. Before doing so, however, I want to see if we can discuss the discovery matter about which we fundamentally disagree.

Charissa W. Discovery/Serbian Objection

In the Charissa W. case, we served discovery to Watch Tower Pennsylvania relative to its special appearance. Additionally, we have noticed and taken the deposition of the "PMK" for Watch Tower Pennsylvania and received your objections to the areas of inquiry and the documents requested. Though we were able to work out some of our difficulties, we have both agreed that there are some matters that simply need to be decided by the Court to give us the parameters for present and future discovery.

Before addressing the requests individually, I want to see if we can reach an agreement as to the applicability of your objections based on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (hereinafter referred to as the "Serbian objection").

Where the Serbian Objection Appears:

1. PMK Deposition Notice
   Subject Matter Nos.: 1, 2, 3 and 9
   Request for Documents Nos.: 3, 6, 7, 9 and 10

2. Special Interrogatories
   Interrogatory Nos.: 13 through 46

3. Request for Production
   Request Nos.: 38, 44 through 48,

There are a total of 49 inquiries to which the Serbian objection has been asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to the Charissa W. special appearance discovery, alone. I anticipate your continued assertion of the Serbian objection in future discovery responses.

Serbian Objection

Generally, you have asserted the Serbian objection as follows:

> "This line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g. Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Analysis of the _Serbian_ Objection

Watch Tower Pennsylvania relies heavily on the Serbian opinion for the proposition that the internal organization of the Watchtower Society is outside the scope of discovery. It is Plaintiffs' position that neither the Serbian court nor any court thereafter has supported that position; in fact, it is Plaintiffs' position that the opposite is true.

First, for Serbian to have application, the operative issue would have to be: does this case involve an intra-church dispute? It is Plaintiffs' position that it is not.

In General Council on Fin. and Admin. of the United Methodist Church v. Superior Court of California, 439 U.S. 1355, 1372-73 (1978), a case involving the Superior Court of California which held California procedural law may be applied to a religious entity, the United States Supreme Court explained this point:

> There are constitutional limitations on the extent to which a civil court may inquire into and determine matters of ecclesiastical cognizance and polity in adjudicating intrachurch disputes. See Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich. But this Court never has suggested that those constraints similarly apply outside the context of such intraorganization disputes. Thus, Serbian Orthodox Diocese and the other cases cited by applicant are not on point. Those cases are premised on a perceived danger that in resolving intrachurch disputes the State will become entangled in essentially religious controversies or intervene on behalf of groups espousing particular doctrinal beliefs . . . Such considerations are not applicable to purely secular disputes between third parties and a particular defendant, albeit a religious affiliated organization.

This is not a case that "is an ecclesiastical one about 'discipline, faith, internal organization, or ecclesiastical rule, custom or law,'" but rather a case where this Court must apply California's generally applicable, neutral tort laws and discovery rules to a religious organization because it involves "purely secular disputes between third parties and a particular defendant, albeit a religiously affiliated organization." Bell v. Presbyterian Church, 126 F.3d 328, 331 (4th Cir. 1997) (quoting General Council, supra, 439 U.S. at 1372-73).

Second, the Napa Court has already determined that neutrally applied principles of law (which should include discovery rules) can be applied in this case without offending the First Amendment and the free exercise clause. In response to the filing of Plaintiffs' Amended Complaint, the Watchtower Defendants filed a demurrer asserting the position that the Napa Court did not have the authority to hear the Charissa W. case. In support of that position, the Watchtower Defendants cited authority (including Serbian) that the Napa Court lacked jurisdiction based on the First Amendment and the free exercise clause. The Napa Court, after reviewing the briefing on the issues, held as follows:

> They [defendants] assert that the plaintiffs' claims are barred because they seek to impermissibly entangle the court in ecclesiastical affairs and in the interpretation of religious doctrine, practices and beliefs. Put plainly, this is simply not so.
> Defendants cannot use the First Amendment to shield them from these allegations, and none of the cases cited by defendants say otherwise. As made clear from plaintiffs' thorough review of the relevant case law, this court may hear plaintiffs' claims without treading on the Constitution's free exercise clause. Accordingly, defendant's demurrer to plaintiffs' claims on the ground that they are barred by the First Amendment is OVERRULED.

It is Plaintiffs' position that the analysis with respect to discovery is the same; Plaintiffs' discovery does not and will not impermissibly entangle the court in intrachurch ecclesiastical affairs.

Conclusion

I am preparing a meet and confer letter that we can use to review the individual discovery requests to determine where we have disagreement. It seems a good use of time to see if our disagreement regarding the Serbian objection can be worked out in advance. Let me know if this is a matter about which we can come to agreement or whether this is something about which the Napa Court needs to provide us guidance.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Very truly yours,

Gregory S. Love

Attorneys for Defendant
WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY
OF PENNSYLVANIA

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 DEFENDANTS' OBJECTION TO THE FOURTH AMENDED NOTICE OF DEPOSITION OF THE PERSON MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") earlier filed a motion challenging personal jurisdiction which is still pending with the Court and, therefore, specially appears herein to object to plaintiffs' CCP §2025(d)(6) notice of deposition duces tecum to Watch Tower PA regarding (1) the areas of inquiry of the Watch Tower PA representative, and (2) the documents requested in the notice of PMK deposition, as follows:

OBJECTIONS TO SCOPE OF SUBJECT MATTER INQUIRY

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 1:

Organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 1:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony relevant to the secular organizational structure of the Watch Tower PA corporation for the time periods of 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 2:

The make up and function of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 2:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This request is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Also, because the Governing Body is involved with spiritual and ecclesiastical matters related to the Jehovah's Witnesses religion, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 3:

Relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Governing Body, Watchtower New York, Branch Committees, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, California District, California Circuits and California Congregations).

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 3:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to its relationship, if any, with any entity that carried out any activity for Jehovah's Witnesses in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 4:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) and its operation from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to amounts collected and amounts paid by the KHAA)

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 4:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, furnishing details as to amounts collected and paid by the KHAA is unduly burdensome, an invasion of privacy, harassment, and is not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch

Tower PA will provide testimony as to KHAA and its operation with respect to California in 2003. The KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 5:

The Risk Management Office and its operation from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 5:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This line of questioning is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this request seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Risk Management's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 6:

Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 6:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the Defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 7:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses (assemblies or congregation functions) from 1970 to the present (this category to include but not be limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings).

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 7:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 8:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 8:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 9:

Watch Tower PA's operation as the Service Committee of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 9:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. *DVI, Inc. v. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Service Committee's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

SUBJECT MATTER NO. 10:

Watch Tower PA's participation in Gilead Schools from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO SUBJECT MATTER NO. 10:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to Watch Tower PA's participation in Gilead School activity in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

OBJECTIONS TO DOCUMENT REQUESTS

REQUEST NO. 1:

Watch Tower PA's corporate book (which should include lists of officers, directors, organizational meeting minutes, resolutions and changes in organizational function and structure).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has already provided a list of all its directors in its prior response to Plaintiffs' interrogatories. See also Exhibits 39 and 40.

REQUEST NO. 2:

Governmental filings (state and federal) by Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, as well as vague and ambiguous as to what might be termed a "government filing."

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has not made any "government filings" in California. However for the federal filing of the corporation, see Exhibit 59.

REQUEST NO. 3:

Documents describing the organizational structure and reporting relationships within the Watch Tower PA, specifically, and Watchtower Society, generally (describing how Watch Tower PA fits into the overall organization).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 3:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 39, 40, and 54.

REQUEST NO. 4:

Documents related to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present, including but not limited to instructions (present and prior), invoices (or "letters suggesting a contribution") from Watch Tower PA to California congregations, forms used in the operation of the KHAA, and claims paid in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 4:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and an invasion of privacy of individuals not parties to this lawsuit, unduly burdensome, and intended for purposes of harassment.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See documents for 1972 to 1985 and 2003, attached hereto as Exhibits 5, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 36, 37, 38, 49, 50, 51, 52, and 58. Defendant Watch Tower PA had less than 20 claims in California involving the KHAA for the year 2003 and no claims paid from 1972 to 1985 because the KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

REQUEST NO. 5:

Documents related to financing Kingdom Halls and other buildings used by or for Jehovah's Witnesses in California from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Instructions for Congregation Accounting forms and other documents that describe the initiation of the transactions).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 5:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA presently has about 197 Kingdom Hall loans in California. See also Exhibits 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 36, 41, 44, 49, 50, 51, and 52.

REQUEST NO. 6:

Documents provided by Watch Tower PA to any California district office, circuit office, congregation, elder, accounts servant or member from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Service Committee for the Governing Body).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 6:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the Defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, 16, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 41, 42, 43, 45, 46, 47, 48, 56, and 57.

REQUEST NO. 7:

Documents related to Watch Tower PA's involvement in the application process or presentations at the Gilead School from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 7:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003, and to California.

Further, this request is overly broad and vague. Also, this request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 19 and 20.

REQUEST NO. 8:

Documents related to monies received by you from California for any reason from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to donations, payments, premiums, and rental/lease income).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 8:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v. Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, an invasion of privacy, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA sends letters on a monthly basis to each congregation acknowledging the receipt of donations sent by the congregation to Watch Tower PA. See also Exhibits 1, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 25, 26, 29, 30, 36, 37 and 38.

REQUEST NO. 9:

Documents sent or prepared by Watch Tower PA that provide instruction for elders and other congregation leaders in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 9:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 41, 43, 45, 47, 48, and 55.

REQUEST NO. 10:

Documents sent or prepared by Watch Tower PA that provide instruction for district or circuit overseers in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 10:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 19, 23, and 24.

WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, et al.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' FIRST SET OF SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES

PROPOUNDING PARTY: PLAINTIFFS CHARISSA W. AND NICOLE D.

RESPONDING PARTY: DEFENDANT WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, specially appearing[1]

SET NUMBER: ONE

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Defendant") specially appears, see fn. 1, and provides the following answers to plaintiffs Charissa W. and Nicole D.'s ("Plaintiffs") interrogatories pursuant to CCP Section 2030. In answering these interrogatories, you have been furnished with such information as is presently available. This may include hearsay and other forms of evidence that are neither reliable nor admissible. The answers are, in addition, given without prejudice to producing at trial subsequently discovered information or information omitted from the answers as a result of good faith oversight.

[1] Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") earlier filed a motion to quash service of summons and complaint based on lack of personal jurisdiction in California. That motion is still pending in this Court. Therefore, Defendant Watch Tower PA specially appears with respect to these responses to plaintiffs' special interrogatories, which by Court order were to be limited to "Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

These responses are made solely for the purposes of this action. Each answer is subject to all of the appropriate objections (including but not limited to objections concerning incompetence, irrelevance, immateriality, propriety and admissibility) which would require the exclusion of any statement contained herein if an interrogatory were asked of, or if the answer was given by, the witness testifying in court. All such objections and grounds are reserved and may be interposed at the time of trial.

Without waiving its objections, rights or applicable privileges, defendant specially appears and answers Plaintiff's interrogatories to the extent possible as follows:

RESPONSES TO INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe your function/purpose within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to, and without waiving those objections, Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania (Watch Tower PA") responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a legal non-profit corporation that in the past has communicated the Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committees of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world. Watch Tower PA no longer does so. Watch Tower PA never communicated the Governing Body's spiritual counsel to the U.S. Branch Committee which went into operation in about April 2002. Watch Tower PA is the copyright holder for publications of Jehovah's Witnesses, holds funds donated for the world wide work of Jehovah's Witnesses and to the Kingdom Hall Building Fund, operates the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, and provides funds to branches and congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world who may be in need of such funds.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe all of the changes to your function/purpose since 1970.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant refers Plaintiffs to the answer to No. 1 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, why and when such changes were made.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1. above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, please state who made the changes.

ANSWER TO INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1. above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., are you involved in any way with receiving monies from members, publishers, congregations or any other Watchtower Defendant.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Yes, with respect to publishers and congregations. Generally speaking, Watch Tower PA does not receive monies from the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., although on a rare occasion it may. Watch Tower PA may receive monetary donations from its members from time to time, but such donations would not be segregated in any way from any other donation that may be received.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

If your answer to the previous interrogatory is in the affirmative, please explain why.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it cannot answer what motivates other persons, congregations, or corporations to contribute money to a religious organization. However, Watch Tower PA receives monies from some congregations that received funds from Watch Tower PA to build a Kingdom Hall. In addition, Watch Tower PA receives money from congregations in the United States on a yearly basis for the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA), and Watch Tower PA receives contributions from congregations and individuals in the United States for the worldwide Bible education work of Jehovah's Witnesses.

INTERROGATORY NO. 7:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 5 is in the affirmative, please explain how monies were received.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 7:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Cash, checks, and electronic transfers.

INTERROGATORY NO. 8:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 5 is in the affirmative, please identify the individual who knows the most about your receipt of funds.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 8:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Richard A. Abrahamson, Secretary-Treasurer.

INTERROGATORY NO. 9:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., from 1970 to the present, what role have you had in the investment or money management decision making for funds received by the Watchtower Society.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 9:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has no role in any investment or money management decisions of any other corporation or entity other than itself.

INTERROGATORY NO. 10:

With respect to Defendant Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please identify the people responsible for your policy-making and operations from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 10:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad. INTERROGATORY NO. 11:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please identify all members of your Board of Directors since 1970.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 11:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Water Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See response to No. 10 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 12:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please identify all officers of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania since 1970.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 12:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See response to No. 10 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses-Napa Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 13:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 14:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses-Oak Knoll Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 14:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 15:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 15:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship, because Watchtower NY is a separate legal entity that is neither a parent corporation nor subsidiary of Watch Tower PA.

INTERROGATORY NO. 16:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 16:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. INTERROGATORY NO. 17:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Service Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 17:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 18:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Legal Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 18:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

INTERROGATORY NO. 19:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Writing Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 19:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to writings published by the Writing Department of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States.

INTERROGATORY NO. 20:

Describe the relationship between you and Office of Public Information (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 20:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

INTERROGATORY NO. 21:

Describe the relationship between you and Public Affairs Office; and [sic] (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 21:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: The Public Affairs Office is now known as the Office of Public Information. See also response to No. 20 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 22:

Please describe the relationship between you and Governing Body (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 22:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship.

INTERROGATORY NO. 23:

Please describe the relationship between the Board of Directors for Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 23:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Until October 1971, Watch Tower PA's board of directors consisted exclusively of individuals who later became members of the Governing Body. Since about October 2000, no Governing Body member is or has been on the Watch Tower PA board of directors.

INTERROGATORY NO. 24:

Please describe the relationship between the officers of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 24:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See response to No. 23 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 25:

Please describe every way that the Governing Body used the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania to help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, including but not limited to the State of California, from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 25:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This interrogatory is overly broad, vague, and ambiguous as to what is specifically meant by the phrase "help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses." Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Up until about 2001, Watch Tower PA was occasionally "used" to communicate with congregations in California by mail. Watch Tower PA has held, and still holds, copyrights to literature published by Jehovah's Witnesses and used by many publishers in California. See also response to No. 1 above.

INTERROGATORY NO. 26:

Please describe how Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 26:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has not operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body.

INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall financing from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has provided money to congregations upon request so that the congregations could build Kingdom Halls.

INTERROGATORY NO. 28:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Gilead Schools from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 28:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has had no legal "involvement" with the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead.

INTERROGATORY NO. 29:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangements (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 29:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has received annual contributions from congregations to fund the KHAA since about 1989 and has managed the funds in KHAA.

INTERROGATORY NO. 30:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with risk management for California congregations and their respective Kingdom Halls from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 30:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 31:

Please describe your involvement with the purchase and/or financing of Kingdom Halls, generally, and the specific Kingdom Halls used by Defendant Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and Defendant Oak Knoll Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 31:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's

Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it provides money to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses upon request in order to financially assist the congregations with building Kingdom Halls of Jehovah's Witnesses. Watch Tower PA was not involved in the purchase or building of the Kingdom Hall used by Defendants Napa and Oak Knoll Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses and did not provide any monies to those two congregations for that purpose.

INTERROGATORY NO. 32:

Please describe the existence and operation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 32:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "describe the existence" of KHAA. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the KHAA was established in about 1989 to consolidate the insurance needs of congregations Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the United States. Each congregation may contribute to the fund. In turn, those monies are used to purchase a CGL insurance policy for all congregations and to cover certain claims for which there is no insurance.

INTERROGATORY NO. 33:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide all of the functions of the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 33:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the Risk Management Office of Watch Tower PA does not operate within the United States, except with respect to KHAA.

INTERROGATORY NO. 34:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide who at the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania oversaw/oversees the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 34:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

INTERROGATORY NO. 35:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe how the Society's Risk Management Office administers the KHAA Fund 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 35:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

INTERROGATORY NO. 36:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe from 1970 to the present how the Risk Management Office purchases commercial excess insurance to protect congregations from catastrophic loss.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 36:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

INTERROGATORY NO. 37:

Please describe the input the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has in seeking contributions for the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 37:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "input." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that Watch Tower PA informs congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States once each year of the need to support the KHAA and suggests to them a dollar amount per publisher in each congregation that they may wish to contribute toward the fund.

INTERROGATORY NO. 38:

Please describe the input the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has in construction of new Kingdom Halls from 1970 to present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 38:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "input." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 42:

With respect to the Gilead School, describe its function or purpose from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 42:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: The Watchtower Bible School of Gilead is a school designed to train missionaries for missionary service in countries outside of the United States.

INTERROGATORY NO. 43:

With respect to the Gilead School, describe your involvement with the Gilead School from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 43:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 44:

Please describe on what occasions Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania's attorneys and its legal staff provide counsel or representation to individual Jehovah's Witnesses.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 44:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that no Watch Tower PA attorneys or legal staff have any involvement with representation of individual Jehovah's Witnesses in California. The Legal Department does not operate under Watch Tower PA in the United States.

INTERROGATORY NO. 45:

Please describe on what occasions Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania's attorneys and its legal staff provide counsel or representation to congregation Elders.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 45:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information protected from discovery by the attorney-client privilege. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: The Legal Department does not operate under Watch Tower PA in the United States.

INTERROGATORY NO. 46:

With respect to the Legal Department at Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe where those offices are and how that Legal Department is separate and distinct from that of Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 46:

WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, et al.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

PROPOUNDING PARTY: PLAINTIFFS CHARISSA W. AND NICOLE D.

RESPONDING PARTY: DEFENDANT WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, specially appearing[1]

SET NUMBER: ONE

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Defendant") specially appears, see fn. 1, and provides the following answers to plaintiffs Charissa W. and Nicole D.'s ("Plaintiffs") request for production of documents pursuant to CCP Section 2031.

[1] Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") earlier filed a motion to quash service of summons and complaint based on lack of personal jurisdiction in California. That motion is still pending in this Court. Therefore, Defendant Watch Tower PA specially appears with respect to these responses to plaintiffs' request for production of documents, which by Court order were to be limited to "Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

Please produce the Corporate Book relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2:

Please produce the Bylaws relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2:

See the attached documents Bates nos. WTPA 00001-4.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3:

Please produce the organizational meeting minutes relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 3:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4:

Please produce all Board of Director meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 4:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5:

Please produce all shareholder or member meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 5:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6:

Please produce all committee meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 6:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7:

Please produce all resolutions from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 7:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8:

Please produce a complete list of shareholders and/or members from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 8:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9:

Please produce any and all documents indicating corporate restructuring or reorganization from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 9:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has no responsive documents, because there has been no corporate restructuring.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10:

Please produce all documents describing the hierarchical flow chart of positions/personnel from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 10:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, no responsive documents.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11:

Please produce all documents reflecting officers and directors from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 11:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, see Watch Tower PA's response to special interrogatory no. 10.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 12:

Please produce all mission statements and/or purpose statements relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 12:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and vague. Subject to and without waiving those objections, see Watch Tower PA's charter (see documents Bates numbered WTPA 00005-11), which provides:

The purposes of the corporation are religious, educational, and charitable, including to act as the servant and legal entity for the religious body of Christian persons known as Jehovah's Witnesses; publicly and from house to house preach and teach the gospel of God's Kingdom under Christ Jesus unto all nations as a witness to the name, Word, and supremacy of Almighty God, JEHOVA (Matthew 24:14; 28:19, 20; Psalm 83:18; Isaiah 43:10-12); print, record by any means and in any medium, and otherwise produce, and distribute Bibles in any medium; disseminate Bible truths in various languages; write, record by any means and in any medium, and otherwise create, publish, and distribute literature in various languages containing information and comment explaining Bible truths and prophecy concerning the establishment of Jehovah's Kingdom under Christ Jesus (2 Timothy 3:16, 17); write, record by any means and in any medium, and otherwise create, publish, and distribute music, art, and other intellectual property of a religious or educational nature in any medium; improve men, women, and children intellectually and morally by Christian missionary work; instruct and educate men, women, and children about the Bible and incidental scientific, historical, and literary subjects; establish and operate private Bible schools and ancillary facilities to house and care for the students at such schools and classes for gratuitously instructing men and women about the Bible, Bible literature, and Bible history and for preparing men and women for Christian missionary work; arrange for and hold assemblies for religious worship; maintain one or more religious orders of special ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses (2 Kings 2:3, 5; 6:1); provide humanitarian assistance to persons suffering from natural or man-made disasters and in other times of need; acquire, own, and utilize, including by gift, voluntary contributions, inheritance, and bequest, any interest in real and personal property, including residences and other facilities for missionaries throughout the world; and do any and all other lawful things that its Board of Directors, in accordance with the spiritual direction of the ecclesiastical Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses, shall deem appropriate in harmony with these purposes.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 13:

Please produce all flowcharts describing parent corporations and/or subsidiaries relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 13:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has no parent corporations or subsidiaries and thus no responsive documents.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14:

Please produce all documents which indicate a relationship to or with other business or corporate entities relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 14:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and vague. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA will supplement this response if Plaintiffs clarify specifically what "other business or corporate entities" this request refers to.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 15:

With respect to property owned or used by you, please provide the ownership documents including deed records and plats with respect to property in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 15:

Watch Tower PA responds that it holds title to real property in Apple Valley, California (deed does not currently exist); a cemetery plot in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Hollywood Hills, California; and a cemetery plot in Roosevelt Memorial Park Association, Gardens, California. These properties were devised to Watch Tower PA by means of wills or trusts. Watch Tower PA also responds that it has remainder interests in six homes in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 16:

With respect to property owned or used by you, please provide the documents relating to land purchase or acquisition in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 16:

Objection. This request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who devised said properties to Watch Tower PA. As noted, these properties were devised to Watch Tower PA by means of wills or trusts.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 17:

With respect to property owned or used by you, please provide the documents relating to building purchase or construction in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 17:

Watch Tower PA has not purchased or constructed any buildings in California and thus has no responsive documents.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 18:

With respect to property owned or used by you, please provide the documents relating to financing or purchase of building(s) in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 18:

No responsive documents, because Watch Tower PA does not use property in California and did not finance or purchase any such buildings in California. See also response to No. 15 above.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 19:

With respect to property owned by you, please provide all lease agreements relating to property or buildings in California.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST N O. 19:

No responsive documents.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 20:

Please provide documents relating to financing or purchases of building(s) for use by assemblies and/or congregations in California, including but not limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 20:

Objection. This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has provided funds to 197 congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 21:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to organizational financial statements from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 21:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request also is overly broad and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential financial information in the form of financial statements for purposes of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 22:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that indicate or reflect the origin of monies received by you.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 22:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 23:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that describe how monies from California congregations are received by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 23:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA receives contributions from approximately 1,977 congregations in California, which contributions are received by cash, checks and electronic transfers.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 24:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to treasurer summaries and reports from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 24:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential documents for purpose of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower

PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA receives contributions from approximately 1,977 congregations in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 25:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to tax returns and other government filings or reportings from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 25:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request violates privacy interests and privacy rights. This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and is intended to harass Defendant.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 26:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that memorialize wire transfers or deposits from congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 26:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 27:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to deposit summaries from individuals and/or congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 27:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 28:

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to bank statements reflecting amounts received from California by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 28:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 29:

Produce all corporate and/or governmental filings (state or federal) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 29:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that there are none in California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 30:

Produce any and all communications from Edward Villegas to you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 30:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 31:

Produce any and all communications from you to Edward Villegas from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 31:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 32:

Produce any and all documents provided to you regarding Edward Villegas from anyone including but not limited to any present or former Overseer, Elder or other Jehovah's Witness or any of the Watchtower Defendants.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 32:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 33:

Produce any and all documents from you regarding Edward Villegas to anyone including but not limited to any present or former Overseer, Elder or other Jehovah's Witness or any of the Watchtower Defendants.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 33:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 34:

Produce any and all documents and/or correspondence between any of the Watchtower Defendants, Circuit Overseers, Elders, or any Jehovah's Witness Congregations within which Edward Villegas was involved (including but not limited to congregations in Oregon and Alaska) regarding all correspondence associated with Edward Villegas' movement of membership from one congregation to another.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 34:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 35:

Produce any and all documents and/or correspondence between any of the Watchtower Defendants, Circuit Overseers, Elders, or any Jehovah's Witness Congregations within which Edward Villegas was involved (including but not limited to congregations in Oregon and Alaska) regarding Edward Villegas' recommendation and appointment as an Elder or other position in any congregation.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 35:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 36:

Produce any and all documents and/or correspondence between any of the Watchtower Defendants, Circuit Overseers, Elders, or any Jehovah's Witness Congregations within which Edward Villegas was involved (including but not limited to congregations in Oregon and Alaska) regarding any references or allegations relating to child sexual abuse, molestation, lewdness, and/or other improper conduct on the part of Edward Villegas.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 36:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 37:

Produce any and all documents and/or correspondence between any of the Watchtower Defendants, Circuit Overseers, Elders, or any Jehovah's Witness Congregations within which Edward Villegas was involved (including but not limited to congregations in Oregon and Alaska) regarding any investigation or inquiry performed by any of the Watchtower Defendants or any individual regarding Edward Villegas regarding allegations of child sexual abuse, molestation, lewdness, and/or other improper conduct with any minor.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 37:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 38:

Produce any and all documents and/or correspondence between any of the Watchtower Defendants, Circuit Overseers, Elders, or any Jehovah's Witness Congregations within which Edward Villegas was involved (including but not limited to congregations in Oregon and Alaska) regarding matters leading to any and all congregational discipline, reproval (private or public) and/or disfellowshipping of Edward Villegas.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 38:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analogy. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milovojevich, 426 U.S. 696(1976). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 39:

Produce any and all church and/or membership files or publisher record cards kept by you or any of the Watchtower Defendants pertaining to Edward Villegas.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 39:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and potentially seeks documents protected by the minister-communicant privilege.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 40:

Produce any and all church and/or membership files or publisher record cards kept by you or any of the Watchtower Defendants pertaining to Plaintiff Charissa W.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 40:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it does not have membership files or publisher record cards pertaining to Plaintiff.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 41:

Produce any and all church and/or membership files or publisher record cards kept by you or any of the Watchtower Defendants pertaining to Plaintiff Nicole D., in this action.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 41:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it does not have membership files or publisher record cards pertaining to Plaintiff.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 42:

Produce all documents sent by or prepared by you from 1970 to the present to any media representative relative to child sexual abuse or matters related thereto.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 42:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 43:

Produce all documents sent by or prepared by you from 1970 to the present that serve as press releases or public announcements relative to child sexual abuse or matters related thereto.

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 43:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 44:

Produce all documents sent by or prepared by you that provide instruction for elders and other congregation leaders including but not limited to Elder school materials from 1970 to the present (together with addenda, additions and supplements provided either verbally or in writing).

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 44:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. BRANCH, IF ANY:

SHORT TITLE OF CASE: Charissa W. and Nicole D. v. Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., et al.

FORM INTERROGATORIES

Asking Party: Charissa W. and Nicole D.

Answering Party: Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc.

Set No.: One

CASE NUMBER: 26-22191

Sec. 1. Instructions to All Parties

(a) Interrogatories are written questions prepared by a party to an action that are sent to any other party in the action to be answered under oath. The interrogatories below are form interrogatories approved for use in civil cases.

(b) For time limitations, requirements for service on other parties, and other details, see Code of Civil Procedure section 2030 and the cases construing it.

(c) These form interrogatories do not change existing law relating to interrogatories nor do they affect an answering party's right to assert any privilege or make any objection.

Sec. 2. Instructions to the Asking Party

(a) These interrogatories are designed for optional use by parties in unlimited civil cases where the amount demanded exceeds $25,000. Separate interrogatories, Form Interrogatories —Economic Litigation (form FI-129), which have no subparts, are designed for use in limited civil cases where the amount demanded is $25,000 or less; however, those interrogatories may also be used in unlimited civil cases.

(b) Check the box next to each interrogatory that you want the answering party to answer. Use care in choosing those interrogatories that are applicable to the case.

(c) You may insert your own definition of INCIDENT in Section 4, but only where the action arises from a course of conduct or a series of events occurring over a period of time.

(d) The interrogatories in section 16.0, Defendant's Contentions — Personal Injury, should not be used until the defendant has had a reasonable opportunity to conduct an investigation or discovery of plaintiff's injuries and damages.

(e) Additional interrogatories may be attached.

Sec. 3. Instructions to the Answering Party

(a) An answer or other appropriate response must be given to each interrogatory checked by the asking party.

(b) As a general rule, within 30 days after you are served with these interrogatories, you must serve your responses on the asking party and serve copies of your responses on all other parties to the action who have appeared. See Code of Civil Procedure section 2030 for details.

(c) Each answer must be as complete and straightforward as the information reasonably available to you, including the information possessed by your attorneys or agents, permits. If an interrogatory cannot be answered completely, answer it to the extent possible.

(d) If you do not have enough personal knowledge to fully answer an interrogatory, say so, but make a reasonable and good faith effort to get the information by asking other persons or organizations, unless the information is equally available to the asking party.

(e) Whenever an interrogatory may be answered by referring to a document, the document may be attached as an exhibit to the response and referred to in the response. If the document has more than one page, refer to the page and section where the answer to the interrogatory can be found.

(f) Whenever an address and telephone number for the same person are requested in more than one interrogatory, you are required to furnish them in answering only the first interrogatory asking for that information.

(g) If you are asserting a privilege or making an objection to an interrogatory, you must specifically assert the privilege or state the objection in your written response.

(h) Your answers to these interrogatories must be verified, dated, and signed. You may wish to use the following form at the end of your answers:

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing answers are true and correct.

(DATE) (SIGNATURE)

Sec. 4. Definitions

Words in BOLDFACE CAPITALS in these interrogatories are defined as follows:

[x] (1) INCIDENT includes the circumstances and events surrounding the alleged accident, injury, or other occurrence or breach of contract giving rise to this action or proceeding.

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual who prepared the report; and
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has the original or a copy.

14.0 Statutory or Regulatory Violations

[X] 14.1 Do YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF contend that any PERSON involved in the INCIDENT violated any statute, ordinance, or regulation and that the violation was a legal (proximate) cause of the INCIDENT? If so, identify the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON and the statute, ordinance, or regulation that was violated.

[X] 14.2 Was any PERSON cited or charged with a violation of any statute, ordinance, or regulation as a result of this INCIDENT? If so, for each PERSON state:
(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON;
(b) the statute, ordinance, or regulation allegedly violated;
(c) whether the PERSON entered a plea in response to the citation or charge and, if so, the plea entered; and
(d) the name and ADDRESS of the court or administrative agency, names of the parties, and case number.

15.0 Denials and Special or Affirmative Defenses

[ ] 15.1 Identify each denial of a material allegation and each special or affirmative defense in your pleadings and for each:
(a) state all facts upon which you base the denial or special or affirmative defense;
(b) state the names, ADDRESSES, and telephone numbers of all PERSONS who have knowledge of those facts; and
(c) identify all DOCUMENTS and other tangible things that support your denial or special or affirmative defense, and state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who has each DOCUMENT.

16.0 Defendant's Contentions — Personal Injury

[ ] 16.1 Do you contend that any PERSON, other than you or plaintiff, contributed to the occurrence of the INCIDENT or the injuries or damages claimed by plaintiff? If so, for each PERSON:
(a) state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON;
(b) state all facts upon which you base your contention;
(c) state the names, ADDRESSES, and telephone numbers of all PERSONS who have knowledge of the facts; and
(d) identify all DOCUMENTS and other tangible things that support your contention and state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who has each DOCUMENT or thing.

[ ] 16.2 Do you contend that plaintiff was not injured in the INCIDENT? If so:
(a) state all facts upon which you base your contention;
(b) state the names, ADDRESSES, and telephone numbers of all PERSONS who have knowledge of the facts; and
(c) identify all DOCUMENTS and other tangible things that support your contention and state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who has each DOCUMENT or thing.

9.0 Other Damages

[ ] 9.1 Are there any other damages that you attribute to the INCIDENT? If so, for each item of damage state:
(a) the nature;
(b) the date it occurred;
(c) the amount; and
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON to whom an obligation was incurred.

[ ] 9.2 Do any DOCUMENTS support the existence or amount of any item of damages claimed in interrogatory 9.1? If so, describe each document and state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who has each DOCUMENT.

10.0 Medical History

[ ] 10.1 At any time before the INCIDENT did you have complaints or injuries that involved the same part of your body claimed to have been injured in the INCIDENT? If so, for each state:
(a) a description of the complaint or injury;
(b) the dates it began and ended; and
(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each HEALTH CARE PROVIDER whom you consulted or who examined or treated you.

[ ] 10.2 List all physical, mental, and emotional disabilities you had immediately before the INCIDENT. (You may omit mental or emotional disabilities unless you attribute any mental or emotional injury to the INCIDENT.)

[ ] 10.3 At any time after the INCIDENT, did you sustain injuries of the kind for which you are now claiming damages? If so, for each incident giving rise to an injury state:
(a) the date and the place it occurred;
(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of any other PERSON involved;
(c) the nature of any injuries you sustained;
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each HEALTH CARE PROVIDER who you consulted or who examined or treated you; and
(e) the nature of the treatment and its duration.

11.0 Other Claims and Previous Claims

[ ] 11.1 Except for this action, in the past 10 years have you filed an action or made a written claim or demand for compensation for your personal injuries? If so, for each action, claim, or demand state:
(a) the date, time, and place and location (closest street ADDRESS or intersection) of the INCIDENT giving rise to the action, claim, or demand;
(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON against whom the claim or demand was made or the action filed;
(c) the court, names of the parties, and case number of any action filed;
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of any attorney representing you;
(e) whether the claim or action has been resolved or is pending; and
(f) a description of the injury.

[ ] 11.2 In the past 10 years have you made a written claim or demand for worker's compensation benefits? If so, for each claim or demand state:
(a) the date, time, and place of the INCIDENT giving rise to the claim;
(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of your employer at the time of the injury;
(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the workers' compensation insurer and the claim number;
(d) the period of time during which you received workers' compensation benefits;
(e) a description of the injury;
(f) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of any HEALTH CARE PROVIDER who provided services; and
(g) the case number at the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board.

12.0 Investigation — General

[X] 12.1 State the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each individual:
(a) who witnessed the INCIDENT or the events occurring immediately before or after the INCIDENT;
(b) who made any statement at the scene of the INCIDENT;
(c) who heard any statements made about the INCIDENT by any individual at the scene; and
(d) who YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF claim has knowledge of the INCIDENT (except for expert witnesses covered by Code of Civil Procedure section 2034).

[X] 12.2 Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF interviewed any individual concerning the INCIDENT? If so, for each individual state:
(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual interviewed;
(b) the date of the interview; and
(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who conducted the interview.

[X] 12.3 Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF obtained a written or recorded statement from any individual concerning the INCIDENT? If so, for each statement state:
(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual from whom the statement was obtained;
(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual who obtained the statement;
(c) the date the statement was obtained; and
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has the original statement or a copy.

6.3 Do you still have any complaints that you attribute to the INCIDENT? If so, for each complaint state:
(a) a description;
(b) whether the complaint is subsiding, remaining the same, or becoming worse; and
(c) the frequency and duration.

6.4 Did you receive any consultation or examination (except from expert witnesses covered by Code of Civil Procedure section 2034) or treatment from a HEALTH CARE PROVIDER for any injury you attribute to the INCIDENT? If so, for each HEALTH CARE PROVIDER state:
(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number;
(b) the type of consultation, examination, or treatment provided;
(c) the dates you received consultation, examination, or treatment; and
(d) the charges to date.

6.5 Have you taken any medication, prescribed or not, as a result of injuries that you attribute to the INCIDENT? If so, for each medication state:
(a) the name;
(b) the PERSON who prescribed or furnished it;
(c) the date it was prescribed or furnished;
(d) the dates you began and stopped taking it; and
(e) the cost to date.

6.6 Are there any other medical services necessitated by the injuries that you attribute to the INCIDENT that were not previously listed (for example, ambulance, nursing, prosthetics)? If so, for each service state:
(a) the nature;
(b) the date;
(c) the cost; and
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each provider.

6.7 Has any HEALTH CARE PROVIDER advised that you may require future or additional treatment for any injuries that you attribute to the INCIDENT? If so, for each injury state:
(a) the name and ADDRESS of each HEALTH CARE PROVIDER;
(b) the complaints for which the treatment was advised; and
(c) the nature, duration, and estimated cost of the treatment.

7.0 Property Damage

7.1 Do you attribute any loss of or damage to a vehicle or other property to the INCIDENT? If so, for each item of property:
(a) describe the property;
(b) describe the nature and location of the damage to the property;
(c) state the amount of damage you are claiming for each item of property and how the amount was calculated; and
(d) if the property was sold, state the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the seller, the date of sale, and the sale price.

7.2 Has a written estimate or evaluation been made for any item of property referred to in your answer to the preceding interrogatory? If so, for each estimate or evaluation state:
(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who prepared it and the date prepared;
(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has a copy of it; and
(c) the amount of damage stated.

7.3 Has any item of property referred to in your answer to interrogatory 7.1 been repaired? If so, for each item state:
(a) the date repaired;
(b) a description of the repair;
(c) the repair cost;
(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who repaired it;
(e) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who paid for the repair.

8.0 Loss of Income or Earning Capacity

8.1 Do you attribute any loss of income or earning capacity to the INCIDENT? (If your answer is "no," do not answer interrogatories 8.2 through 8.8).

8.2 State:
(a) the nature of your work;
(b) your job title at the time of the INCIDENT; and
(c) the date your employment began.

8.3 State the last date before the INCIDENT that you worked for compensation.

8.4 State your monthly income at the time of the INCIDENT and how the amount was calculated.

8.5 State the date you returned to work at each place of employment following the INCIDENT.

8.6 State the dates you did not work and for which you lost income as a result of the INCIDENT.

8.7 State the total income you have lost to date as a result of the INCIDENT and how the amount was calculated.

8.8 Will you lose income in the future as a result of the INCIDENT? If so, state:
(a) the facts upon which you base this contention;
(b) an estimate of the amount;
(c) an estimate of how long you will be unable to work; and
(d) how the claim for future income is calculated.

WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, et al.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D., Plaintiffs, v. WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al., Defendants.	Case No.: 26-22191 DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFFS' FORM INTERROGATORIES

PROPOUNDING PARTY: PLAINTIFFS CHARISSA W. AND NICOLE D.

RESPONDING PARTY: DEFENDANT WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, specially appearing[1]

SET NUMBER: ONE

Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Defendant") specially appears, see fn. 1, and provides the following answers to plaintiffs Charissa W. and Nicole D.'s ("Plaintiffs") interrogatories pursuant to CCP Section 2030. In answering these

[1] Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA") earlier filed a motion to quash service of summons and complaint based on lack of personal jurisdiction in California. That motion is still pending in this Court. Therefore, Defendant Watch Tower PA specially appears with respect to these responses to plaintiffs' form interrogatories, which by Court order were to be limited to "Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period."

interrogatories, you have been furnished with such information as is presently available. This may include hearsay and other forms of evidence that are neither reliable nor admissible. The answers are, in addition, given without prejudice to producing at trial subsequently discovered information or information omitted from the answers as a result of good faith oversight.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

These responses are made solely for the purposes of this action. Each answer is subject to all of the appropriate objections (including but not limited to objections concerning incompetence, irrelevance, immateriality, propriety and admissibility) which would require the exclusion of any statement contained herein if an interrogatory were asked of, or if the answer was given by, the witness testifying in court. All such objections and grounds are reserved and may be interposed at the time of trial.

Defendant also expressly reserves and does not waive all applicable objections, rights, and privileges other than the specific objection that these interrogatories fall outside the limited scope of discovery permitted by the Court regarding Watch Tower PA (see fn. 1, supra). Therefore, subject to and without waiving those other possible objections, rights or privileges, Defendant answers Plaintiffs' interrogatories as follows:

RESPONSES TO FORM INTERROGATORIES

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 1.1:

State the name, ADDRESS, telephone number, and relationship to you of each PERSON who prepared or assisted in the preparation of the responses to these interrogatories. (Do not identify anyone who simply typed or reproduced the responses.)

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 1.1:

Robert J. Schnack, Bullivant Houser Bailey PC, 11335 Gold Express Drive, Suite 105, Gold River, CA 95670 (916)-852-9100, and Mario F. Moreno, Esq., 100 Watchtower Drive, Patterson, New York, (845) 306-1000.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.1:

Are you a corporation? If so, state:

(a) the name stated in the current articles of incorporation;

(b) all other names used by the corporation during the past ten years and the dates each was used;

(c) the date and place of incorporation;

(d) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business;

(e) whether you are qualified to do business in California.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.1:

Yes.

(a) Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.

(b) Not applicable.

(c) December 15, 1885, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania.

(d) 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201.

(e) No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.2:

Are you a partnership? If so, state:

(a) the current partnership name;

(b) all other names used by the partnership during the past ten years and the dates each was used;

(c) whether you are a limited partnership and, if so, under the laws of what jurisdiction;

(d) the name and ADDRESS of each general partner;

(e) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.2:

No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.3:

Are you a limited liability company? If so, state:

(a) the current partnership name;

(b) whether you are a limited partnership and, if so, under the laws of what jurisdiction;

(c) whether you are a limited partnership and, if so, under the laws of what jurisdiction;

(d) the name and ADDRESS of each general partner; and

(e) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.3:

No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.4:

Are you a joint venture? If so, state:

(a) the current joint venture name;

(b) all other names used by the joint venture during the past ten years and the dates each was used;

(c) the name and ADDRESS of each joint venture;

(d) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.4:

No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.5:

Are you an unincorporated association? If so, state:

(a) the current unincorporated association name;

(b) all other names used by the unincorporated association during the past ten years and the dates each was used;

(c) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.5:

No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.6:

Have you done business under a fictitious name during the past ten years? If so, for each fictitious name state:

(a) the name;

(b) the dates each was used;

(c) the state and county of each fictitious name filing;

(d) the ADDRESS of the principal place of business.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.6:

No.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.7:

Within the past five years has any public entity registered or licensed your businesses? If so, for each license or registration:

(a) identify the license or registration;

(b) state the name of the public entity;

(c) state the dates of issuance and expiration.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 3.7:

Objection. This request is overly broad with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. Subject to and without waiving that objection, Defendant responds that no public entity in California has registered or licensed Defendant's "businesses" within the past five years.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.1:

At the time of the INCIDENT, was there in effect any policy of insurance through which you were or might be insured in any manner (for example, primary, pro-rata, or excess liability coverage or medical expense coverage) for the damages, claims, or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, for each policy state:

(a) the kind of coverage;

(b) the name and ADDRESS of the insurance company;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each named insured;

(d) the policy number;

(e) the limits of coverage for each type of coverage contained in the policy;

(f) whether any reservation of rights, controversy or coverage dispute exists between you and the insurance company;

(g) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the custodian of the policy.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.1:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.2:

Are you self-insured under any statute for the damages, claims, or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, specify the statute.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.2:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.1:

State the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each individual:

(a) who witnessed the INCIDENT or the events occurring immediately before or after the INCIDENT;

(b) who made any statement at the scene of the INCIDENT;

(c) who heard any statements made about the INCIDENT by any individual at the scene;

(d) who YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF claim has knowledge of the INCIDENT (except for expert witnesses covered by Code of Civil Procedure, §2034).

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.1:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.2:

Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF interviewed any individual concerning the INCIDENT? If so, for each individual state:

(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual interviewed;

(b) the date of the interview;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON who conducted the interview.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.2:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.3:

Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF obtained a written or recorded statement from any individual concerning the INCIDENT? If so, for each statement state:

(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual from whom the statement was obtained;

(b) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual who obtained the statement;

(c) the date the statement was obtained;

(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has the original statement or a copy.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.3:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.4:

Do YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF know of any photographs, films, or videotapes depicting any place, object, or individual concerning the INCIDENT or plaintiff's injuries? If so, state:

(a) the number of photographs or feet of film or videotape;

(b) the places, objects, or persons photographed, filmed, or videotaped;

(c) the date the photographs, films, or videotapes were taken;

(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual taking the photographs, films, or videotapes;

(e) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has the original or a copy.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.4:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.5:

Do YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF know of any diagram, reproduction, or model of any place or thing (except for items developed by expert witnesses covered by Code of Civil Procedure, §2034) concerning the INCIDENT? If so, for each item state:

(a) the type (i.e., diagram, reproduction, or model);

(b) the subject matter;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has it.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.5:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.6:

Was a report made by any PERSON concerning the INCIDENT? If so, state:

(a) the name, title, identification number, and employer of the PERSON who made the report;

(b) the date and type of report made;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON for whom the report was made.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.6:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.7:

Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF inspected the scene of the INCIDENT? If so, for each inspection state:

(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual making the inspection (except for expert witnesses covered by the Code of Civil Procedure §2034);

(b) the date of the inspection.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 12.7:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 13.1:

Have YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF conducted surveillance of any individual involved in the INCIDENT or any party to this action? If so, for each surveillance state:

(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual or party;

(b) the time, date, and place of the surveillance;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual who conducted the surveillance.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 13.1:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 13.2:

Has a written report been prepared on the surveillance? If so, for each written report state:

(a) the title;

(b) the date;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the individual who prepared the report;

(d) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each PERSON who has the original or a copy.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 13.2:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 14.1:

Do YOU OR ANYONE ACTING ON YOUR BEHALF contend that any PERSON involved in the INCIDENT violated any statute, ordinance, or regulation and that the violation was a legal (proximate) cause of the INCIDENT? If so, identify each PERSON and the statute, ordinance, or regulation.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 14.1:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 14.2:

Was any PERSON cited or charged with a violation of any statute, ordinance, or regulation as a result of this INCIDENT? If so, for each PERSON state:

(a) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the PERSON;

(b) the statute, ordinance, or regulation allegedly violated;

(c) whether the PERSON entered a plea in response to the citation or charge and, if so, the plea entered;

(d) the name and ADDRESS of the court or administrative agency, names of the parties, and case number.

RESPONSE TO FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 14.2:

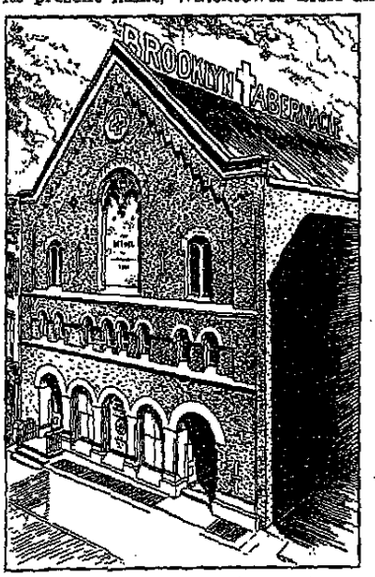
Objection. visited Henry Ward Beecher at his Columbia Heights residence.

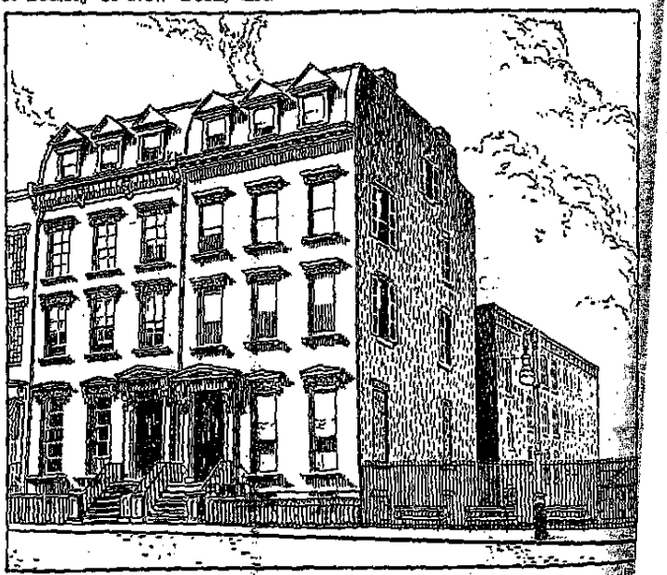
The Society also purchased the old "Plymouth Bethel," a nearby mission structure that had long been used by the Plymouth Church.[d] After some remodeling, on January 31, 1909, the Society dedicated their new headquarters, with 350 in attendance. An assembly hall on the second floor of the renovated Plymouth Bethel had a seating capacity of 800 and was attractively redecorated in light olive green, as the predominating color, with a few artistic Scripture texts along the walls. On its street floor were located the Society's offices and in the basement was a small press for printing handbills, also a shipping department. Concerning these buildings an announcement in The Watch Tower stated:

> The new home we shall call "Bethel," and the new office and auditorium, "The Brooklyn Tabernacle"; these names will supplant the term "Bible House."[e]



The Society's facilities in Pittsburgh were now sold and its accelerated preaching campaign in its final stage of this important phase of the work was ready to begin. Commodious and convenient as these expanded headquarters in Brooklyn were, however, within two years, in 1911, spacious new housing accommodations were completed adjoining the rear of Bethel, fronting on Furman Street and overlooking the Brooklyn waterfront.[f]

A NEW LEGAL SERVANT IS FORMED



In order to hold title to this property in New York state it was thought advisable for the Witnesses to form a new corporation. The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania was subject to certain legal restrictions. So, after proper application, on February 23, 1909, the People's Pulpit Association was given legal identity as decreed by New York Supreme Court Justice Isaac N. Miller.[g] Its chartered purposes are stated as follows:

olent, scientific, historical, literary and religious purposes; the moral and mental improvement of men and women, the dissemination of Bible Truths in various languages by means of the publication of tracts, pamphlets, papers and other religious documents, and for religious missionary work.[h]

TOM: How do you co-ordinate the work of these two corporations, John?

JOHN: Perhaps this quotation from The Watch Tower in 1914 will help.

For the sake of our many new readers we explain that the WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY [Pennsylvania corporation], as the parent organization, represents all the activities in Christian work with which THE WATCH TOWER and its Editor are associated. All of the work done through the INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION and PEOPLE'S PULPIT ASSOCIATION, directly and indirectly, is the work of the WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY.

As I have already explained, Tom, the People's Pulpit Association was the New York corporation formed in 1909, whereas the International Bible Students Association mentioned here was a British corporation formed in 1914. This British corporation, while organized particularly for the British field, also had a New York address at the Society's headquarters in Brooklyn. Now the Watch Tower article continues:

The Editor of THE WATCH TOWER is the President of all three of these Societies. All financial responsibility connected with the work proceeds from the WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY [the Pennsylvania corporation]. From it the other Societies and all the branches of the work receive their financial support. . . .

Our division of the work was made necessary by the fact that the parent society Charter by the State of Pennsylvania is not by law permitted to hold property in New York State; hence the necessity for organizing a subsidiary society to hold any real estate in New York. Similarly, the laws of Great Britain prevent any foreign society from holding title to real estate there. This necessitated the organization of the INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION with a British charter. Thus it comes that we use sometimes the one name and sometimes the other in various parts of our work—yet they all in the end mean the WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY [the Pennsylvania corporation]—to which all donations should be made.[i]

TOM: Are those three the only corporations you use?

JOHN: No, since then the Society has formed a number of corporations in various countries of the world, but all work together under the direction of the Pennsylvania corporation, which is, itself, merely a legal instrument for the unincorporated body of Jehovah's witnesses world-wide.

AN INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Jehovah's witnesses have always carried on an intensive campaign, but these years from 1909 to 1914 were truly climactic in the activity exerted by these early modern Witnesses and in the results obtained. Day and night those at headquarters, as well as the pilgrims and colporteurs in the field and those volunteer service workers giving freely of their spare time, were truly expending themselves to give a global witness with the facilities they had.

Beginning with the year 1909 the Society began to put out a new series of tracts first called "People's Pulpit," then "Everybody's Paper" and still later "The Bible Students Monthly." Each month a different issue appeared with a powerful new salvo released against Protestantism, false religion and apostasy. Illustrations and cartoons added to their telling effect. These were distributed literally by the millions under the doors of homes and in front of churches and by personal contact. This tract distribution, however, was by no means the limit to the Society's efforts to give as great a witness as possible. Distribution of pamphlets and bound books, especially by colporteurs, was also running into many millions of copies.

CHAPTER 1

THE WORK OF PREACHING AND DISCIPLE-MAKING

JEHOVAH has provided good news for mankind, and it is his will that people everywhere be given opportunity to hear it. Now, as the wicked system of things nears its finish, the time left in which to reach people of all nations with this good news is short. There is much to be done. It is a work for everyone who truly loves God and who loves his neighbor. Will you share in it?

Of course, service to God has always included such basic matters as clean living, loving care for the members of one's family, obedience to divine law and prayerful expressions of gratitude to our Creator. But at various times Jehovah has also given special assignments of work to his servants. Noah, for example, was instructed to build an ark and to be a "preacher of righteousness" at a time when the earth was filled with violence. Israel's prophets served as God's spokesmen, announcing both good news and messages of judgment. —2 Pet. 2:5; Gen. 6:13, 14; Jer. 1:7-10.

The special work assigned to Christians was begun at Jehovah's direction nineteen hundred years ago. It was a twofold work: first, that of proclaiming the good news of God's kingdom along with God's judgment messages to peoples of all nations, and, second, that of teaching all those people responding favorably to that proclamation, making disciples of them.

God gave a splendid start to that work, using his own Son to initiate it and to set the right pattern for others to follow. Jesus personally "set out on a tour of all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the good by Jesus his "other sheep." (John 10:16) The Bible also designates them as a "great crowd," having the hope of everlasting life on earth as subjects of the Kingdom.—Rev. 7:9-17.

The remaining ones of Christ's spirit-anointed body members on earth constitute the "faithful and discreet slave" of today, and it is this class, as foretold at Matthew 24:47, that the Lord Jesus has appointed "over all his belongings" here on earth. So it is vital to work in close association with this "slave" class and to respond in a positive way to the counsel that you receive through it.

From among the members of that "faithful and discreet slave" class certain ones serve as a visible governing body. In the first century of our Common Era that visible governing body was made up of the apostles and other "older men" in the Jerusalem congregation. (Acts 15:2, 6, 23) When they were called on to make decisions affecting the lives and activity of God's people, they considered carefully what the Scriptures said about the matter, looked to God for the direction of his spirit, and then gave appropriate counsel. They also appointed men to responsible positions. (Acts 6:1-6) And they sent out members of the governing body and others on special assignments. (Acts 8:14, 15; 11:22; 15:22) Response to such oversight provided by the Master Jesus Christ through this visible agency resulted in continued increase, with God's blessing.—Acts 16:1-5; 1 Cor. 3:6, 7.

INSTRUMENTS USED BY THE "FAITHFUL AND DISCREET SLAVE" CLASS

In order to carry out the work of preaching and disciple-making most effectively under modern-day conditions, the "faithful and discreet slave" has organized various legal corporations, the principal one of which is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. This Society, made up of dedicated, baptized Christians, is nonprofit and is completely devoted to advancing the interests of true worship in the earth. To facilitate its work world wide, the Society also has branch offices in various countries. All of these are subject to the "faithful and discreet slave" class and its governing body.

Throughout the territory supervised by the various branch offices of the Watch Tower Society are congregations of Jehovah's Christian witnesses. These are all organized in harmony with the arrangements set out in the Scriptures. These congregations have appointed elders, at present some of the anointed and some of the "other sheep," but all spiritually qualified men, who serve as overseers and spiritual shepherds of the flock of God entrusted to their care. (Acts 14:23; 20:17, 28; Titus 1:5) None of these elders is looked to as the head of the congregation; that is the position to which God has appointed Jesus Christ. Rather, the elders as a body work together to care for the flock under the direction of the Fine Shepherd, Jesus Christ. (1 Tim. 4:14; John 10:11) They well know that the flock is not theirs but God's, and they recognize their accountability to Jehovah. The result is a unified organization, one that upbuilds and refreshes its members and that serves for the accomplishment of the work that God has given it to perform.

RECOGNIZING GOD'S ARRANGEMENT

If you desire to serve Jehovah and to share in the work that he gives his people to do today, you need to associate with those whom God approves. Are you convinced that Jehovah is using an earthly organization of disciples of Jesus Christ, that the Christian congregation of anointed ones is indeed the appointed "slave" that has been entrusted with all the earthly interests of the Master Jesus Christ?

"GOOD NEWS" —Even For Our Day!

JANUARY 1, 1977

ANNOUNCING JEHOVAH'S KINGDOM

KEEPING ON WATCH FOR THE MASTER

14 In 1971, the Governing Body of the "slave" class began to be enlarged in order to give broader spiritual supervision over the "belongings" of the Master here on earth. This includes caring for the interests of the "great crowd." It includes giving oversight to the preparing of Kingdom publications, to teaching God's people and to helping them in their service in the field.

15 Over the years, the Governing Body of the "faithful and discreet slave" was always associated closely with the corporate body now known as the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, which was first incorporated in 1884, and which administers necessary matters for Jehovah's Witnesses world wide. There is no question that the first president of this corporation, C. T. Russell, was used mightily by Jehovah during the period when basic Bible truths were being restored among God's true worshipers on earth. Then, from 1917 to 1942, J. F. Rutherford served as president, and fought courageously against Christendom's efforts to discredit and destroy God's organized people on earth. From 1942, N. H. Knorr, who is still serving as president of the Watch Tower Society, has energetically pushed a great Bible educational campaign to the very ends of the earth. Administration by these faithful men and their fellow workers in the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses has been marvelously blessed by Jehovah. It is indicative of heaven's direction, and of the permanence and stability of the organization, that in the space of almost a hundred years, only three different men have served as president of the Watch Tower Society, each with abilities particularly suited to the needs of the time.

14. For what "belongings" does the "slave" now care?
15. (a) How has the Governing Body of the "slave" been blessed over the years? (b) What has helped in giving permanence to the organization?

16 To meet further demands of expansion, it was arranged in 1971 to increase the number of "older men" serving as the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses from seven (the directors of the Watch Tower Society) to a total of eleven members. Further expansion, to eighteen members, took place late in 1974; of these, John Groh has since finished his earthly course. And it was during the next year, 1975, that one of the most significant organizational readjustments in the 100-year history of the modern-day witnesses of Jehovah came under consideration. After discussions that continued through most of that year, the reorganization was approved on December 4, 1975, by a unanimous vote of the seventeen members of the Governing Body. It became operative from January 1, 1976.

17 What was involved in this reorganization? As always, Christ Jesus continued to be recognized as Head over the "slave" class, his congregation here on earth. (Eph. 1:22; 5:23) Under this one Head, the anointed members of the Governing Body serve as equals, with a chairman rotating alphabetically each year. Administrative responsibilities are divided among the Chairman's Committee of three members (comprising the chairman for the current year, for the previous year and for the year to follow), and five permanent committees of from five to seven members, which oversee the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses world wide. Each of these five committees has a chairman rotating each year and a permanent coordinator or secretary.—Prov. 11:14.

18 The Writing Committee supervises the preparation of all publications; the Teaching Committee prepares materials for the various schools, meetings and assemblies arranged for God's people; the Service Committee takes care of all matters related to Kingdom-preaching and disciple-making; the Publishing Committee handles all printing operations and business affairs; and the Personnel Committee watches over the interests of all persons serving in the Bethel homes and factories of Jehovah's Witnesses. Thus responsibilities are shared, as was done among "older men" in the first-century Christian congregation. Moreover, the organization is now well equipped to handle further expansion, as well as problems that may arise due to the worsening world crisis.—Acts 15:1, 2, 6-29; 1 Cor. 14:40.

[19] On February 1, 1976, a similar arrangement was put into effect in all branch offices of the Watch Tower Society throughout the earth. No longer is there a branch overseer, but three or more experienced "older men" serve as a committee under the Governing Body in watching over the interests of Jehovah's Witnesses in that area. In these committees, too, the chairman rotates each year, while one member serves continuously as coordinator.—Prov. 15:22.

19. How have the Watch Tower branch offices been reorganized, in line with Proverbs 15:22?

[20] With Jehovah's blessing, the work of his self-sacrificing Witnesses has borne marvelous fruitage, and the organization has expanded accordingly. There are some faithful workers in the field who have served Jehovah loyally for forty, fifty, sixty and more years, and these continue as outstanding examples to the entire congregation. There are those, too, who have expended themselves in "pioneering" difficult territories, in carrying the Kingdom message into new cities and lands, and in serving "underground" for decades in countries where Jehovah's Witnesses are banned. As all of us continue to serve with zeal, we can be confident that fine fruitage will be produced right through to the time when "Jehovah's day" brings sudden and instant destruction on this wicked world. —1 Thess. 5:1-4.

[21] Clearly, "expressions inspired by demons" are now going forth "to the kings [rulers] of the entire inhabited earth, to gather them together to the war of the great day of God the Almighty." It is in this situation that our Master adds the warning: "Look! I am coming as a thief.

20. (a) What marvelous fruitage has been produced by faithful workers in the field? (Matt. 13:23) (b) What encouragement does First Thessalonians 5:1-4 give toward our continuing to bear such fruitage?

21. (a) In what situation do the Master and his "slave" admonish all to serve God with zeal? (b) What rewards result from zealous service? (Prov. 18:10; Isa. 26:20, 21) to the 144,000 spiritual Israelites who would be "slaves of our God," a "great crowd" of others would stand approved before God and Christ. Their respect for Jehovah's organizational arrangement is made clear, because it is pointed out that they serve God "in his temple," that is, in association on earth with the remnant of Christ's body members, who make up a temple of "living stones," "a holy temple for Jehovah . . . a place for God to inhabit by spirit." (1 Pet. 2:5; Eph. 2:21, 22) And in his illustration of the sheep and the goats, Jesus says that people of the nations are to undergo judicial examination on the basis of their treatment of his "brothers," his spirit-anointed fellow heirs of the heavenly kingdom. It is those who loyally uphold them even when they are being persecuted and who refresh them by wholehearted participation with them as dedicated Christians in God's service who will be approved by Jesus Christ and rewarded with eternal life. —Matt. 25:31-46; Heb. 2:10, 11.

From among the members of Christ's spirit-anointed body members certain ones serve as a visible governing body. In the first century of our Common Era that governing body was made up of the apostles and certain other mature brothers in the Jerusalem congregation. (Acts 15:2, 6, 23) When they were called on to make decisions affecting the lives and activity of God's people, they considered carefully what the Scriptures said about the matter, looked to God for the direction of his spirit, and then gave appropriate counsel. Response to their oversight strengthened the faith of the congregations and resulted in continued increase, with God's blessing.—Acts 16:4, 5; 1 Cor. 3:6, 7.

In order to carry out the preaching work most effectively under modern-day conditions, the "faithful and discreet slave" has organized a legal corporation, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. This Society, made up of mature Christians, is nonprofit and is completely devoted to advancing the interests of true worship in the earth. It has been used by the anointed followers of Jesus Christ for many years in dispensing knowledge to the household of faith and directing the preaching work, and Jehovah's blessing on that arrangement is very manifest. The visible governing body is closely identified with the board of directors of this Society. As was true among early Christians, response to the oversight of the governing body results in unity and increase.

To facilitate the carrying out of Jesus' instructions to preach "this good news of the kingdom" in all the inhabited earth, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society also has branch offices in various countries. All of these are subject to the visible governing body, but each branch devotes its attention to its own territory. Knowing the conditions that exist there, the branch office is in position to apply instructions in the most beneficial way and to handle local matters promptly.

It is no less true in our day than it was in the first century of our Common Era that close contact with Jehovah's visible organization is important. Those who got baptized as Christians at the time of Pentecost, 33 C.E., continued in close association with the apostles to receive instruction. (Acts 2:41, 42) When persecution resulted in a scattering of the disciples, they still kept in touch with the governing body in Jerusalem. (Acts 8:1, 14-17) Later, when Saul of Tarsus was converted, the Lord saw to it that he was brought into contact with representatives of the Christian congregation for instruction. (Acts 9:1-22) And as this zealous apostle went about the preaching work, he built up the appreciation of others for Jehovah's visible organization. How? By referring the important circumcision issue to the governing body at Jerusalem and supporting the decision made; also by organizing congregations in many of the cities where he preached. (Acts 14:21-23; 15:1, 2; 16:4, 5) The instructions written to some of those congregations have been preserved for us in the inspired Word of God, and they continue to provide the basis for the organizational procedures followed by Jehovah's Christian witnesses today.

CHAPTER 3

Congregation Meetings

IN ALL parts of the earth where there are groups of Jehovah's witnesses, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society has organized congregations and provided a schedule of meetings for the spiritual upbuilding of those associated with them.

Gathering together to hear God's Word and to share in worship is important for each one of us, even as it was in the days of faithful Nehemiah, who urged his fellow Israelites: "We should not neglect the house of our God." (Neh. 10:39) Attending meetings of Jehovah's witnesses shows that you are conscious of your spiritual need and it identifies you with Jehovah's servants in the earth. At Hebrews 10:24, 25, the apostle Paul urges us to appreciate the importance of the meetings, saying: "Let us consider one another to incite to love and fine works, not forsaking the gathering of ourselves together, as some have the custom, but encouraging one another, and all the more so as you behold the day drawing near." That "day" is indeed drawing very near, and the pressures of the world are constantly increasing. So, more than ever before, it is necessary to gather together at the congregation meetings, in order to stay spiritually awake. Even when you are tired at the end of the day, you will find that the meetings are refreshing.

Attending meetings is important for both young persons and those of older years. It is a fine thing when parents arrange to bring their children with them to the meetings. As the prophet Moses instructed the people in his day: "Congregate the people, the men and the women and the little ones . . . in order that they may listen and in order that they may learn." (Deut. 31:12) And of the young man Timothy, the Bible informs us that he knew the holy writings from the time of infancy.—2 Tim. 3:14, 15.

It is not just occasional meeting attendance that makes one a spiritually sound, mature Christian. More is required than that. Regularity is needed, and balance, enabling one to benefit from all the provisions made by Jehovah through his organization. Those who embraced the truth at the time of Pentecost, 33 C.E., did not treat the matter lightly. "They continued devoting themselves to the teaching of the apostles . . . And day after day they were in constant attendance at the temple with one accord." (Acts 2:42, 46) Later, when Paul instructed disciples in Ephesus, he provided a consistent program of spiritual upbuilding for them, giving talks daily. (Acts 19:9) Really, where would we rather be than in association with Jehovah's people? And what could be more beneficial than hearing the Word of God discussed?

It is also our privilege and duty when attending meetings to consider the others who are present. Of course, our being in attendance is itself a source of encouragement to them. But, when discussing the importance of attending meetings, the apostle Paul urged us to do more than simply be present. He said: "Let us hold fast the public declaration

How the Governing Body Differs From a Legal Corporation

ANNUAL meetings of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania have been held since January of 1885. When the ingathering of anointed Christians was underway in the late 19th century, the directors and officers of this corporation had the heavenly hope. In fact, this has almost always been the case.

There was one exception. In 1940, Hayden C. Covington—then the Society's legal counsel and one of the "other sheep," with the earthly hope—was elected a director of the Society. (John 10:16) He served as the Society's vice president from 1942 to 1945. At that time, Brother Covington stepped aside as a director to comply with what then seemed to be Jehovah's will—that all directors and officers of the Pennsylvania corporation be anointed Christians. Lyman A. Swingle replaced Hayden C. Covington on the board of directors, and Frederick W. Franz was elected vice president.

Why did Jehovah's servants believe that all the directors and officers of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania should be anointed Christians? Because at the time, the board of directors and officers of the Pennsylvania corporation were closely identified with the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses, which has always been made up entirely of spirit-anointed men.

A Historic Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting held on October 2, 1944, in Pittsburgh, the members of the Pennsylvania corporation adopted six resolutions amending its charter. The charter had provided that voting shares be issued to contributors of funds to the Society's work, but the third amendment eliminated that provision. A report on that annual meeting noted: "Membership in the Society will be limited to not more than 500 . . . Each one chosen must be a full-time servant of the Society or a part-time servant of a company [congregation] of Jehovah's witnesses and must show the spirit of the Lord."

Thereafter, directors of the Society were to be voted into office by individuals who were fully devoted to Jehovah, irrespective of the amount of money that they contributed to advance the Kingdom work. This turned out to be in accord with the progressive refinements foretold at Isaiah 60:17, where we read: "Instead of the copper I shall bring in gold, and instead of the iron I shall bring in silver, and instead of the wood, copper, and instead of the stones, iron; and I will appoint peace as your overseers and righteousness as your task assigners." In referring to "overseers" and "task assigners," this prophecy pointed to improvements in organizational procedures among Jehovah's people.

This important step in bringing the organization into theocratic alignment came at the end of the "two thousand three hundred evenings and mornings," mentioned at Daniel 8:14. At that time, "the holy place" was "brought into its right condition."

After the historic annual meeting in 1944, however, a vital question remained. Since the Governing Body was then closely identified with the Pennsylvania corporation's seven-member board of directors, did this mean that the Governing Body could never be made up of more than seven anointed Christians? Moreover, since the directors are elected by the members of the corporation, were the corporation members electing members of the Governing Body at the annual meeting each year? Are the directors and officers of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the members of the Governing Body one and the same, or are they different?

Another Unforgettable Annual Meeting

These questions were answered at the annual meeting held on October 1, 1971. On that occasion, one of the speakers pointed out that the governing body of "the faithful and discreet slave" preceded the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania by hundreds of years. (Matthew 24:45-47) A governing body was formed at Pentecost of 33 C.E., more than 18 centuries before the Pennsylvania corporation came into existence. At first, the governing body consisted of, not 7 men, but 12 apostles. Evidently, its number was enlarged later, for "the apostles and older men in Jerusalem" were taking the lead.—Acts 15:2.

In 1971 the same speaker explained that the members of the Watch Tower Society could not vote in the members of the anointed Governing Body. Why? "Because," he said, "the governing body of the 'slave' class is not appointed by any man. It is appointed by . . . Jesus Christ, the Head of the true Christian congregation and the Lord and Master of the 'faithful and discreet slave' class." Clearly, then, the members of the Governing Body cannot be voted into office by the membership of any legal corporation.

Continuing, the speaker made this very significant statement: "The governing body does not have officers such as the Society's Board of Directors has, namely, president, vice president, secretary-treasurer and assistant secretary-treasurer. It has merely a chairman." For many years, the president of the Pennsylvania corporation was also the foremost member of the Governing Body. This would no longer be the case. While not equal in experience or ability, Governing Body members would be equal in responsibility. The speaker added: "Any member of the governing body can be chairman thereof without being at the same time the president of the . . . Society . . . It all depends upon the rotation system for the chairmanship in the governing body."

At that unforgettable annual meeting in 1971, a distinction was clearly drawn between the spirit-anointed members of the Governing Body and the directors of the Pennsylvania corporation. Still, members of the Governing Body continued to serve as directors and officers of the Society. Today, however, the question arises: Is there any Scriptural reason why the directors of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania must be members of the Governing Body?

The answer is no. The Pennsylvania corporation is not the only legal entity used by Jehovah's Witnesses. There are others. One is the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Incorporated. It facilitates our work in the United States. Jehovah's blessing has clearly been upon that corporation, though its directors and officers have been mainly of the "other sheep." The International Bible Students Association is used in Britain. Other legal entities are used to promote Kingdom interests in other lands. All of them harmoniously assist and have a role to play in getting the good news preached earth wide. No matter where they are located or who serve as directors or officers, these entities are theocratically guided and used by the Governing Body. Hence, such entities have assigned tasks to perform in furthering Kingdom interests.

It is beneficial for us to have legal entities. We thereby conform to local and national laws, as required by God's Word. (Jeremiah 32:11; Romans 13:1) Legal entities facilitate our work of spreading the Kingdom message by printing Bibles, books, magazines, brochures, and other material. Such entities also serve as legal instruments to handle matters related to property ownership, relief efforts, contracts for the use of convention facilities, and so forth. We are thankful for the services of such legal entities.

Jehovah's Name to the Fore

In 1944, Article II of the charter of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania was amended to underscore the objectives of this corporation. According to the charter, the purposes of the Society include this principal purpose: "To preach the gospel of God's kingdom under Christ Jesus unto all nations as a witness to the name, word and supremacy of Almighty God JEHOVAH."

Since 1926 'the faithful slave' has brought Jehovah's name to the fore. Especially noteworthy was 1931 when the Bible Students adopted the name Jehovah's Witnesses. (Isaiah 43:10-12) Publications of the Society that have laid emphasis on God's name include the books Jehovah (1934), "Let Your Name Be Sanctified" (1961), and "The Nations Shall Know That I Am Jehovah"—How? (1971).

Special mention must be made of the New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures, published in its entirety in English in 1960. It contains Jehovah's name in every place where the Tetragrammaton appears in the Hebrew Scriptures. This translation also includes the divine name in 237 places in the Christian Greek Scriptures where careful analysis indicated that this was warranted. How thankful we are that, in various ways, Jehovah has permitted the "slave" and its Governing Body to utilize their publishing resources and legal entities in making his name known earth wide!

Distribution of God's Word Promoted

Jehovah's people have consistently borne witness to his name and have upheld his Word by publishing and distributing millions of Bible-based publications as well as the Bible itself. In the early 1900's, the Watch Tower Society became the copyright owner of The Emphatic Diaglott, Benjamin Wilson's Greek-English interlinear edition of the Christian Greek Scriptures. The Society published the Bible Students' edition of the King James Version, which included a 500-page appendix. In 1942 it published the King James Version with marginal references. Then in 1944 the Society began to print the American Standard Version of 1901, which uses the divine name. The name of Jehovah also was a feature of The Bible in Living English, by Stephen T. Byington, published by the Society in 1972.

The legal entities used by Jehovah's Witnesses have assisted in printing and distributing all of these Bible translations. Most notable, however, has been the very close cooperation between the Watch Tower Society and the group of anointed Witnesses of Jehovah comprising the New World Bible Translation Committee. We rejoice that, in whole or in part, to date over 106,400,000 copies of this translation have been printed in 38 languages. The Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania truly is a Bible society!

The faithful slave' has been 'appointed over all his master's belongings.' These include facilities at headquarters in New York State, U.S.A., and the 110 branches now operating worldwide. The members of the slave class know that they will be called upon to render an account for the way in which they have used what has been entrusted to them. (Matthew 25:14-30) Yet, this does not prevent the 'slave' from allowing qualified overseers from among the "other sheep" to care for legal and administrative responsibilities. In fact, this allows members of the Governing Body to devote more time "to prayer and to the ministry of the word."—Acts 6:4.

As long as conditions in this world permit, the Governing Body, representing "the faithful and discreet slave," will make use of legal entities. These are convenient, but they are not indispensable. If a legal entity is dissolved by government decree, the preaching work will still go on. Even now, in lands where restrictions are in effect and no legal entities are used, the Kingdom message is being proclaimed, disciples are being made, and theocracy's increase continues. That is happening because Jehovah's Witnesses plant and water, and 'God keeps making it grow.'—1 Corinthians 3:6, 7.

As we look to the future, we are confident that Jehovah will care for the spiritual and material needs of his people. He and his Son, Jesus Christ, will continue to provide the heavenly direction and support needed to complete the Kingdom-preaching work. Of course, whatever we accomplish as God's servants is done 'not by a military force, nor by power, but by Jehovah's spirit.' (Zechariah 4:6) We therefore pray for divine help, knowing that in the strength that Jehovah supplies, we will be able to finish the work he has given us to do in this time of the end!

A Special Announcement

AT THE conclusion of the annual meeting of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania on October 7, 2000, a special announcement was made by the chairman, John E. Barr of the Governing Body. This announcement built further on discourses given earlier that day by Theodore Jaracz and Daniel Sydlik.—See pages 12-16 and 28-31 of this magazine.

Making a very significant point, Brother Barr stated: "'The faithful and discreet slave' and its Governing Body have had entrusted to them interests that are higher and far more encompassing than those granted to legal corporations. Set out in the chartered purposes of each of such entities are matters that are limited in their scope. Our Master, Jesus Christ, however, has appointed the faithful slave class over all his 'belongings,' or Kingdom interests here on earth."—Matthew 24:45-47.

Concerning the Pennsylvania corporation, Brother Barr added: "Ever since its incorporation in 1884, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has played an important role in our modern-day history. Still, it is merely a legal instrument available for use by 'the faithful and discreet slave' when it is necessary."

In their discourses, Brothers Sydlik and Jaracz had explained that the fact that "the faithful and discreet slave" has been entrusted with all of the Lord's earthly belongings does not prevent the slave class from allowing qualified men from among the "other sheep" to care for certain routine administrative responsibilities. (John 10:16) Nor is there any Scriptural reason to insist that all or any of the directors of the legal entities used by Jehovah's Witnesses be anointed Christians.

Brother Barr told the audience that recently certain members of the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses who had been serving as directors and officers voluntarily stepped aside from the boards of directors of all the corporations used by "the faithful and discreet slave" in the United States. Responsible brothers of the other sheep class were elected as replacements.

This decision is beneficial indeed. It allows members of the Governing Body to spend more time in preparing spiritual food and in otherwise caring for the spiritual needs of the worldwide brotherhood.

In conclusion, the chairman told his delighted audience: "While various legal and administrative duties have been assigned to experienced overseers, . . . all of them serve under the spiritual direction of the Governing Body. . . . All of us prayerfully look to Jehovah for his blessing upon our united efforts in doing his will, to the honor and glory of his great name."

THEOCRATIC ORGANIZATION WITH WHICH TO Move Forward Now

THOSE "twelve apostles of the Lamb" were gifts from the great Theocrat Jehovah through Jesus Christ to the congregation. The psalm of David (68:18) had foretold such gifts, and the apostle Paul matches the psalm to its fulfillment and says: "Wherefore he says [in Psalm 68:18]: 'When he ascended on high he carried away captives; he gave gifts in men.' . . . And he gave some as apostles, some as prophets, some as evangelizers, some as shepherds and teachers, with a view to the readjustment of the holy ones, for ministerial work, for the building up of the body of the Christ." (Eph. 4:8-12) At the beginning those twelve apostles, because of their position, served as a governing body for the whole congregation of believers. So they made appointments of qualified men in the congregation to assist them in less vital matters. As an illustration of this, when the Jerusalem congregation had increased to five thousand members and a disturbing difficulty arose, here is what happened:

[2] "So the twelve called the multitude of the disciples to them and said: 'It is not pleasing for us to leave the word of God to distribute food to tables. So, brothers, search out for yourselves seven certified men from among you, full of spirit and wisdom, that we may appoint them over this necessary business; but we shall devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word.' And the thing spoken was pleasing to the whole multitude, and they selected . . . and they placed them before the apostles, and, after having prayed, these laid their hands upon them. Consequently the word of God went on growing, and the number of the disciples kept multiplying in Jerusalem very much." —Acts 6:1-7.

[3] As those seven assistants were appointed by the apostolic governing body, who extended their hands in approval of such assistants, those appointments were theocratic, not congregational or democratic. Later on, official "older men" or "elders" (presbyters) were theocratically appointed and added to the governing body at Jerusalem. So, about the year 49 C.E., when Paul and Barnabas came to Jerusalem and submitted the question raised about circumcising non-Jewish believers, the governing body that handled and settled the issue was made up of "the apostles and the older men," under the guidance of God's holy spirit.—Acts 15:1-29; 16:4.

[4] That first-century congregation was not some legal corporation that was registered and chartered by the Jewish gov-

tant secretary-treasurer. It has merely a chairman, such as the governing body of the first century had. Apparently, the apostle Peter was the chairman of the governing body on the festival day of Pentecost of 33 C.E., and the disciple James, the half brother of Jesus Christ, was the chairman at a later date, according to the account in Acts of Apostles. From this, and from what historical evidence there is available, the chairmanship of the governing body rotated, just the same as the chairmanship of the presbytery or "body of elders" of each Christian congregation rotated among the coequal elders.—1 Tim. 4:14.

From this it can clearly be seen that, when a member of the Society's Board of Directors is elected each year to the presidency of the Watch Tower Society, he is not simultaneously elected to the chairmanship of the governing body of Jehovah's witnesses. Any member of the governing body can be chairman thereof without being at the same time the president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. It all depends upon the rotation system for the chairmanship in the governing body. Only if the rotation method puts an individual in the chairmanship at the same time that he is elected by the Board of Directors to the presidency will one occupy the chairmanship and the presidency at the same time, for at least a year.

SIZE OF THE GOVERNING BODY

Another point worth noting is this: The membership of the governing body is not limited to the number of members of the Board of Directors of the Society, namely, to the number seven. The Christian congregation or the "faithful and discreet slave" class started out on Pentecost of 33 C.E. with twelve members on its governing body, and that governing body located at Jerusalem was increased from the twelve apostles of Christ to include other elders of the Jerusalem congregation. So the governing body at that vital Jerusalem council included the eleven surviving apostles of Christ, and the disciple James who seems to have been chairman for the occasion, also Judas (Barsabbas) and Silas as "leading men among the brothers," yes, "prophets," and doubtless Paul and Barnabas. That means at least sixteen anointed Christians associated with the governing body back there at Jerusalem. (Acts 15:22, 32) So it is today: the governing body of the "faithful and discreet slave" class includes more than the seven anointed Christians who are on the Board of Directors of the Society. This fact, in addition, makes it manifest that the voting members of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania do not nominate and elect the members of the governing body of the "slave" class. It further accentuates the difference between the governing body and the legal Board of Directors.

How is it, then, that members of the governing body come to be directors of the Pennsylvania corporation? This is according to the will of the voting members of the Watch Tower Society. They choose to be guided by God's inspired Word. They look to Jehovah God through Jesus Christ to direct them in this matter of voting for the Society's directors. From the Society's present-day Charter (as amended in 1944) the Society as a legal corporation is merely an "administrative agency"* of Jehovah's witnesses. Hence, also, of the governing body of Jehovah's witnesses. So the Society's voting members see that this governing body could most directly use that "administrative agency" as an instrument in behalf of the work of the "faithful and discreet slave" class by having members of the governing body on the Board of Directors of the Society. They recognize that the Society is not the administrative body, but is merely an agency for administering matters.

* Quoting from the Charter: "The purposes of this Society are: To act as the servant of and the legal world-wide governing agency for that body of Christian persons known as Jehovah's witnesses; to preach the gospel of God's kingdom under Christ Jesus unto all nations as a witness to the name, word and supremacy of Almighty God JEHOVAH; to print and distribute [continued on page 760]

Hence the Society's voting members do not desire that there be any basis for conflict and division. They do not want to cause anything like a situation where the "administrative agency" controls and directs the user of that agency, which user is the governing body as representing the "faithful and discreet slave" class. No more so than to have the tail wag a dog instead of the dog's wagging its tail. A legal religious instrument according to Caesar's law should not attempt to direct and control its creator; rather, the creator of the legal religious instrument should control and direct it. In harmony with God's holy spirit, therefore, in order to have the greatest efficiency and perfect harmony between the governing body and the Board of Directors of the legal corporation, the voting members of the Society have wisely elected to the Directorate those whom they know are members of the governing body of the "faithful and discreet slave" class.

HOW THE GOVERNING BODY CAME TO EXIST

How did this governing body make its appearance in recent times? Evidently under the direction of Jehovah God and his Son Jesus Christ. According to the facts available, the governing body became associated with the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. C. T. Russell was patently of that governing body back there in the last quarter of the nineteenth century. Being fully dedicated to God through Christ, he set himself to apply his time, energy, abilities, wealth and influence to defending God's inspired Word and spreading its message. To that end he began publishing Zion's Watch Tower back there in July of 1879, believing, as he said in its columns, that this had Jehovah's backing, and hence there would be no solicitation for money. He manifested the qualifications of an overseer as set out in 1 Timothy 3:1-7 and Titus 1:5-9 and accordingly he was requested by the congregation of Christian Bible students at Allegheny to serve as its pastor or spiritual shepherd. Five years later Zion's Watch Tower Tract Society was incorpo-so that membership would no longer be on a financial basis. Members would be chosen from among faithful servants of Jehovah, and these have come to include many serving full-time at the Society's headquarters in Brooklyn, New York, and in its branches throughout the world.

[11] Reporting on this improvement, The Watchtower of November 1, 1944, stated: "Money, as represented in financial contributions, should have no determining voice, should in fact have nothing to do with the filling of the governing body of Jehovah's witnesses on earth. . . . The holy spirit, the active force which comes down from Jehovah God through Christ Jesus, is that which should determine and guide in the matter."

Different From a Board of Directors

[12] The progress of the preaching work during the following decades proves that Jehovah blessed the foregoing refinements in the understanding of the Governing Body. (Proverbs 10:22) Why, the number of Kingdom proclaimers throughout the earth jumped from less than 130,000 in 1944 to 1,483,430 in 1970! But further improvements were yet to come.

[13] Until 1971 those of the Governing Body were still identified with the seven members of the board of directors of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. The Society's president carried the main load of responsibility for making decisions affecting the operation of the Society's branches throughout the world. But epoch-making talks were delivered at the annual meeting held on October 1, 1971. The Society's president spoke on the subject "Bringing the Holy Place Into Right Condition," and the vice president on the topic "A Governing Body As Different From a Legal Corporation." What difference is there between the Governing Body and the legal corporation?

[14] As already mentioned, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has a board of directors limited to seven members. These dedicated Christian men are elected for three-year terms by corporation members totaling no more than 500, the majority of whom are not anointed Christians. Moreover, since the corporation's existence is purely legal, with a fixed geographic headquarters, it can be dissolved by Caesar, that is, the State. (Mark 12:17) However, the Governing Body is not a legal instrument. Its members are not elected. They are appointed through the holy spirit under the direction of Jehovah God and Jesus Christ. (Compare Acts 20:28.) Moreover, those making up the Governing Body are spirit-appointed men without any obligatory fixed geographic location or headquarters.

[15] As to such refinements in understanding, The Watchtower of December 15, 1971, said: "Thankfully Jehovah's Christian witnesses know and assert that this is no one-man religious organization, but that it has a governing body of spirit-anointed Christians." The Governing Body of the anointed slave class and of their millions of companions among the other sheep has been progressively equipped to take care of its office of oversight.

12. What shows that Jehovah blessed the refinements under the direction of the Governing Body?
13. (a) Until 1971, what was the situation as regards the Governing Body? (b) What occurred at the Society's annual meeting in 1971?
14. What differences exist between a legal corporation and the Governing Body?
15. What statement about organization was made in The Watchtower of December 15, 1971, and what can be said of the modern-day Governing Body?

[16] The earthly belongings of the King Jesus Christ have continually grown. Since 1971 the number of Witnesses has leaped from under 1,600,000 to a peak of over 3,700,000 in 1989. What proof of God's blessing! (Isaiah 60:22) This growth has called for the expansion of facilities at the Society's headquarters and in its branches, as well as for the modernizing of methods of production and distribution. It has resulted in the building of many Kingdom Halls and Assembly Halls throughout the earth. All the while, the Governing Body has also continued to carry the responsibility of overseeing the preaching work, producing Bible study material, and appointing overseers in the branches, districts, circuits, and congregations. These are the Kingdom interests that Christ has committed to the care of the faithful and discreet slave, represented by its Governing Body.

[17] The first-century governing body was enlarged to include more than Jesus' apostles. When the circumcision issue was decided, that body evidently included "the apostles and older men in Jerusalem." (Acts 15:1, 2) Comparably, the Governing Body was enlarged in 1971 and again in 1974. To facilitate their work of oversight, the Governing Body arranged for five committees to begin functioning on January 1, 1976. Each committee is composed of from three to six members, all of whom have equal voice in matters under consideration. The chairman of each committee serves for one year, and individual members of the Governing Body serve on one or more of these committees. Each of these five committees gives particular attention to a specific aspect of Christ's earthly belongings. A sixth committee—the Chairman's Committee, whose membership rotates each year, handles urgent problems.

16. How have Christ's earthly belongings increased since 1971, and what are some of these that he has committed to the care of the faithful and discreet slave, represented by its Governing Body?
17. What further improvements in oversight were made in 1971, 1974, and 1976?

Active Cooperation With the Governing Body

[18] The committees of the Governing Body hold weekly meetings to review important matters, make decisions after prayerful considerations, and plan for future theocratic activity. As noted earlier, Acts chapter 15 shows that a weighty question needing resolution was referred to the first-century governing body for attention. Similarly today, important questions are referred to the entire Governing Body, which meets weekly or more often when necessary. The members of the Governing Body, at present 12 in number, seek Jehovah God's direction through the Scriptures and by means of prayer. One way we reflect our cooperation with the Governing Body is by remembering these specially appointed ones in our daily prayers.—Romans 12:12.

[19] How do the instructions and decisions of the Governing Body reach the congregations? After the members of the first-century governing body reached their decision with the help of God's spirit, they sent a letter to the congregations. (Acts 15:22-29) However, the principal way today is through Christian publications.

[20] Since February 1, 1976, each of the branches of the Watch Tower Society has had a Branch Committee made up of capable men appointed by the Governing Body.

18. How does the Governing Body operate, and what is one way that we can reflect our cooperation with it?
19. How do instructions of the Governing Body reach the congregations?
20. (a) What further organizational refinement was made in 1976? (b) How do Branch Committees cooperate with the Governing Body?

As representatives of the Governing Body for the country or countries under the supervision of their branch, these brothers must be faithful, loyal men. This reminds us of the capable, God-fearing, trustworthy men who helped Moses judge the people in ancient Israel. (Exodus 18: 17-26) Members of a Branch Committee implement instructions received by means of the Society's books and magazines and Our Kingdom Ministry, as well as in general letters and special letters dealing with local problems. Branch Committees keep the Governing Body up-to-date on the progress of the work in each land and on problems that may arise. Such reports from all over the world help the Governing Body to decide what subjects should be considered in the Society's publications.

[21] Under the direction of the holy spirit, Branch Committees recommend mature, spiritual men to serve as circuit and district overseers. After being appointed directly by the Governing Body, they serve as traveling overseers. These brothers visit circuits and congregations in order to build them up spiritually and help them apply instructions received from the Governing Body. (Compare Acts 16:4; Romans 1:11, 12.) Traveling overseers submit reports to the branch office. With the help of the holy spirit and the inspired Scriptures, they share with local elders in recommending qualified brothers for appointment as ministerial servants and elders by the Governing Body or by its representatives.—Philippians 1:1; Titus 1:5; compare 1 Timothy 3:1-13; 4:14.

[22] In turn, those making up bodies of elders 'pay attention to themselves and to all the flock, among which the holy spirit has appointed them overseers.' (Acts 20: 28) These overseers faithfully seek to apply instructions received from Jehovah God and Jesus Christ by means of the faithful and discreet slave and its Governing Body. Jehovah is blessing this theocratic arrangement, for 'the congregations continue to be made firm in the faith and to increase in number from day to day.'—Acts 16:5.

[23] How fine it is that through the Governing Body, Jehovah God and the Master, Jesus Christ, are manifesting support of God's people! (Psalm 94:14) As part of Jehovah's organization, we individually benefit from such support. (Psalm 145:14) This should strengthen our resolve to cooperate with God's arrangements. Indeed, may we always be found cooperating with the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses as we move forward to the time when "the earth will certainly be filled with the knowledge of Jehovah as the waters are covering the very sea."—Isaiah 11:9.

21. How are traveling overseers appointed, and what do their duties include?
22. (a) How do congregation elders cooperate with the Governing Body? (b) What proves that Jehovah is blessing this theocratic arrangement?
23. Regarding the Governing Body, we should be resolved to do what?

Main Points to Remember

- What increased responsibilities did the steward class receive in 1919?
- For many years, with what was the visible Governing Body identified?
- What progressive refinements were made in the appointment of the members of the Governing Body?
- What are some of Christ's earthly belongings that he has committed to the slave class and its Governing Body?
- How can we cooperate with the Governing Body?

AFFIDAVIT OF DON ADAMS

STATE OF NEW YORK)

COUNTY OF KINGS)

I, Don Adams, after being duly sworn, depose and say:

1. I am over 21 years of age and reside at 124 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201. I have never been convicted of a felony or a crime of moral turpitude and I am competent to testify.

2. I am the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., and, as such, I am familiar with the books, records, publications and operating procedures of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. I have personal knowledge of the facts set out herein and I am a custodian of the official records and publications described herein.

3. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. is the parent organization of all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, including the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses located in Bonham, Texas.

4. It is the teaching and practice of Jehovah's Witnesses to follow the example of first century Christians. A Governing Body, at present comprised of thirteen men, direct all teaching, preaching, disciple-making and congregational activities of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world. (See the basic organization manual of Jehovah's Witnesses, Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 10 and 25, and The Watchtower, the official semimonthly journal of Jehovah's Witnesses, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, page 598.)

5. Regarding the position of the Governing Body, Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 28:

> All in the organization recognize God's way of theocratic control. The congregations acknowledge and conform to the guidance of the Governing Body as it outlines organizational arrangements for the benefit of all.

6. To implement their decisions, the Governing Body uses a hierarchial organization together with corporate entities, when appropriate, to accomplish its worldwide work of teaching and declaring the good news of God's established Kingdom. The principal corporation used by the Governing Body is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 26.)

7. Under the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, the Governing Body directs 95 branches through Branch Committees that report their progress to the Governing Body and implement the directives of the Governing Body in a uniform manner. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 26 and 27.)

8. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New

York, Inc. is a branch used to administer to the needs of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 26 and 27.)

9. The United States Branch is part of a zone, which is supervised by a Zone Overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 53:

> Periodically, arrangements are made by the Governing Body to have qualified brothers serve each of the branches throughout the earth.

These visits are comprehensive and cover every aspect of the branch's activities. A primary objective is to assure that each branch is working in harmony with the directives of the Governing Body.

10. Each zone is made up of districts. Each district is supervised by a District Overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 51:

> The district overseer is a traveling elder who is also appointed by the Governing Body and assigned by the branch office to serve a number of circuits that comprise a district.

At regular intervals, the District Overseer reports to the branch on the progress and spiritual health of the circuits which make up the district to which he is assigned. Like the Zone Overseer, he is charged with the responsibility to assure that all of the activities in the district conform to the directives of the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 51 and 52.)

> [I]t is Jehovah's arrangement and he will hold the overseers responsible for their actions. They are representing him and his theocratic rule. He will remove from office [through the actions of the Governing Body] those overseers who fail to manifest the fruitage of the spirit and whose pattern of life falls short of the Scriptural requirements.

(Also See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 41-53.)

14. The responsibility of all of these positions is to assure the unity and oneness of the congregations throughout the world with the direction of the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 54.)

15. Each position is filled by appointment from the Governing Body and each appointed representative is required to cooperate with the Governing Body. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, page 41 and The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, page 598.)

16. Appointed representatives within the congregations fall into two catagories, elders or overseers and ministerial servants. (See Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry, pages 28 to 40 and The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, pages 599 to 601.)

17. It is the responsibility of the body of elders to see that the congregation is managed according to the directives of the Governing Body. In harmony with these directives, each body of elders has specific responsibilities to be filled by qualifying elders. Each congregation has the following positions to be filled: the presiding overseer, secretary, service overseer, Watchtower Study conductor and Theocratic Ministry School overseer. Organized to Accomplish Our Ministry states at page 42:

> The presiding overseer serves as chairman at the meetings of the body of elders. Communications and important records of the congregation are handled by the secretary who keeps the elders informed about important communications. Arrangements for field activity and other service-related matters come under the direction of the service overseer.

18. There are five scheduled meetings of worship which each member of the congregation attends. While these meetings are conducted by the local body of elders in each congregation, the material covered in the meetings is prescribed by the Governing Body in order to assure that all of the congregations are receiving the same information and direction. (See The Watchtower, "The Christian Congregation and Its Operation," October 1, 1977, pages 601 to 603.)

19. One area in which the body of elders would conduct matters for the benefit of the congregation and subject to the Governing Body would be in the area of buying or selling real estate to be used by the local congregation as a place of worship know as the Kingdom Hall.

20. By "Memorandum on Kingdom Halls" from Hayden C. Covington, General Counsel for Watchtower Society and Jehovah's Witnesses, dated September 1960, bodies of elders in the United States Branch received instructions regarding ownership of Kingdom Halls. Under the subheading, "Relationship Between Congregation and Titleholders," the memorandum states in part:

> When either a corporation or trustee arrangement is made and title to property is vested in the corporation or trustees, the titleholders have the same relationship to the congregation as does any other instrument, equipment or property necessary to carry out the work of the congregation, which is preaching the good news in the assigned territory and holding meetings. All such instruments or tools are used to serve the congregation in harmony with the theocratic government.
> The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed that can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide and direct its policies. The titleholders (trustees or corporation) are merely special servants of the congregation in whom is vested legal title to the Kingdom Hall. Titleholders as such do not act as a part of the congregation committee to operate the Kingdom Hall or run the business of the congregation. They have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property and cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is to be done in it.
> The operation of the Kingdom Hall, making of repairs and improvements, payment of expenses and obligations and all other business in connection with owning and maintaining the property are all under the direction of the theocratic organization through the elders and ministerial servants appointed by the Society.

21. By memorandum entitled "Information Regarding Ownership of Kingdom Halls" from the Office of the Secretary and Treasurer of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, dated April 1, 1982, similar language defines the relationship between congregation and titleholders:

> The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed that can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide and direct its policies. The titleholders (trustees or corporation) are merely special servants > of the congregation in whom is vested legal title to the Kingdom Hall. The titleholders as such do not act as a part of the committee to operate the Kingdom Hall or run the business of the congregation. The titleholders, as such, have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property. They cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is to be done in it.

> The operation of the hall, making repairs and improvements, payment of expenses and obligations and all other business in connection with owning and maintaining the property are all under the direction of the theocratic organization through the elders and ministerial servants appointed by the Society.

22. The trustees holding title for any Kingdom Hall resemble the "Trustees" which held title to the church property which was the subject of the controversy in a landmark United States Supreme Court case, Watson v. Jones, 80 U.S. 679 at 681:

> Connected with each local church, and apparently without any functions in essence ecclesiastically, are what are called the "Trustees;" three persons usually, in whom is vested for form's sake, the legal title to the church edifice and other property; the equitable power of management of the property being with the Session. These Trustees are usually elected biennially; they are subject to the Session, and may be removed by the congregation.

23. In 1964 when the Bonham Congregation secured a mortgage through the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, it was determined by vote from the congregation that it would be willing to contribute to cover the expenses of a mortgage and contemplated construction expenses. All matters were handled between the body of elders and Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. acting in harmony with the directives of the Governing Body as expressed in the above-mentioned correspondence and other publications of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

24. By notice dated June 4, 1985, the following duly appointed elders of the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were deleted from their appointed positions and are no longer elders of Jehovah's Witnesses: (1) Wendel Baker; (2) Trymer L. Berry; (3) James E. Coleman; (4) Ralph E. Deal; and (5) Tony M. Jones.

25. There are currently four duly appointed elders in the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses who are recognized by the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses. They are (1) Luther Brogdon; (2) Richard L. Scofield; (3) Ronald H. Williams; and (4) Bennie Bolin. Their dates of appointment were (1) Luther Brogdon—July 4, 1985; (2) Richard L. Scofield—June 4, 1985; (3) Ronald H. Williams—November 28, 1985; and (4) Bennie Bolin—November 28, 1985.

26. From the dates of their appointment, the above-mentioned duly appointed elders (Luther Brogdon, Richard L. Scofield, Ronald H. Williams, and Bennie Bolin) have had the duty and responsibility to insure that the Kingdom Hall property located at 1105 Pecan Street, Bonham, Texas, is properly cared for and secured on behalf of the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

27. Each Kingdom Hall owned by Jehovah's Witnesses, including the Bonham Kingdom Hall, is dedicated solely to the worship and service of Almighty God Jehovah by means of a solem ceremony conducted in harmony with the Holy Scriptures and by virtue of such dedication, may not be used for any secular or mundane purpose or for religious services which are in conflict with the Holy Scriptures and the theocratic organization of Jehovah's Witnesses which is directed by the Governing Body and of Jehovah's Witnesses through the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

28. Only the four above-mentioned appointed elders act on behalf of the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses under authority customarily delegated to congregational elders. They and the Bonham Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, are entitled to the uninterrupted use and enjoyment of the Bonham Congregation Kingdom Hall located at 1105 Pecan Street, Bonham, Texas.

Respectfully submitted, page 20. In about an inch and a half down, do you see a sentence on the left-hand side that starts with "Members"?

A. Yes.

Q. It says, "Members of a branch committee implement instructions received by means of the Society's books, magazines, and Our Kingdom Ministry as well as general letters and special letters dealing with local profits."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. General letters and special letters would be some of the letters we looked at in the last two days, correct?

A. Yes. They would be included.

Q. So a letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania would be included amongst those ways in which instructions were given, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And if a member of a branch committee received a letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania which was one of the general or special letters, they implement those instructions, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. They would do their best to implement them, yes.

Q. Down further under that paragraph that starts 21, do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. It says, "Under the direction of the Holy Spirit, branch committees recommend mature spiritual men to serve as circuit and district overseers. After being appointed directly by the Governing Body, they serve as travelling overseers. These brothers visit circuits and congregations in order to build them up spiritually and help them apply instructions received from the Governing Body."

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. So that's talking about circuit and district overseers helping congregations apply the instruction received, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. And those instructions it talks about above can include general and special letters from Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. They can.

Q. And it also includes books and magazines of which Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyright, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 52.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 52 for identification.)

Q. I will hand you what has been marked as Exhibit 52 (handing).

Are you familiar with that being a photocopy of the book Pay Attention to Yourselves and All the Flock? I apologize if there are a few handwritten notes on that that are mine. I'll replace that with a clean copy later.

A. I'm familiar with the

A. REINMUELLER

publication.

Q. And that is a publication that says on the first couple of pages -- it's a document that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyright, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see also in the page before that, it mentions that it is a copy of a textbook which is issued to each appointed elder?

A. Yes.

Q. Each appointed elder would include those elders in California, correct?

A. Yes, that's true.

Q. If you would, turn the page. Do you see where it indicates that this particular book is copyrighted in 1991?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see below there that there had been prior editions in 1977, 1979, and 1981?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have any reason to

A. REINMUELLER

believe that those prior editions weren't copyrighted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. No.

Q. And those prior versions would have also been delivered to the elders in California, correct?

A. Yes.

MR. SCHNACK: Is this a good time to take a quick break?

MR. LOVE: I'll tell you what. Let's go about 20 more minutes and we might be done.

MR. SCHNACK: I need a quick restroom break.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record at 9:33 a.m.

[A recess was taken.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time is now 9:41 a.m.

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I've handed you Exhibit 52 which is entitled Pay Attention To Yourselves and All the Flock. I refer to it as the Flock book. Do you mind if I call it that?

A. REINMUELLER

A. No, that is fine.

Q. Again, the Flock book is instructional material, correct?

A. Yes, correct.

Q. And would you consider it the type of instructional material that's received and expected to be implemented by elders in California?

A. Yes, I would.

Q. And with respect to the provision of guidelines to the extent there are those in this book, elders in California are required to follow them, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Isn't it true that this particular book was copyrighted in 1991, right?

A. That's true.

Q. And there has been prior versions of this book, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know where I can get a copy of any of those prior editions?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I do not believe that they're in print or circulation anymore.

Q. Do you know of anyone who has an archived copy?

A. Yes.

Q. Would those be at Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

MR. LOVE: For the sake of the record, we've spoken -- counsel has spoken about areas that I explained to you areas in which you desired to question the witness, and you shared with me your reservations?

MR. SCHNACK: That's correct.

MR. LOVE: In order to try to move this forward and take up those issues later with the Court, I'll hold back those questions, and we'll address it as it's appropriate to address it at a later time.

MR. SCHNACK: That's correct.

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, would you

A. REINMUELLER

consider the Flock book to be direction from the Governing Body in the form of a book?

A. Yes, I would.

Q. I want you to pick up Exhibit 9 with me and turn to page 28. In the first full paragraph on the left-hand side, the second sentence, do you see a sentence that starts with "The congregations"?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see where it reads: "The congregations acknowledge and conform to the guidance of the Governing Body as it outlines organizational arrangement for the benefit of all"?

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania would be a part of that organizational arrangement, correct?

A. Yes, it would.

Q. It says "they," and they're referring to the congregations. "accept the appoints made of older men to oversee the branches, districts, circuits, and congregations," correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. That is what it says.
Q. Would you agree with me that if a district overseer in California receives instruction in the form of a book, he's required to follow it?
A. Yes, that would be correct.
Q. You would expect the same from circuit overseers and elders, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Isn't it true that if a district overseer or circuit overseer or elder in California receives an instructional letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania, they're expected to follow the instructions, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Earlier, we talked about traveling overseers. Do you recall that?
A. Yes.
Q. It's a term that refers to district overseers and circuit overseers, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. That's correct.
Q. And we also talked about special pioneers, correct?
A. I don't recall, but yes.
Q. We mentioned that they exist.
A. Yes.
Q. And we mentioned there are circuit overseers, district overseers, and special pioneers in California, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 53.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 53 for identification.)
Q. I'm handing you what I've marked as Exhibit 53 (handing).
Do you recognize that as a letter written by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Does it appear to be a true and correct copy?
A. It would appear to be.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you see that the letter is directed to all special pioneers, missionaries, circuit and district overseers, and Kingdom Ministry School traveling overseers?
A. Yes.
Q. That would include those district and circuit overseers in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that -- if you take a moment to skim over it, you'll notice that this document gives parameters for vacation arrangements. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And those would apply to circuit overseers and district overseers in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And also on the second page, you see a heading of circuit and district overseers on the second page of that document?
A. Yes, I do.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Take a moment and took through that paragraph. Isn't it true that that paragraph deals with some of the reporting responsibilities of circuit and district overseers?
A. Reporting with respects to vacations, yes.
Q. Right. So even though they are both volunteer positions, there's arrangements for when and how they take vacations, correct?
A. Well, as members of our Religious Order, they -- as are all members of our Religious Order, they are required to give account for how they use their time and fulfill their assignments.
Q. Isn't it true that this particular document is outlining when a circuit overseer and district overseer and how they could take vacations?
A. Yes.
Q. So even though they are volunteers, there is structure to how they could take time off, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.
Q. Of course, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the entity providing instructions for how and when this happens, correct?
A. It's conveying those instructions, yes.
Q. And the person that receives those instructions are expected to follow those instructions, correct?
A. Yes.
MR. LOVE: Mark this as 54.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 54 for identification.)
Q. I'll hand you what I've marked as Exhibit 54. Do you recognize that as a copy of a Watchtower magazine?
A. Yes.
Q. A January 1, 1992 Watchtower magazine, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And of course, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the copyright holder,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?
A. Correct.
Q. On the third page of the document, do you see some 1991 statistics?
A. Yes.
Q. It talks about countries in a number of statistics about people and a number of congregations, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. About three-fourths of the way down the list of columns, there is a number of congregations, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it breaks down the number of congregations per geographic area, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. If you would, flip over to the very last page where it provides the total number of congregations for America. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. About 9,524, correct?
A. Yes, at this time.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Do you know what that number is today, roughly?
A. It's roughly 13,000. Between 13,000 and 14,000.
Q. And approximately 2,000 of those are in California, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. So about one out of every seven congregations in the United States is in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, again, when I see "Watchtower" as one word, it generally refers to Watchtower New York?
A. Yes.
Q. And when I see "Watch Tower" as two words, it refers to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. The very bottom of that page, do you see where it reads: "During the 1991 service year, the Watch Tower Society spent $40 million plus in caring for special pioneers, missionaries, and traveling overseers in their field service assignments"?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, I see that.
Q. Again, Watch Tower in two words is Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. What does it mean to place literature?
A. It means to leave literature with those who are interested in reading it.
Q. And that literature being placed is literature that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyright, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Isn't it true that Jehovah's Witness members are encouraged to place literature?
A. With those who are interested and willing to read it.
Q. And isn't it true that literature is placed in California?
A. Yes, that's true.
Q. Isn't it true that placing

TO CIRCUIT OVERSEERS AND DISTRICT OVERSEERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

The Society would like to again assist congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in respect to Kingdom Hall financing, and we hope to be able to do this on a limited scale. Our thought is that there may be some congregations in emergency situations. Some may have financed Kingdom Halls during the past few years by obtaining commercial loans at very high interest rates, finding that the monthly payments are proving to be difficult. Other congregations may have an urgent need for Kingdom Hall facilities but have not been able to proceed with a building project because of the high cost of borrowing or even the unavailability of funds. There may be other emergency situations. So, to the extent that we are able to do so, we want to assist congregations having a genuine need in respect to their Kingdom Halls.

A Kingdom Hall loan through the Society would be at an interest rate of 6% per annum. We could consider a repayment of not more than ten years. Repayment of a Kingdom Hall loan at 6% in ten years would require monthly payments of $12.00 per $1,000.00 of the loan. As an example, for a Kingdom Hall loan in the amount of $10,000.00, the monthly payments would be $120.00.

This gives you some idea of our desire to assist congregations in a limited way, and the amounts that would be involved in repaying any loan through the Society of funds needed in addition to those raised within the congregation.

We are not making a general announcement to all of the congregations, but we are informing you so that if in serving the congregations in your circuits and districts you do observe any with needs such as are outlined here, you can tell the body of elders that if they wish to do so, they are free to write to this office of the Society making inquiry as to the possibility of a loan for Kingdom Hall financing. We do not have in mind your making any sort of a general announcement of this because our resources are limited, and we would like to give what assistance we can to congregations where the aid would be most justified. You may come across such congregations, and if this is the case, you might tell the body of elders that if they write to us about the matter, they should mention the fact that you have spoken to them, telling them that they may make inquiry of the Society. We do not require a letter from you about any such congregation, but, on the other hand, if there is some information that you would like to bring to our attention relating to the congregation's need or loan request, we would be glad to get such from you.

EXHIBIT

The assistance you are rendering to the congregations in so many ways in serving them is very much appreciated, and it may be that at this time you and the Society can be of further help to some of the congregations as outlined above.

Warm Christian love, and we wish you Jehovah's continued blessings.

Your brothers and fellow servants,

TO CIRCUIT OVERSEERS AND
DISTRICT OVERSEERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

Under date of October 1, 1981, the Society was pleased to inform you of its desire to again assist congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in respect to Kingdom Hall financing, at least doing so on a limited scale.

The response to that letter has been heavy, and we are happy to have been able to help many congregations who were in an emergency situation. Because of the heavy response on the part of the congregations, the Society now wishes to let you know that it is advisable for us to somewhat curtail our loan arrangement at this time.

As with the case of the October 1, 1981, letter, we are not making a general announcement to all of the congregations, but we are informing you so that if in serving the congregations in your circuits and district you have occasion to discuss Kingdom Hall loans with bodies of elders, you can tell them that the Society hopes to be able to help others who are also in an emergency situation but may not be able to do so immediately.

We are very appreciative of the many valued services and assistance you are rendering to the congregations in so many ways and will appreciate your further assistance at this time in the matter of Kingdom Hall financing arrangements as outlined above.

Please accept our warm Christian love and best wishes.

Your brothers and fellow servants,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

SCOPE OF DEPOSITION (A)

A. REINMUELLER

Witness Organization is a hierarchial organization?

A. Ecclesiastically, that is true.

Q. I am just talking about the structure of the organization and who reports to whom.

Isn't it true that there is a chain of command?

MR. SCHNACK: I'll object. It's been asked and answered. Go ahead and answer it again.

A. Legally, there is no chain of command.

Q. I want to discuss the legal also, but not right now. I want to talk about organizationally.

In terms of reporting relationship which I know doesn't having anything to do with the -- there is a Governing Body at the top?

A. Yes.

Q. And below the Governing Body, there are zones, correct?

A. That's perhaps a little unclear.

A. REINMUELLER

There is no fixed zone that is established over which there is a permanent oversite. Zones are assigned every year based on the need.

Q. And they're just large geographic areas, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And they're more fluid than some of the circuits, but the zone is a general category underneath the Governing Body which covers large geographic territories; is that fair?

A. That is reasonably accurate.

Q. Below the zone are districts, correct?

A. No. Below the Governing Body are the branch committees. The branch is a country or generally a group of countries.

Q. You're actually right. I'm sorry. I forgot to talk about branches. Below the Governing Body, there are branches, correct?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And those branches have people that deal with branch business called the branch committee, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Below the branches, there are districts, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And in those districts, there are people called district overseers, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And there are how many districts per branch, generally?

A. It varies on the number of active Witnesses in the country.

Q. In the United States, do you know how many districts there are?

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. Before you answer that question, wouldn't you agree that the United States is considered a single branch?

A. Yes, it is. - Except for Alaska + Hawaii that have own Branch

Q. And within the United States branch, there is a branch committee,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Below that branch, the United States as a branch is broken up into districts, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And those districts have a person that handles district business called a district overseer; is that correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And below the district, or within that district, there are several circuits, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And there is a position of a circuit overseer that handles the circuit business, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And within a circuit, there is, give or take, 20 congregations?

A. Approximately.

Q. And those congregations have a body of elders which handle congregation

A. REINMUELLER
business, correct?
A. That is correct.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, isn't it true that within the congregation, there are the positions of presiding overseer, secretary, service overseer, Watchtower study coordinator and theocratic ministry school overseer?
A. That is correct.
Q. And all of those positions are held by elders; is that correct?
A. That is correct.
MR. LOVE: Mark this as Exhibit 4.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 4 for identification.)
Q. I want to hand you what was marked as Exhibit 4.
MR. SCHNACK: Again, are you going to try to tie this to California somehow, Greg?
MR. LOVE: Absolutely.
MR. SCHNACK: How are you going to do that, because I've been giving you a lot of leeway here, but we haven't heard anything much about Watch Tower Pennsylvania and California yet, and that is the sole purpose of the deposition here.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. LOVE: I understand. Some of your letters are written to district and circuit overseers, and I am trying to get to is a way by someone in the outside world, by understanding how these people work together when a letter goes to a circuit overseer in Pennsylvania, exactly which entity it's going to and how that is related to a congregation where we're alleging offenses took place. This is simply a visual that depicts the testimony he's already given.
MR. SCHNACK: This deals with the ecclesiastical structure of Jehovah's Witnesses, and that is not relevant to the personal jurisdiction issues.

MR. LOVE: You and I have a sharp disagreement about what is ecclesiastical and what is discoverable. What he's already given testimony as to what this depicts.
I simply want him to get a pen out and mark it if it's wrong so I could have a visual that describes what he's already given testimony about so I'll understand when we talk about California, how California functions as some of these letters are received.
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object and instruct him not to answer on this. This was not a document that was produced. If you want to create an exhibit that is demonstrative, you could do that at trial.
MR. LOVE: That is what I'm trying to do. He's the person you designated with most knowledge, and what I simply want him to tell me is anything on that error, so I could correct and it make a better demonstrative.

MR. SCHNACK: This has nothing to do with any of the topics that were noticed in the PMK deposition.
MR. LOVE: This is something to help us understand the documentation that you've already produced.
MR. SCHNACK: Bring out the documents, and we'll link it up, but to go over a document that you created that concerns the ecclesiastical structure of the Jehovah's Witnesses is improper. It's objectionable. It's not relevant, and it's inadmissible.
MR. LOVE: I understand your objection. This is simply something that is memorializing the testimony that he's provided, that you've allowed him to provide.
So I understand that when I receive a letter from the circuit, he could tell me, are there any branches in California. Based on this, I'll understand that I don't need to worry about anything above district.

MR. SCHNACK: This is outside the topics of the PMK deposition notice, and I'll instruct him not to answer. I gave you some leeway thinking you were going to link it up, but this is strictly limited to jurisdictional issues, and we could get the order out if you want to quote the language from it.
MR. LOVE: I know what the order says. I know what the notice says.
MR. SCHNACK: Then let's pursue it.
MR. LOVE: This notice relates to the interaction between the different organizations which Watch Tower Pennsylvania is a part of.
MR. SCHNACK: I don't see Watchtower New York listed on here, and I don't see Kingdom Support

A. REINMUELLER
Services on here.
MR. LOVE: But you see congregations listed on there.
MR. SCHNACK: Let's take a break and go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record at 9:55 a.m.
[Discussion held off the record.]
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time is now 10:04 a.m.
MR. SCHNACK: We took a break. Greg, you presented Exhibit 4, and again, I have an objection to this whole line of questioning, and you're getting into the ecclesiastical structure of Jehovah's Witnesses, and we're here for the limited purpose of discussing whether Watch Tower Pennsylvania has sufficient contacts with California. I'll exercise personal jurisdiction there.
This was not a topic in the

A. REINMUELLER
notice of deposition. There are other persons more knowledgeable about the ecclesiastical structure of the church, and if you want to notice the deposition in that regard, you could probably do that.
I'll let him answer with the interest of moving forward with whatever his understanding is on Exhibit 4, but again, it's in the interest of moving forward.
I have an objection on this whole ecclesiastic structure, and I'll keep repeating it if you continue to go into it. With that, restate your question on Exhibit 4.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I prepared Exhibit 4, so there is no misunderstanding that this is a document that was produced by me. What I tried to do is take the information that I had and create something that describes some of the ways in which these people report to one another.

A. REINMUELLER
I've handed you Exhibit 4. In all fairness, you told me about zone overseers, aren't an exact identifiable geographic office or department. With that, if you would, help me understand that this is not an accurate description of how these people relate to one another. What would be?
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll allow him to answer subject to the objections I just stated.
A. I want to state that I'm not the person most knowledgeable about the ecclesiastical structure of the organization. I'm here to represent the financial and business matters of the corporation, but to my knowledge as one of Jehovah's Witnesses, on your exhibit, the area zones, again, are not a permanent assignment or really not in the hierarchy of communication ecclesiastically or dashboard between the other developments of the religion.
Q. So would it be fair for us to

A. REINMUELLER

I've provided to you, does it look like a true copy of the branch office and procedure?

A. It appears to be somewhat out of date, but it's -- it appears to be a copy of the documents some years ago.

Q. From the mid '80s, correct?

A. Or thereafter.

Q. When, to your knowledge, was this updated?

A. It's -- to the best of my knowledge, it's updated continuously.

Q. Every year, every two years?

A. At least every year.

Q. Where are copies of that document kept? Are they archived?

A. I am not aware of it, what is done with them.

Q. So if I asked you for the branch office procedure manual that post-dates Exhibit 3 but is prior to the one being used today, would I be able to obtain a copy?

A. I can't answer that question. I don't know.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Who would be able to answer that question?

A. I am not certain.

Q. Do you know anybody who would know who I would need to ask?

A. We have to check with the Governing Body.

Q. If you would, turn -- the pages aren't numbered -- but it appears to be chapter one, paragraph 36. You can look at the bottom. I am sure you know how to use the document. Why don't I just say paragraph 36 of chapter one. Are you there with me?

A. I believe so.

Q. Do you see a paragraph that reads, "The Governing Body gives direction to the branch committees throughout the world by means of such publications as the Watchtower and Awake Magazines, Our Kingdom Ministry, publications outlining organizational arrangements, as well as various letters to all branches and to individual branches answering local problems."

A. REINMUELLER

Did I read that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And at least in the mid 1980's was how the Governing Body communicated, correct?

A. Yes, correct.

Q. So some of the exhibits that we labeled are some of the means through which the Governing Body communicates to the district and circuit offices in California?

MR. SCHNACK: I'll object again. This deposition is about Watch Tower Pennsylvania. It's not about the Governing Body, not about other entities.

MR. LOVE: I know. The next question is going to be, is Watch Tower Pennsylvania going to be the entity that does that? Just hold on.

MR. SCHNACK: I've given you a lot of leeway throughout this deposition, Greg, and you're just not tying it to California. We've been here, God knows, an hour and a half.

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: If we read back the last question, it was about California.

MR. SCHNACK: Well, then let's move on and get California in the questions.

MR. LOVE: Well, okay.

MR. SCHNACK: I'm serious, Greg.

MR. LOVE: I'm trying to do my job, and I understand you have a job to do.

MR. SCHNACK: I'd appreciate you doing your job as to what the Court ordered this deposition to encompass.

MR. LOVE: I disagree.

MR. SCHNACK: You don't want to do what the Court says?

MR. LOVE: I disagree with your understanding of the Court's order.

MR. SCHNACK: Should we get it out and read it?

A. REINMUELLER
MR. LOVE: I understand what the Court order says.
MR. SCHNACK: Limited discovery with respect to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contact with California.
MR. LOVE: Understood.
MR. SCHNACK: Okay. Let's move it then.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, isn't it true that the Governing Body communicates through these documents that were just listed in paragraph 1:36 to the districts, circuits, and congregations in California?
MR. SCHNACK: I am going to, again object to the question. You're asking about the Governing Body, and it has nothing to do with Watch Tower Pennsylvania.
MR. LOVE: I just told you my next question is being to be, based on his prior answers that the Governing Body uses watch Watch Tower Pennsylvania to do that. That is a contact in California.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: Well, put it in the question then. You're asking about the Governing Body.
MR. LOVE: I'm trying to be fair to your witness.
MR. SCHNACK: With all due respect, I don't think you're trying to be fair to anybody. Let's move it along, Greg, and get to contacts with California.
Q. Isn't it true, Mr. Reinmueller, that the Governing Body communicates to the districts, the circuits, and the congregations in California through these materials?
MR. SCHNACK: Same objection. Go ahead and answer so we can move it forward.
A. The Governing Body provides spiritual and ecclesiastical direction to through its publications and letters to circuit overseers, district overseers, and congregations.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. In California?
A. In California.
Q. And the Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the entity through which these documents get created and are copyrighted, correct?
A. They are copyrighted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania.
Q. But you told me a minute ago that the writing department operates through Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. That's correct, but I said earlier that the writing department does not produce all of the materials that you're referring to.
Q. Well, tell me all of the things that the writing department at Watch Tower Pennsylvania is responsible for creating.
A. I'm probably not the best person to answer that authoritatively, but to the best of my knowledge, our publications are produced. But letters and other, brochures, other direction may originate in other departments or areas of the organization. See correction/addition

A. REINMUELLER
Q. But they're all still copyrighted at Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
MR. SCHNACK: "By Watch Tower Pennsylvania"? Is that your question?
Q. By Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. To the best of my knowledge, with one exception. The Kingdom Ministry. Our Kingdom Ministry is copyrighted by Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.
Q. And prior to it being copyrighted by Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witness, it was copyrighted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. To the best of my knowledge.
Q. So at any time before the year 2000, it would be copyrighted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. I believe that's true.
Q. And Our Kingdom Ministry was an instructional materials used in the circuits, districts, and congregations in

EXHIBIT U

EXHIBIT U

KINGDOM HALL LOANS

A. REINMUELLER
Q. And is it also true that some of the monies received are interests income on loans?
A. Yes, that is true.
Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have records of how many Kingdom Hall loans have been made in California since 1960?
MR. SCHNACK: Since 1960? That is overly broad for the purposes of the lawsuit.
MR. LOVE: I know, but there are records that say that the loans are up to ten years in term, which would be loaned that reach into our scope that we're talking about.
MR. SCHNACK: I'll let you ask from 1974, otherwise I'm going to object.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, does the Watch Tower Pennsylvania have any records that can identify how many Kingdom Hall loans have been made since 1970?
A. Our records on Kingdom Hall

A. REINMUELLER
loans presently go back to the mid 1980's.
Q. Why is that so?
A. Just retention schedules, there was no need to keep them beyond seven years once they're completed.
Q. But you don't have any records that show who may have received the loan?
A. Not prior to that time.
Q. No database, nothing?
A. No.
Q. If someone from Watch Tower Pennsylvania were to call a congregation in California and ask if they had ever had a Kingdom Hall loan, do you suppose the people in the congregation would know?
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll instruct the witness not to guess. If you hadn't asked the question, "do you suppose," it involves a guessing by the way that your question is phrased.
If you have an answer, go ahead.
A. I wouldn't know the answer you would get.
Q. What did you personally do, if

A. REINMUELLER
anything, to research what loans had been made to Kingdom Halls in California since 1970?
A. I reviewed the number of loans that are in our records that were made to the State of California. That is as far as back as our records go.
Q. In preparation for this deposition?
A. Yes.
MR. SCHNACK: Actually, I think that was involved with prior discovery responses, as opposed to this deposition.
Q. What exactly did you review, and what form did it exist in?
A. I reviewed the list of congregations that received loans according to our records in the State of California.
Q. How many congregations appeared on that list?
A. About 375.
Q. Does that include the loans that

A. REINMUELLER
are presently in existence?
A. Yes, it does.
Q. So there's been 375 loans made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to California congregations for the purposes of building Kingdom Halls since the mid 1980's?
A. That's correct.
Q. Did the list you looked at also indicate the amount of the loans?
A. No.
Q. Are there records at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that would verify the amount of those loans?
A. Yes, thre are.
Q. Are there records at Watch Tower Pennsylvania that would indicate how much money had come in by virtue of the 375 loans in the form of interest income?
A. I believe so. I can't verify exactly for the early part that, because our computer systems may not have segregated it prior to the mid '90s, but I believe so.
Q. Let me make sure I didn't

A. REINMUELLER
misunderstand you. You said 375 loans from the mid '90s or the mid '80s?
A. The mid '80s.
MR. SCHNACK: I believe that number is high, based on our discussion previously.
MR. LOVE: Again, if you have better information, I would like to have it.
MR. SCHNACK: I'm not sworn to testify. My understanding was 250 to 300, but I'll go with his recall.
I'm just trying to create an accurate record for you, Greg.
MR. LOVE: I know you are, and I would like it to be from somebody with knowledge. I would like to be able to use that information. If there is a way in which you could give that to me in a form which I can use it, I would appreciate it.
MR. SCHNACK: We could discuss it over a break and address the number again.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. LOVE: Then let's discuss all of those things on break.
MR. SCHNACK: Fine. Give me a list.
MR. LOVE: I don't want any of your comments on the record, other than objections.
MR. SCHNACK: Some of the earlier comments, Greg, were on topics that you asked were not noticed as being a topic of this deposition. Don't get on my case about trying to give you an accurate record.
MR. LOVE: I just need the information that supports what you understand, if this witness doesn't know it.
MR. SCHNACK: He's giving you his best testimony.
MR. LOVE: Please mark these as 10 and 11.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibit 10 and 11 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I'm handing you what was marked as deposition Exhibits 10 and 11.
Have you reviewed these letters in the course of your preparation for this deposition?
A. Briefly.
Q. Do they appear to be true and correct copies of letters from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. They do.
Q. Now, both of these letters relate to Kingdom Hall financing; is that correct?
A. Yes, they do.
Q. Do you see that the letterhead of this particular document, Exhibit 10, is Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. Does it say Watchtower New York anywhere on that document?
A. Not that I could see.
Q. Do you see underneath the letterhead Watch Tower Pennsylvania,

A. REINMUELLER
office of the secretary and treasurer?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you see an address underneath that?
A. Yes.
Q. And that address is of Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. That doesn't say office of the secretary treasurer of Watch Tower New York, does it?
A. No, it doesn't.
Q. Is there a separate office of the secretary and treasurer, other than the one you've testified about, at Watchtower New York?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the question, to the extent it mischaracterizes his prior testimony.
Go ahead and answer.
A. The secretary treasurer office of the Pennsylvania corporation does have an office in that capacity that is different and distinct from the department

A. REINMUELLER
all.
Q. Because it goes further and says, "Coverage can be arranged through the Brooklyn office."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania in the mid '80s would loan the funds to congregations in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it would be considered an insured in California, correct?
A. The congregation?
Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania would be named as an insured with respect to property in California?
A. In some cases, yes.
Q. With respect to the insurance arrangement handled out of Brooklyn, that was also arranged by Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes, whatever insurance program was in place at that time was in Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the tools with respect to a loan in California to loan the money and then arrange for the insurance of itself in connection with that property, correct?
A. Yes. That would be correct.
Q. In parenthetical number 18, it asks, "Do you hold a properly executed promissory note for the amount of the loan, showing the amount, the monthly payments, and the interest at six percent?"
Did I read that right?
A. Yes, you did.
Q. Would there be a promissory note evidencing the loaning of monies by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to congregations in California?
A. Yes, there would.
Q. Do you know where those notes are kept?
A. Those notes are kept in the treasurer's office.
Q. If I asked you for a note on a

A. REINMUELLER
California congregation's Kingdom Hall, would you walk to a particular filing cabinet to access that particular information?
A. Yes, I would.
Q. Is the information with respect to the promissory notes in connection with loans in California all in one place?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. How far back do those records go?
A. As I mentioned earlier, to about the mid '80s.
Q. So the 197 present congregation loans in California, loaned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, there are promissory notes for each one of those loans, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. With Watch Tower Pennsylvania as the lender, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. With the stated amount of interest in one each of those notes?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. There would be a term also of that note, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And identified monthly payments, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And in most cases, it would include Watch Tower Pennsylvania in connection with that transaction as an insured, correct?
MR. SCHNACK: You're talking about the promissory note?
MR. LOVE: The transaction.
A. In what sense are you saying?
Q. I backed up to paragraph 15, in connection with the 375 promissory notes between 1970 and the present, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is listed as an insured on the property of most of them, correct?
A. I believe not, because the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement began in 1989, and since that time, I do not believe that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania is named in connection with the insurance

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Who is assigned to the real estate area?
A. In what aspect are you talking about? The Kingdom Hall loan program?
Q. Yes.
A. David -- David Giglio works directly with those files.
Q. And how do you spell that last name?
A. G-I-G-L-I-O.
Q. What is his position?
A. We don't have positions. It's just his assignment to care for the Kingdom Hall loan processing.
Q. He is a volunteer in the accounting office?
A. In the treasurer's office.
Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have a copy of the deed for trust of which they are named as the beneficiary?
A. I would expect that to be true, yes.
Q. And where do you expect it to be?

A. REINMUELLER
A. They would be in the file together in the file with any documents relating to a loan application.
Q. And did you review any deeds of trust before giving your testimony today?
A. No, I didn't.
Q. Are you familiar enough with the real estate transactions that if the Woodland Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses would have defaulted in their loan, Watch Tower Pennsylvania had legal rights pursuant to this lead of trust, does it not?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the extent it calls for a legal conclusion. He's already testified about his educational background, and it doesn't include legal training.
You could go ahead and respond, if you can.
A. I'm not particularly sure of the legalities involved.
Q. In this document, it lists Title insurance and Trust Company as the trustee

A. REINMUELLER
for Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Do you know who Title Insurance and Trust Company is?
MR. SCHNACK: I object to the characterization as worded in the question.
You could go ahead and respond, if you can.
A. I don't. I am not familiar with that organization.
Q. Do you see that it references it as being a California corporation?
A. I see that.
Q. So is it safe for me to assume that there is a promissory note that was created in connection with this transaction involving Woodland Congregation in 1967?
A. That would be safe to assume, yes.
Q. But it's your testimony that you don't have those records?
A. Not from 1967.
Q. Do you know of anybody that would have a copy of that record?

A. REINMUELLER
A. To the best of my knowledge, we don't keep closed files for that period of time.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 16.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 16 for identification.)
Q. I've handed you what we've marked as Exhibit 16. Take a second to look at the document and see if you recognize it as a similar form of deed of trust.
I'll represent to you that there are two deeds of trust in connection with the Red Bluff Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, a corporation.
A. Yes. There appears to be two deeds of trust here.
Q. And like the prior document, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the beneficiary of this deed of trust, correct?
A. Which one are we referring to?

A. REINMUELLER
Q. The top one, the one filed in February of 19 -- that is a good question. Let's stop and go over to the older one, which is the third page of that collection.
It's a transaction, dated May 15, 1960. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any reason to doubt that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania was making Kingdom Hall loans in 1960?
A. No, I have no reason to doubt that.
Q. Do you see this document which indicates Watch Tower Pennsylvania as the beneficiary of the dead of trust in connection with this Red Bluff Congregation transaction?
A. Yes, I see that.
Q. It says to Tahama County Title Company, a corporation herein called trustee. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who the Tahama

A. REINMUELLER
County Title Company is?
A. No. I'm not familiar with it.
Q. Do you know that they are acting as a trustee on behalf of the beneficiary Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes, I understand that.
Q. And that the trustee is a California corporation, correct?
A. Yes.
MR. SCHNACK: It doesn't say that.
A. It doesn't say that.
MR. LOVE: Well, by law, it has to be.
Q. If you would, turn to the first page of that stapled Exhibit 16. Do you see that the Red Bluff Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses also was involved in a real estate transaction in February of 1973?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania is the lender, correct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
Q. And they are listed as a beneficiary of the deed of trust in California?
A. That's correct.
Q. Have you ever seen a deed of trust with respect to a loan in California?
MR. SCHNACK: Prior to today?
Q. Prior to today?
A. No, I haven't.
Q. But you are pretty confident there are documents like this on file in your office?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you seen records indicating a loan by Watch Tower Pennsylvania that precedes 1960 to a California congregation?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll draw the line. We're talking about 1970 to 2003. Move on.
MR. LOVE: You are instructing him not to answer?

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: Yes. It's, again, outside the scope of what the deposition is about.
MR. LOVE: I'm required to show the Court continuous and systematic transactions and contacts in California. I'm just trying to find out if this witness has any idea of how continuous it has been.
MR. SCHNACK: You could address the Court. The Court put the parameters on this.
Q. Now, you reviewed the interrogatory responses prior to the deposition, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall one of the responses, more specifically number 31, that says, "Watch Tower Pennsylvania was not involved in the purchase or building used by the Defendants, Napa, and did not provide any monies to the congregation for that purpose"?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

A. We don't keep a copy in our file since we've been doing it on computer.

Q. So are the records kept on computer?

A. Yes, they are.

Q. If I wanted to recreate a loan transaction that was made to one of these present 197 Kingdom Halls with an outstanding loan, and all of the documentation that has gone back and forth between that congregation and Watch Tower Pennsylvania or whoever was related to that transaction, in what form would those records be kept?

A. They would be kept electronically for the last few years.

Q. And at whose computer would I need to get access?

A. Any one of several people in the treasurer's office.

Q. Which includes you?

A. Probably not myself, but some others in the office.

Q. Who would someone else be that would have more knowledge about obtaining the documents than you?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Mr. Giglio or others working with him.

MR. SCHNACK: Do you want to break here?

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record at 12:16.

[TIME NOTED: 12:16 p.m.]

[Whereupon, after a luncheon recess was taken, the following was had:]

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: What was my last question before lunch?

[Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the Court Reporter.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record. The time is now 1:35 p.m.

ALEXANDER REINMUELLER, the Witness, having earlier been duly sworn by the Notary Public, was examined and continued to testify as follows:

EXAMINATION BY

MR. LOVE:

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, we were talking about -- before we took a break, we were talking about the remittance forms. What exhibit was that?

A. It was 18.

Q. Those particular three forms cover about a nine-year period, don't they? One's in 1990, one is in 1993, and one is in 1997, correct?

A. Right, so that's about -- almost

A. REINMUELLER

eight years. Yes.

Q. And all of them reference making payments to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. With respect to the property loan payments, that's correct.

Q. In fact, the first two of these three documents, every payment listed there is to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Before we leave the area of the loan transactions and switch to another subject, I want to hand you another document that was produced to me that I don't have. I want to be careful, because they're not stapled.

MR. LOVE: Please mark these documents as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 for identification.)

Q. I want to hand you what I marked as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 (handing).

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Is a similar letter --
MR. LOVE: Strike that.
Q. Has a similar letter been used in years before today?
A. Essentially. To the best of my knowledge, yes.
Q. So Exhibits 20 and 21, or some similar form of them, have been sent to the congregations for years, correct?
A. To all congregations with whom we have extended a loan.
Q. And that would include California, correct?
A. That would include California.
Q. Do you keep copies of these letters when they go to the congregations?
A. A copy of this letter would be kept in the active loan file.
Q. And is there a different active loan file for every congregation that has an active Kingdom Hall loan?
A. That's correct, yes, sir.
Q. Does this particular document, Exhibit 21, relate to a payment being made

A. REINMUELLER
for communication with Watchtower New York?
MR. SCHNACK: Could you repeat the question?
A. I'm not sure I understand it.
Q. Is there anything in the instructions contained in Exhibit 21 that relate to payments being made for obligations to Watchtower New York?
A. No, there are not.
Q. I want to hand you (handing) Exhibit 20. Would your answer be the same with respect to the congregations that have a loan by virtue of creating a corporation?
In other words, your answer is not different, is it?
A. No. This document does not provide for any payments to be paid to Watchtower of New York.
Q. And there are no instructional instructions given in either of those letters of required communication with Watchtower New York, is there?

A. REINMUELLER
A. No, there are not.
Q. All the communication and all the instructions relate to a relationship between the congregation and Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. For the purpose of this loan.
Q. And these loans occur in California; is that correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And the same instructions would be provided to the congregations in California?
A. To each of the congregations a loan has been extended.
Q. True?
A. Yes.
Q. Exhibit 19 is a Kingdom Hall loan application form.
Would that form or something like it have been used in California for the loans extended to those congregations?
A. Yes.
Q. These documents refer to the creation of a promissory note evidencing

A. REINMUELLER
the loan between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the congregation, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Who prepares that promissory note?
A. The treasurer's office prepares that promissory note, and it's executed by the congregation.
Q. The office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. With the assistance of staff from the treasurer's office.
Q. Would the promissory note be created by the office of the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower of Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's been true for as long as loans have been made to the congregation in California, correct?
A. To the best of my knowledge.
Q. Of course, the terms of the loan were already preset, correct?
A. In the majority of cases, that would be true.

A. REINMUELLER

A. The local congregations, to the best of my knowledge.
Q. So in the documents that we've seen, the deeds of trust documents, do you have any idea who hired those particular title companies to serve as the trustee for Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. To the best of my knowledge, it was done at the local level by the trustees or the corporation that would be holding titles to the properties.
Q. You understand that the congregation's corporation didn't hold the claim title to the property, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. There was a title company acting as a trustee for Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. But you don't know who hired that particular California company?
A. I don't know specifically.
Q. Was the legal department ever -- the Watch Tower's legal --

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Strike that.
Q. There is such thing as the legal department; is that correct?
A. At the Watch Tower?
Q. Yes. Mr. Moreno is a member of that department, correct?
A. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has a legal department, correct.
Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have a separate and distinct legal department?
A. No, it does not.
Q. Does the Religious Order of Jehovah's Witnesses have a distinct legal department?
A. No.
Q. And neither does Kingdom Support Services, does it?
A. No, it does not.
Q. Does the legal department you're referring to ever have any involvement in the loan transaction to congregations in California?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I'm not specifically aware of what involvement they may have had.
Q. So maybe, maybe not?
A. Maybe, maybe not. Not on a regular basis.
Q. Who from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania, if anyone, signed the promissory notes?
A. One of the officers generally would have done so.
Q. One of the officers of Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Correct.
Q. Isn't it true that up until the year 2000, the officers of Watch Tower Pennsylvania were also members of the Governing Body?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you have any records that indicate how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on its Kingdom Hall loans in the year 2003?
A. We do not --
MR. SCHNACK: I'll restrict that

A. REINMUELLER

to California, if at all.
MR. LOVE: I'll re-ask the question. I apologize for not doing that.
Q. Is it possible to determine how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on its Kingdom Hall loans in California in the year 2003?
A. It would be possible to determine. It's not something that we track separately as an item or -- certainly not by state.
Q. And I assume sitting here today, you don't know how much that was?
A. No, I don't.
Q. Is it possible to determine how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on Kingdom Hall loans in California since 1970?
A. No, it's not.
Q. Why not?
A. The records just don't exist anymore.
Q. How far back do the records go,

A. REINMUELLER

such that you could tell me from what years forward I could determine that?

A. To the best of my knowledge, it goes back to somewhere in the middle of '97.

Q. So if I asked you how much interest income Watch Tower Pennsylvania has earned on California Kingdom Hall loans, the only accurate information you could give me would be from 1997 forward?

A. With some effort, we could probably get the figures -- that figure from 1997, middle of 1997 forward.

Q. But you at least -- but you could at least have access to loan records from 1986-ish forward, correct?

A. Physical loan files, yes.

Q. Are you able to determine how much money has been loaned to California congregations by Watch Tower Pennsylvania since 1970?

A. No. That would not be possible to determine accurately.

Q. For what time periods can you tell me money had been loaned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to California congregations?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Probably from -- probably all new loan activity from about ten years ago are in our current active files. So 197 or so loans that are still active.

Q. With respect to the information that you reviewed to come up with the 397 loans number that we discussed earlier, would that information have also indicated the amount of those loans?

MR. SCHNACK: I object to the extent you mischaracterized the number. Go ahead.

A. It didn't. The information I reviewed did not have the amount. Just the congregations that received loans.

Q. Isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania owns real estate in California?

A. Watch Tower Pennsylvania at the present time owns less than ten properties that were part of bequests to the corporation, of which the majority have -- the individuals still live on them with life rights, so we haven't been able to divest ourselves of any of them as of yet.

Q. I believe your interrogatory responses mentions that six of the properties, Watch Tower Pennsylvania owns a remainder interest?

A. Correct.

Q. So, in other words, you don't retain possession until something future happens?

A. That's correct.

Q. Usually the death of the person that occupies the property; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. With respect to the other properties that make up that ten or so, your discovery responses indicated property in Apple Valley, California, just northeast of Loss Angeles, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. What is the nature of --

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: Strike that.

Q. What is the property?

A. I am not familiar with the details of that property, other than its current use.

Q. What is its current use?

A. We have a member of our Religious Order using -- living there at the moment.

Q. And who lives there at the moment?

A. I don't know them by name.

Q. Who is he by position?

A. They are a member of our Religious Order.

Q. Under what arrangements does he live in this home or this property?

A. He is, as any member of our Religious Order, permitted to live on this property until they die. They are a retired member, and we're providing them a place to live.

Q. Why don't I ask you this instead: What type of place is this? Is accounting, filing, stuff like that?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
Q. USB, what is USB?
A. It's a corporation through which some of other professionals operate to provide their services for various construction activities.
Q. What does USB stand for?
A. I'm not certain.
Q. Can you hazard a guess?
MR. SCHNACK: I ask that the witness not guess. If he has an estimate, fine. Don't guess.
Q. Do you know what either U, S, or B, stands for?
A. No, I don't know. I've always dealt with it as an acronym.
Q. Do you know where it's incorporated?
A. I believe it's in New York.
Q. Do you know who the corporate officers or directors for that organization are?
A. I am not certain.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Who would know?
A. Mr. Corkern would know.
Q. Of course, if you have records at your office that you could immediately access to tell us what USB stands for, wouldn't you?
A. Yes.
Q. Could we leave a blank in the transcript and let you fill it in when you get a chance to review it --
MR. SCHNACK: Could you tell me how this relates to California? I'm letting you go a little far afield here. We're here on personal jurisdiction issues for California. Unless you start bringing it in, I'll object and instruct him not to answer. I don't have a problem letting him provide that information.
MR. LOVE: Consider me with respect to USB ringed in. All I want is a name. See additions
MR. SCHNACK: We'll provide it later. To take time on this, I think, it ridiculous.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Also as the accounting overseer, can you describe generally what services you provided?
MR. SCHNACK: To Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
Q. Just as an accounting overseer? I assume the roles were similar for all the corporations?
A. We provided the preparation of their financial statements for the regular meetings of the board of directors and --
Q. You said what?
A. We provided the financial statements needed by the boards of directors.
Q. The board of directors of the various corporations?
A. Of the various corporations.
Q. What, if anything, did you review in preparation for this deposition? I assume you went through some documentation?
A. Yes. I reviewed the information that was provided to you.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. So you reviewed only the documentation that was produced to me in the course of discovery?
A. That's correct.
Q. Did you review the affidavits of Mr. Abrahamson?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you review the affidavits of anyone else?
A. I reviewed the affidavit of Don Adams.
Q. Do you have that with you?
A. I don't.
MR. SCHNACK: I have it with me. It's the one that was attached to your response to the motion to quash summons.
MR. LOVE: So you showed him the same one I have that's missing page four?
MR. SCHNACK: Exactly. I took it from the exhibit attached to your motion.

24.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 24 for identification.)

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, Exhibit 24 was my taking a certain category of documents that was provided to me and just clip them all together to ask you questions as a group rather than labelling them as 15 different exhibits, okay?

A. All right.

Q. I'll represent to you that these are either minutes of board meetings or resolutions in connection with property transactions in California.

A. Okay.

Q. Have you ever seen this type of document before?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you the one who prepares documents like this?

A. Not for Watch Tower of Pennsylvania.

Q. Do you prepare documents like this for anybody?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I prepare documents like this for Kingdom Support Services.

Q. Where you're the secretary and treasurer, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Do you have any idea who prepared these particular documents starting with the one on May 29, 1973, or to the one dated November 17, 2003?

A. I know who prepares them at the present and has for a number of years, yes.

Q. Who is that?

A. Danny Bland. Bland, B-L-A-N-D.

Q. Do you understand the purpose of these particular documents that we're looking at?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you understand them to be resolutions of the board of directors of Watch Tower Pennsylvania in the connection of sale of real estate in California?

A. That's correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. It is not possible for me to look at these documents and determine that the property being sold is property that was donated or gifted to the Society.

Is it your testimony from having access to the records that the resolutions contained in Exhibit 24 are in connection with the sale of properties that were donated to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

Mr. Reinmueller, here is what I'm getting at: If there is a piece of property that you're familiar with that I'm not, that Watch Tower Pennsylvania, for example, has owned for 75 years and just decided in 1973 to sell it, I would like for you to be able to tell me that. Otherwise, I'm assuming that this is falling into the Watch Tower Pennsylvania procedure that when something is donated, you make a resolution, and you sell it, convert it to cash, and deposit it into one of the funds.

A. That is correct. As far as I am aware, Watch Tower Pennsylvania did not have any long-standing property holdings in the State of California that was sold during this period of time. These are all bequests that were then sold.

Q. Let me ask you that in a cleaner question-answer form. With respect to the solutions contained in Exhibit 24, wouldn't you agree that these are memorializations of Watch Tower Pennsylvania resolving to give someone the authority to sell donated property in California?

A. Yes.

Q. The documents that had been provided to me cover the time period 1973 to 1975 and then pick up with 2003.

Are there more resolutions than just these, are were there no donations received between 1985 and 2003?

A. I can't say for sure. I'm not aware.

MR. SCHNACK: Counsel, I could comment on that. I think initially with this document production, in one particular case where a certain particular time frame was at issue on the personal jurisdiction issue, that is why documents were produced in that time frame.

A. REINMUELLER
MR. LOVE: Would you have any problem in the next few weeks trying to fill in that gap for me on this category of documents?
MR. SCHNACK: I can inquire. I'll inquire.
MR. LOVE: Thanks.
Q. Describe to me the procedure of how Watch Tower Pennsylvania goes about selling donated property.
A. Generally speaking, we will try to find a local real estate agent in the area to transact the sale for us once the board has given approval to make that disposition.
Q. Let me see if I'm understanding, also based on your prior testimony, people in California were given instructions and information about how to donate to the

A. REINMUELLER
Society, which, for the most part, meant identifying giving property to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania will receive that property or some type of interest in that property, and will probably then take the legal steps to acquire clean title; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. And then will hire a real estate agent then to market that property, correct?
A. If necessary. Often, we have members that are willing and licensed to do so at no charge.
Q. Regardless of who they are, a licensed realtor in California will then market that particular property?
A. Yes.
Q. With the purpose being to liquidate it, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And once a potential buyer is identified, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is notified, correct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Correct.
Q. And somebody, like Danny Bland, will prepare a resolution for the board of directors for Watch Tower Pennsylvania to give that corporation legal permission to negotiate that property for cash, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And that money is deposited where? Is it one of the three or four funds we've talked about?
A. It would be deposited into the general funds of the Pennsylvania corporation.
Q. These documents talk about the preparation and execution of grant deeds and corporate grant deeds. Do you know what that means?
A. I am not familiar with that term.
Q. So you can't tell me then who's creating and preparing these grant deeds?
A. No, I can't.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Who would know the answer to that for California?
A. Probably -- either Danny Bland may, or Dan ~~Reis~~ Rice in our property office.
Q. Would there be a record somewhere as to the amount of money each one of these particular properties referenced in Exhibit 24 were sold for?
A. Not going back very far, I don't believe.
Q. So the answer to that question would be similar to the answer in the similar line of questions I asked you earlier?
A. Yes, I believe that's true.
Q. Having this resolution or resolutions like it doesn't help you determine the amount of the sale?
A. Exactly.
Q. All it indicates is that there was, in fact, a sale, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. If you would, turn to the Bates stamped page which says WPTA15 at the

A. REINMUELLER
Pennsylvania was contributions for Society Kingdom Hall funds. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. That is not necessarily the payment on the loan, is it?
A. No, it is not.
Q. That is an opportunity for the congregation to simply pour money into that fund and it can be made available to the congregation of the Kingdom Halls; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Down on the bottom part of the list, it says, "Payment for property loan number one and payments for property loan number two."
Did I read that right?
A. Yes, you did.
Q. And, of course, there's a place to identify how many payments are being made and the amount, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. In 1990, payments for those loans were not made to Watch Tower New

A. REINMUELLER
York, were they?
A. No, they were not.
Q. Prior to this form of September 1990, isn't it true that the same payments that are listed in this remittance form were made payable to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. That's correct -- Excuse me, can you rephrase that question again?
Q. Isn't it true that the same list of things being asked to remit payment to Watch Tower Pennsylvania prior to 1990 were also payments that were made to Watchtower Pennsylvania?
In other words, this form didn't institute a change for what would be happening in the years prior?
A. No. That is correct.
Q. The next document in that collection is a form called Loan Remittance Form, dated March 1993. Do you see that?
A. I do.
Q. Again, this is a form used by

A. REINMUELLER
congregations to make payments on their Kingdom Hall loan, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. These were the types of remittance forms used in California, correct?
A. Likely so, yes.
Q. It also indicates where the payments are to be made, doesn't it?
A. Yes, it does.
Q. And it says they're to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.
Q. Please turn to the last one. Do you see that the form is entitled Record of Electronic Funds Transferred, but it's dated August of 1997?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, it appears that the congregation has available to them the opportunity to make their payments electronically. Correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Do you see at the very last

A. REINMUELLER
statement on that document, it says, "All property loan payments will be acknowledged on your Pennsylvania Corporation statement."
Did I read that right?
A. Yes, you did.
Q. What is the Pennsylvania Corporation statement?
A. Every congregation that has an outstanding loan with a Pennsylvania Corporation receives a monthly statement acknowledging their payments on that loan and the outstanding balance.
Q. When did that procedure get instituted, or has it been the case for as long as you know?
A. As long as I know.
Q. Are there records available that show those communications back to the congregation?
A. We do not keep a copy of the statement.
Q. For how long do you keep them before you destroy them?

A. REINMUELLER

A. We don't keep a copy in our file since we've been doing it on computer.

Q. So are the records kept on computer?

A. Yes, they are.

Q. If I wanted to recreate a loan transaction that was made to one of these present 197 Kingdom Halls with an outstanding loan, and all of the documentation that has gone back and forth between that congregation and Watch Tower Pennsylvania or whoever was related to that transaction, in what form would those records be kept?

A. They would be kept electronically for the last few years.

Q. And at whose computer would I need to get access?

A. Any one of several people in the treasurer's office.

Q. Which includes you?

A. Probably not myself, but some others in the office.

Q. Who would someone else be that would have more knowledge about obtaining the documents than you?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Mr. Giglio or others working with him.

MR. SCHNACK: Do you want to break here?

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going off the record at 12:16.

[TIME NOTED: 12:16 p.m.]

[Whereupon, after a luncheon recess was taken, the following was had:]

A. REINMUELLER

MR. LOVE: What was my last question before lunch?

[Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the Court Reporter.]

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record. The time is now 1:35 p.m.

ALEXANDER REINMUELLER, the Witness, having earlier been duly sworn by the Notary Public, was examined and continued to testify as follows:

EXAMINATION BY

MR. LOVE:

Q. Mr. Reinmueller, we were talking about -- before we took a break, we were talking about the remittance forms. What exhibit was that?

A. It was 18.

Q. Those particular three forms cover about a nine-year period, don't they? One's in 1990, one is in 1993, and one is in 1997, correct?

A. Right, so that's about -- almost

A. REINMUELLER

eight years. Yes.

Q. And all of them reference making payments to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. With respect to the property loan payments, that's correct.

Q. In fact, the first two of these three documents, every payment listed there is to be made to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Before we leave the area of the loan transactions and switch to another subject, I want to hand you another document that was produced to me that I don't have. I want to be careful, because they're not stapled.

MR. LOVE: Please mark these documents as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 for identification.)

Q. I want to hand you what I marked as Exhibits 19, 20, and 21 (handing).

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes.

Q. What can you tell me between 1970 and the mid '80s was the procedure for transactions that involved mortgages, or are you not the right guy?

A. All I could tell you is that we were -- it was the practice during that period of time to have each of the loans secured by a mortgage up until about the early to mid '80s.

Q. You don't have any of those records anymore?

A. I believe not.

Q. Again, Watchtower Pennsylvania in connection with the 1976 transaction was protected as the beneficiary of the trust; was it not?

A. It appears so.

Q. And it would be protected by the laws of the State of California, correct?

A. I am not a legal expert.

Q. Isn't it true that the Jehovah's Witnesses Organization considered these loan transactions to Kingdom Halls to be investments?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I wouldn't characterize it that way.

Q. Let's look at Exhibit 3 again. Of course, that is entitled the branch office procedure, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. If you would, look at paragraph 16, subparagraph 50, with me. Do you see a paragraph entitled Annual Branch Report of Activities and Financial Status?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Do you see at the bottom where it reads, "Kingdom Hall loans are considered as an investment which means they will be listed under assets on your balance sheets"?

A. I do.

Q. This is a document that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyright to, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And these were materials that were disseminated by the Governing Body,

A. REINMUELLER

correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Not only are they investments, but they're used to advance the Kingdom work, correct, the loans to build the congregation's Kingdom Halls?

A. Yes. The Kingdom Halls provide meeting places which are where the congregations can perform their work.

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 18.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 18 for identification.)

Q. I will hand you what was marked as Exhibit 18. I'll represent to you that those three points were produced to me. I'll also represent to you that it's three different documents from three different periods of time.

A. That's correct.

Q. I'll just call these remittance forms. Is that fair?

A. It's fair.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And these remittance forms relate to monies paid from the congregations to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. And/or Watchtower New York.

Q. Then let's start with the first one. Do you see any reference on that particular remittance form to Watchtower New York?

A. No, I don't.

Q. In fact, there is a list of things that you could give money for that you total at the bottom, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. Where does it say to make the check payable to?

A. To Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.

Q. Do you see a date on that form?

A. Yes.

Q. September of 1990?

A. That's correct.

Q. One of the things listed on this remittance form to pay to Watch Tower

SECOND AFFIDAVIT OF RICHARD E. ABRAHAMSON

STATE OF NEW YORK)
) ss.:
COUNTY OF KINGS)

I, Richard E. Abrahamson, after being duly sworn, depose and state as follows:

1. I am over 18 years of age, of sound mind, and competent to make this Affidavit. I have personal knowledge of the matters contained herein, and they are all true and correct.

2. I am the secretary and treasurer of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania ("Watch Tower PA"), who is a Defendant in this proceeding.

3. Watch Tower PA coordinates the worldwide activities of Jehovah's Witnesses by providing copyrighted literature (text and images for various publications) and financial support. Historically, Watch Tower PA has also given powers of attorney to individuals in foreign countries to act on its behalf where the national laws require the appointment of a "chief" religious person. Few, if any, foreign countries now have such requirements.

4. In most countries where Jehovah's Witnesses are legally recognized, a local corporation has been formed to be legally responsible for the various appointments of individuals and is used to communicate with congregations in that country.

EXHIBIT 28

5. Watch Tower PA has never acted in a supervisory capacity to any congregation in the United States, other than providing infrequent spiritual direction by mail. Additionally, Watch Tower PA has never been responsible for the appointment of individual Elders or others in the United States. Furthermore, Watch Tower PA is not responsible for any assemblies or conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses held in California or in the United States.

6. Watch Tower PA, as a recognized charity, has received donations from individuals in California. Some of these donations are in the form of real property. In many cases, the individuals have deeded a part of their property to Watch Tower PA, but have retained a life estate in the property donated.

7. Watch Tower PA administers a fund for the construction of church buildings entitled the Kingdom Hall Fund. Through this fund, Watch Tower PA has provided financial assistance to congregations in the United States and around the world to build their places of worship known as Kingdom Halls and Assembly Halls. In return for the financial assistance, the congregations have executed promissory notes, or some mortgages before 1988, agreeing to pay back the loans.

8. Watch Tower PA has lent money to congregations in California through its Kingdom Hall Fund to assist in the construction of places of worship and received promissory notes or mortgages in return for the money lent. However, these financing arrangements have been conducted exclusively through the mails and over the telephone.

9. Watch Tower PA does not hold, and has never held, promissory notes or mortgages from the Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in Napa, California, or from the Oak Knoll Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in Napa, California.

10. Watch Tower PA administers a fund named the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement ("KHAA"). The KHAA is a fund created from voluntary donations and used for the discretionary purposes of Watch Tower PA. These discretionary purposes include paying for uninsured property damage to Kingdom Halls as well as expenses and liability claims arising from accidents at Kingdom Halls. No premiums have ever been collected for the KHAA. Similarly, the KHAA does not guarantee payment to any person or legal entity that contributes to the fund. Finally, the KHAA has been used by Watch Tower PA in all 50 States in the United States and in many countries around the world.

11. The Watchtower Bible School of Gilead ("School") has been owned and operated by Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. ("WTNY") since its inception in 1942. The School does not have income, in the classical sense, because students do not pay tuition or other fees. WTNY underwrites all expenses for the School. All invitations to the School have been sent by WTNY to students in the United States and around the world since its inception.

12. Watch Tower PA maintains its own separate corporate meetings. Watch Tower PA maintains its own separate corporate books and records. Members of the Board of Directors and Officers of Watch Tower PA do not sit on any other corporations, including WTNY or Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses ("CCJW").

13. Watch Tower PA prepares its own annual financial reports. These financial reports are prepared separately from all other corporations, including WTNY and CCJW.

14. Watch Tower PA maintains separate bank accounts from all other corporations. Watch Tower PA does not commingle funds with any other corporation.

15. Watch Tower PA has provided funds to other corporations, including WTNY and CCJW. These funds have been recorded as long-term receivables by Watch Tower PA and long-term payables by the other corporations. Watch Tower PA has also made gifts to other corporations and recorded them as such.

16. Watch Tower PA is not held out as liable for the debts of any other corporation, including WTNY or CCJW.

17. Watch Tower PA occupies WTNY office space under a written lease. To some extent, some of the same personnel serve all of the corporations in providing legal, accounting, and risk management services.

18. Watch Tower PA maintains all corporate formalities required by Pennsylvania law. Watch Tower PA holds annual meetings of members and directors and documents all its meetings (annual, regular, or special), and all significant corporate actions.

SIGNED this the 26th day of January, 2004.

Richard E. Abrahamson
Secretary-Treasurer of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania

SUBSCRIBED AND SWORN TO BEFORE ME on the 26th day of January, 2004, to certify which witness my hand and official seal.

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) uses designated contributed funds to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls and for expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls. Jehovah's blessing on the fine support that all have shown has made it possible to provide this assistance all these years without any change in the suggested contributions.

To properly fund the KHAA, we suggest that each congregation once again contribute $4.50 per publisher for this year. To avoid burdening the brothers with one large expense, we recommend that each congregation pass a resolution to contribute monthly based upon the number of its publishers. (For example, $4.50 x (number of publishers) ÷ 12 months = $ per month.) Since this will be a monthly donation, it should be cared for by each congregation instead of by the operating committee in the case of congregations that share a Kingdom Hall. If you prefer to send the entire annual amount at once, you may do so.

When remitting your contribution via the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS), enter the amount at the telephone prompt designated Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. Please do not include this contribution with any payments on your Congregation Account.

We are pleased to administer this arrangement by which all congregations can share in assisting one another. We join you in praying for Jehovah's blessing on our efforts to properly care for our buildings and all those who turn to such centers of true worship to learn more about our Grand Creator.

Your brothers,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

A. REINMUELLER
Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it gives a specific attention to the insurance desk; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. This document goes further and describes an insurance policy, doesn't it?
A. Yes. It appears to.
Q. And isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania purchased one large insurance policy and let different congregations participate?
A. I believe that's correct, yes.
Q. The fact, there were different levels of insurance, wasn't there?
A. Yes.
Q. If you have questions about the insurance or the extent of your coverage, you're directed again to contact Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania; that is correct?
A. Yes, correct.
Q. It goes further and describes

A. REINMUELLER
how to protect your Kingdom Hall or some suggestions for protecting your Kingdom hall. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It talks about making an inspection on a regular basis, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. And analyzing your security needs?
A. Yes.
Q. Frequent maintenance checks, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Those aren't spiritual matters, are they?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Those are practical business directions, correct?
A. I guess you could characterize them that way.
Q. "Check your roof for seasonal problems."
Is that a spiritual instruction?
A. Not specifically, no.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. "Starting, increasing, or cancelling your insurance."
Then there are some instructions given, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. It's talking about congregations obtaining insurance, and it's done through Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. It says in the third paragraph underneath that title, "To cancel your insurance, notify the Society. Your insurance will not be cancelled because failed to pay your premium."
Did I read that right?
A. Yes.
Q. What is a premium?
A. In a general sense, or the way it's being used here?
Q. If it's different from the way it's being used here, in a general sense?
MR. SCHNACK: I object. I don't understand the question.
MR. LOVE: I'll start again.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. It says premium, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. It doesn't say volunteer donation, doesn't?
A. Right.
Q. The bottom describes reporting and handling a property loss, injury, or lawsuit, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. And it describes the three categories of claims that your insurance covers, doesn't it?
A. Yes.
Q. One of those is listed as lawsuits, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And if there is a lawsuit, you should report it immediately to the Society, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And again, the Society's Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, correct?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
in the middle of the page, it instructs that if you have an injury or liability claim, to do the following things. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, these are instructions that Watch Tower Pennsylvania expected to be followed if there was an injury or liability claim in the congregation, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the authority to issue these instructions, correct?
A. Yes, to all those who were enrolled in this program. Certainly.
Q. And any California congregation that received these instructions understood them to be authoritative as it relates to these matters, correct?
A. If they participated in these matters, they viewed them as authoritative.
Q. If you would, turn to page five.

A. REINMUELLER
Do you see the section Renewing and Paying for Your Insurance?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see where it mentions that on October 30, you will receive an invoice for your insurance.
A. Yes.
Q. And what to do when you receive the invoice?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, those are instructions, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. It says "invoice" and not "voluntary donation," correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Actually, paragraph three, it says to "Keep in mind that the Society pays your premiums in advance and waits for reimbursement from congregations." Doesn't it?
A. That's correct.
Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania would go and purchase these levels of

A. REINMUELLER
insurance and simply send premium notices to the congregations, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania would front all of the money and then collect if from the congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. On the next page, do you see the item number two listing who's covered by the insurance?
A. I am not sure I'm following you. We're on page six?
Q. Yes. Do you see the reference under paragraph two that the insurance covers claims against elders and ministerial servants?
A. Yes.
Q. That would include elders and ministerial servants in California congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?
A. Yes.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going

A. REINMUELLER
off the record at 4:13 p.m.
[A recess was taken.]
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time is now 4:19 p.m.
MR. LOVE: Mark these as Exhibits 36 and 37.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document were marked Exhibits 36 and 37 for identification.)
Q. I'll hand you what I marked as Exhibits 36 and 37 (handing). I've clipped together what I understand to be some documents that relate to an insurance purchase for the period of October 1, 1990 through October 1, 1991.
Are you familiar with this type of document?
A. Yes.
Q. Does it appear to be a true and correct copy of some of the insurance documents for that period?
A. Yes, they do.
Q. Who is Mr. Dan Blackwood?

A. REINMUELLER
programs were in place year by year.
Q. Neither can I, Mr. Reinmueller. I'm doing the best I can with a little bit of documents. I apologize for not having more information available to ask you those questions.
With respect to those changes in programs, how many different changes have there been from 1970 to the present?
A. I wouldn't be able to wager a number, but I know that the programs have changed fairly from 1970 to the present. They've changed quite significantly.
Q. Starting with 1970, what is the first change that you're familiar with?
A. I couldn't give you a year-by-year or decade-by-decade analysis.
Q. Can you give me any more information, other than the fact that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement was brought on around 1989?
A. In what are you interested specifically?
Q. I'm interested in knowing what

A. REINMUELLER
contract Watch Tower Pennsylvania had in the State of California relative to insurance provision for anybody associated with the organization in California.
A. Well, the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement does provide coverage to all of the congregations there.
Q. We'll get to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.
A. Okay.
Q. Is there any other program change or other any in way insurance was handled in California between 1970 and 2003?
MR. SCHNACK: I am not clear on what you mean. Program change or insurance? It sound like you're mixing apples and oranges. Maybe it's late in the day.
Q. You've been designated as the person with most knowledge about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California, correct?

A. REINMUELLER
MR. SCHNACK: With respect to the issues in the notice of deposition.
Q. One of those issues relates to Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And that is an insurance program, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Are there any other insurance programs that have been in effect in California, besides the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement and the arrangement similar to what we're describing or discussing in this policy?
A. Not to my knowledge.
Q. Turn to the very last page of Exhibit 36, entitled "Endorsement" at the top. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see at the bottom it says "page one of four"?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. Do you notice like I have that there is no page two, three, or four?
A. Yes, I notice that.
Q. Do you see item number two, definition of insured?
A. Yes.
Q. That says at the very bottom, insured, and it also includes the following, and there is a colon?
A. Yes.
Q. There is nothing listed thereafter, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Do you have any copies of insurance policies like this in your office?
A. Yes, we do.
Q. For the person to have been able to produce this to me, they would have had to have gotten this policy out of your office, correct?
A. Probably so, yes.
Q. Are there documents like this for other time periods, besides 1990 to

A. REINMUELLER

1991?

A. Yes, there would be.

Q. And those policies would have covered people and congregations in California, correct?

A. Congregations certainly, yes.

Q. Well, we saw the elders are covered, didn't we?

A. Yes.

Q. And ministerial servants, correct?

A. During certain periods, yes.

Q. We got those in California, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. How far back do your records go of insurance policies and levels of coverage?

A. I'm not sure specifically on the year, but evidently, at least back to the early '90s.

Q. You mentioned --

MR. LOVE: Strike that. Mark this as 38.

A. REINMUELLER

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 38 for identification.)

Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Deposition Exhibit -- what is it, 38?

MR. SCHNACK: 38.

Q. That document is also something sent by Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania?

A. Correct.

Q. And it indicates that it was sent to a congregation in Texas, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. But is this also a form document that would have also something similar to it have been sent to California congregations?

A. To all those enrolled in the insurance program.

Q. And we don't know how many congregations were enrolled in the insurance program for any period of time back in the '70s or '80s, do we?

A. REINMUELLER

A. That is correct. We do not know.

Q. What is the title of this document?

A. Insurance invoice.

Q. It's dated February 1991; is it not?

A. Yes.

Q. And it also indicates that coverage is automatically renewed, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. It indicates or references at the bottom that it's for that same coverage date from the insurance policy we just looked at, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. So is it safe for me to assume that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing layers of insurance that covered different people in entities for different things, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that they would turn around

A. REINMUELLER

then, and Watch Tower Pennsylvania would send out letters to the congregations that were enrolled in the program sending them an invoice for their portion of the premium payment, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And those letters would have been directed to the participating congregations in California; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Again, does this sheet anywhere say "voluntary donation" on it?

A. No, it does not.

MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 39.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 39 for identification.)

Q. This is Exhibit 39. Do you recognize that as a letter sent from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

Q. Dated November 1, 1981?

A. REINMUELLER
in the middle of the page, it instructs that if you have an injury or liability claim, to do the following things. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, these are instructions that Watch Tower Pennsylvania expected to be followed if there was an injury or liability claim in the congregation, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the authority to issue these instructions, correct?
A. Yes, to all those who were enrolled in this program. Certainly.
Q. And any California congregation that received these instructions understood them to be authoritative as it relates to these matters, correct?
A. If they participated in these matters, they viewed them as authoritative.
Q. If you would, turn to page five.

A. REINMUELLER
Do you see the section Renewing and Paying for Your Insurance?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see where it mentions that on October 30, you will receive an invoice for your insurance.
A. Yes.
Q. And what to do when you receive the invoice?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, those are instructions, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. It says "invoice" and not "voluntary donation," correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Actually, paragraph three, it says to "Keep in mind that the Society pays your premiums in advance and waits for reimbursement from congregations." Doesn't it?
A. That's correct.
Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania would go and purchase these levels of

A. REINMUELLER
insurance and simply send premium notices to the congregations, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And Watch Tower Pennsylvania would front all of the money and then collect if from the congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. On the next page, do you see the item number two listing who's covered by the insurance?
A. I am not sure I'm following you. We're on page six?
Q. Yes. Do you see the reference under paragraph two that the insurance covers claims against elders and ministerial servants?
A. Yes.
Q. That would include elders and ministerial servants in California congregations that were enrolled in the program, correct?
A. Yes.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going

A. REINMUELLER
off the record at 4:13 p.m.
[A recess was taken.]
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're going back on the record. The time is now 4:19 p.m.
MR. LOVE: Mark these as Exhibits 36 and 37.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document were marked Exhibits 36 and 37 for identification.)
Q. I'll hand you what I marked as Exhibits 36 and 37 (handing). I've clipped together what I understand to be some documents that relate to an insurance purchase for the period of October 1, 1990 through October 1, 1991.
Are you familiar with this type of document?
A. Yes.
Q. Does it appear to be a true and correct copy of some of the insurance documents for that period?
A. Yes, they do.
Q. Who is Mr. Dan Blackwood?

potentially pay claims that involve elder misconduct?
A. Yes.
Q. What elder misconduct is not covered? Can you think of any?
MR. SCHNACK: I'll object to the question. How is this related to California?
MR. LOVE: I just want to know about how the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement works.
MR. SCHNACK: Again, can you --
MR. LOVE: I've got a hand --
MR. SCHNACK: Hold on. Let me finish my comment. How does this relate to the contact with California?
MR. LOVE: All the claims that I'm holding in my hand, you provided me in Exhibit 49 are claims made and paid in California. I want to ask him about that.
MR. SCHNACK: How does it relate? We've admitted there were claims paid in California? How is this line of questioning going to further the issue of new contacts --

MR. LOVE: Because I want to ask him about the process in which these particular claims in California were paid, who, if anyone, was involved, and how it works.
MR. SCHNACK: Your question didn't involve the process.
MR. LOVE: I'm going to ask the questions to get to the process, but I need to ask my predicate questions first.
MR. SCHNACK: You could ask then, but I'll object and direct him not to answer. Again, this is outside the scope of the deposition.
MR. LOVE: I understand.
Would you read back my question, please?
[Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the Court Reporter.]
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll object

to the question. It's outside the scope of this deposition. Unless you tie this to California contacts, I'll instruct the witness not to answer.
Q. You heard my question, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you refusing to answer my question?
MR. SCHNACK: He's refusing to answer based on my instruction that this is outside the scope of this deposition.
A. Yes, that's...
Q. On page 265 of that exhibit --
MR. SCHNACK: Refer to the Bates number.
MR. LOVE: I am.
Q. There is a little number on the very left-hand side of the page. Do you see them right here (indicating)?
A. Okay, um-hmm.
Q. There is a list of types of claims listed there. Do you see that?
A. Sorry, 256 or 265?

Q. 265?
A. Your question again?
Q. Do you see that on that page, there is a whole list of types of claims?
A. Yes.
Q. In fact, this document is full of different types of claims that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement has paid in California, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you see in the middle of the page an item "elder misconduct"?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any idea what kind of elder misconduct that was?
A. No, I don't.
Q. Do you see that this says the Red Bluff Congregation California?
A. Yes, I see that.
Q. Do you have any understanding as to whether or not the Red Bluff Congregation contributed funds to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. I cannot say specifically

A. REINMUELLER

whether they have or not.
Q. Do you have records that would allow you to determine that?
A. Yes, we do.
Q. And are those in your office?
A. Yes.
Q. Before processing this claim, for example, what communication would have taken place from the congregation and then from Watch Tower Pennsylvania's insurance desk back to the congregation?
A. The congregation likely would have contacted the risk management desk with particulars of the situation, and the risk management desk would have communicated back to determine what assistance would be needed.
Q. How many people are available to answer that phone at the insurance desk?
A. There are, um, five that would answer the phones.
Q. Has a always been a handful, like five, or less?
A. Probably less. Five is probably

A. REINMUELLER

the most we've had.
Q. Is there a high turnover at the desk, or has it been pretty much the same people?
A. There has been a considerable turnover through the years.
Q. Would there be records to determine who could have processed this particular elder misconduct claim at the legal -- at the insurance desk?
A. I'm not certain.
Q. If I wanted to know more about that particular elder misconduct, what records exist?
A. Likely would be the computer database records what we're looking at here, which would be the payment. There'd likely be a file of the correspondence with the congregation. From 1989, I'm not certain whether that file still exists, if the file is complete. I couldn't say that specific file still exists, but likely in a typical case, there would be a file with the correspondence.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And where would that file be kept?
A. In our office.
Q. That is a file that you would have access to if you were asked to access it?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with any claim ever being paid out of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement in California for child sexual abuse?
A. I am not personally aware.
Q. Do you know whether or not child sexual abuse is a claim that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is available to cover?
A. Yes. I believe if there was a claim, that Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement would be available to cover.
Q. And that would be true in California, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any idea whether this particular elder misconduct was child sexual abuse?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I do not.
Q. Before this amount of $50,000 was paid, what information or processing went into deciding that that would be the appropriate amount?
MR. SCHNACK: He's already testified he's not aware of it. Are you asking him in general terms what might happen?
Q. I'm just asking what that process might look like.
A. This particular case?
Q. In a case such as this?
MR. SCHNACK: He's asking in general terms.
A. In general terms, there would be communication with the congregation. There would be communication with legal counsel. Depending on the circumstances, there may also be communication with a higher-up. Immediate oversite, before making a final decision.
Q. When injury in California, and there is a number of them listed on this document, involves someone who was not a Jehovah's Witness, would there customarily be a settlement agreement or release document created?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Customarily, if there is a settlement agreement, there would be a release document executed.

Q. And who would prepare that document?

A. The legal counsel appointed to work on that particular file.

Q. Would there potentially be a legal counsel in the legal department or a legal counsel appointed in California?

A. That's correct.

Q. And would a copy of that settlement agreement, if one were created, be kept in the file in your office?

A. Yes. I believe that would be the case.

Q. And it would be fair for me to assume that if your file contained a settlement agreement, it would also contain the rest of the correspondence that was involved in that claim being processed?

A. REINMUELLER

A. Yes, as I've already indicated.

Q. So with respect to this particular elder misconduct claim that was paid, if, in fact, Red Bluff Congregation was not a participant in the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, then the monies being paid to resolve this particular claim would have been contributions from other congregations, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Administered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know of any legal or other requirement that Watch Tower Pennsylvania provide insurance coverage to elders, circuit overseers, or district overseers in California?

A. I'm sorry. I am not sure I fully understand your question. Are we legally required to provide such? Is that your question?

A. REINMUELLER

Q. Yes.

A. I'm not aware of that.

Q. So Watch Tower Pennsylvania's decision to provide or extend insurance coverage to people in California is a voluntary choice, correct?

A. As I said, I am not aware one way or another whether there are legal requirements.

Q. So from the creation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, isn't it true that elders, circuit overseers, district overseers, Kingdom Halls, and Assembly Halls in California have all been protected by a Watch Tower Pennsylvania insurance program?

A. To varying degrees, that's correct.

Q. And part of the money used to provide that insurance coverage comes from congregations in California, correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. We have seen in Exhibit 49 a substantial amount of that money has been used by Watch Tower Pennsylvania to pay claims in California, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I don't know if I would characterize it as substantial, but yes.

Q. Now, with respect to investigating a potential claim out of California, isn't it true that Watch Tower Pennsylvania relies upon elders and circuit overseers to investigate and provide them information before processing that claim?

A. I'm sorry. Could you rephrase that question again?

Q. Let me try to break it down. For Watch Tower Pennsylvania to issue a check to pay a claim in California, they have to satisfy themselves that that is an actual claim that needs to be paid, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And they rely upon elders and circuit overseers to give them the information to make those decisions.

correct?
A. The local congregation elders would -- or at least some of them -- would be involved in those investigations. It would be highly unlikely for a circuit or district overseer to be involved in such.
Q. Let me ask you a better question, then.
Isn't it true before Watch Tower Pennsylvania pays a claim in California, that they would we rely upon information and investigation from elders before doing that?
A. Local congregation would appoint one or more elders to be a contact, and they would be involved in an investigation.
There may, of course, be others that are hired or involved either by Watch Tower Pennsylvania or by the third-party administrator of our claims to investigate claims.
So the local elders would be involved in all cases, but others may well involved in such an investigation.

Q. Let me ask you a better question. Isn't it true that at a minimum, at least a few appointed elders from a congregation would be involved in providing investigation and information to Watch Tower Pennsylvania before they pay a claim in California?
A. Certainly. The ones that are submitting the claim would be involved.
Q. And if Watch Tower Pennsylvania decided it needed more information or more participation, it can appoint or instruct more elders to be involved, correct?
A. Or others.
Q. But it could include more elders, correct?
A. It could potentially.
Q. Tell me all of the ways which the California congregation would have been made aware of the existence of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.
A. I believe we've looked at most of the correspondence that would have gone to congregations in the various exhibits that we've examined here. That would have been the only way that we would have been made aware.

Q. Would they also be given information at Kingdom Ministry Schools or assemblies?
A. Not at assemblies. At Kingdom Ministry Schools, I'm not aware that in all the years that I've been an elder that that subject was ever discussed.
Q. So the primary away that you're familiar with the Watch Tower Pennsylvania, it communicates to the California congregations about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement would be through writing and written documents, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And any of these that we've seen today?
A. That's correct.
Q. And all of those have had Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?

A. Yes.
Q. Wouldn't you agree with me that Watch Tower Pennsylvania intended for the California congregations to be recipients of the information about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's receiving contributions not only from California, but all over the country, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. In connection with the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And every year, they're paying out sums of money in claims, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Who would be able to tell me whether or not the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement operates at a surplus or a deficit?
A. I would.
Q. Does the Kingdom Hall Assistance

A. REINMUELLER

Arrangement operate at a surplus or a deficit?

MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll instruct him not to answer this question, as it's outside the scope of this deposition. We've already discussed the parameters of it.

MR. LOVE: The reason why I want that answer to the question is, I want to know whether or not the congregations in California are contributing money to a way in which Watch Tower Pennsylvania profits.

MR. SCHNACK: I'm going to instruct him not to answer. I don't think it's relevant.

Q. Are you going to answer my question?

A. No.

MR. LOVE: Mark these as Exhibits 50 and 51.

(Whereupon, the above mentioned documents were marked Exhibit 50 and 51 for identification.)

A. REINMUELLER

Q. I now want to go back and hand you two exhibits, numbers 50 and 51.

Again, I don't have copies of these. I believe you mentioned to me earlier that these relate to Kingdom Hall loan processing.

MR. SCHNACK: Can I get the Bates numbers from the bottom so we could keep track? Exhibit 51 is what?

THE WITNESS: Exhibit 51 is 399 and 400.

MR. SCHNACK: Okay.

THE WITNESS: And Exhibit 50 is 395, 396, 397, and 398.

Q. Exhibit 50, do you see that that appears to be a form letter sent to congregations seeking Kingdom Hall loan simply about a process of accumulating a document in connection with that loan?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. And that would have been a type of letter that would have been sent to the congregations in California who were attempting to obtain a Kingdom Hall loan.

A. REINMUELLER

correct?

A. Yes, that's correct.

Q. And that would be a letter sent by Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Now, Exhibit 51 is a form promissory note, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see a date on that form at the very bottom left-hand side?

A. Both forms are dated October 2001.

Q. So is it safe for me to assume that that document was at least updated in 2001?

A. Yes.

Q. But is it also safe for me to assume that there would have been a predecessor form that would have been used in prior years?

A. Yes.

Q. And that document was created by Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And provided to the congregations in California that are desiring a Kingdom Hall loan?

A. That's correct.

Q. I want you to look at Exhibit 29 with me. Do you see that that's a March 15, 1990 Watchtower?

A. Yes.

Q. Earlier, we talked about the fact that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyrights to several things, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. In terms of publications?

A. Yes.

Q. And I believe that you agreed that Watch Tower Pennsylvania holds the copyrights to the Society's books, magazines, pamphlets, and things like that, but I think that you mentioned that they did not hold the copyright to Our Kingdom Ministry. Did I understand that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. I want you to look with me on

EXHIBIT BB

EXHIBIT BB

DONATIONS MADE TO WTPA BY CALIFORNIA

A. REINMUELLER
directly from the Society, they could write to Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania?
A. That is true.
Q. Let's go over to the last two pages. There would have been the enclosure or the information that would have been contained in an enclosure. Do you see that it's also from Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. Yes.
Q. Does it mention Watchtower New York anywhere on this document?
MR. SCHNACK: What was the question again?
Q. Does this document, the third and fourth page of the collection, mention Watchtower New York anywhere?
MR. SCHNACK: This is the situation where I could say the document speaks for itself. If you want him to review it line by line, he can.
A. Just glancing through it, I don't see any references to Watchtower of New York.

A. REINMUELLER
Q. You're familiar with the information generally contained in this document, aren't you?
A. Yes.
Q. Would these be the same instructions that the Society's providing to its members today?
A. With regard to some matters, there may be particulars that have been revised in more recent times. Without thoroughly examining the document, I can't say that there have been no changes.
Q. How about any change to whom you'd make a donation?
A. I do know that more recent editions of these general guidelines do have certain provisions that are directed to Watchtower of New York, in addition to Watch Tower of Pennsylvania.
Q. And when did those new provisions go into effect?
A. I'm not certain of the exact

A. REINMUELLER
year, but probably within the last seven or eight years.
Q. Do you have any documents that reflect that?
A. We would have more correct copies of these circulars. I'm not sure -- I don't believe we have a current copy of this. We no longer disseminate the information this way, but there would be more current information of a similar nature.
Q. If you wanted to find that information, would you know where to go to lay your hands on it?
A. Yes.
MR. LOVE: Bob, I'll talk to you about that off the record.
Q. In the first paragraph of the last two pages, which I'll call the contribution information letter, the first paragraph ends with a sentence that says, "The purpose of this letter is to respond in general to all these inquiries so that potential donors have a better idea as to how they might leave whatever property they want to the Society to use to advance Kingdom interests."

A. REINMUELLER
Did I read that right?
A. Yes.
Q. The purpose of the letter is to tell people, if they want to make a donation, how, and to whom to make it? Fair?
A. Yes.
Q. And there is a list of things that a person can donate, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. First of all, money. You could give money, can't you?
A. Yes.
Q. And those contributions should be made to which entity?
A. To Watch Tower of Pennsylvania.
Q. The second one says other property. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It says, "Gifts, other than money, can be given during your lifetime.

A. REINMUELLER
district overseers simply act as references if anyone has any questions, I guess. That's fair?
A. That's correct.
Q. So if anyone in the congregation or an elder had questions or issues about how to donate property, the circuit overseers and the district overseers had the information available to them to give them those instructions, correct?
A. No. Actually, the congregation has these instructions. Likely, the district and circuit overseers, if they received any inquiries, they would direct the elders first to these instructions or directly back to the Society, the treasurer's office, for information.
Q. Or if an elder simply had a question about those things in particular work, the district overseer and the circuit overseers had the information to answer the question?
A. That's correct.
Q. And if they can't answer the question, the member wishing to donate property is directed to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. REINMUELLER
A. That is correct.
Q. In fact, people in California have made donations to Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And they have made that in the form of money and property, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar with the fact that any California resident has named Watch Tower Pennsylvania the beneficiaries of any insurance proceeds?
A. I don't know for a fact that -- I haven't personally reviewed any insurance contracts from...
Q. Do you know whether or not it's ever happened?
A. I can't say definitely one way or another.
Q. Who would be the person most knowledgeable about the donations and gifts made by people in California to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. REINMUELLER
A. I don't believe there's any one person who would be able to answer all of the questions.
Q. So it would just be a matter of tasking somebody in the accounting department to go start pulling documents and records to obtain that information?
A. That's correct.
Q. And you would be one of those people, correct?
A. That is correct.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as 23.
(Whereupon, the above mentioned document was marked Exhibit 23 for identification.)
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, I'm handing you what was marked as Exhibit 23. We'll represent to you that it is a collection of documents that appear to be relating to letters acknowledging receipt of donated property and money.

A. REINMUELLER
A. The first four of them are of that nature. The last two pertain to -- I think they got separated from a previous exhibit.
Q. Then let me go ahead and take the last two off of you, and we'll figure that out later.
Now you're holding Exhibit 23, which is made up of four pages?
A. That's correct.
MR. SCHNACK: What are the Bates numbers on the bottom?
THE WITNESS: Bates number 391 to 394.
Q. Briefly describe what is Exhibit 23.
A. They are variations of acknowledgments for donations received, either from a congregation or an individual.
Q. The first particular page references an account statement for 2001. Do you see that?
A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And it's written on Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And it mentions an accounting office of Watch Tower Pennsylvania; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Does Watch Tower Pennsylvania have an accounting office?

A. The accounting office, which is now part of the treasurer's office, provides accounting services to both Watch Tower Pennsylvania, Watchtower New York, and other corporations. That's the accounting office that is being referred to.

Q. Now, if I understand your prior testimony, that has been the case, that arrangement, for quite some time?

A. Yes, that's true.

Q. This particular letter appears to relate to the time period of 2001, correct?

A. Yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And it references an accounting office under the letterhead of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And that is for the year 2001, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Would this be the type of form letter that would be sent to a congregation in California?

A. I believe so.

Q. Now, even though that particular one references the year 2001, is it fair for me to assume that a letter like that would have gone to the congregations in California for the past years?

A. For a number of years before, 2001, yes.

Q. And all of those would have been written on Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?

A. If the contribution was given to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, the answer would be yes.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And of course, the instructions are to make your donation and gifts payable to Watch Tower Pennsylvania, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Are those sent to the congregations yearly, monthly, or as a donation is made?

A. To the congregations, an acknowledgment is ~~kept~~ provided (sent) once a month.

Q. Are copies of those acknowledgments kept anywhere?

A. No, they're not.

Q. Are they kept on computer anywhere?

A. Not a copy of the acknowledgment itself. Simply the transaction or details that produce -- that were used to produce the accounting and the acknowledgment.

Q. So there is a database or a computerized collection of information that is used to plug into that form to send to the congregations, correct?

A. Yes, correct.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. And that information still exists, correct?

A. For a limited number of years, correct.

Q. How many years?

A. Back in 1997 -- middle of 1997.

Q. So prior to 1997, unless it involved real estate, you can't tell me what donations were made in California to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. I don't believe we can.

Q. Was there any accounting records or financial statements that were put together that would have totaled contribution amounts given to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

MR. SCHNACK: From California?

MR. LOVE: From anywhere? I want to first ask --

MR. SCHNACK: That is a yes or no question.

I'll let him answer it.

A. Can you repeat it again?

Q. Is there financial statements or a financial document prepared that identifies the total amount of contributions made in the United States to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?

A. REINMUELLER
A. Yes.
Q. Is there a financial statement or document that can identify from past years the total amount of contributions made out of California to Watch Tower Pennsylvania?
A. No.
Q. So you can give me that number as it relates to the entire United States, you just can't break it down per state?
A. That's correct.
Q. And, more specifically, to California?
A. That's correct.
Q. Mr. Reinmueller, you said that you can give me that information from the California congregations for how many years going back?
A. We would be able to reconstruct what was contributed from the congregations in California probably from back in late 1997, mid 1997.

Q. To the present?
A. To the present.
Q. And you're one of the people that could arrive at those numbers if you were tasked to do so?
A. Yes.
Q. With respect to the last three documents, pages of the four-page exhibit, briefly describe to me what those are.
A. These are form letters for acknowledging contributions that individuals send directly to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's offices.
Q. And those, again, are form letters, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Those are not dated? Are those the letters that would be used today?
A. No. I believe we changed the content every four months.
Q. There's three different letters that all appear to do similar things in

A. REINMUELLER
Exhibit 23.
A. Yes.
Q. Isn't it true that those three letters are different depending on what a person is specifically giving a donation to?
A. That's correct.
Q. For example, one is disaster relief?
A. Correct.
Q. One was Kingdom Hall Fund?
A. Correct.
Q. And I think the first one of the three is just a general donation receipt, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. So these donation receipts have been sent to people for years, they just may have had a different content in terms of what was expressed in that letter, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Generally, the letter will indicate an amount of money and when the

A. REINMUELLER
contributions were made, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Or if it's property, the identification of property, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And those letters would be sent to donors in California, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And those letters would be written on Watch Tower Pennsylvania letterhead, correct?
A. If the contribution was made to Pennsylvania, certainly.
Q. Those particular three letters are specifically identified as originating out of the office of the secretary and treasurer, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And up until October 5, that would have been a member of the Governing Body, either Grant Suiter or Lyman Swingle; is that correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
MR. LOVE: Please mark this as

EXHIBIT CC

EXHIBIT CC

A. REINMUELLER

know that this letter was coming from the office of Grant Suiter?

A. I am not sure.

Q. These people know who the Governing Body members are, don't they?

A. Yes, they do.

Q. And they know who the secretary and treasurer is generally, don't they?

A. I can't answer that for sure for everybody involved.

Q. With respect to 1981, a circuit overseer or district overseer receiving this letter may know that the office of secretary and treasurer of the Watch Tower Pennsylvania is an authority to them, wouldn't they?

MR. SCHNACK: I didn't hear that. Is a what?

Q. It's an authority to them?

MR. SCHNACK: I'll object on terms of vagueness as to what you mean by "was an authority to them."

Go ahead and answer, if you can.

A. I am not sure I do understand what you mean by "an authority." Perhaps you could clarify.

A. REINMUELLER

Q. In 1981, if a circuit overseer or district overseer received instructions from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania office of the secretary treasurer, did they follow these instructions?

A. I am sure to the best of their ability, they would.

Q. And they were expected to follow the instructions, correct?

A. To the extent that they were in a position to do so, sure.

Q. And the office of the secretary treasurer knows what a circuit overseer and a district overseer is, don't they?

A. I am sure that's true.

Q. I mean, they're going to give them instructions that they expect them to carry out, correct?

A. To the extent they're able to do so, correct.

Q. So if this letter directing circuit overseers and district overseers to go out and share with particular Kingdom Halls or congregations they feel may be appropriate that monies are available at this rate and at this term, they're going to follow these instructions, correct?

A. REINMUELLER

A. I am sure that they may try to do so.

Q. And in California, they would do so, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Up here in the very top left-hand corner is T:TD. Do you see that?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Does T refer to the treasurer's office?

A. It does.

Q. And the second T and D, what do those men?

A. Generally, it's the typist of the letter.

Q. Are you sure?

A. I can't speak for October 1,

A. REINMUELLER

1981, but that is the general practice.

Q. The Watch Tower Society uses these types of initials and a colon and then letters to designate departments and authors, doesn't it?

A. Authors and secretaries. Yes.

Q. If you would, look at Exhibit 11. Again, that is a letter from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania office of the secretary treasurer.

Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. It appears to be the same by the initials over here, the same department, the same author and typist, correct?

A. It appears to be.

Q. And it's dated about eight months later; do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. June 1, 1982?

A. Yes.

Q. And it's again directed to circuit overseers and director overseers, correct?

I.

BACKGROUND

In response to Plaintiffs' lawsuit, Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania (hereinafter "Watch Tower Pennsylvania") filed a Special Appearance and a Motion to Quash Service of Process. Plaintiffs served discovery on Watch Tower Pennsylvania, to which Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded. Plaintiffs respectfully challenge the objections and responses made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania.

With leave of the Napa Court, Plaintiffs noticed the deposition of the Person with Most Knowledge (PMK) regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California and requested the production of additional documents related to those contacts. Counsel for Plaintiffs and Defendant agreed that the Watch Tower Pennsylvania PMK deposition would be taken in connection with all Jehovah's Witnesses sexual abuse cases in California being handled by the respective counsel (this agreement preceded the coordination of the suits). Counsel for Plaintiffs and Defendants could not agree, however, on a number of matters in advance of and during the PMK deposition. Plaintiffs desire to challenge the objections made and positions taken by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court overruling Watch Tower Pennsylvania's objections and requiring Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide complete responses to the discovery matters identified below.

Plaintiffs are seeking an order compelling full responses to a number of inquiries/requests; it is not Plaintiffs intention to unduly burden Watch Tower Pennsylvania or request volumes of documents to harass Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Watch Tower Pennsylvania has moved this Court to dismiss it from the suit under the pretense that it did not have the quantity or quality of contacts for the Court to appropriately exercise jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Plaintiffs' requests are voluminous only because Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts are voluminous and cover a period in excess of a quarter of a century.

Before addressing the individual written and oral discovery disputes, Plaintiffs request that this Court consider Watch Tower Pennsylvania's position that the First Amendment to the United States Constitution bars or limits discovery as to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's structure and operations. A brief analysis of what is discussed below was provided to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's counsel in a "meet and confer" letter attached hereto as Exhibit A; Plaintiffs received no response. Additional "meet and confer" letters were sent and are attached hereto as Exhibits B and C.

II.

WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S OBJECTIONS TO DISCOVERY BASED ON THE FIRST AMENDMENT TO THE U.S. CONSTITUTION (The "Serbian Objection")

In an effort to evade relevant discovery, Watch Tower Pennsylvania claims that requests for information pertaining to its organizational structure, its corporate structure and its interrelationship to other entities within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization are unconstitutional. Outlined below is the way the objection is asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the particular places where the objection appears.

A. Serbian Objection

The Serbian Objection is asserted forty-nine (49) times in response to the Charissa W. minimum contacts discovery, alone. It is asserted as follows:

> This line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g. Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

B. Where the Objection Appears:

1. Defendant's Objection to 4th PMK Deposition Notice (attached as Exhibit D)
   Subject Matter Nos.: 1, 2, 3 and 9
   Request for Documents Nos.: 3, 6, 7, 9 and 10
   (*The scope of the PMK deposition was limited by Defendant's counsel)

2. Defendant's Response to Special Interrogatories (attached as Exhibit E)
   Interrogatory Nos.: 13 through 46

3. Defendant's Response to Request for Production (attached as Exhibit F)
   Request Nos.: 38, and 44 through 48

C. Serbian Objection Analysis

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Serbian Objection finds no support in Serbian East Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. Serbian does not say that a court cannot examine the structure of a religious organization for the purposes of determining liability as to a violation of civil law. The issue in Serbian is whether a secular court is constitutionally prohibited from reviewing the decision of an ecclesiastical tribunal. Id. at 697–98. The Serbian court held:

> In short, the First and Fourteenth Amendments permit hierarchical religious organizations to establish their own rules and regulations for internal discipline and government, and to create tribunals for adjudicating disputes over these matters. When this choice is exercised and ecclesiastical tribunals are created to decide disputes over the government and direction of subordinate bodies, the Constitution requires that civil courts accept their decisions as binding upon them.

Id. at 724–25.

In reaching its decision, the Court engaged in an extensive analysis of the internal government of the church, including its constitution, leadership structure, hierarchy, and history. Id. at 699–705. Such inquiries were not only permissible, but necessary to determine whether a legitimate decision of an ecclesiastical tribunal was at issue.

A proper perspective on the relationship of these parties and the nature of this dispute requires some background discussion. The Serbian Orthodox Church, one of the 14 autocephalous, hierarchical churches which came into existence following the schism of the universal Christian church in 1054, is an episcopal church whose seat is the Patriarchate in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Its highest legislative, judicial, ecclesiastical, and administrative authority resides in the Holy Assembly of Bishops, a body composed of all Diocesan Bishops presided over by a Bishop designated by the Assembly to be Patriarch. The Church's highest executive body, the Holy Synod of Bishops, is composed of the Patriarch and four Diocesan Bishops selected by the Holy Assembly. The Holy Synod and the Holy Assembly have the exclusive power to remove, suspend, defrock, or appoint Diocesan Bishops. The Mother Church is governed according to the Holy Scriptures, Holy Tradition, Rules of the Ecumenical Councils, the Holy Apostles, the Holy Faiths of the Church, the Mother Church Constitution adopted in 1931, and a "penal code" adopted in 1961. These sources of law are sometimes ambiguous and seemingly inconsistent. Pertinent provisions of the Mother Church Constitution provide that the Church's "main administrative division is composed of dioceses, both in regard to church hierarchical and church administrative aspect," Art. 12, and that "(d)ecisions of establishing, naming, liquidating, reorganizing, and the seat of the dioceses, and establishing or eliminating of position of vicar bishops, is decided upon by the (Holy Assembly), in agreement with the Patriarchal Council," Art. 16. Id. at 699–700.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's reliance on Serbian fails for two reasons. First, unlike Serbian, this case involves common law claims against a religious institution by a third party. The Serbian court dealt with the constitutionality of a secular court's review of a decision by an ecclesiastical tribunal. Plaintiffs seek discovery for the purpose of determining whether this Court has personal jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania. In contrast to Serbian, Plaintiffs do not ask this Court to resolve any issues which would require an evaluation of competing church doctrines. Second, the Serbian court discussed the internal structure of the Eastern Orthodox Church in great detail. The Court's discussion demonstrates that extensive discovery regarding the organization and structure of the church was allowed.

In General Counsel on Finance and Administration of the United Methodist Church v. Superior Court, the United States Supreme Court directly addressed the constitutionality of discovery in a civil suit between a church and a third party. (1978) 439 U.S. 1355, 1372–74. Defendant Methodist Church was one of six defendants in a class action seeking damages for fraud, breach of contract, and violation of state securities laws. Id. at 1369. Methodist Church filed an interlocutory appeal of a California court's denial of its motion to quash service of process for lack of personal jurisdiction. Id. at 1370. The Court stated:

> In my view, applicant plainly is wrong when it asserts that the First and Fourteenth Amendments prevent a civil court from independently examining, and making the ultimate decision regarding the structure and actual operation of a hierarchical church and its constituent units in an action such as this. There are constitutional limitations on the extent to which a civil court may inquire into and determine matters of ecclesiastical cognizance and polity in adjudicating intrachurch disputes. See Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich. But this Court never has suggested that those constraints similarly apply outside the context of such intraorganization disputes. Thus, Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese and the other cases cited by applicant are not in point. Those cases are premised on a perceived danger that in resolving intrachurch disputes the > State will become entangled in essentially religious controversies or intervene on behalf of groups espousing particular doctrinal beliefs. 426 U.S., at 709-710, 96 S.Ct., at 2380-2381. Such considerations are not applicable to purely secular disputes between third parties and a particular defendant, albeit a religious affiliated organization, in which fraud, breach of contract, and statutory violations are alleged. . . . Likewise untenable, in my view, is applicant's claim that the First and Fourteenth Amendments somehow forbid resort to traditional minimum-contacts analysis in determining the existence of in personam jurisdiction over a defendant that is affiliated with an organized religion. Not surprisingly, applicant has failed to cite any authority in support of this novel proposition.

Id. at 1372–73 (emphasis added).

California courts have allowed extensive discovery of the internal structure of churches in cases involving property disputes, tort claims, and breach of contract. See, e.g., Presbytery of Riverside v. Community Church of Palm Springs (1979) 89 Cal.App.3d 910, 915–17 (engaging in detailed analysis of the internal governance of United Presbyterian Church in order to resolve a property dispute); Allard v. Church of Scientology of California (1976) 58 Cal.App.3d 439, 446–47 (holding that evidence of church policy statements was directly relevant to tort claims). Discovery is not limited or denied simply because one party to a lawsuit is a religious organization. "Recognizing that churches, their congregations and hierarchy exist and function within the civil community, however, it is acknowledged that they are as amenable as other societal entities to the rules governing property rights, torts, and criminal conduct." Higgins v. Maher (1989) 210 Cal.App.3d 1168, 1170 (citing Watson v. Jones (1871) 80 U.S. 679, 732–33). "The commission of a common law tort in the name of or under the auspices of a church does not lessen its culpability." Id. at 1175.

In Samoan Congregational Christian Church, the court analyzed the relationships between church entities to resolve a property dispute. Samoan Congregational Christian Church in the United States v. Samoan Congregational Christian Church of Oceanside (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 69, 71–73. After establishing that the dispute could be resolved on the basis of neutral principles of law, the court relied on extensive discovery of the internal structure of the church entities in its analysis. Id.

> The record reflects that the Samoan Oceanside Church is one of 23 churches in the United States that make up a general denomination of > churches known as the Samoan Congregational Christian Churches in the United States. Plaintiff is the unincorporated association of these 23 churches with its headquarters in San Diego, California. This association consists of a single district for the territory of the United States, separated into subdistricts, three of which are located within California. The Samoan Oceanside Church is a member of the southern California subdistrict. The highest ecclesiastical authority over defendant church in the United States is denominated the "district" organization acting by and through its general assembly. Ultimate authority in religious matters rests with the mother church in Samoa acting through the ruling committee of elders. . . . The defendant Samoan Oceanside Church was organized as a California nonprofit religious corporation . . . . It was founded with the aid, help and direction of the San Diego Samoan Congregational Church and the Reverend Elder Suitonu, who authorized and directed members of the church in San Diego to transfer their membership to the newly formed Oceanside church. The bylaws here relied upon by defendant were brought into being with the aid of the Reverend Elder Suitonu. The assets here in dispute belong in title and possession to the corporate defendant. They are the fruits of work, labor and gifts of the membership of the Samoan Oceanside Church.

Id. at 72–73.

Similarly, in Metropolitan Baptist Church of Richmond v. Younger, 48 Cal.App.3d 850, 853–58, the court relied on extensive discovery of the church's internal structure and governance to resolve a property dispute. The court rejected the church defendant's claims that it was protected by the First Amendment. Id. at 859–60. "We have closely considered the Church's contention that as a democratic, autonomous, separatist and congregational Baptist church, considering itself free from any 'human authority, whether civil or ecclesiastical,' it merits special concern of the First Amendment, even in the area of property rights. The contention is found invalid." Id. at 859. The court of appeals affirmed the lower court's application of the Cy pres doctrine based on the relationships between five separate church entities, as viewed in light of the church's articles of incorporation. Id. at 860–61.

Finally, in Guardian Angel, the court conducted a detailed analysis of the Polish National Catholic Church's hierarchical structure, constitution, ecclesiastical laws and regulations, and articles of incorporation. Guardian Angel Polish National Church of Los Angeles, Inc. v. Grotnik (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 919, 921–27. The court relied on a provision in the church's constitution to nullify an act of its board of directors. Id. at 927.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's claim that the First Amendment prohibits discovery of information pertaining to the "internal ecclesiastical government of the Jehovah's Witnesses" is directly contradicted by California case law and the holding of the United States Supreme Court in General Counsel. General Counsel, 439 U.S. at 1372–73. The First Amendment prohibits secular courts from reviewing decisions of ecclesiastical tribunals. Id. It does not prevent injured parties from obtaining relevant discovery from church entities in purely secular disputes. Id. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's objections to discovery should be overruled.

D. Napa Court's Prior Ruling

The Napa Court has already determined that neutrally applied principles of law (including discovery rules) can be applied in this case without offending the First Amendment and the Free Exercise Clause. In response to the filing of Plaintiffs' Amended Complaint, the Watchtower Defendants filed a demurrer asserting the position that the Napa Court did not have the authority to hear the Charissa W. case. In support of that position, the Watchtower Defendants cited authority (including Serbian) that the Napa Court lacked jurisdiction based on the First Amendment and the Free Exercise Clause. The Napa Court, after reviewing the briefing on the issues, held as follows:

> They [defendants] assert that the plaintiffs' claims are barred because they seek to impermissibly entangle the Court in ecclesiastical affairs and in the interpretation of religious doctrine, practices and beliefs. Put plainly, this is simply not so.
> Defendants cannot use the First Amendment to shield them from these allegations, and none of the cases cited by defendants say otherwise. As made clear from plaintiffs' thorough review of the relevant case law, this Court may hear plaintiffs' claims without treading on the Constitution's free exercise clause. Accordingly, defendant's demurrer to plaintiffs' claims on the ground that they are barred by the First Amendment is OVERRULED.

It is Plaintiffs' position that the analysis here is the same; Plaintiffs' discovery does not, and will not, impermissibly entangle the Court in intrachurch ecclesiastical affairs.

III.

GENERAL AND SPECIFIC JURISDICTION – RELEVANT AREAS OF DISCOVERY

A. Overview

It is Plaintiffs' position that the written and oral discovery responses sought from Watch Tower Pennsylvania are specifically related to the evaluation of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California. Below is a brief analysis of the law relating to general jurisdiction and specific jurisdiction.

California courts may exercise jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant to the fullest extent consistent with the United States and California Constitutions. CAL. CIV. PROC. CODE, § 410.10 (West 2004); Vons Co., v. Seabest Foods, Inc. (1997) 14 Cal.4th 434, 444. The Due Process requirements of the United States Constitution are satisfied when a nonresident defendant has minimum contacts with the forum state such that "maintenance of the suit does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice." Int'l Shoe Co. v. Washington (1945) 326 U.S. 310, 316.

Personal jurisdiction may be general or specific. Vons, 14 Cal.4th at 445. General jurisdiction is proper when a nonresident defendant has substantial or continuous and systematic contacts with the forum which are "so wide-ranging that they take the place of physical presence in the forum state as a basis for jurisdiction." Id. at 445–46. If general jurisdiction is established, a defendant may be subject to any cause of action within the state, including those not arising from the defendant's contacts with the forum. Id. at 445. Additionally, agency may confer general jurisdiction in the forum state over a foreign corporation. Sonora Diamond Corp., v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 523, 540.

Specific Jurisdiction is established by examining the relationship between the defendant, the forum, and the litigation. Pavlovich v. Superior Court (2002) 29 Cal.4th 262, 269. The defendant must purposefully avail itself to the benefits of the forum; the controversy must be related to or arise out of the defendant's contacts with the forum; and "the assertion of personal jurisdiction [must] comport with fair play and substantial justice." Id. "The question whether the facts [in a given case] are sufficient to justify the exercise of specific jurisdiction is answered fundamentally by considering the goal of fairness." Vons, 14 Cal.4th at 468.

B. General Jurisdiction – Agency

Notwithstanding its attempts to present itself as a distant corporate entity having no offices or activities in California, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California are continuous and systematic through the activities of its many agents: District Overseers, Circuit Overseers, Elders and Ministerial Servants. An agent "is anyone who undertakes to transact some business, or manage some affair, for another, by authority of and on account of the latter, and to render an account of such transactions." McCollum v. Friendly Hills Travel Center (1985) 172 Cal.App.3d 83, 91 (citing 3 Cal.Jur.3d, Agency, Section 1, p. 10). Agency may confer general jurisdiction in the forum state over a foreign corporation. Sonora Diamond, 83 Cal.App.4th at 540 (citing 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1996) Jurisdiction, Section 167, p. 730). Whether an agency exists is a question of fact to be determined from the circumstances of each case. Stevens v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Fresno, (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 877, 884. The significant test of an agency relationship is the principal's right to control the activities of the agent. Id. It is not essential that the right of control be exercised or that there be actual supervision of the work of the agent; the existence of the right establishes the relationship. Id. The Stevens court held that the priest was the corporation's agent and that he was acting within the scope of the agency at the time of the [motor vehicle] accident... the corporation had a right of control over the priest's activities within its geographical jurisdiction. Control is the key characteristic of the agent/principal relationship. Sonora Diamond, 83 Cal.App.4th at 541. The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of religious organizations have been held to be relevant to the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies and religious workers. Stevens, 49 Cal.App.3d at 883 (citations omitted).

C. General Jurisdiction – Continuous and Systematic Contacts

Watch Tower Pennsylvania presents itself as a distant corporate entity having only minimal contacts with State of California and lacking the "traditional" contacts which would allow this Court to assert general jurisdiction. However, by its own admission, Watch Tower Pennsylvania actively solicits and engages in numerous types of commercial activity in California including (1) entering into hundreds of loan contracts with California residents and securing the loans with mortgages on California property, (2) providing insurance to California congregations and individuals through its Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) insurance business, (3) acquiring and selling significant amounts of California real property for financial gain, and (4) facilitating the establishment of new Jehovah's Witnesses congregations in California from which it derives substantial revenue. All of these activities are continuous and systematic, directed towards the citizens and economy of California, and, when considered "in totality," approximate a physical presence in the State. Gates Learjet Corp. v. Jensen (9th Cir. 1984) 743 F.2d 1325, 1331. By written discovery and deposition discovery, Plaintiffs have been attempting to obtain the information that will present a fair and complete description of Watch Tower Pennsylvania and its "more-than-minimum" contacts in California.

D. Specific Jurisdiction

Plaintiffs have attempted to conduct discovery necessary to demonstrate Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts with the State of California to establish specific jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania with respect to Plaintiffs' claims.

The first prong of the specific jurisdiction analysis requires "that the defendant purposefully availed itself to the benefits of conducting activities in the forum state by purposefully directing its activities toward the state, thereby obtaining the benefits and protections of the state's laws." Bridgestone Corp. v. Superior Court (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 767, 773; see also Pavlovich, 29 Cal.4th at 269. To establish purposeful availment, California courts have considered the economic reality or commercial actuality of a defendant's contacts with the forum state. Seacrest Machine Corp. v. Superior Court (1983) 33 Cal.3d 664, 669; Buckeye Boiler Co. V. Superior Court, 71 Cal.2d 893, 903; Foster v. Mooney Aircraft Corp., 68 Cal.App.3d 887, 892. When a foreign corporation sells a product or engages in economic activity within California, it invokes the benefits and protections of the state and is therefore subject to jurisdiction in at least some cases. Buckeye Boiler, 71 Cal.2d at 901–02. "Thus [California courts] have equated engaging in economic activity within this state 'as a matter of commercial actuality' with [the] requirement of purposeful activity within this state." Id. at 903 (citation omitted).

IV.

DISCOVERY SERVED AND SOUGHT TO BE COMPELLED

Rather than present individual requests/interrogatories, Plaintiffs will present categories of information and documents they seek to compel with the respective requests/interrogatories referenced. The individual requests/interrogatories can be found in the following attachments:

-Exhibit D: Defendants' Objection to the 4TH Amended Notice of PMK Deposition

-Exhibit E: Defendant's Responses to Plaintiffs' First Set of Special Interrogatories;

-Exhibit F: Defendant's Response to Plaintiffs' Request for Production of Documents;

-Exhibit G: Defendant's Responses to Plaintiffs' Form Interrogatories;

V.

COMPEL ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE INFORMATION

Plaintiffs have been attempting to discover the organizational structure of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, individually, and its interrelationship to the people and entities that make up the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization. As set forth above, such discovery is relevant to define and describe the agency relationship with individuals doing business on behalf of Watch Tower Pennsylvania in California. "The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of religious organizations have been held to be relevant to the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies and religious workers." Stevens, 49 Cal.App.3d at 883.

A. Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2

Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2 request a description of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's "function/purpose within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" and all "changes to [Watch Tower Pennsylvania's] function/purpose since 1970."

B. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2

In addition to asserting the Serbian Objection (see supra), Watch Tower Pennsylvania's responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2 provide little or no information and ignore the time periods for which information is requested. For example, the responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2 provide the standard objections (relevance, vagueness and ambiguity), and then go on to provide an anemic response describing Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function/purpose since April of 2002. Special Interrogatory No. 2 requests "all the changes in your function/purpose within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization since 1970"; NO ANSWER IS PROVIDED.

Given the issues raised by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's challenge to the Court's exercise of jurisdiction, Plaintiffs need responses that are complete and that cover the time period from at least 1980 to the present – not just April 2002 to the present. This is particularly necessary given the fact that three of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's responses to Plaintiffs' Requests for Production simply say: "see Defendant's response to Special Interrogatory No. 1" (Responses to Request for Production Nos. 5, 6 and 7). Watch Tower Pennsylvania should not be allowed to avoid responding to Request for Production Nos. 5, 6 and 7 by relying on an inadequate Special Interrogatory No. 1 response.

C. PMK Deposition – Witness Not "Most Knowledgeable"

Plaintiff attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's structure and its interrelationship with the Governing Body and the other Watchtower Defendants through the examination of a PMK witness (see PMK Deposition Notice – Subject Matter Nos. 1-3, Document Request No. 3). The objections made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania include the Serbian Objection and that the subject matter was outside the relevant inquiry regarding jurisdiction. In discussions prior to the deposition, counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania made it clear that questioning Mr. Reinmueller (PMK witness) regarding the reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses organization was inappropriate inquiry into "ecclesiastical structure." Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court compelling the production of organizational structure answers, documents and testimony.

If Plaintiffs are entitled to obtain additional deposition testimony, Plaintiffs request that a person that is truly "most knowledgeable" be provided. In his deposition, Mr. Reinmueller testified that he is NOT the person with the most knowledge about the Watchtower Society's organizational structure, notwithstanding the notice (see PMK Deposition page 49, lines 2-24 attached as Exhibit H). In fact, Plaintiffs request the deposition of Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower Pennsylvania regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's structure and organization (see affidavit excerpts below and the full affidavit attached hereto as Exhibit P).

D. Special Interrogatory No. 22

Special Interrogatory No. 22 relates to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's organization, structure and interrelationship to the Governing Body. Watch Tower Pennsylvania relies upon the same objections as asserted to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2, above. Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court compelling a thorough answer to Special Interrogatory No. 22 which seeks a description of the "relationship between [Watch Tower Pennsylvania] and the Governing Body (including corporate, organizational and theocratic)."

E. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Special Interrogatory No. 22

Subject to its objections described above, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded: "No legal relationship." This sworn answer flies in the face of Watchtower Society publications (see documents attached hereto as Exhibits I-O), and an affidavit signed by Don Adams in 1986 (attached hereto as Exhibit P), the present President of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, which states in pertinent part as follows:

> 4. ... A Governing Body, at present comprised of thirteen men, direct all teaching, preaching, disciple-making and congregational activities of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world.
>
> ...
>
> 6. To implement their decisions, the Governing Body uses a hierarchical organization together with corporate entities, when appropriate, to accomplish its worldwide work of teaching and declaring the good news of God's established Kingdom. The principal corporation used by the Governing Body is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.
> 7. Under the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, the Governing Body directs 95 branches through Branch Committees ... and implement the directives of the Governing Body in a uniform manner. [emphasis added]

The above affidavit was NOT produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania or the Watchtower Defendants.

Certainly, there is a significant relationship between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the Governing Body (and several other people and entities in the Jehovah's Witnesses organization) and Plaintiffs respectfully request an order from this Court permitting additional organizational oral testimony and compelling Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide complete answers to relevant and unambiguous interrogatories.

F. Special Interrogatory Nos. 3, 4, 13 through 26

Special Interrogatory Nos. 3, 4 and 13 through 26 relate to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's organization, structure and interrelationship to the other Watchtower Defendants. Watch Tower Pennsylvania relies upon the same objections as asserted to Special Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2, above. Again, Plaintiffs seek an order from this Court compelling complete answers to the above Special Interrogatories as appropriate jurisdictional inquiries. It is clear from the Jehovah's Witnesses publications and the Don Adams affidavit that relationships did, in fact, exist.

G. Request for Production No. 14

Request for Production No. 14 requests Watch Tower Pennsylvania to produce "all documents which indicate a relationship to or with other business or corporate entities relating to your organization/operation."

H. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Request for Production No. 14

Subject to objections for relevance, breadth and burden, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded by requesting clarification about what "other business or corporate entities" refers to. Plaintiffs attempted to clarify this (though none seemed necessary) in a letter that stated:

> Plaintiffs are attempting to understand the relationship between Watch Tower PA and "other business and corporate entities"; more specifically, any person, organization, corporation or entity that is somehow related to the Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Please supplement with more than what has been provided in your responses to Request Nos. 1 through 3, and Special Interrogatories 1 through 24.

No supplementation has been made. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide and complete production of documents responsive to Request for Production No. 14.

I. PMK Deposition – Dispute Regarding Appropriate Areas of Inquiry

As will be described below, Watch Tower Pennsylvania engaged in continuous and systematic lending and insurance businesses from at least 1980 to the present. Watch Tower Pennsylvania conducted these, and other businesses, through District Overseers, Circuit Overseers and congregation Elders. California has approximately 10 districts which means there are approximately 10 District Overseers in California. California has approximately 100 circuits which means there are approximately 100 Circuit Overseers in California. California has approximately 2000 congregations in California which means there are approximately 6,000 to 15,000 congregation Elders in California, alone.

In his deposition, Alex Reinmueller (the PMK) testified a number of times that the California District Overseers, the California Circuit Overseers and the California Elders often receive instructional letters, books and other materials from Watch Tower Pennsylvania and are expected to apply/follow those instructions (see excerpts from PMK Depo, page 49, lines 13–16, attached hereto as Exhibit Q). It is Plaintiffs' position that the California District Overseers, the California Circuit Overseers and the California Elders are agents of Watch Tower Pennsylvania in California, and agency may confer general jurisdiction in the forum state over a foreign corporation. Sonora Diamond, at 540 (citing 2 Witkin, Cal. Procedure (4th ed. 1996) Jurisdiction, Section 167, p. 730).

The test of an agency relationship is the principal's right to control the activities of the agent. Stevens v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Fresno, 49 Cal.App.3d at 884 (priest was the corporation's agent ... the corporation had a right of control over the priest's activities within a geographical jurisdiction). It is clear from the PMK's testimony that Watch Tower Pennsylvania had the right to control the activities of California District Overseers, California Circuit Overseers and California Elders.[1] An example of how Watch Tower Pennsylvania uses its agents to conduct its business in California is depicted in an October 1, 1981 letter to "Circuit Overseers and District Overseers in the United States" and a June 1, 1982 letter to "Circuit Overseers and District Overseers in the United States"relative to interest-bearing loans for Kingdom Halls (attached hereto as Exhibits R and S). The testimony provided by the PMK about these instructional letters from Watch Tower Pennsylvania to District Overseers and Circuit Overseers (Exhibit CC) went as follows:

> Q. In 1981, if a circuit overseer or district overseer received instructions from the Watch Tower Pennsylvania office of the secretary treasurer, did they follow these instructions?
> A. I am sure to the best of their ability, they would.
> Q. And they were expected to follow the instructions, correct?
> A. To the extent that they were in a position to do so, sure.
> ...
> Q. So if this letter directing circuit overseers and district overseers to go out and share with particular Kingdom halls or congregations they feel may be appropriate that monies are available at this rate and at this term, they're going to follow these instructions, correct?
> A. I am sure they may try to do so.
> Q. And in California, they would do so, correct?
> A. Correct.

[1] Attached hereto as Exhibit Q is an underlined excerpt of the PMK deposition (page 379, line 2 through page391, line 12) discussing instructions being given by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the expectation that they be followed by California District Overseers, California Circuit Overseers and California Elders.

Again, it is Plaintiffs position that the California District Overseers, California Circuit Overseers and California Elders are agents of Watch Tower Pennsylvania for MANY purposes, including its Kingdom Hall lending business, which confers general jurisdiction; put differently, Watch Tower Pennsylvania had over 6,000 agents in California following the instructions that were being provided to by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from which Watch Tower Pennsylvania profited.

During the PMK deposition, Plaintiff attempted to explore areas of organizational structure to better understand the people and entities that were part of the Jehovah's Witnesses organization and to better understand who is acting as an agent of whom. There was sharp disagreement between counsel for Plaintiffs and counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania and the Watchtower Defendants about the appropriateness of such an inquiry. A couple of the exchanges between counsel evidencing the disagreement about the scope of the Court's Order permitting the PMK deposition testimony are attached hereto as Exhibit T. Notwithstanding the clarity of Plaintiffs' Fourth Amended Notice of Deposition of Person Most Knowledgeable, Plaintiffs were precluded from examining the PMK witness about the organizational structure, the reporting relationships within the Watchtower Society and details about how Watch Tower Pennsylvania uses its California agents to conduct business in that state. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court compel Watch Tower Pennsylvania to produce the person most knowledgeable about organizational structure and Watch Tower Pennsylvania's interrelationship to other people and entities – including California District Overseers, California Circuit Overseers and California Elders (its agents).

VI.

COMPEL WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S CORPORATE BOOK AND CORPORATE FILINGS

Plaintiffs have been attempting to discover the organizational structure of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, individually, and in the context of the larger Jehovah's Witnesses organization. As set forth above, such discovery is relevant to define and describe the agency relationship with individuals doing business on behalf of Watch Tower

Pennsylvania in California. "The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of religious organizations have been held to be relevant to the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies and religious workers." Stevens, 49 Cal.App.3d at 883.

A. Request for Production No. 1

Request for Production No. 1 requests the production of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's "Corporate Book relating to [Watch Tower Pennsylvania's] organization/operation." The document(s) being sought are the by-laws, incorporation documents, resolutions, meeting minutes and other documents that evidence the corporate existence and operation. This collection of documents should exist in the corporate offices of Watch Tower Pennsylvania and be kept pursuant to Pennsylvania corporations law.

B. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's responses to Request for Production No. 1 claimed that the request is irrelevant, overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome; no documents were produced. Plaintiffs directed a "meet and confer" letter to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's counsel describing the need for such documentation (see Exhibit B) and attached a copy of "Annual Meeting of Pennsylvania Corporation – October 7, 2000" which provides a detailed discussion of "A Governing Body as Different From a Legal Corporation by Brother Daniel Sydlik (Governing Body member)" (see page 6). That document, by way of example, provides on page 7:

> The Pennsylvania Corporation [Watch Tower Pennsylvania] is not the only legal entity used by Jehovah's Witnesses. ... These entities or corporations are controlled by the Governing Body. ... As the oldest and most stable and financially secure of the entities, the Pennsylvania Corporation is significant to the Governing Body in the care of the Master's belongings.

The above document WAS NOT produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania; this and other documents are relevant and should be produced. As set forth above, by-laws and internal rules and regulations of religious organizations have been held to be relevant to the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies and religious workers.

Notwithstanding Plaintiffs clear and unambiguous request, the Corporate Book has not been produced. Given the issues raised by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's challenge to the Court's exercise of jurisdiction, Plaintiffs need the requested documents relative to time period covering 1970 to the present.

C. Request for Production Nos. 2 through 11, 14 and 29

Request for Production Nos. 2 through 11, 14 and 29 request the meeting minutes, resolutions, by-laws, government filings and other such documents that should be contained in Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Corporate Book and incidental to the operation of a 501(c)(3) corporation. Watch Tower Pennsylvania provided no other response other than that the Requests are objectionable as being irrelevant, vague, overly broad and unduly burdensome. Plaintiff has already accumulated some of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's corporate by-laws/filings from 1881 to the present at considerable trouble and expense. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide complete responses to Request for Production Nos. 2 through 11, 14 and 29.

D. PMK Deposition

In an effort to obtain Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Corporate Book and explore the corporate formalities, Plaintiffs noticed Watch Tower Pennsylvania's representative with most knowledge about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's corporate and organizational structure and requested "Watch Tower PA's corporate book (which should include lists of officers, directors, organizational meeting minutes, resolutions and changes in organizational function and structure)"(see PMK Depo Notice, Document Request No.1 – Exhibit D).

In response to the PMK Deposition Notice, Watch Tower Pennsylvania produced some resolutions that related to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's sale of California property. The overwhelming majority of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's corporate book has not been produced; Watch Tower Pennsylvania presumably refuses to respond in reliance on the Serbian Objection (see above).

VII.

COMPEL DOCUMENTS RELATING TO KINGDOM HALL FINANCING AND INTEREST BEARING LOANS IN CALIFORNIA

For more than twenty years, Watch Tower Pennsylvania has engaged in the business of making interest bearing loans within the State of California. Through its Kingdom Hall Fund, Watch Tower Pennsylvania has made as least 375 loans in California[2], and currently has approximately 197 loan contracts in California.[3] Watch Tower Pennsylvania secures its loans through promissory notes or mortgages obtained from California congregations. In addition to the interest gained from the loans, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is further enriched by the increase in Jehovah's Witnesses' membership in California and the resultant increase in donation revenues from California's citizens.

A view of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts from a general jurisdiction perspective would call for the evaluation of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's systematic and continuous contacts with California. It is Plaintiffs position that Watch Tower Pennsylvania's loan activity in California was continuous and systematic. Through written discovery, Plaintiffs have sought to obtain the information to clearly demonstrate Watch Tower Pennsylvania's continuous, systematic AND PROFITABLE lending business in California for at least a quarter of a century.

A specific jurisdiction analysis of Watch Tower Pennsylvania would call for the evaluation of the ways in which Watch Tower Pennsylvania purposefully availed itself to the benefits of conducting activities in the forum state by purposefully directing its activities toward the state, thereby obtaining the benefits and protections of the state's laws. Bridgestone Corp. v. Superior Court (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 767, 773; see also Pavlovich, 29 Cal.4th at 269. To establish purposeful availment, California courts have considered the economic reality or commercial actuality of a defendant's contacts with the forum state. Seacrest Machine Corp. v. Superior Court (1983) 33 Cal.3d 664, 669; Buckeye Boiler, 71 Cal.2d at 903; Foster, 68 Cal.App.3d at 892. Plaintiffs have sought to obtain the information related to the quantity and quality of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's lending business in California through Request for Production No. 20 and Special Interrogatory Nos. 27 and 31.

A. Request for Production No. 20

Request for Production No. 20 requests the production of documents "relating to financing or purchases of building(s) for use by assemblies and/or congregations in California, including but not limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings." Obviously, Plaintiffs are seeking the information to understand Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts.

B. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Request for Production No. 20

Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded to Request for Production 20 as follows:

> Objection. This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has provided funds to 197 congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California.

In response to Request for Production No. 20, Watch Tower Pennsylvania produced NO documents. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to make a full production of responsive documents from 1980 to the present – including the records described in Paragraph G, below.

C. Special Interrogatory No. 27

Special Interrogatory No. 27 requests that Watch Tower Pennsylvania describe "any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall financing from 1970 to the present.

D. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Special Interrogatory No. 27

Subject to the Serbian Objection and objections for vagueness and ambiguity, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded to Special Interrogatory No. 27 that Watch Tower Pennsylvania "has provided money to congregations upon request so that the congregations could build Kingdom Halls." Plaintiffs made it clear in two meet and confer letters (see Exhibits A and C) that such a response was wholly inadequate; no supplemental answer has been provided. Plaintiffs, therefore sought additional information through the PMK deposition (see below).

E. Special Interrogatory No. 31

Special Interrogatory No. 31 requests that Watch Tower Pennsylvania describe its "involvement with the purchase and/or financing of Kingdom Halls, generally, and the specific Kingdom Halls used by Defendant Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses...."

F. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Special Interrogatory No. 31

Subject to the Serbian Objection and objections for vagueness and ambiguity, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded in part that it "was not involved in the purchase or building of the Kingdom Hall used by Defendants Napa ... Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and did not provide any monies to [that] congregation for that purpose."

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's position is supported by the affidavit of Richard E. Abrahamson, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Treasurer, in support of its Motion to Quash (Second Affidavit of Richard E. Abrahamson attached hereto as Exhibit V). Mr. Abrahamson testified by affidavit (paragraph 9):

> 9. Watch Tower PA does not hold, and has never held, promissory notes or mortgages from the Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in Napa, California, ...

At considerable effort and expense, Plaintiffs obtained deed records from Napa County indicating that Watch Tower Pennsylvania did, in fact, loan monies to the Napa Congregation, holds a deed of trust filed in Napa County and holds an interest bearing note for the repayment of a loan by the Napa Congregation. A copy of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Deed of Trust relative to their Kingdom Hall loan to the Napa Congregation is attached hereto as Exhibit W. This deed record (and others obtained from Yolo County and Tehema County) were not produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Even after this was brought to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's attention, Watch Tower Pennsylvania has NOT supplemented its responses with ANY deed records or loan documents for the Napa Kingdom Hall or any others.

Notwithstanding Mr. Abrahamson's testimony and Watch Tower Pennsylvania's response to Special Interrogatory No. 31, Watch Tower Pennsylvania was involved in the purchase of the Kingdom Hall used by Defendants Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and did, in fact, provide monies to Defendant Napa Congregation for that purpose.

Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide full and complete answers to Special Interrogatory Nos. 27 and 31.

G. PMK Deposition

In an effort to explore Watch Tower Pennsylvania's thriving lending business in California, Plaintiffs noticed Watch Tower Pennsylvania's representative with most knowledge about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's lending activities in California (see PMK Depo Notice, Subject Matter Nos. 6, 7 and 8 – Exhibit D).

In response to the PMK Deposition Notice, Watch Tower Pennsylvania produced some blank forms regarding Kingdom Hall loans made by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. There is much, however, that has not been produced; excerpts from the PMK's deposition (Alex Reinmueller) highlight the areas of production and response that are inadequate. Underlined excerpts of the testimony described below are attached as Exhibit U.

The above page-line summary was provided to counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania on November 15, 2004 in the hopes of avoiding the filing of this Motion (Exhibit A); counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania has made no attempt to contact counsel for Plaintiffs since the discovery stay has been lifted and no additional documents have been produced. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order the production of the above-described areas of information.

VIII.

COMPEL KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT (KHAA)

The KHAA is a thinly veiled insurance business operated by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and doing business within the State of California. Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects calculated premiums at scheduled time intervals and provides coverage for property damage and third party liability claims. Watch Tower Pennsylvania asserts that the premiums paid by California congregations to the KHAA are "voluntary donations."[4] However, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's correspondence to KHAA participants provides a highly specific formula for calculating the amount of premium to be paid.[5] Watch Tower Pennsylvania dictates that premiums "will be" paid monthly, or, at the option of the insured, they may pay "the entire annual amount at once."[6] California congregations are

[5] "The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) uses designated contributed funds to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls and for expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls. . . . To avoid burdening the brothers with one large expense, we recommend that each congregation pass a resolution to contribute monthly based upon the number of its publishers. (For example, $4.50 x (number of publishers) ÷ 12 months = $ per month.) Since this will be a monthly donation, it should be cared for by each congregation instead of by the operating committee in the case of congregations that share a Kingdom Hall. If you prefer to send the entire annual amount at once, you may do so." further required to make premium payments directly to Watch Tower Pennsylvania via the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System, and specifically designate the funds for the KHAA account.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania attempts to minimize its insurance business in California by telling this Court that the KHAA does not guarantee payment to any person or legal entity.[7] However, in its correspondence to California congregations, Watch Tower Pennsylvania asserts that the KHAA "uses designated contributed funds to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls and for expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls."[8] In reality, Watch Tower Pennsylvania is collecting insurance premiums from California congregations as consideration for its promise to reimburse them for future property damage and third party liability. Like any insurance agreement, California congregations participating in the KHAA submit "claims" to Watch Tower Pennsylvania when they suffer a loss. Watch Tower Pennsylvania stated that it had "less than 20 claims in California involving the KHAA for the year 2003 . . . ."

The hallmarks of an insurance agreement include the "shifting [of] one party's risk of loss to another party; and [the] distribution of that risk among similarly situated persons." Automotive Funding Group, Inc. v. Garamendi (2003) 114 Cal.App.4th 846, 851 (interpreting CAL. INS. CODE § 22). The KHAA shifts the California congregations' risk of loss to Watch Tower Pennsylvania. For example, if a California congregation sustains property damage or becomes financially liable to a third party as a result of an occurrence at a Kingdom Hall, the congregation files a claim with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for reimbursement from the KHAA fund. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also uses the KHAA to distribute risk of loss among similarly situated persons—congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses within California and the United States. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's correspondence describing the amount, timing, and method of KHAA premium payments is addressed "To All Bodies of Elders in the United States."[9] In its letter, Watch Tower Pennsylvania describes the KHAA as an "arrangement by which all congregations can share in assisting one another."[10] In the context of an arrangement which pools finances to cover potential future liabilities, "shar[ing] in assisting one another" and spreading risk are the same. Even though Watch Tower Pennsylvania may not have formal written contracts with California congregations regarding the KHAA, the agreements are, in essence, contracts for insurance.

[7] See Second Affidavit of Richard E. Abrahamson's at ¶ 10 attached as Exhibit V.
[8] See ¶ 1 of 10/6/03 letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania to "All Bodies of Elders in the United States" at Exhibit X.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania's continuous contacts with California Residents stemming from its operation of the KHAA for the last fifteen years fall into the following categories: (1) corresponding with California residents to solicit premium payments and participation in the KHAA; (2) receiving monthly payments directly from California congregations; and (3) receiving, investigating, and paying claims within the State of California. The KHAA is one way that Watch Tower Pennsylvania exerts control over activities within the State of California and profits from the creation and continued existence of California congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's activities through its KHAA insurance business in California constitute part of its overall presence within the state (general jurisdiciton) and is purposeful commercial activity within the State of California (specific jurisdiction).

A. Special Interrogatory Nos. 29, 30, and 32 through 37

Special Interrogatory Nos. 29, 30, and 32 through 37 request information regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's operation of the KHAA and the Risk Management Office for any and all time periods between 1970 and the present. Special Interrogatory No. 29, for example, requests Watch Tower Pennsylvania to describe " any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present."

Special Interrogatory No. 30 requests a description of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's

[9] See ¶ 1 of 10/6/03 letter from Watch Tower Pennsylvania to "All Bodies of Elders in the United States" at Exhibit X.
[10] Id.

"involvement [Watch Tower Pennsylvania] has had with risk management for California congregations and their respective Kingdom Halls from 1970 to the present."

Special Interrogatory Nos. 32 through 37 request similar, if not more specific, information. Through these Special Interrogatories, Plaintiffs are seeking information to better understand Watch Tower Pennsylvania's insurance business and function in California risk management.

B. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Responses to Special Interrogatory Nos. 29 and 30

Subject to the Serbian Objection and objections for vagueness and ambiguity, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded to Special Interrogatory No. 29 that it "has received annual contributions from congregations to fund the KHAA since about 1989 and has managed the funds in KHAA." Also subject to the Serbian Objection and objections for vagueness and ambiguity, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded to Special Interrogatory No. 30: "None."

As will be made more clear below, these answers were not only anemic and misleading, they were untrue. Watch Tower Pennsylvania has been acting as an insurance provider, broker and risk management agent for up to 2000 congregations in California for at least 25 years; Watch Tower Pennsylvania continues in that role today.

C. Form Interrogatory No. 4: Insurance Policies and Other Information

In Special Interrogatories, generally, and in Form Interrogatory, specifically, Plaintiffs requested past and present insurance policies purchased by Watch Tower Pennsylvania that relates to coverage provided to California people and entities and any insurance that relates to the claims made in this case.

Notwithstanding identical requests for information, counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania in a Texas case produced pieces of insurance policies dated 1988 and 1989. An incomplete copy of the 1988/1989 CGL and umbrella policies are attached hereto as Exhibits Y and Z. It is clear from the documents and from the PMK testimony related thereto, that Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing CGL and umbrella policies for California congregations (approximately 2000 congregations in California), California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers and California District Overseers. Additionally, Watch Tower Pennsylvania was purchasing the insurance with money provided, in part, by people and entities in California. The fact that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is the primary entity involved in the purchase of insurance and the fact that Elders (including California Elders) appear to be listed as if they are employees or agents of the policy-holder (Watch Tower Pennsylvania). This is yet another systematic and continuous contact with California and also demonstrates that Watch Tower Pennsylvania treats California Elders and others as agents in California for the sake of the organization's business. Please note specifically from "Instructions" of the policy which lists those to whom coverage is extended (attached as Exhibit Y):

> Extensions of Coverage:
> 1. Clergy Counseling Professional Liability Coverage (Form AIUX 306) with the following amendments.
> A. The persons insured provision is amended to include any "Elder or Ministerial Servant designated as such by the named insured"... [Watch Tower Pennsylvania]
> B. No. 3 – Definition of a "cleric" is deleted in its entirety."

The above item No. 1 appears on "Page 2 of 4" and Plaintiffs expect the policy to continue with item Nos. 2 through 8 to continue on Page 3 of 4; page 3, however, was not produced. Page 4 of 4 continues with item Nos. 9 through 13. This is just one example of how information is not being provided that Plaintiffs expect will more fully describe the relationship between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and its agents in California. As set forth below in Paragraph D.1., Watch Tower Pennsylvania has copies of policies going back to at least 1990; their Texas counsel was able to obtain copies of policies from 1988 and 1989.

Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court to order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to produce complete insurance policies related to California people or entities from 1970 to the present and to fully answer Special Interrogatory Nos. 29, 30 and 32 through 37.

D. PMK Deposition Regarding KHAA and Risk Management

Plaintiffs attempted to obtain more information from the person designated as having most knowledge about the KHAA, risk management and other related areas of inquiry (see PMK Depo Notice, Subject Matters 4 and 5 – attached as Exhibit D).

In response to the PMK Deposition Notice, Watch Tower Pennsylvania produced some documentation regarding the KHAA and risk management. There is much, however, that has not been produced. Excerpts from the deposition of the PMK (Alex Reinmueller) highlight a few areas of production and response that are inadequate; underlined excerpts of the testimony described below are attached as Exhibit AA.

The above page-line summary was provided to counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania in the hopes of avoiding the filing of this Motion; counsel for Watch Tower Pennsylvania has made no attempt to contact counsel for Plaintiffs since the discovery stay has been lifted and no additional documents have been produced. Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court order the production of the above-described areas of information.

IX.

COMPEL AMOUNT OF MONIES TO WATCH TOWER PENNSYLVANIA FROM CALIFORNIA

This Court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania is appropriate if Watch Tower Pennsylvania has substantial or continuous and systematic contacts with the forum which are "so wide-ranging that they take the place of physical presence in the forum state (general jurisdiction). Additionally, this Court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania is appropriate if Watch Tower Pennsylvania purposefully availed itself to the benefits of conducting activities in California; to establish purposeful availment, California courts have considered the economic reality or commercial actuality of a defendant's contacts with the forum state.

It is Plaintiffs' expectation that the amount of money that Watch Tower Pennsylvania obtains from California citizens and entities is staggering. Plaintiffs have directed discovery to Watch Tower Pennsylvania to obtain information relative to the economic reality of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's presence in California; however, no information regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's economic reality or commercial actuality has been produced or provided.

A. Request for Production No. 21

In Request for Production No. 21, Plaintiffs requested Watch Tower Pennsylvania to "produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to organizational financial statements from 1970 to the present."

B. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Response to Request for Production No. 21

Subject to its objections that Request for Production No. 21 was irrelevant, overly broad, unduly burdensome and seeks private information, Watch Tower Pennsylvania responded that "Watch Tower PA ... receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California; however, NO DOCUMENTS WERE PRODUCED and no amounts of money were described.

C. Request for Production Nos. 22 through 29

Request for Production Nos. 22 through 29 seek documentation relative to monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from California including treasurer summaries/reports, tax returns, government filings, deposit summaries, wire transfer summaries and bank statements.

D. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Responses to Request for Production Nos. 22 - 29

Subject to its objections that Request for Production Nos. 22 through 29 are irrelevant, overly broad, unduly burdensome and seek private information, Watch Tower Pennsylvania again only responded that "Watch Tower PA ... receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California." No documents were produced by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and no amounts of money were described.

E. PMK Deposition

Plaintiffs attempted to obtain more information from the person designated as having most knowledge and in the notice for the deposition, Plaintiffs specifically requested "Documents related to monies received by [Watch Tower Pennsylvania] from California for any reason from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to donations, payments, premiums, and rental/lease income)"(see PMK Depo Notice, Request No. 8 – attached as Exhibit D). No documents were produced.

Excerpts from the PMK deposition highlight a few areas of production and response that are inadequate relating to monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from California; underlined excerpts of the testimony described below are attached as Exhibit BB.

1. Donations Instructions
-more documents that describe where and to whom to make donations

*Plaintiffs request that the above information be produced as responsive to the PMK Deposition Notice (Document Request No. 8) and Request for Production Nos. 21 through 29.

2. Donations from California
Page 203, Line 6 – Page 204, Line 14
-there have been many donations from California
-someone could be tasked with the job to determine the amount of donations from California

*Plaintiffs request that the above information be produced as responsive to the PMK Deposition Notice (Document Request No. 8) and Request for Production Nos. 21 through 29.

3. Database of California Donations Information
-database exists that has records of California donations from 1997 to present
-there are financial statements that exist/were created that describe total donations
-no database that breaks out California only – can do entire USA

*Plaintiffs request that the above information be produced as responsive to the PMK Deposition Notice (Document Request No. 8) and Request for Production Nos. 21 through 29.

F. Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement – Operated at a Surplus?

As described above, Watch Tower Pennsylvania manages an insurance system that covers most ever type of injury, incident or accident that occurs in a Jehovah's Witnesses' property or event. Further, this coverage has included the payment for Elder Misconduct and is available for payment to victims of sexual abuse by Elders of California congregations.

This system works by Watch Tower Pennsylvania collecting a specified amount from each congregation (including those in California) and then uses a portion of that amount of money to purchase a high-deductible catastrophic liability policy that covers all buildings and Elders in California. The remaining money is used by Watch Tower Pennsylvania as a self-insured retention to handle matters as they arise that do not trigger the high-deductible liability or umbrella policies. The KHAA is a business being managed and operated by Watch Tower Pennsylvania. In the PMK deposition, Plaintiffs' counsel asked Mr. Reinmueller if Watch Tower Pennsylvania operated the KHAA at a surplus or a deficit; Mr. Reinmueller was instructed by counsel not to respond. This discussion from the PMK deposition went as follows (page 374, line 3 – page 375, line 20):

Q. Wouldn't you agree with me that Watch Tower Pennsylvania intended for the California congregations to be recipients of the information about the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. Watch Tower Pennsylvania's receiving contributions not only from California, but from all over the country, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. In connection with the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, correct?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. And every year, they're paying out sums of money in claims, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Who would be able to tell me whether or not the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement operates at a surplus or a deficit?
A. I would.
Q. Does the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement operate at a surplus or a deficit?
MR. SCHNACK: Again, I'll instruct him not to answer this question, as it's outside the scope of this deposition. We've already discussed the parameters of it.
MR. LOVE: The reason why I want that answer to the question is, I want to know whether or not the congregations in California are contributing money to a way in which Watch Tower Pennsylvania profits.
MR. SCHNACK: I'm going to instruct him not to answer. I don't think it's relevant.
Q. Are you going to answer my question?
A. No.

Counsel for Plaintiff explained to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's counsel that the KHAA was one of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's business contacts in California; it is relevant to discover whether Watch Tower Pennsylvania is profiting from a business that collects thousands of dollars from hundreds of congregations in California every month. Plaintiffs expect that Watch Tower Pennsylvania has amassed a substantial amount of money through its KHAA; given the fact that one out of every seven congregations in the United States is in California, such an inquiry is very relevant given Plaintiffs need to understand Watch Tower Pennsylvania's economic reality and/or commercial actuality in the State of California.

Plaintiffs request that the above information be produced as responsive to Request for Production Nos. 21-29 and/or for further deposition testimony consistent with Request for Production of Documents, Set One, Nos. 21-29 and further deposition testimony consistent with questions page 374, line 3-page 375, line 20.

X.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court overrule Watch Tower Pennsylvania's use of the Serbian Objection and order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide complete responses to the Requests for Production and the Special Interrogatories identified above. Additionally, Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court to order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide a PMK witness to testify in California about Watch Tower Pennsylvania's organizational and corporate structure, as well as its interrelationship to the other Watchtower Society entities (including the Governing Body); Plaintiffs would like this witness to be Don Adams, President of Watch Tower Pennsylvania and prior organizational affiant (Exhibit P.) Finally, Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court to order Watch Tower Pennsylvania to provide Alex Reinmueller (PMK regarding KHAA deficit/surplus) to testify in California about the financial and economic realities of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California.

CASE NO: 26-22191

Judicial Council Coordination Proceeding No. 4374

SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCHTOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO DOCUMENT REQUESTS CONTAINED IN FOURTH AMENDED DEPOSITION NOTICE OF PMK

Date: 4/8/05
Time: 9:30 AM
Dept. B
Trial Date: None

FOURTH AMENDED NOTICE OF DEPOSITION OF

PERSON MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE - DOCUMENTS REQUESTED

REQUESTED DOCUMENT NO. 3:

Documents describing the organizational structure and reporting relationships within the Watch Tower PA, specifically, and Watchtower Society, generally (describing how Watch Tower PA fits into the overall organization).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See Exhibit, 39, 40, and 54.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The scope of the requested information sought from Watch Tower Pennsylvania is appropriate in light of their on-going tortious conduct as alleged in Plaintiffs' Amended Complaint.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." Ironically, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's own President signed an Affidavit under penalty of perjury establishing that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is a conduit, if not the conduit, which directs its congregational activities. But they failed to produced that affidavit. Clearly, this multi-million dollar corporation has documents, which explain their relation with the other corporate defendants, and all such documents should be produced to evaluate their contacts with California, in conjunction with further deposition testimony of a person most knowledge for further inquiry and explanation.

REQUESTED DOCUMENT NO. 4:

Documents related to the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present, including but not limited to instructions (present and prior), invoices (or "letters suggesting a contribution") from Watch Tower PA to California congregations, forms used in the operation of the KHAA, and claims paid in California.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, vague, and an invasion of privacy of individuals not parties to this lawsuit, unduly burdensome, and intended for purposes of harassment.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See documents for 1972 to 1985 and 203, attached hereto as Exhibits 5, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17, 18, 21, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 36, 37, 38, 49, 50, 51, 52, and 58. Defendant Watch Tower PA had less than 20 claims in California involving the KHAA for the year 2003 and no claims paid from 1972 to 1985 because the KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

ARGUMENT:

This case is part of a coordination action wherein numerous plaintiffs allege Watch Tower Pennsylvania engaged in systematic tortious conduct since approximately 1970 to the present. The scope of requested is not overbroad, in light of their on-going activities in the State of California. Documents reflecting covered claims in the form of an insurer reflect on-going business activities in this State creating what Plaintiffs contend are the requisite contacts for this Court to exercise jurisdiction over Watch Tower Pennsylvania. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be estopped from asserting their motion to quash, and then fail to provide documents that would establish their contacts with this State.

Such documents should be produced as discussed at pages 26-32 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, and further deposition inquiry into these documents should be allowed.

REQUESTED DOCUMENT NO. 8:

Documents related to monies received by you from California for any reason from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to donations, payments, premiums, and rental/lease income).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, this request is overly broad, an invasion of privacy, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Watch Tower PA.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA sends letters on a monthly basis to each congregation acknowledging the receipt of donations sent by the congregation to Watch Tower PA. See also Exhibits 1, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 25, 26, 29, 30, 36, 37 and 38.

TO ALL CIRCUIT SERVANTS AND DISTRICT SERVANTS

Dear Brothers:

Our last letter to all of you concerning the matters herein discussed was that of March 1, 1965. Your correspondence indicates that congregations and individuals continue to inquire of you as to what steps they can take to enable the Society to have use of funds which they have accumulated and would like to have used to advance the Kingdom interests to the fullest extent. It seems well at this time to provide all of you with information on points that have been raised so that you will be fully informed and will be in a position to continue to assist those who make such inquiries of you by giving them information. You are not to include a discussion of these matters in any talk you give to the congregation, but rather you are to have the facts in mind so that you can answer questions of congregations, committees and individuals. Correspondence we receive indicates the following are subjects of inquiry:

The Society's letter, INFORMATION REGARDING GIFTS AND WILLS, has been rewritten, November 1, 1968. We enclose a copy and you will see this covers the subject of gifts and wills generally. You can always recommend to individuals that they write to the Society for a copy of this letter of November 1, 1968, and probably it will answer their questions.

In connection with the conditional donation arrangement you will be interested to know that many congregations continue to place excess funds in conditional donations and some have accumulated their building funds under this arrangement. This enables the funds to be used by the Society until needed for the Kingdom Hall project.

Not only do donations made to the Society continue to be deductible under the income tax regulations but a change in the law enables deductions to be made greater than heretofore. The United States Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, has determined that, as provided in Section 170(b)(1)(B) of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code, contributions made to the Society are deductible by an individual subject to the limitation that the aggregate of his deductible contributions may not exceed 20% of his adjusted gross income and has also determined that, under Section 170(b)(1)(A) of the 1954 Code, individuals are allowed an additional deduction of not exceeding 10% of their adjusted gross income for contributions to the Society. This means that it held the Society constitutes an organization referred to in Section 170(b)(1)(A) of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code. The change of which you should be aware is that Section 201(a) of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 (P. L. 91-172) raises the income tax 30% limit on charitable contributions deduction to 50% of an individual's adjusted gross income for tax years beginning with 1970 according to our understanding. Donors can check this with their own tax authority.

The United States Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, publishes a list of organizations, contributions to which are deductible under Section 170 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. Therein appear Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., Brooklyn, N.Y. The latest listing of the Society appears in Cumulative List of Organizations (revised to December 31, 1968) (Publication 78 (Rev. 12-68)), pages 7, 284, 563.

The foregoing information may assist some at the time of making out their income tax returns to properly identify the Society and establish the fact that the special limitation provided in Section 201(a) of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 (P. L. 91-172) is applicable to contributions made to Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania.

You may review the contents of the November 1, 1968, letter enclosed to your advantage, refreshing your recollection as to the points it contains. Have in mind that the brothers should feel free to write to the Society, encouraging them to do so informing the Society fully as to any questions or plans they may have respecting their estates in which the Society has a beneficial interest.

Be assured of our loving interest and our prayers for Jehovah to continue to bless you as you in all ways seek to advance the interests of his work and his people to his praise.

With you, looking for oversight of Jehovah as Shepherd,

TO CIRCUIT OVERSEERS AND
DISTRICT OVERSEERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

The Society would like to again assist congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in respect to Kingdom Hall financing, and we hope to be able to do this on a limited scale. Our thought is that there may be some congregations in emergency situations. Some may have financed Kingdom Halls during the past few years by obtaining commercial loans at very high interest rates, finding that the monthly payments are proving to be difficult. Other congregations may have an urgent need for Kingdom Hall facilities but have not been able to proceed with a building project because of the high cost of borrowing or even the unavailability of funds. There may be other emergency situations. So, to the extent that we are able to do so, we want to assist congregations having a genuine need in respect to their Kingdom Halls.

A Kingdom Hall loan through the Society would be at an interest rate of 6% per annum. We could consider a repayment of not more than ten years. Repayment of a Kingdom Hall loan at 6% in ten years would require monthly payments of $12.00 per $1,000.00 of the loan. As an example, for a Kingdom Hall loan in the amount of $10,000.00, the monthly payments would be $120.00.

This gives you some idea of our desire to assist congregations in a limited way, and the amounts that would be involved in repaying any loan through the Society of funds needed in addition to those raised within the congregation.

We are not making a general announcement to all of the congregations, but we are informing you so that if in serving the congregations in your circuits and districts you do observe any with needs such as are outlined here, you can tell the body of elders that if they wish to do so, they are free to write to this office of the Society making inquiry as to the possibility of a loan for Kingdom Hall financing. We do not have in mind your making any sort of a general announcement of this because our resources are limited, and we would like to give what assistance we can to congregations where the aid would be most justified. You may come across such congregations, and if this is the case, you might tell the body of elders that if they write to us about the matter, they should mention the fact that you have spoken to them, telling them that they may make inquiry of the Society. We do not require a letter from you about any such congregation, but, on the other hand, if there is some information that you would like to bring to our attention relating to the congregation's need or loan request, we would be glad to get such from you.

The assistance you are rendering to the congregations in so many ways in serving them is very much appreciated, and it may be that at this time you and the Society can be of further help to some of the congregations as outlined above.

Warm Christian love, and we wish you Jehovah's continued blessings.

TO CIRCUIT OVERSEERS AND
DISTRICT OVERSEERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

Under date of October 1, 1981, the Society was pleased to inform you of its desire to again assist congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in respect to Kingdom Hall financing, at least doing so on a limited scale.

The response to that letter has been heavy, and we are happy to have been able to help many congregations who were in an emergency situation. Because of the heavy response on the part of the congregations, the Society now wishes to let you know that it is advisable for us to somewhat curtail our loan arrangement at this time.

As with the case of the October 1, 1981, letter, we are not making a general announcement to all of the congregations, but we are informing you so that if in serving the congregations in your circuits and district you have occasion to discuss Kingdom Hall loans with bodies of elders, you can tell them that the Society hopes to be able to help others who are also in an emergency situation but may not be able to do so immediately.

We are very appreciative of the many valued services and assistance you are rendering to the congregations in so many ways and will appreciate your further assistance at this time in the matter of Kingdom Hall financing arrangements as outlined above.

Please accept our warm Christian love and best wishes.

TO BODIES OF ELDERS WHOSE KINGDOM HALLS ARE INSURED THROUGH THE SOCIETY'S ARRANGEMENT

Dear Brothers:

Re: 1987 Annual Insurance Billing

Enclosed is this year's invoice for insurance covering your Kingdom Hall. It covers the period October 1, 1987 to October 1, 1988. Thanks to your combined efforts in protecting your Kingdom Halls, there will be no increase in the cost of your insurance for the coming year.

Some congregations choose to pay the whole amount at once. Others prefer to pay in quarterly installments and others pay monthly. However, keep in mind that the Society pays your premiums in advance and waits for reimbursement from the congregations. By paying your entire invoice as soon as possible, you assist the Society to use its funds to advance the preaching work. In any event some payment must be made within the next 30 days.

Make your payment using the green T-51 Remittance Form. Enter your payment on the line of the form marked "Insurance Account Payment."

If more than one congregation uses the Hall, only the congregation whose T-51 Remittance Form includes a line for "Insurance Account Payment" should remit to the Society.

"KEY FACTS ABOUT KINGDOM HALL INSURANCE"

We are enclosing for your review and use the confidential memorandum "Key Facts About Kingdom Hall Insurance." This is updated information and will replace all previous information, including the manual, "Insurance for Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses." Also enclosed are new forms for reporting property damage, as well as accidents that result in an injury to someone. You should discard all copies of the older insurance manual along with any old forms previously used to report property damage or accidents.

This memorandum contains most of the information you need on insurance matters. If further information is desired, you may contact the Society's Insurance Desk. A copy of the "Key Facts About Congregation Insurance" should be made and distributed to each congregation meeting in the Kingdom Hall. All elders and the brothers serving on the Kingdom Hall Operating Committee should read this memorandum at this time and refer to it immediately when a question arises.

If Kingdom Hall construction, renovation, or demolition work is contemplated, please advise the Society's Insurance Desk.

ACCIDENTS AT THE KINGDOM HALL

We continue to receive reports of injuries resulting from unsafe conditions at Kingdom Halls. Several accidents have been caused by poor maintenance and improper lighting of stairs, failure to promptly remove snow and ice and neglected maintenance of parking areas. Children have been injured and have caused others to be injured because they were allowed to run in the Kingdom Hall. A number of accidents have occurred because of unsafe practices while working at the Kingdom Hall, including falls from ladders and injuries resulting from unsafe use of lawn mowers. We want to encourage elders to be especially watchful in these areas in order to reduce unnecessary suffering on the part of our brothers and sisters due to injury.

We note that in most cases, elders have been able to assist those who are injured to see the need to take responsibility for their own medical care utilizing their own insurance coverage when available. By helping individuals to see the wisdom of bearing costs this way, we avoid the spirit of the world, which often views insurance as a means of profiting from an accident.

PROPERTY LOSSES

Even though there has been an overall reduction in claims resulting from property damage, certain types of claims have increased. Preventable losses such as burglary and vandalism are being reported more frequently than ever before. Because of the changing times, Kingdom Halls located in "safe areas" are now being broken into and burglarized. This gives rise to the need for more protection and security in most locations. Please take time now to analyze and discuss what you can do to prevent such losses in the future. It will be less costly in the long run to upgrade and secure the Kingdom Hall now than to replace or repair a loss later on.

Your careful attention to these matters of safety of the brothers and care of the Kingdom Halls is greatly appreciated by the Society. We pray Jehovah's continued blessing as we work together in caring for the Kingdom interests entrusted to us.

Your brothers,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

KEY FACTS ABOUT CONGREGATION INSURANCE

This memorandum contains the following main headings:

How to Obtain Information
Protecting Your Kingdom Hall
Starting, Increasing, or Canceling Your Insurance
Reporting and Handling a Property Loss, Injury, or Lawsuit
Renewing and Paying for Your Insurance
Coverages
Administration of Your Kingdom Hall

HOW TO OBTAIN INFORMATION

If after reading this memorandum you have questions concerning your coverage through the Society's group arrangement, contact the Society directly at the following address:

Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society
of Pennsylvania
Attention: Insurance Desk
25 Columbia Heights
Brooklyn, NY 11201

Telephone: (718) 625-3600

It is not practical to provide each congregation with its own copy of the insurance policy, because of the fact that a single insurance policy has been issued to cover a very large number of congregations which are insured as a group.

If you receive a request for written proof of insurance, want to change the amount of coverage you have, or need special or additional coverages, please contact the Society. (Do not contact the insurance agency, since the Society maintains these records.)

PROTECTING YOUR KINGDOM HALL

No insurance covers all damage or expenses. Insurance provides only a measure of the protection you need. The rest you must provide yourself, protecting your property as if you had no insurance at all. To do this, it is advisable for the elders to select a brother or brothers who will be able to give permanent attention to the hall. The ones assigned should do the following:

Make a complete inspection of your Kingdom Hall on a regular basis.

Analyze your Kingdom Hall's security needs.

Make frequent preventive maintenance checks.

Verify that all contractors you hire have necessary Workers' Compensation and Public Liability insurance with limits of at least $300,000.

Remove cash from the Kingdom Hall after every meeting.

Check your roof for seasonal problems.

STARTING, INCREASING, OR CANCELING YOUR INSURANCE

Any congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses can obtain insurance through the Society, even if its Kingdom Hall is mortgaged apart from the Society. Contact the Society if you want to obtain insurance.

If you sell your Kingdom Hall, notify the Society immediately to cancel coverage.

To cancel your insurance, notify the Society. Your insurance will not be canceled simply because you have failed to pay your premium. Do not leave your insurance premium unpaid on the assumption that the Society will cancel your insurance if you do not pay.

If you want to increase the amount of coverage on your hall, write the Society, giving the new insured value of (1) your building and (2) its contents. (Do not obtain a formal appraisal.)

Every building you own or build (Kingdom Hall, tool shed, house, etc.) must be separately insured.

Rented buildings can be insured for liability coverage. Any property the congregation owns, such as chairs or sound equipment, can be insured for fire and theft. If your lease requires you to insure the building, please contact the Society.

REPORTING AND HANDLING A PROPERTY LOSS, INJURY, OR LAWSUIT

There are three categories of claims that your insurance covers. Depending on the category into which your claim falls, please report it as follows:

1. Lawsuits: All lawsuits involving congregation matters—including suits against individual elders—should be reported immediately to the Society. Report all threatened lawsuits, as well as suits which have formally begun. Make all reports directly to the Society at the address shown on the following page, Attention: Legal Department.

2. Property Losses: This means theft, fire, flood, etc., involving property either owned by the congregation or being used by it. Report property losses to the Society as follows:

Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society
of Pennsylvania
Attention: Insurance Desk
25 Columbia Heights
Brooklyn, NY 11201

Telephone: (718) 625-3600

3. Injuries/Liability Claims: This refers to any accidents involving the Kingdom Hall operations. Use the "Accident Notice" to report claims in this category to both the Society and the insurance agency, as follows:

ALWAYS REPORT A LAWSUIT, PROPERTY LOSS, OR INJURY, even if you are not sure your insurance will cover it. However, DO NOT REPORT a property loss of less than $250, since your insurance will not pay loss claims of less than that amount.

IF YOU ARE BEING SUED, OR IF AN ELDER OR OTHER MEMBER OF YOUR CONGREGATION IS BEING SUED BECAUSE OF A JUDICIAL ACTION OR BECAUSE OF THEIR ASSIGNED WORK ON BEHALF OF THE CONGREGATION, FOLLOW THE STEPS BELOW AS SOON AS YOU RECEIVE ANYTHING IN WRITING FROM THE PERSON WHO IS SUING OR HIS ATTORNEY.

1. Do not discuss the case with the person who is suing or threatening to sue, or with his attorney. Do not discuss the matter with the news media.

2. Telephone the Society's Legal Department to report the lawsuit at (718) 625-3600.

3. Follow the instructions of the Society's Legal Department. Immediately mail to them the original legal papers or letters which you have received from attorneys or from persons involved.

4. The Society will care for reporting the matter to the insurance company. Do not hire your own attorney. If you are uncertain what to do, contact the Society's Insurance Desk.

IF YOU HAVE A PROPERTY LOSS, FOLLOW THE STEPS BELOW AS SOON AS YOU DISCOVER IT.

1. Appoint an elder to handle the property loss. This will include obtaining written estimates and bills for all damaged or stolen items and reporting the loss to the Society.

2. Report theft, vandalism, or vehicle damage to the police.

3. IF the damage creates a hazard to property or safety, or is very severe, telephone the Society's Insurance Desk at (718) 625-3600.

4. Protect your property from further damage or break-ins. Make temporary repairs, but do not make permanent repairs until the adjuster sent by your insurers has inspected the damage or until you are advised to do so.

5. WITHIN 30 DAYS AFTER YOU DISCOVER THE DAMAGE OR LOSS, send to the Society (a) bills or written estimates you obtain for all repairs or replacements made necessary by the loss, and (b) the "Property Loss Report" from your congregation file. IF YOU CANNOT DO THIS WITHIN 30 DAYS, contact the Society.

6. Make an investigation of the loss. Determine what could reasonably be done to prevent similar losses in the future. Take appropriate steps and send the Society a brief report of the cause of the loss and what you are doing to protect the Kingdom Hall from future losses.

7. If your property loss is more than $5,000, expect a visit from the insurance company's adjuster. Be prompt in your dealings with him.

8. If you are not contacted by the insurance company's claims adjuster within 7 days, or if you are dissatisfied with the handling of your claim or the settlement offered, contact the Society.

IF YOU HAVE AN INJURY OR LIABILITY CLAIM RESULTING FROM AN ACCIDENT AT YOUR KINGDOM HALL, FOLLOW THE STEPS BELOW AS SOON AS YOU LEARN ABOUT IT.

1. Appoint an elder to handle the accident. This will include keeping in touch with the injured person, gathering information about the accident and making sure it is properly reported to the insurance agency, and making any necessary contacts with the Society and the insurance company's claims adjuster.

2. If someone is injured, ask the injured person and any witnesses to the accident to describe in writing what they observed.

3. Consider the following with the injured person: Inquire if he has any type of medical coverage including personal insurance, an employer insurance plan, or a governmental plan such as Medicare. If so, encourage him to present his medical expenses to that insurance program. Explain that the congregation and the Society could consider assisting with any costs not cared for by such insurance if there is a need. Avoid telling the injured party or anyone else that there is insurance coverage.

4. Fill out the "Accident Notice" form in your congregation file, and attach the reports made by the injured person and any witnesses to the accident. Then mail the form, reports, and any medical bills to the insurance agency. Also mail a copy of all documents, including a copy of the "Accident Notice," to the Society. Do not wait until all medical bills have been received or until the injured person has determined what his insurance will pay.

up of sewers, theft (including theft of cash), glass breakage, damage to/theft of items being transported, etc.

Limits and Deductibles: This part of your coverage pays the replacement cost of any covered property which is stolen or destroyed. It does not penalize you if your property is temporarily underinsured. It has a $250 deductible on most coverages.

2. Insurance Against Claims and Lawsuits (protection if someone claims that your negligence caused injury or damage to his property)—This coverage has three aspects: (1) it covers elders and ministerial servants who are sued because of performing assigned work on behalf of the congregation; (2) it covers the congregation itself for claims and lawsuits it receives; and (3) it could pay medical expenses, up to a limit, for persons injured on insured property or on property which the congregation is using temporarily. (This could pay medical expenses not paid by any other insurance or government programs.)

3. Insurance for Injury to Volunteer Workers—This pays for loss of income. Maximum: $300/week for two years. It also pays for loss of a hand, foot, eye, life, etc. (There is a seven-day waiting period before this coverage begins to pay, and the amount paid weekly is based on wages earned.)

EXCLUSIONS — These coverages will not pay for damage or injury resulting from nuclear reaction, or from war or revolution. Damage to property owned or used by the congregation is not covered if it results from earthquake (California only), landslide, mudslide, gradual deterioration, wear, or improper manufacture, faulty construction or maintenance. Injuries are not covered if they occur to someone injured while performing work for pay. Finally, your standard coverage does not include the following "Optional Coverages."

Optional Coverages (The following coverages are available on a temporary or permanent basis. Please contact the Society if you need any of these.)

1. Temporary or permanent insurance for automobiles, trucks, buses, or trailers (includes vehicles owned, rented, or used by the congregation)

2. Temporary liability insurance for property which the congregation will be using for a meeting or for temporary work (parking lots, school auditoriums, etc., used for special meetings, Memorial, etc., or locations where the congregation has been allowed to carry out demolition work to obtain the building materials)

3. Insurance for paid workers hired by the congregation (Workers' Compensation Insurance)

4. Surety bonds (performance bonds or other types of bonds required by your city)

5. Special insurance on boilers and air conditioning equipment (to cover boiler explosion, to cover electrical or mechanical failure of air conditioning equipment, or to meet state boiler inspection requirements)

ADMINISTRATION OF YOUR KINGDOM HALL

All elders in the congregation(s) meeting in a Kingdom Hall share responsibility for taking care of it. However, regular, consistent attention needs to be given to the hall's security, maintenance, and day-to-day operation.

IF ONLY ONE CONGREGATION MEETS IN A HALL: The elders should select a brother who shows initiative and is familiar with the operation of the hall. The brother selected may either be an elder or a ministerial servant. He should be given the authority to make routine repairs to the hall and maintain it in its present condition. (Changes in the hall or extensive repair or remodeling projects should always be approved by the body of elders and, if they involve a substantial expenditure of funds, approved by the congregation as a whole with a resolution.) The brother selected will normally be the one to make the annual inspection of the Kingdom Hall, either alone or with another person appointed by the elders. He should keep the body of elders informed of the help he needs, the work he is doing, and the problems encountered.

IF MORE THAN ONE CONGREGATION MEETS IN A KINGDOM HALL: A "Kingdom Hall Operating Committee" should be appointed to care for the day-to-day operation of the hall, as discussed in the paragraph above. It will care also for the annual inspection of the hall.

Each congregation should appoint one elder or ministerial servant to serve on the "Kingdom Hall Operating Committee." All servants in the hall, whether appointed to serve on the committee or not, should appreciate that all congregations have an EQUAL responsibility for the hall. The important thing is to get the work done and to cooperate in a spirit of unity and humility. Only brothers who appreciate these things should be appointed to serve on the "Kingdom Hall Operating Committee."

The committee should have a permanent chairman, an elder if possible. He should have good organizational ability, be able to take the initiative, and be quick to expedite matters. He should not be a procrastinator. The chairman should be alert to care for details, or to see that they are cared for.

One member of the committee should be designated to care for all day-to-day matters in connection with the operation of the hall. He should be given the authority to care for repairs, the replenishing of supplies, etc. that do not involve changing the Kingdom Hall or the expenditure of large sums of money. This brother should ably care for routine matters, so that the other members of the operating committee can concentrate on a few major matters when the committee meets.

At least once every year, the "Kingdom Hall Operating Committee" should meet to discuss the needs of the hall. (It is recommended that the operating committee meet immediately after it makes its annual inspection of the hall.) When this committee does meet, it will be able to discuss important matters rather than trivial ones. Matters considered may include: What are the major problems revealed by the last annual inspection of the hall? Is its roof sound? Is its heating system in good repair, safe, and as economical as possible? Is there any way to reduce the expense of heating or cooling the hall? Are the hall's stairs and exits free from anything that could cause an accident or fall? Is the hall's electrical system safe and well-maintained? Is lighting sufficient inside the hall, on exits and stairs, and outside? Have there been frequent incidents of vandalism to the hall, or to vehicles of brothers parked during meetings? Have any threats against the hall been received? (What cooperation from the police, neighbors, or from other members of the congregations in the hall can be obtained to deal with these incidents or threats? Are regular patrols necessary for a time?) This meeting should emphasize practical results. Assign someone to follow through on each of the decisions made. Recommendations from this meeting must be submitted to the bodies of elders of all congregations in the hall. The elders should then discuss and give prompt attention to these recommendations.

CORRESPONDENCE: The Society will send correspondence regarding the Society's group insurance arrangement for congregations to only one congregation in each Kingdom Hall (normally the one which holds the territory where the hall is located). However, that congregation should promptly copy all correspondence regarding the Kingdom Hall and distribute it to all other bodies of elders in the hall.

When sending forms or letters to the Society regarding the Society's group insurance arrangement for congregations, use the name of the one congregation which receives correspondence from the Society.

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS

Dear Brothers:

You will find enclosed a supply of green envelopes and green remittance slips (Form T-51) for your use in mailing remittances to the Pennsylvania Corporation. This slip is tailored to your congregation's specific needs. Your congregation name and full congregation number are preprinted on the slip, and you should promptly check the name and number to be certain they are correct. Please keep in mind that slips should never be given to any other congregation or the circuit, as the slips provided herein are for use by your congregation only.

The function of the Form T-51 is to enable congregations to remit Society Kingdom Hall Fund contributions, donations for Kingdom Service and other donations or remittances directly to the Pennsylvania Corporation. Please note that line 4 on this form should be used only when and as directed by the Society. It is not intended for use by the congregations for miscellaneous purposes of their own choosing.

Basically, there are three categories according to which slips will be supplied, as follows:

1. Congregations which do not have either a Kingdom Hall Insurance Account or a Kingdom Hall Loan Account in their own name.

2. Congregations which have a Kingdom Hall Insurance Account in their own name but no Kingdom Hall Loan Account in their own name.

3. Congregations which have both a Kingdom Hall Insurance Account and a Kingdom Hall Loan Account in their own name on which they are responsible to make payments to the Society.

If a congregation now in either of the first two categories changes its status subsequent to the date of this mailing and prior to the next regular mailing, so that it needs lines not now provided on its forms, the Society will provide appropriate slips for its new needs automatically, at which time the remaining slips for the old status should be destroyed to prevent their misuse for any other purpose.

However, if a congregation at some point in the future pays off its Kingdom Hall Loan Account and no longer needs to make monthly payments, it can continue to use the same slips but show nothing on the line for mortgage payments. The same would be true if a situation developed where the line for insurance payments was no longer needed.

WTPA 00135

A NONPROFIT CORPORATION

The enclosed supply will allow for a carbon copy of each monthly remittance to be retained for your congregation records and should last you until the next regularly scheduled mailing which will be on or about January 1, 1989. Your sending in only one form and check per month will greatly expedite the Society's handling of this necessary paperwork. There should be no need for you to request an additional supply as only two slips (an original and the congregation copy) and one envelope should be used per month. They should be used for no other purpose and should not be ordered on the Literature Order Blank form. If an emergency arises necessitating more slips or envelopes, they may be requested by a letter to the Office of the Secretary and Treasurer. These supplies are always mailed separately and at a different time of the year from the service forms usually received in August or September of each year. The congregation should not order these forms because they failed to receive them with those supplies.

For further information and details on the use of the Form T-51, please see the Society's letter addressed "TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS" which was dated January 15, 1984.

The individual handling the congregation accounts should read this letter also and be familiar with these instructions.

May Jehovah's blessings and favor continue with the congregation as it unitedly serves Kingdom interests.

A TODOS LOS CUERPOS DE ANCIANOS

Estimados hermanos:

Encontrarán adjunto un surtido de sobres y hojas de remesa de color verde (Formulario T-51-S) para que los usen al enviar por correo las remesas a la Corporación de Pensilvania. Se ha hecho esta hoja de acuerdo con las necesidades específicas de su congregación. El nombre y el número completo de su congregación ya están impresos en la hoja, y deben cotejar el nombre y el número lo más pronto posible para asegurarse de que estos estén correctos. Sírvanse tener presente que no se deben dar estas hojas a ninguna otra congregación ni al circuito, ya que las hojas adjuntas son para el uso exclusivo de su congregación.

El propósito del formulario T-51-S es facilitar a las congregaciones el remitir sus contribuciones para el Fondo de la Sociedad para Salones del Reino, donaciones para el Servicio del Reino y otras donaciones o remesas que se envían directamente a la Corporación de Pensilvania. Sírvanse notar que la línea 4 de este formulario solo debe usarse cuando y según lo indique la Sociedad. El propósito de esta no es para que las congregaciones la usen para diversos propósitos que ellas mismas escojan.

Hay tres categorías básicas según las cuales se proveerán las hojas, y son las siguientes:

1. Las congregaciones que no tienen una Cuenta de Seguro para Salón del Reino ni tampoco una Cuenta de Préstamo para Salón del Reino a su nombre.

2. Las congregaciones que tienen una Cuenta de Seguro para Salón del Reino a su nombre, pero que no tienen una Cuenta de Préstamo para Salón del Reino a su nombre.

3. Las congregaciones que tienen ambas, una Cuenta de Seguro para Salón del Reino y una Cuenta de Préstamo para Salón del Reino a su nombre y por las cuales son responsables de hacer pagos a la Sociedad.

Si la situación de una congregación que ahora se encuentra en cualquiera de las primeras dos categorías cambia en fecha posterior al envío de esta correspondencia, o antes del próximo envío regular, y, por consiguiente, necesita líneas que ahora no se proveen en sus formularios, la Sociedad le proveerá automáticamente las hojas apropiadas para su nueva necesidad, en cuyo caso deben destruirse las hojas que queden y que se usaban para su situación anterior, para así evitar que se usen incorrectamente con algún otro fin.

A NONPROFIT CORPORATION

Sin embargo, si en algún tiempo en el futuro una congregación termina de pagar su Cuenta de Préstamo para Salón del Reino y ya no necesita hacer pagos mensuales, aún puede seguir usando las mismas hojas, pero no usará la línea para pagos hipotecarios. Lo mismo sería cierto si surgiera una situación en que la línea para los pagos del seguro ya no se necesitara.

El surtido que enviamos adjunto permitirá que su congregación retenga en los archivos una copia hecha con papel carbón de cada remesa mensual, y debe durarles hasta el próximo envío regular programado, que será alrededor del 1 de enero de 1989. El que ustedes envíen solamente un formulario y un cheque por mes facilitará grandemente a la Sociedad el manejo de este papeleo necesario. Puesto que solo deben usar dos hojas (una para el original y otra para la copia de la congregación) y un sobre por mes, no debe haber necesidad de que ustedes pidan un surtido adicional. Estas no deben usarse para ningún otro propósito ni deben pedirse mediante el formulario Hoja de Pedido de Literatura. Si surge una emergencia que haga que necesiten más hojas o sobres, pueden pedirlos por medio de una carta a la Oficina del Secretario y Tesorero. El suministro de estos se manda siempre por separado y a diferente tiempo que el surtido de formularios de servicio que se envía generalmente en agosto o septiembre cada año. La congregación no debe solicitar estos formularios debido a que no se recibieron con el envío de esos suministros.

Para más información y detalles en cuanto al uso del formulario T-51-S, sírvanse ver la carta de la Sociedad con fecha del 15 de enero de 1984 dirigida "A TODOS LOS CUERPOS DE ANCIANOS".

El hermano encargado de las cuentas de la congregación también debe leer esta carta y estar familiarizado con estas instrucciones.

Que las bendiciones y el favor de Jehová continúen con la congregación a medida que sirve unidamente a los intereses del Reino.

TO ALL CONGREGATIONS OF JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

From time to time the Society receives inquiries concerning the proper procedure for making gifts to the Society. The following questions have been asked:

(1) How can gifts be made to the Society while one is still living?

(2) Can the Society be named in one's Will so that the activities of the Society may benefit from one's estate in the event of death?

(3) Is it possible for the Society to be the beneficiary of one's life insurance policies?

(4) Can funds in savings banks or savings and loan associations become the Society's in the event of death, but at the same time interest be earned and/or such funds be used for personal needs while one is still living?

(5) Is it possible for money to be given to the Society by individuals, congregations or circuits under an arrangement which provides that in case of personal need such money may be returned to the donor?

Enclosures answering these questions and describing various arrangements that can be made are being sent along with this letter. The secretary will hold these enclosures in the congregation's permanent file, and they can be made available to any members of the congregation who request to read them.

If any prefer to get the information directly from the Society, such can write to Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Office of Secretary and Treasurer, 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201, and ask for the information on Conditional Donations, gifts and Wills.

Be assured of our warm Christian love.

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS

Dear Brothers:

You will find enclosed ONE YEAR'S SUPPLY of green envelopes and green remittance slips (Form T-51) for your use in mailing your remittances to the Pennsylvania Corporation. Please note:

1. Promptly verify congregation name and number for accuracy.
2. These slips are for YOUR congregation only. Do NOT give the slips to (a) Another congregation (b) The Circuit Overseer (c) The Circuit.
3. Line 4 should be used only when and as directed by the Society.

The slips are tailored to the congregation's needs as they existed at the time of the mailing. If those needs change during the year new slips will be provided by the Society for the balance of the year. Payments should be made on insurance or mortgage accounts ONLY if the accounts are in the name of YOUR congregation, and lines are provided for that purpose.

Contributions to the Society Kingdom Hall Fund should be included on these forms only (T-51) and NOT on your congregation's white monthly remittance form (S-20). Only the enclosed green forms (T-51) for the Pennsylvania Corporation should be used for this Fund and the other items listed on the form. Your check should be for the total of all items on the T-51 form and should not include items on the form S-20.

Your observing the following procedures will be most helpful to the Society in handling your remittances to the Pennsylvania Corporation:

1. Do not pin, clip or staple checks.
2. Do not fold check. Fold T-51 form ONCE only and place check inside.
3. Always use green envelopes for the T-51 forms.
4. Before mailing double check figures on check and T-51 form and make sure there are two signatures on check.

The next regularly scheduled mailing will be on or about January 1, 1990. (These forms are not mailed with the service forms usually received in September.) Your sending in only ONE FORM and ONE CHECK per month will greatly expedite the Society's handling of this necessary paperwork.

The individual handling the congregation accounts should read this letter and be familiar with these instructions.

May Jehovah's blessings and favor continue with the congregation as it unitedly serves Kingdom interests.

A TODOS LOS CUERPOS DE ANCIANOS

Estimados hermanos:

Adjunto encontrarán un surtido de sobres y hojas de remesa verdes (Formulario T-51-S) PARA TODO UN AÑO, para que los usen al enviar sus remesas a la Corporación de Pensilvania. Sírvanse tomar nota de los siguientes puntos:

1. Verifiquen inmediatamente el nombre y el número de la congregación para asegurarse de que está correcto.
2. Estas hojas son solamente para SU congregación. NO den estas hojas a) A otra congregación b) Al superintendente de circuito c) Ni al circuito.
3. La línea 4 debe usarse solo cuando y según lo indique la Sociedad.

Las hojas se preparan según las necesidades de la congregación al tiempo que estas se envían. Si esas necesidades cambian durante el año, la Sociedad proveerá hojas nuevas para el resto del año. Deben hacerse pagos para el seguro o la hipoteca SOLO si las cuentas están a nombre de SU congregación, y se suministran líneas con ese propósito.

Las contribuciones al Fondo de la Sociedad para Salones del Reino deben incluírse únicamente en estos formularios (T-51-S) y NO en los formularios blancos para la remesa de su congregación (S-20-S). Al enviar contribuciones para este Fondo y para otros propósitos alistados en el formulario se deben usar solamente los formularios verdes adjuntos (T-51-S) para la Corporación de Pensilvania. El cheque debe hacerse por el total de los artículos alistados en el formulario T-51-S y no debe incluir lo que aparece en el formulario S-20-S.

El que observen los siguientes procedimientos ayudará a la Sociedad al manejar las remesas que envíen a la Corporación de Pensilvania:

1. No prendan con alfiler, ni con sujetapapeles, ni le pongan grapas a los cheques.
2. No doblen el cheque. Doblen el formulario T-51-S solo UNA VEZ y coloquen el cheque dentro.
3. Siempre usen sobres verdes para los formularios T-51-S.
4. Antes de enviarlo por correo asegúrense de que las cifras en el cheque y el formulario T-51-S concuerdan y que el cheque tiene dos firmas.

El próximo envío será alrededor del 1 de enero de 1990. (Estos formularios no se envían junto con los formularios de servicio que por lo general se reciben en septiembre.) El que envíen solo UN FORMULARIO y UN CHEQUE al mes hará que la Sociedad procese con mayor rapidez los documentos necesarios.

El hermano a cargo de las cuentas de la congregación debe leer esta carta y familiarizarse con estas instrucciones.

Que la bendición y el favor de Jehová continúen con la congregación a medida que sigue sirviendo unidamente a favor de los intereses del Reino.

INFORMATION REGARDING CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SOCIETY

[1] INTRODUCTION. We thank you for your inquiry concerning ne proper procedure for making contributions to the Society. Some nquiries we receive pertain to gifts made during the lives of the giv-rs and others pertain to gifts that are to be effective upon death. he purpose of this letter is to respond in general to all these inqui-ies so that potential donors have a better idea as to how they might ave whatever property they want to the Society to be used to ad-ance Kingdom interests.

[2] NO SOLICITATION. Please understand that this information as been prepared for the sole purpose of answering these inquiries nd is not in any way to be considered a solicitation.

[3] PURPOSE OF CONTRIBUTION. We understand that any ntribution to the Society that you might make is an expression of our love for Jehovah and that the purpose for any contribution is to sist the Society in preaching the "everlasting good news." (Revela-on 14:6) To be acceptable to the Society, any contribution would eed to be completely voluntary, and appropriate legal steps should e taken to ensure that your wishes are carried out. We hope that ou find the following information helpful.

GIFTS DURING LIFETIME

MONEY. Gifts of money may be made to the Society in any ts at any time. Such contributions should be made to WATCH OWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA nd mailed to the Society at the address given below or if you are cated in a country outside the United States, mailed to the branch fice for that country. Please accompany any gifts of money with a ief letter stating that such is sent to the Society as a gift.

[5] OTHER PROPERTY. Gifts other than money can also be given the Society during your lifetime, should you so desire. This could clude jewelry, stocks, bonds, mortgages receivable, notes receivable d other property from which the Society can eventually benefit. If u wish to give such to the Society, you should write the Society at e address given below, and inform it of your desires, and a descrip-n of the property to be given. The Society will write in reply, in-rming you if the gift can be accepted and giving information as to w to make the transfer to the Society.

[6] REAL ESTATE. In the event that you have some interest in real operty that you are thinking about giving to the Society, it is gener-y preferable that you sell the real estate and then use the proceeds you wish, including any contribution that you want to make to the ciety. If you want the Society to receive the real estate upon your ath, then a provision can be made to this effect in your will, as dicated below. If you decide that you would rather deed the real ate to the Society while you are alive, it is important that the Soci-y first be consulted before this step is taken. In some cases a trans-r of the real estate to the Society followed by an immediate sale on behalf of the Society would be a practical way to handle the matter. any event, if you wish to contribute to the Society any interests at you own in real estate while you are alive, you should first con-t the Society to determine how to proceed.

[7] ACKNOWLEDGMENT. All gifts are acknowledged by the Soci-y when they are received. Thus you will know that the Society has ceived your gift.

GIFTS WITH SPECIAL PROVISIONS

[8] GIFTS OF MONEY WITH SPECIAL PROVISIONS. It is possible for money to be given to the Society under a special arrangement which provides that in case of personal need, the money may be returned to you. This arrangement meets the needs and wishes of many persons. Upon request, the Society will be glad to send more information regarding this conditional donation arrangement. If you want such information, write to the Society at the address given below, and ask for information on the conditional donation arrangement.

[9] SPECIAL PROVISIONS PERTAINING TO OTHER PROPERTY. Other property also can be given to the Society during your lifetime under special provisions so that, if you have a financial need and make a written request, the property may then be returned by the Society in a reasonable period of time. Such special arrangements can be made in respect to stocks, bonds and other similar property. This arrangement places title to property in the Society during your lifetime. It ensures the Society's possession of the property in the event of your death. If this arrangement is desired, then write to the Society at the address given below, informing the Society of your contemplated gift and inquiring as to how to proceed.

[10] EFFECT OF SPECIAL PROVISIONS. The effect of making this arrangement through these special provisions is to allow property to be placed in the name of the Society, but you may have it returned to you during your lifetime. This ensures that upon your death the remaining property shall go to the Society, thereby avoiding the expense, time, and uncertainties that could otherwise be related to the probate of such property. Many of these special provisions also have certain tax benefits favoring the donor or creator of the provision.

INSURANCE

[11] Frequently persons desire the Society to be the beneficiary of their life insurance policies. If you desire to name the Society as beneficiary of insurance, you, as the insured, the person who owns the policy, are responsible to request your insurance agent or the insurance company to designate the new beneficiary as: WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, a nonprofit corporation with office and principal place of business at 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201. If the Society is named as beneficiary in an insurance policy, we would like to be informed. If you have no objection we would like to have the policy filed with us for safekeeping after the Society has been designated as beneficiary.

SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNTS IN TRUST FOR SOCIETY

[12] PROCEDURES. Frequently persons have funds that they would like the Society to have in the event of death, but want to retain ownership, interest, and possession for personal needs that might arise while they are alive. To accomplish this they have put these funds in savings banks or savings and loan associations in accounts in their names, but which accounts are "in trust for WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA." In some states and some banks this arrangement can be made. The state regulations and also the regulations of individual banks vary from place to place. To set up such an arrangement for you, the depositor, must discuss it with an officer of your bank or savings and loan association and be assured that such an arrangement is possible. Your social security number ought to appear on the account, and all interest or dividends during your lifetime will be yours. You will have complete control and ownership of this account while you are living and upon your death, ownership will pass to the Society.

[13] NOTIFICATION TO SOCIETY. If such an arrangement is established, you should write a letter to the Society stating that the account has been set up and indicating the title of the account, the name and address of the bank or association, and the number of the account. This information will be held by the Society for any needed future reference. In addition to taking the above steps to open the account and inform the Society, request that the bank write a letter to the Society or to you which states that, in the event of your death, the funds will be paid to the Society. Include in your letter what steps need to be taken by the Society to receive payment of the funds. If the letter is sent to you, please forward a copy to the Society, and in this way you will be assured that your desires will be carried out and the Society will also be apprised of the situation.

WILLS

[14] PREPARATION. If you desire to prepare a will, you ought to see a qualified attorney in your state. Prior to seeing your attorney, you should determine how you wish your property to be distributed and who you want named as the executor and the substitute executor. Normally gifts made to the Society through a will are deductible for state and inheritance tax purposes, and normally there are not any limitations as to the amounts or property that can be given to the Society. However, it would be wise for you to discuss these matters with your attorney. You will need to be assured by your attorney that these things can be done under the laws of the state in which you live. You may want to discuss in advance with your attorney what his fees will be for preparing the will.

[15] DESIGNATION OF THE SOCIETY. The Society is properly named in a will as: WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA, a nonprofit corporation with office and principal place of business at 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York 11201. If your attorney has further questions he can contact the Legal Department of the Society.

[16] EXECUTION AND NOTIFICATION TO SOCIETY. Your attorney is responsible to guide you in the execution and witnessing of your will. This is a very important part of having your will prepared and completed. If there is any question of your ability to make a will and sign it, it may be appropriate to have your attorney obtain a signed statement from at least one doctor attesting to your competency so that the will may not be contested later. Your attorney could also prepare an affidavit reflecting the circumstances and your competency. Also, you may want to have a provision in your will that waives any bond that otherwise might be required of the executor. A bond is sometimes difficult to obtain and results in costs that might not be necessary. The original of your will should be kept in a safe place. A will that makes the Society a beneficiary ought to be filed with the Society at the address given below. If the original is kept by you, then it would be helpful to notify the Society and executor as to its location, sending a copy of the will to the Society. You may also want to file with the Society a list of names and addresses of your relatives and a general list of your property and its location. This will aid in saving time and expense which otherwise would have to be borne by your estate.

TRUSTS

[17] INTRODUCTION. Probate is the process which distributes the estate of a deceased person through a court. This is usually adequate for the majority of small and medium-sized estates. For larger estates the legal procedures and requirements involved in probate may involve substantial effort, time, and money. For such estates, an instrument exists that enables you to avoid probate upon your death. This instrument is called a revocable living trust and it has been in existence for many years. A revocable living trust can also help you avoid court involvement in appointing a guardian or conservator to legally act in your behalf in the event of your incapacity.

[18] KINDS OF TRUSTS. There are several kinds of trusts, and understanding them may help you to determine if a trust is appropriate for you. 1) A trust is a separate entity created, administered, and distributed according to the language within it. 2) An irrevocable trust is one that cannot be revoked or changed after it is created. 3) A revocable trust is one that normally can be revoked or changed at any time. 4) A testamentary trust is created after death by a written will that is probated. 5) A charitable remainder trust is a type of trust that may be considered when property having a substantial value is involved, since its main purpose is to reduce income and estate taxes. 6) A revocable living trust is normally created for you while you are alive and contains provisions that give you complete control and flexibility. If you become incapacitated, the living trust can contain provisions for your care, and if you die, it contains provisions for distribution of property within it. Court proceedings that otherwise might be necessary as a result of your incapacity and probate proceedings upon your death can each be avoided for property within the living trust. The living trust can thus be a substitute for a will, which is effective only through probate.

[19] CREATION OF A TRUST. In the event that you might want to consider having a trust prepared for you, it would be advisable to contact a qualified attorney to discuss the matter. Since it is a document that is created for you, its written provisions are very important. Make sure that the attorney preparing it for you is very familiar with your desires, family, and property so that he can prepare it properly. If it is a revocable living trust, you can be the trustee, the one that administers and manages the property within the trust in accordance with its provisions. You could amend it or revoke it at any time. It is essential that you name a successor trustee to take care of matters in the event you become incapacitated or die. The Society should not be named as a successor trustee since it does not have the legal ability to be a trustee. The trust controls only assets that are inside it so that, if you do establish a trust, transferring property into it is important. The trust can, by its terms, terminate upon your death or continue for a period of time for the benefit of whomever you designate. If you want to name the Society as a beneficiary of property in the trust after you die, you can include this in the trust. If you do so, we would appreciate receiving a copy of the trust. Please mail it to the Society at the address given below and we will retain it in our files. It would also be helpful to have information pertaining to property that is ultimately to be distributed to the Society as well as any amendments to the living trust that you may later make.

[20] APPROPRIATENESS. The appropriateness of a revocable living trust for you will depend upon a number of things, including the property that you own, your health and family situation, and the availability of a successor trustee. It is important that you discuss these things with an attorney who is experienced and well qualified in estate planning. The cost of establishing a revocable living trust will normally be substantially more than the preparation of a will but, because probate can be avoided, long-term costs and the expenditure of time can be substantially reduced. Though such a trust may have many pages, the concept, purpose, and administration should be simple.

CONCLUSION

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS

Dear Brothers:

All congregations having accounts for Kingdom Hall loans and/or property insurance will be receiving under separate cover ONE YEAR'S SUPPLY of green envelopes and green remittance slips (Form T-51) for their use in mailing remittances to the Pennsylvania Corporation. As heretofore, Line 4 should be used only when and as directed by the Society.

These slips should never be given to (a) another congregation, (b) the circuit overseer, or (c) the circuit.

The congregation's name and number should be carefully and legibly shown in the spaces provided for that purpose. Payments should be made on Kingdom Hall loan and/or property insurance accounts ONLY by the congregation in whose name the account exists and which has been provided Form T-51 slips for that purpose. Other congregations sharing the Kingdom Hall should not attempt to make their portions of the payments directly to the Society.

Any congregation having a Kingdom Hall loan and/or property insurance account should use the green T-51 Remittance Form to forward contributions to the Society's Worldwide Work and the Society Kingdom Hall Fund. However, please note: DO NOT use the T-51 Remittance Form to forward payments for any special handling expenses that may be charged to your congregation. All payments for special handling expenses are to be made using the white S(d)-20 Contribution Form only. (See paragraphs 17 and 24 of "Instructions for Congregation Accounting, Revised September 1, 1991."

Please note that congregations NOT having a Kingdom Hall loan or a property insurance account will NOT be receiving a supply of Form T-51 slips or green envelopes. Those congregations should carefully read and follow the "Instructions for Congregation Accounting, Revised September 1, 1991." However, should any such congregation acquire a Kingdom Hall loan and/or a property insurance account during the year, a supply of Form T-51 slips and green envelopes will be automatically supplied by the Society.

WTPA 00147

Your observing the following procedures will be most helpful in handling your remittances:

1. Do not pin, clip or staple checks.

2. Do not fold check. Fold T-51 form ONCE only (horizontally) and place check inside.

3. Always use green envelopes for the T-51 forms.

4. Before mailing, double-check figures on check and T-51 form, and make sure there are TWO signatures on check.

The next regularly scheduled mailing will be on or about January 1, 1993. (PLEASE NOTE CAREFULLY: These forms are not mailed with the service forms usually received in September.) Your sending in only ONE FORM and ONE CHECK per month will greatly expedite the Society's handling of this necessary paperwork.

The individual handling the congregation accounts should read this letter and be familiar with these instructions.

May Jehovah's blessings and favor continue with the congregation as it unitedly serves Kingdom interests.

A TODOS LOS CUERPOS DE ANCIANOS

Estimados hermanos:

Todas las congregaciones que tengan cuentas por préstamos para el Salón del Reino y/o seguro de propiedad recibirán por separado UN SURTIDO PARA UN AÑO de sobres y hojas de remesas verdes (Formulario T-51-S), para que los usen al enviar sus remesas a la Corporación de Pensilvania. Al igual que en el pasado, se debe usar la línea 4 solo cuando y según lo indique la Sociedad.

Estas hojas nunca deben darse a) a otra congregación, b) al superintendente de circuito, o c) al circuito.

El nombre y número de la congregación deben escribirse cuidadosa y legiblemente en los espacios provistos con ese propósito. Los pagos por préstamos para el Salón del Reino y/o cuentas de seguro de propiedad se deben hacer únicamente por la congregación en cuyo nombre está la cuenta y a la cual se le ha suministrado los formularios de remesa T-51-S para ese propósito. Las demás congregaciones que comparten el Salón del Reino no deben hacer sus pagos directamente a la Sociedad.

Cualquier congregación que haya tomado un préstamo para el Salón del Reino y/o una cuenta de seguro de propiedad puede usar el formulario de remesa verde T-51-S para enviar las contribuciones para la obra mundial de la Sociedad y al Fondo de la Sociedad para Salones del Reino. Sin embargo, sírvanse notar: NO usen el formulario de remesa T-51-S para remitir pagos por pedidos especiales que se carguen a su congregación. Todos los pagos por pedidos especiales deben remitirse únicamente mediante el formulario de contribución blanco S(d)-20-S. (Véanse los párrafos 17 y 24 de las "Instrucciones para contabilidad de congregación, revisadas el 1 de septiembre de 1991".)

Noten que las congregaciones que NO tengan un préstamo para el Salón del Reino o una cuenta de seguro de propiedad NO recibirán un surtido de formularios T-51-S o de sobres verdes. Esas congregaciones deben leer y seguir cuidadosamente las "Instrucciones para contabilidad de congregación, revisadas el 1 de septiembre de 1991". No obstante, si alguna de esas congregaciones obtiene un préstamo para el Salón del Reino y/o una cuenta de seguro de propiedad durante el año, la Sociedad automáticamente proveerá un suministro de formularios T-51-S y sobres verdes.

El que observen los siguientes procedimientos será de gran ayuda en el manejo de las remesas que envíen.

1. No prendan con alfiler, ni con sujetapapeles, ni le pongan grapas a los cheques.

2. No doblen el cheque. Doblen el formulario T-51-S solo UNA VEZ (horizontalmente) y coloquen el cheque dentro.

3. Siempre usen sobres verdes para enviar los formularios T-51-S.

4. Antes de enviarlo por correo, verifiquen que las cifras del cheque y el formulario T-51-S concuerden, y asegúrense de que el cheque tiene DOS firmas.

El próximo envío será alrededor del 1 de enero de 1993. (SÍRVANSE NOTAR CUIDADOSAMENTE: Estos formularios no se envían junto con los formularios de servicio que por lo general se reciben en septiembre.) El que envíen solo UN FORMULARIO y UN CHEQUE al mes hará que la Sociedad procese con mayor rapidez los documentos necesarios.

El hermano a cargo de las cuentas de la congregación debe leer esta carta y familiarizarse con estas instrucciones.

Que la bendición y el favor de Jehová continúen con la congregación a medida que sirven unidamente a favor de los intereses del Reino.

Sus hermanos,

TO: ALL CONGREGATIONS PARTICIPATING IN THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT

Dear Brothers:

RE: LOSS CONTROL / ACCIDENT PREVENTION

The spring season is here, and for most congregations, this means a resumption in the use of lawnmowers as a part of the maintenance of the Kingdom Hall. In the past, there have been some injuries to brothers and sisters resulting from the use of lawnmowers. With safety in mind, it would be beneficial to consider the following precautions:

1. Children should not be allowed to operate the lawnmower, or to be in the immediate area where the lawnmower is being operated, as they could be injured by flying debris.

2. Before mowing, clear the lawn of all rocks, sticks, and other objects that the mower could pick up and fling.

3. Wear sturdy, well-fitting shoes with non-slip soles to protect your feet.

4. After rain or a heavy dew, wait for the grass to dry before mowing. Wet grass may clog the chute or cause you to slip.

5. If the chute clogs, shut off the motor and wait for the blade to stop turning, then clear it with a stick. NEVER CLEAR A CHUTE WITH YOUR HANDS.

6. On hills, mow across the face of the slope with a walk-behind mower so your feet won't slip under the blades. With a riding mower, mow up and down the slope so that you are less likely to tip over.

7. It is preferable that gasoline not be stored at the Kingdom Hall. However, if it cannot be brought to the Kingdom Hall for each use, then it should only be stored in approved safety cans and away from combustibles and ignition sources.

We trust you will find these comments helpful. We take this opportunity to send our greetings and warm Christian love.

Your brothers,

KEY FACTS ABOUT THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT
October 1, 1995

(Please place in the permanent file for ready access)

How does the KHAA work?

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) is an arrangement whereby designated contributed funds pay certain claims for property damage and general liability. This is not a commercial insurance arrangement. The Society handles the administration of the contributions and pays all claims out of these funds.

Each year each branch receives a report indicating a suggested contribution for the congregations under the oversight of the branch. A wide variety of factors are considered. In many cases, some areas of the world may be supporting the financial needs of their brothers in other areas of the world. This is a loving provision to help our brothers.

The contributions are used to establish a fund adequate to pay claims related to property losses and accidents. In addition, the fund purchases insurance protection so that larger catastrophes do not deplete the fund. The reason we can operate such a fund is that we have a lower risk of loss than most other organizations.

When do we make our contribution to the arrangement?

Each year you will receive a letter suggesting a contribution amount based upon the needs of all those supported by the arrangement. It would be appreciated if you would make the payment as soon as possible. At the same time, it would be important to perform a safety review and complete the Loss Control Checklist and include it in the year end audit file.

Why is loss control so important?

Loss control consists of preventing losses and minimizing losses that may occur. The cost of the KHAA is a direct result of the loss experience of all those that the arrangement supports. Therefore, it is in everyone's interest to minimize the losses of the fund.

Loss Prevention Each year, when you receive your suggested contribution letter, please complete the Loss Control Checklist. It should be helpful in identifying potential areas of property damage or accidents that could result in losses. Please take immediate action in correcting any noted problems and document the action taken. Please include the report in the annual audit file of the congregation that holds title to the property.

Loss Management Loss management means minimizing the amount of payments related to the loss while meeting our responsibilities and obligations.

In the case of property losses, quick action can go far in preventing further losses. For example, if a storm causes damage that results in a leak, fixing the leak prevents more damage and a larger claim. The use of Regional Building Committees and volunteer labor can save valuable contributed funds. Careful shopping and purchasing of high quality materials will minimize losses. If practical, eliminating the identified causes of the property damage will reduce future losses from the same cause.

T-44 10/95 Printed in U.S.A.

In the case of bodily injury, fail[redacted] care for the needs of the injured n[redacted]crease the amounts to be paid in order to care for injury. Failure to exercise loving concern could create feelings of resentment that could lead some to pursue litigation.

Please review and follow the direction provided under the heading "Accidents Resulting in Bodily Injury." And, of course, there is no substitute for displaying the valuable Scriptural qualities of love, concern, mercy, and wisdom at all times.

What do we do if we have property damage or an accident?

If you have property damage or an accident, appoint an experienced elder to review these instructions and follow the instructions carefully. Please review and carefully follow the instructions found in the section entitled "How Do We Report a Claim?"

What is covered by the KHAA?

Property Damage includes loss of property value (owned by ourselves) caused by the following: fire, explosion, windstorm, hail, damage from aircraft or vehicles, weight of ice or snow, flood, earthquake, water damage, riot or civil commotion, vandalism, theft, or sprinkler damage. The arrangement covers property damage to rental equipment up to a limit of $10,000 of damage. Specific exclusions include faulty construction or maintenance, normal wear and tear, gradual deterioration, or the personal property of volunteers.

General Liability includes property damage and bodily injury to others for which we may bear some responsibility.

A number of claims paid from the KHAA are related to injuries to our brothers and sisters for which we bear no apparent responsibility. For example, some, while at the Kingdom Hall, may lose their balance and fall. They then ask the Society to pay for their medical bills and disability because they do not have the financial resources to pay for these bills.

We offer ourselves willingly in many facets of Kingdom service. We willingly and eagerly choose to engage in such activities. While offering ourselves willingly, we care for our personal responsibilities. As a matter of responsibility, each family head should consider providing for health care needs, automobile damage, or disability that may result from an incident while serving willingly. If the Society has no responsibility for an accident, it would appear to be inappropriate to expect the Society to assume the responsibility for such matters which are the responsibility of the family head. This does not mean that ones should curtail their willing service. It does mean that we bear and should accept personal responsibility for our actions.

If in doubt about what is covered, please write the branch describing the details of the case to request a determination for support that may be available under the arrangement.

How do we participate in the arrangement?

Construction Prior to beginning construction, you should complete a Kingdom Hall Under Construction Form. Use the estimated building cost for all items except donated labor. If the building project should be canceled, please inform the branch in writing.

Purchased Buildings and Vacant Lots For newly purchased buildings, you should complete a Property Description Form. Use the estimated cost to replace the building for all items except donated labor. The Regional Building Committee may be able to provide you with such estimates. Vacant lots are automatically covered by your existing account.

Existing Kingdom Halls For existing Kingdom Halls, you should complete a Property Description Form if requested by your local branch. Use the estimated cost to replace the building for all items except donated labor. The Regional Building Committee may be able to provide you with such estimates.

Rented Facilities For rented [illegible]ties, coverage for property damage [illegible]ontents and improvements and general liability is available. Please request from the branch in writing, if possible, the requirements for a certificate of insurance for temporary rental arrangements.

Optional Requirements For special situations requiring proof of insurance, performance bonds, or surety bonds, please request from the branch in writing the exact need and the requirements.

Canceling Coverage If you should wish to cancel your participation in this arrangement, please notify the branch in writing, providing the termination date. Your participation will not be automatically canceled due to failure to make the suggested contribution so please notify the Society of any cancellation, in writing.

Specific Inclusions and Exclusions – Property Damage and General Liability

Inclusions:

Property Damage caused by fire, explosion, windstorm, hail, damage by aircraft, damage by vehicles, weight of snow or ice damage, flood, earthquake, water damage, riot, civil commotion, vandalism, theft, sprinkler leakage, and terrorism or warfare. If you have a loss for some other reason, please write us with the details.

Medical Payments up to $5,000 per occurrence regardless of cause, in the event the individual does not have medical insurance or the insurance does not cover the full amount of the bill.

Claims against elders and ministerial servants performing assigned work on behalf of the congregation.

Optional Coverages – A specific certificate of insurance must be obtained for these items:

General Liability coverage for rented facilities

Performance, surety, and other required bonds

Rental equipment damage, up to $10,000 limitation

Exclusions:

Vehicles for road use

Airplanes

Boats

Personal property of volunteers

Damage to automobiles of volunteers

Damage caused by the operation of vehicles owned by volunteers

Gradual deterioration and wear

Improper manufacture, construction, installation, operation, or maintenance

Disability or dismemberment of a volunteer when we do not bear some responsibility

For other special needs, please contact your local branch.

WTPA 00156

How Do We Report a Claim.

Incidents Involving Property Damage

1. Protect the property from further damage, loss, or break-in.

2. Appoint an experienced elder to handle the property damage. This will include completing the Property Loss Report, obtaining written estimates and bills, and reporting the loss to the Society.

3. In the event of a major loss ($5,000 or more), telephone the branch to obtain their recommendations as to loss management activity. You may wish to telephone the local Regional Building Committee to obtain their recommendations, including coordinating skilled volunteers to provide assistance and identifying cost-effective sources of materials. Please use volunteer labor where possible to minimize losses.

4. Immediately report acts of theft and vandalism to the police. Please include a copy of the Police Report with the Property Loss Report.

5. Within 30 days after you discover the damage or loss, send to the Society (1) bills or written estimates you obtained for all repairs or replacements made necessary by the loss and (2) the completed Property Loss Report. If you cannot do this within 30 days, contact the Society. (Loss estimates should not include labor costs if you are planning to use volunteers to do the work.)

Accidents Resulting in Bodily Injury

1. Please ensure that the injured party receives appropriate medical attention as soon as possible. Keep in close touch with the injured and their family, particularly if the injured is one of Jehovah's Witnesses. If the injured party is not one of Jehovah's Witnesses, attempt to obtain his or her name and telephone number for future reference.

2. Show genuine Christian love and concern.

3. Do not make any statements of responsibility or liability about the cause of the accident to the injured or any other party, including governmental officials.

4. Appoint an experienced, mature elder to handle the accident. This will include ensuring that all the steps outlined in this arrangement are followed. The elder should review this information and complete an Accident Notice Report as he handles the incident.

5. Call the branch and notify them of the accident if:

   The injured requires medical attention in a hospital setting.

   Any threat or notice of legal action is suggested.

Please have the following information when calling the branch: the date of the accident, the name of the injured, the name of the congregation, the name of the coordinating elder, his telephone number, and his address. The branch personnel will provide you with reminders concerning these procedures and will be available to provide answers concerning any questions you may have.

6. As soon as possible, complete the Accident Notice Report. If the injured is not available or is unwilling to answer any questions related to the accident, then so indicate and complete the form with the best available information. The following suggestions may help you complete the Accident Notice Report.

Section 1 If the [redacted]red is unavailable to answer any q[redacted]ons, please complete the section to the best of your knowledge and indicate that the injured was unavailable.

Section 2 Please describe the location of the activity with a brief description of any activity occurring at the accident location, such as congregation meeting or assembly day.

Section 3 Ask the injured party what happened. Have two brothers present while documenting the comments, questions, and answers. The following questions should be asked (please do not ask any other questions, specifically do not discuss who or what may have been at fault, the cause of the accident, or any reference to any legal action):

What were you doing when the accident occurred?

How did the accident happen?

What injury did you suffer?

Inquire if the injured has any type of medical coverage, including Medicare or Medicaid. If so, encourage the injured to present his or her medical expenses to that insurance program.

Section 4 Perform an investigation of the alleged cause of the accident. Determine what, if anything, could reasonably be done to prevent similar accidents in the future. Take appropriate steps and include a description of the corrective action taken on the Accident Notice Report.

Section 5 Ask any witnesses to the accident to describe what happened. Have two brothers present to document the comments, questions, and answers. No one is obligated to answer these questions. The following questions should be asked (please do not ask any other questions, specifically do not discuss who or what may have been at fault, the cause of the accident, or any reference to any legal action):

What were you doing when the accident occurred?

Did you see the accident?

According to your understanding, what happened?

7. Please complete the Accident Notice Report, make a copy for the congregation files, and send the original to the Society. When you receive any communication, correspondence, or bills related to the accident, make a copy for the congregation files and forward to the branch's insurance desk. This would include any threats or notices of litigation.

8. The Society or their legal representative may be contacting the coordinating elder. Please keep in contact with the injured person if possible and notify the Society of any significant changes in the injured's status. Please do not discuss the incident with anyone without the approval of branch personnel assigned to handle such matters.

9. If any correspondence or inquiry comes from an attorney or if there is any mention of litigation or a lawsuit, please contact the branch immediately for further direction. Do not provide any information to such a source.

DATOS IMPORTANTES SOBRE EL PROGRAMA DE ASISTENCIA PARA SALONES DEL REINO
1 de octubre de 1995

(Coloquen este documento donde esté a mano en el archivo permanente.)

¿Cómo funciona el PASR?

El Programa de Asistencia para Salones del Reino (PASR) es un acuerdo mediante el cual se designan unas contribuciones para pagar ciertas reclamaciones por daños materiales y responsabilidad general. No es un programa asegurador comercial. La Sociedad administra las contribuciones y paga todas las reclamaciones con dichos fondos.

Cada sucursal recibe anualmente un informe que indica una contribución sugerida para las congregaciones bajo su superintendencia. Se toman en consideración una gran variedad de factores. En muchos casos puede que los publicadores de ciertas zonas del mundo apoyen económicamente a sus hermanos de otras zonas. Esta es una provisión amorosa para ayudar a nuestros hermanos.

Las contribuciones son la base de un fondo adecuado para saldar reclamaciones relativas a pérdidas materiales y accidentes. Además, con dichas contribuciones se adquiere la protección de un seguro para que las catástrofes de mayor envergadura no agoten el fondo. Podemos administrar un fondo de esta índole porque constituimos un riesgo de siniestro menor que la mayoría de las demás organizaciones.

¿Cuándo se aporta al programa?

Recibirán anualmente una carta en la cual se les sugerirá cierta contribución conforme a las necesidades de todos los participantes del programa. Les agradeceríamos que nos enviaran su aporte lo antes posible. Al mismo tiempo, sería esencial que ejecutaran una revisión de seguridad, llenaran el formulario Loss Control Checklist (Lista de control de siniestros) y lo archivaran.

¿Por qué es tan importante el control de siniestros?

El control de siniestros consiste en prevenirlos y reducir las pérdidas que pudiera haber. El costo del PASR es consecuencia directa del índice de siniestros de todos los participantes del programa. Por eso a todos les conviene reducir al mínimo los siniestros que afectan el fondo.

Prevención de siniestros: Cada año, cuando reciban la carta que les indica la contribución sugerida, llenen el Loss Control Checklist. Este debe ser útil para determinar las fuentes potenciales de daños materiales o accidentes que podrían ocasionar pérdidas. Actúen de inmediato para resolver cualquier situación peligrosa que noten, y documenten las medidas que tomen para solucionarla. Coloquen el formulario susodicho en los archivos de la congregación a cuyo nombre está el título de propiedad del salón.

Gestión de siniestros: Esto implica reducir las compensaciones de siniestros mientras cumplimos con nuestras responsabilidades y obligaciones.

En el caso de pérdidas materiales, actuar con prontitud puede contribuir mucho a prevenir más pérdidas. Por ejemplo, si una tormenta ocasiona ciertos daños que dan origen a una gotera, el componerla previene más daños y una reclamación mayor. Aprovechar los servicios que prestan los Comités Regionales de Construcción y trabajadores voluntarios puede ahorrar valiosos fondos contribuidos. La búsqueda y compra prudente de materiales de alta calidad disminuirá los siniestros. De ser práctico, la eliminación de determinadas causas de daños materiales reducirá futuras pérdidas ocasionadas por la misma causa.

T-44-S 10/95 Printed in U.S.A.

En el caso de daños corporales atender a las necesidades del lesionado puede aumentar las sumas que se han de desembolsar para curar la lesión. La falta de interés amoroso podría causar resentimiento, que a su vez podría llevar a algunos a entablar un litigio.

Examinen y sigan las instrucciones que se dan bajo la sección "Accidentes que ocasionen daños corporales". Desde luego, no hay nada como manifestar las valiosas cualidades piadosas de amor, interés, misericordia y sabiduría en todo momento.

¿Qué debemos hacer si sufrimos daños materiales u ocurre un accidente?

Si sufren daños materiales u ocurre un accidente, designen a un anciano con experiencia para que examine estas instrucciones y las siga con detenimiento. Examinen y sigan detenidamente las instrucciones que se dan en la sección "¿Cómo debemos presentar una reclamación?".

¿Qué cubre el PASR?

Daños materiales: Incluyen la pérdida en valor de bienes (que pertenecen a la congregación) ocasionada por incendio, explosión, tempestad de viento, granizo, cualquier daño causado por un avión u otro vehículo, peso del hielo o la nieve, inundación, terremoto, daños ocasionados por el agua, disturbios o conmoción civil, vandalismo, hurto, o daños causados por el sistema de rociadores. El programa cubre los daños materiales ocasionados a algún equipo de alquiler hasta un límite de 10.000 dólares (E.U.A.). Entre las exclusiones específicas están la construcción o el mantenimiento indebidos, el desgaste y depreciación resultante del uso normal, el deterioro progresivo y los bienes de los voluntarios.

Responsabilidad general: Incluye los daños materiales y corporales ocasionados a otros y por los cuales tal vez tengamos cierto grado de responsabilidad.

Algunas de las reclamaciones que el PASR ha saldado han tenido que ver con hermanos y hermanas nuestros que se han lesionado y de lo cual al parecer no somos responsables. Por ejemplo, puede que algunos pierdan el equilibrio y se caigan en el Salón del Reino. Luego piden a la Sociedad que pague sus facturas por atención médica y compense su incapacidad porque no tienen los recursos económicos para saldar tales facturas.

Nos ofrecemos de buena gana en muchas facetas del servicio al Reino. Elegimos participar en esas actividades gustosamente y con entusiasmo. Aunque nos ofrecemos de buena gana, nos ocupamos de nuestras responsabilidades personales. En lo que toca a responsabilidad, cada cabeza de familia debe pensar en adoptar las medidas necesarias para costear la atención médica requerida, los daños del automóvil o la incapacidad que pueden resultar de un accidente ocurrido mientras su familia sirve de buena gana. Si la Sociedad no es responsable de un accidente, parece impropio esperar que ella asuma la responsabilidad de tales asuntos en vista de que le tocan al cabeza de familia. Esto no significa que debemos restringir el servicio que rendimos de buena gana. Más bien, significa que somos personalmente responsables de nuestras acciones y debemos asumir dicha responsabilidad.

Si tienen dudas respecto a lo que el programa cubre, escriban a la sucursal y describan las circunstancias del caso en cuestión al solicitar que se determine si el lesionado tiene derecho a recibir ayuda conforme al programa.

¿Cómo participamos en el programa?

Construcción: Antes de empezar a construir, deben llenar un formulario Kingdom Hall Under Construction (Salón del Reino en construcción). Utilicen el costo estimado de todos los materiales de construcción, pero no incluyan la mano de obra prestada desinteresadamente. Si se cancelara el proyecto, infórmenlo por escrito a la sucursal.

Edificios comprados y terrenos baldíos: En el caso de edificios recién comprados, deben llenar un Property Description Form (Formulario sobre la descripción de la propiedad). Usen el costo estimado de reemplazar todos los elementos constitutivos del edificio, pero no incluyan la mano de obra prestada desinteresadamente. El Comité Regional de Construcción de su zona quizás pueda proporcionarles tales estimaciones. Su cuenta actual cubre automáticamente los terrenos baldíos.

WTPA 00163

Salones del Reino existentes. En el caso de Salones del Reino existe[illegible], deben llenar un Property Description Form si la sucursal se los solicita. Utilicen el costo estimado de reemplazar todos los elementos constitutivos del edificio, pero no incluyan la mano de obra prestada desinteresadamente. El Comité Regional de Construcción tal vez pueda proporcionarles tales estimaciones.

Instalaciones de alquiler: En el caso de instalaciones de alquiler, hay disponible cobertura de daños materiales ocasionados al contenido y las mejoras, y de responsabilidad general. Si se requiere prueba de un seguro para usar una instalación de este tipo, solicítenla por escrito a la sucursal. Cuando soliciten dicha prueba, no olviden indicar todas las condiciones necesarias para el certificado de seguro.

Situaciones especiales: Si en alguna situación especial se requiere que presenten prueba de un seguro, fianzas de cumplimiento o fianzas de caución, pidan por escrito a la sucursal lo que necesiten. Cuando soliciten los documentos requeridos, no olviden indicar todas las condiciones necesarias para el certificado o la obligación.

Cancelación de la cobertura: Cuando quieran cancelar su participación en este programa, informen su deseo por escrito a la sucursal y den la fecha de extinción. Su participación no se cancelará automáticamente por no haber enviado la contribución sugerida, así que informen su cancelación por escrito a la Sociedad.

Inclusiones y exclusiones específicas en cuanto a daños materiales y responsabilidad general

Inclusiones:

Daños materiales ocasionados por incendio, explosión, tempestad de viento, granizo, avión, vehículos, peso de la nieve o el hielo, inundación, terremoto, agua, disturbios, conmoción civil, vandalismo, hurto, escape en el sistema de rociadores, y actos terroristas o bélicos. De ocurrir un siniestro por alguna otra razón, escríbannos y suministren todos los detalles.

Gastos de atención médica por valor de 5.000 dólares (E.U.A.) como máximo por caso, prescindiendo de la causa, si el lesionado no tiene seguro médico o su seguro no cubre la suma total de la factura.

Reclamaciones contra ancianos y siervos ministeriales durante el desempeño de cierto trabajo asignado para beneficiar a la congregación.

Coberturas opcionales (hay que obtener un certificado de seguro específico para estas situaciones):

Cobertura de responsabilidad general para instalaciones de alquiler

Fianzas de cumplimiento, de caución, y otras obligaciones necesarias

Daños ocasionados a un equipo de alquiler, hasta un límite de 10.000 dólares (E.U.A.)

Exclusiones:

Vehículos de carretera

Aviones

Barcos

Bienes de los voluntarios

Daños ocasionados a los automóviles de los voluntarios

Daños ocasionados por el manejo de vehículos pertenecientes a los voluntarios

Deterioro y desgaste progresivos

Fabricación, construcción, instalación, manejo o mantenimiento inadecuados

Incapacidad o desmembramiento de algún voluntario cuando no tenemos ni siquiera cierto grado de responsabilidad por lo ocurrido

Si tienen otras nece[redacted]les especiales, comuníquense con [redacted]ucursal que los superentiende.

¿Cómo debemos presentar una reclamación?

Casos en que haya daños materiales

1. Protejan la propiedad de más daños, pérdidas o robos.

2. Designen a un anciano con experiencia para que se ocupe de los daños materiales. Su asignación incluirá llenar el formulario Property Loss Report (Informe de pérdidas materiales), obtener estimaciones por escrito y facturas, y notificar el siniestro a la Sociedad.

3. Si hay grandes pérdidas (5.000 dólares [E.U.A.] o más), llamen por teléfono a la sucursal para pedir sus recomendaciones sobre la gestión del siniestro. Pudieran telefonear al Comité Regional de Construcción para pedirle recomendaciones, que coordine la asistencia de voluntarios diestros y que les señale fuentes económicas de materiales. Utilicen la mano de obra de voluntarios cuando sea posible para reducir las pérdidas.

4. Informen de inmediato a la policía los hurtos y actos vandálicos. Adjunten al Property Loss Report una copia del informe policíaco.

5. Dentro de un plazo de 30 días después de descubrir los daños o las pérdidas, envíen a la Sociedad lo siguiente: 1) facturas o estimaciones por escrito que obtengan para realizar todas las reparaciones o restauraciones necesarias debido al siniestro, y 2) el Property Loss Report lleno. Si no pueden efectuar estos trámites dentro de 30 días, comuníquense con la Sociedad. (Las estimaciones susodichas no deben incluir el costo de la mano de obra si ustedes planean utilizar a voluntarios para efectuar el trabajo.)

Accidentes que ocasionen daños corporales

1. Asegúrense de que la persona lesionada reciba la atención médica apropiada tan pronto como sea posible. Manténganse en estrecha comunicación con el lesionado y su familia, especialmente si es testigo de Jehová. Si el lesionado no es testigo de Jehová, traten de conseguir su nombre y número telefónico para uso futuro.

2. Manifiesten sinceramente amor e interés cristianos.

3. No hagan ninguna declaración de responsabilidad tocante a la causa del accidente ni al lesionado ni a ninguna otra persona, ni siquiera a funcionarios gubernamentales.

4. Designen a un anciano maduro y con experiencia para que se encargue de todos los trámites relativos al accidente. Entre sus responsabilidades está asegurarse de que se sigan todas las instrucciones contenidas en este documento. El anciano debe examinar esta información y llenar un formulario Accident Notice Report (Informe relativo a un accidente) mientras se encarga del caso.

5. Llamen por teléfono a la sucursal e informen el accidente si:

   La persona lesionada requiere atención médica en un establecimiento hospitalario.

   Reciben una amenaza o una notificación de que se acudirá a la vía judicial.

Tengan a mano los siguientes datos cuando llamen a la sucursal: fecha del accidente, nombre del lesionado, nombre de la congregación, nombre del anciano coordinador, su número telefónico y dirección. El personal de la sucursal les recordará algunos de estos trámites y podrá contestar cualquier pregunta que tengan al respecto.

6. Tan pronto como sea posible, llenen el Accident Notice Report. Si no pueden hablar con el lesionado o él no está dispuesto a contestar ninguna pregunta relacionada con el accidente, indíquenlo y llenen el formulario como mejor puedan con los datos que consigan. Las siguientes sugerencias pueden ayudarlos a llenar el Accident Notice Report.

WTPA 00165

Sección 1: Si no [redacted]ien conseguir que el lesionado les co[redacted]e algunas preguntas, llenen esta sección conforme a su entender e indiquen que no pudieron hablar con el lesionado.

Sección 2: Indiquen el lugar del accidente y señalen brevemente la actividad que se llevaba a cabo en tal lugar, como reunión de congregación o día de asamblea.

Sección 3: Pregunten al lesionado qué ocurrió. Que dos hermanos estén presentes al ponerse por escrito los comentarios, preguntas y respuestas de la conversación. Deben hacerse las siguientes preguntas (no hagan ninguna otra pregunta, en concreto, no mencionen quién o qué puede haber tenido la culpa de lo ocurrido o cuál fue la causa del accidente, ni hablen de acudir a la vía judicial):

¿Qué estaba haciendo cuando tuvo lugar el accidente?

¿Cómo ocurrió el accidente?

¿Qué lesiones sufrió?

Pregunten al lesionado si tiene algún tipo de seguro médico, incluso Medicare o Medicaid. Si su respuesta es afirmativa, anímenlo a presentar sus gastos médicos a dicho programa de seguros.

Sección 4: Investiguen la presunta causa del accidente. Determinen qué podría hacerse razonablemente, si es que podría hacerse algo, para evitar accidentes como ese en el futuro. Tomen medidas adecuadas y señalen en el Accident Notice Report las medidas correctivas que hayan tomado.

Sección 5: Pidan a cualquier testigo del accidente que describa lo ocurrido. Que dos hermanos estén presentes al ponerse por escrito los comentarios, preguntas y respuestas de la conversación. Nadie debe sentirse obligado a contestar estas preguntas. Deben hacerse las siguientes preguntas (no hagan ninguna otra pregunta, en concreto, no mencionen quién o qué puede haber tenido la culpa de lo ocurrido o cuál fue la causa del accidente, ni hablen de acudir a la vía judicial):

¿Qué estaba haciendo cuando tuvo lugar el accidente?

¿Presenció el accidente?

Según su interpretación del suceso, ¿qué ocurrió?

7. Llenen el Accident Notice Report, hagan una copia para los archivos de la congregación y envíen el original a la Sociedad. Cuando reciban alguna comunicación, correspondencia o factura relativa al accidente, hagan una copia para los archivos de la congregación y envíen el original a la oficina de seguros de la sucursal. Estas instrucciones aplicarían a cualquier amenaza o aviso de litigio.

8. La Sociedad o su representante legal quizás se comunique con el anciano coordinador. De ser posible, manténganse en comunicación con el lesionado e informen a la Sociedad cualquier cambio significativo que haya en su estado. No hablen del caso con nadie sin la aprobación del personal de la sucursal que se encarga de estos asuntos.

9. Si reciben de un abogado alguna correspondencia o petición de datos o se les hace alguna mención de litigio o demanda judicial, comuníquense de inmediato con la sucursal para que les dé más instrucciones. No suministren ninguna información a dicha persona.

INFORMATION REGARDING OWNERSHIP OF KINGDOM HALLS

[1] The headquarters and place of congregational assembly of each congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is its Kingdom Hall. Many congregations rent their Kingdom Hall facilities. Others own their own Kingdom Hall property. The Society does not decide if a local congregation should or should not own its own Kingdom Hall. This is a matter that should be decided by the local congregation. Our purpose here is to answer questions that many congregations ask for the sake of congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses who have decided they wish to own Kingdom Hall property and who inquire as to the manner in which they may best take title or hold ownership of the Kingdom Hall land and building.

PRECAUTIONS NECESSARY BEFORE TAKING TITLE

[2] Once determination is made to acquire property and a resolution is passed by the congregation approving the same, careful consideration should be given to potential environmental hazards, local zoning regulations and building codes and their application to the property before a commitment to purchase is made. It should be determined whether zoning regulations permit use of the property for a church or place of worship. Also, the deed records should be examined to see whether there are any restrictive covenants running with the property making it impossible to use it as a Kingdom Hall. Even if the property is restricted to church use only, this may make it unacceptable, since persons may be unwilling to loan money for the purpose of purchase or construction on such property, and also such restriction may prevent the sale of the property should the congregation wish to sell at some later time. Building codes should be studied to determine the type, style, placement, and possible minimum cost of building permitted to be constructed. Requirements for off-street parking should be looked into. A brother should obtain a copy of the local regulations. These regulations can be acquired from the local zoning department or building department. These free services should be utilized before taking the matter to a local attorney for assistance.

TAKING TITLE

[3] It is improper for any congregation to acquire title to Kingdom Hall property in the name of the Society. Only in the event of specific instructions from the Society should such property be deeded to Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, or International Bible Students Association. Otherwise, the Society does not desire to take title to Kingdom Halls or permit Kingdom Halls to be registered in the name of the Society.

[4] Title to property bought for the congregation should not be held in the name of one of the overseers or other ministers in the congregation.

[5] Congregations operate as unincorporated associations. In many states an unincorporated association cannot hold title to real property and therefore there is a need for a trusteeship or incorporated entity. In those locations where title insurance is obtained, please be advised that a subsequent transfer of title, perhaps to another congregation when you depart to build or use another Kingdom Hall, may result in loss of title insurance coverage.

TWO WAYS TO TAKE TITLE

[6] Generally speaking, there are two ways by which title can be taken by a congregation: (1) trustees in behalf of the congregation and (2) a corporation formed by the congregation. Our comments are general and there are considerable variations from state to state, which, in some cases, may make one arrangement more desirable than the other due to the state laws. Your own attorney can assist you in your discussion of the best procedures.

[7] A contract to purchase real property or a deed to trustees or to a corporation cannot be made until the trustees have been properly appointed or the corporation has been legally formed.

THE TRUSTEE ARRANGEMENT

[8] In the event the congregation decides to have trustees hold property for it, the trustees must be appointed by the congregation. This is accomplished by a resolution being made and passed by the congregation appointing three persons as trustees. In selecting trustees, mature ministers who are not likely to move away from the community should be chosen. It is desirable, although not necessary, to appoint overseers or ministerial servants of the congregation to act as trustees. In the event an overseer or ministerial servant who has been appointed a trustee is replaced in his office of elder or as ministerial servant, it will not be necessary to replace him as trustee unless he moves away, is disfellowshipped, or becomes inactive.

[9] When trustees have been appointed the deed can be made to the named and appointed trustees, followed by the recital: "as trustees for the (name of the congregation)." In the deed a paragraph should be inserted authorizing the congregation to appoint a substitute trustee to act in the place of any trustee who may die, resign, or become disqualified to act as trustee. The declaration of trust signed by trustees should include language recognizing the authority of the congregation to replace trustees. This language should also be included in the certificate of appointment of trustees signed by the Congregation Service Committee.

[10] When it becomes necessary to appoint a substitute trustee, he should be appointed by resolution duly adopted by the congregation. When a substitute trustee is appointed, it is advisable to have a certified or notarized copy of the resolution appointing a substitute trustee kept with the deed. The substitute trustee need not record anything, but when the property is conveyed it will be necessary to have the certified resolutions indicating who the current trustees are. This is in order to keep the title records straight and avoid complications.

[11] Consult with your attorney as to the language to be used in the appointment of trustees and in the appointment of substitute trustees if such substitution becomes necessary. Have your attorney advise if anything needs to be recorded in the land records when a trustee is changed.

[12] Everyone who is appointed a trustee or substitute trustee should sign a formally written legal document, a declaration of trust, before a notary public showing that he takes title to the property as a trustee and that he has no personal right, title, or interest in and to the property conveyed to him. It should be recited that neither his estate nor heirs have any interest in and to the property when the trustee or substitute trustee dies. This need not be recorded but should be carefully kept in the congregation's records. Your attorney handling the interests of the congregation in respect to the property can guide you in respect to the language of the declaration of trust so that the congregation will be fully protected legally under the laws of your locality. If you choose to hold title to the Kingdom Hall by the trustee arrangement, you should contact the Legal Department which has prepared sample documents for the trustee arrangements. Once you obtain these documents, you should notify the Regional Building Committee which may be able to assist you to locate a qualified local attorney.

INCORPORATION

[13] The procedure for the formation of a corporation differs in each state. You will need the services of a local attorney in forming a corporation. He will probably advise you that it should be created under the religious or nonprofit laws of the state where the congregation is situated. If he does not so advise you, let us know, informing us of the reasons why he recommends otherwise or have him explain the situation to us.

14 As to the name of the corporation, it should be the same as the congregation's name.

15 The procedure that is required for the formation of a corporation is that a charter or articles of incorporation are properly prepared by an attorney and filed in the office of the appropriate public official in the state where the congregation is situated. The corporation is not created unless and until the charter or articles of incorporation are approved and filed in the office of the secretary of state or recorded in the county clerk's office, where required.

16 Since the purpose of the congregation in forming a corporation is to hold title to Kingdom Hall property, the charter or articles of incorporation should specifically state the purpose to acquire and hold title to real estate as a meeting place and place of worship for the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. It may also include the right to accept gifts and bequests of personal and real property, and to mortgage its property. If the corporation laws require that the articles of incorporation designate an organization to receive the assets of the corporation in the event of dissolution name: Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

17 After the articles of incorporation or charter have been filed, bylaws prepared by your lawyer may also be necessary, and if they are required in your state for a corporation such as you form, they should be adopted by the corporation. Find out from your attorney if they are necessary.

18 The corporation may not hold title to Kingdom Hall property of another congregation even upon the request of the other congregation, unless with specific approval of the Society. It is preferable that each congregation hold title to its property in its own name, except where two or more congregations share the same Kingdom Hall. In such a case the corporation will be the instrument of only one of the congregations, preferably the one holding the territory, although not absolutely necessary, as long as the congregation having the title-holding corporation also shares the use of the Kingdom Hall.

19 If you choose to incorporate, you may contact the Legal Department which has prepared sample articles of incorporation or charters, as well as bylaws for your state. Once you obtain these documents, you should notify the Regional Building Committee which may be able to assist you to locate a qualified local attorney who is experienced in formation of corporations in your state. Use of these samples will reduce the attorney's work.

FINANCING THE KINGDOM HALL

20 Financing the purchase or construction of a Kingdom Hall is the responsibility of all the congregation. Before final plans for a Kingdom Hall are made, the congregation should determine how much money can be contributed by all in the congregation to pay for the Kingdom Hall. If donations are not sufficient, determine how much must be borrowed and what size loan, payable in monthly installments, the congregation can reasonably bear. Therefore it should be determined: (1) how much money can be raised by outright contributions from the members of the congregation, (2) how much can be raised by loans from members of the congregation, (3) how much will be necessary and advisable to borrow elsewhere and (4) how much the congregation can and will pay monthly to retire all loans. To determine this, slips of paper can be distributed, giving everyone the privilege and opportunity to indicate the amounts.

21 Promissory notes can be given to the members of the congregation who loan money. These unsecured notes can be executed by the Congregation Service Committee as the congregation's promise to pay.

22 If the congregation is unable, through diligence, to finance entirely within the congregation, it may request a Kingdom Hall Loan Survey (Form S-83) from the Regional Building Committee. It is important that there be evidence of local support of the Kingdom Hall project in order to assist the Society in approving financial assistance.

APPLY FOR EXEMPTION FROM TAXES

23 Almost every state provides for the exemption from the payment of taxes on real property used for a meeting place or place of worship by a congregation. Application for exemption must be made in the time and manner provided for by local law and practice. Inquire at the office of your local tax assessor or tax collector. In some few states the law does not allow for exemption unless the property is owned by a corporation. Also, if part of the property is rented exemption may not be granted, but the application can be made for exemption from taxes on the part used by the congregation. The law usually allows a minister, or a caretaker, to reside on the premises without affecting the exemption if no rent is charged. Ask your local tax assessor. You may wish to have your attorney handle the matter for the congregation. Even after tax exemption has been obtained, check yearly with the taxing authorities to make sure the Kingdom Hall property is still exempt and no assessments have been levied.

24 If the congregation decides to make housing available to its ministers, we recommend the congregation limit the housing to full-time ministers, preferably elders, of the congregation regularly using the Kingdom Hall. There should be no written or oral obligation to pay rent in exchange for the housing. Contributions to the congregation are acceptable but should be voluntary and in no way related to the housing available to members of the congregation. All occupants should clearly understand that no rent is paid in exchange for the housing. This understanding points to the need to select occupants with a high level of spirituality who appreciate this arrangement. Under this arrangement no income is earned on property renovated or acquired through a debt to your lender.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN CONGREGATION AND TITLEHOLDERS

25 The titleholders (either trustees or a corporation) have the same relationship to the congregation as any other instrument, equipment, or property necessary to carry out the work of the congregation. All such instruments or tools are used to serve the congregation in harmony with the theocratic arrangement.

26 The mere fact that a legal corporation or trustee arrangement has been made does not mean that a separate organization has been formed that can function separately and apart from the congregation and be used to guide and direct its policies. The titleholders are merely special servants of the congregation in whom is vested legal title to the Kingdom Hall. Titleholders as such do not act as a part of the congregation service committee to operate the Kingdom Hall or run the business of the congregation. They have absolutely nothing to do with the use to be made of the property and cannot determine who is going to live on the property or what kind of work is to be done in it.

27 The operation of the Kingdom Hall, making of repairs and improvements, payment of expenses and obligations and all other business in connection with owning and maintaining the property are all under the direction of the theocratic organization through the elders and ministerial servants appointed through the Society. Consult the counsel and instructions provided by the Society for guidance in matters of service and organization. If there are legal functions that the titleholders need to perform, they should act in harmony and willing cooperation with the congregation service committee.

28 Payments for expenses, maintenance, notes, and all other obligations incurred as the result of the ownership and maintenance of the Kingdom Hall are to be paid out of the congregation's funds, contributed in the regular way. In actual practice the corporation (if one is used) will never have any funds, since all money belongs to the congregation and is to be placed in the regular congregation bank account opened as an unincorporated association even though the congregation has a corporation for title-holding purposes.

29 It should be understood that any brothers who contribute or loan large or small sums of money for the acquisition and maintenance of the Kingdom Hall do not have any voice in its management, other than as members of the congregation. Brothers who loan money have the right to expect the payment of their indebtedness and good business management. If a corporation is used the officers are not paid any salary, but they, as any other member of the congregation, are entitled only to be reimbursed for expenses authorized by the congregation.

If any congregation contemplating the ownership of its Kingdom Hall property has further questions after carefully considering the foregoing, it should feel free to write fully to the Society for additional information that may be needed. We are very much interested in your efforts to have good Kingdom Hall facilities.

INFORMACIÓN CONCERNIENTE A LA PROPIEDAD DE SALONES DEL REINO

[1] El Salón del Reino es el centro de reunión y demás actividades de toda congregación de los testigos de Jehová. Muchas congregaciones alquilan las instalaciones que les sirven de Salón del Reino, mientras que otras son sus propietarias. No le corresponde a la Sociedad determinar si una congregación debe ser propietaria de su propio Salón del Reino. Este es un asunto que la congregación decide. Nuestro objetivo es responder a diversas preguntas que han hecho muchas congregaciones de los testigos de Jehová que desean poseer su propio Salón del Reino y saber cuál sería la mejor manera de adquirir el título de propiedad del Salón del Reino y su predio.

PRECAUCIONES NECESARIAS ANTES DE ADQUIRIR EL TÍTULO

[2] En cuanto se haya decidido obtener alguna propiedad y la congregación haya aprobado una resolución al respecto, deben estudiarse detenidamente los posibles peligros ambientales y la reglamentación urbanística y las ordenanzas de construcción locales aplicables a la propiedad antes de comprometerse a comprarla. Debe determinarse si la reglamentación urbanística permite que la propiedad se utilice para una iglesia o lugar de culto. Además, debe examinarse la documentación que acompaña al título de la propiedad para ver si hay alguna cláusula contractual vigente que imposibilite su uso como Salón del Reino. Aun si puede usarse solo con fines religiosos, esto puede hacerla inaceptable, ya que algunas personas o instituciones quizás no estén dispuestas a prestar dinero para comprarla o construir en ella; además, tal restricción pudiera impedir su venta posteriormente si la congregación deseara hacerlo. Deben estudiarse las ordenanzas de construcción para determinar la clase, el estilo, la colocación y el posible coste mínimo del edificio que tales ordenanzas permitirían construir. También debe averiguarse si hay requisitos que exijan la construcción de un estacionamiento privado. Uno de los hermanos debe obtener un ejemplar de la reglamentación local en el departamento de ordenación urbana o el de construcción. Deben utilizarse estos servicios gratuitos antes de presentar el proyecto a un abogado local para pedirle asesoramiento.

ADQUISICIÓN DEL TÍTULO DE PROPIEDAD

[3] No es apropiado que una congregación adquiera el título de propiedad de un Salón del Reino a nombre de la Sociedad. Solo en caso de recibir instrucciones específicas de la Sociedad debería inscribirse dicha propiedad a nombre de Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania o International Bible Students Association. De lo contrario, la Sociedad no desea ser propietaria de los Salones del Reino ni permite que se inscriban a su nombre.

[4] El título de la propiedad que se compre para la congregación no debe estar a nombre de uno de sus superintendentes u otros ministros.

[5] Las congregaciones funcionan como asociaciones no incorporadas. En muchos estados, una asociación de esa clase no puede ser propietaria de bienes inmuebles, y por eso es necesario constituir una junta de administradores o una entidad incorporada. En los lugares donde se ha obtenido un seguro de título debe tenerse presente que una transferencia de título más adelante, tal vez a otra congregación cuando la titular parta para construir o utilizar otro Salón del Reino, puede invalidar la cobertura de dicho seguro.

DOS MANERAS DE ADQUIRIR EL TÍTULO DE PROPIEDAD

[6] En términos generales, una congregación puede adquirir el título de una propiedad de dos maneras: 1) mediante una junta de administradores que represente a la congregación, o 2) formando una corporación o sociedad. Nuestras observaciones son de índole general, reconociendo que hay considerables diferencias de un estado a otro, lo cual puede significar que en algunos casos una entidad sea más deseable que la otra en vista de las leyes estatales. Su abogado puede ayudarlos a determinar qué procedimientos serían más ventajosos.

No se puede establecer un contrato de compra de bienes inmuebles ni se pueden inscribir estos a nombre de una junta de administradores o una corporación hasta que se hayan nombrado debidamente los administradores o se haya constituido legalmente la corporación.

UNA JUNTA DE ADMINISTRADORES

[8] Si la congregación decide que una junta de administradores figure como propietaria en representación de ella, será preciso que nombre los miembros de la junta. La manera de hacerlo es presentando una resolución a la congregación en la que se nombre administradores a tres individuos. Debe escogerse a ministros maduros que probablemente no se muden de la comunidad. Es aconsejable, aunque no necesario, elegir como administradores a superintendentes o siervos ministeriales de la congregación. Si se relevara de su función de anciano o siervo ministerial a algún miembro de la junta, no habría que reemplazarlo a menos que se mudara, fuera expulsado o se hiciera inactivo.

[9] Una vez nombrada la junta, se podrá hacer la escritura de propiedad a nombre de los administradores designados con esta condición preliminar añadida: "como junta de administradores en representación de [el nombre de la congregación]". En la escritura de propiedad debe introducirse un párrafo que autorice a la congregación para reemplazar a cualquier miembro de la junta que fallezca, dimita de su puesto o que ya no reúna los requisitos para desempeñar tal función. La fraseología de la "declaración de fideicomiso" que firme la junta de administradores debe manifestar pleno reconocimiento de la autoridad que tiene la congregación para sustituir a los administradores. Debe redactarse de igual manera el certificado de nombramiento de la junta de administradores que firme el Comité de Servicio de la Congregación.

[10] Cuando sea menester nombrar un sustituto, debe hacerse mediante una resolución debidamente aprobada por la congregación. Cuando se nombre un sustituto para la junta de administradores, es aconsejable guardar con la escritura de propiedad una copia certificada o notariada de la resolución de nombramiento. El sustituto no tiene que registrar dicho cambio, pero, cuando se vaya a transferir la propiedad, será necesario tener a mano las resoluciones certificadas que indiquen quiénes componen la junta en ese momento. Esto se hace a fin de mantener en orden la documentación que acompaña al título de propiedad y evitar complicaciones.

[11] Consulten con su abogado sobre la fraseología que debe usarse en el documento de nombramiento de los administradores y en el de los sustitutos (cuando estos sean necesarios). Pídanle a su abogado que los asesore si hay que dejar constancia escrita en el registro inmobiliario cuando se reemplaza a uno de los administradores.

[12] Todo administrador o sustituto nombrado debe firmar ante notario una "declaración de fideicomiso", es decir, un documento legal escrito formalmente en el que se indique que es titular de la propiedad en calidad de miembro de la junta de administradores y que no tiene personalmente ningún derecho a la propiedad que se le ha transferido ni título de ella ni interés por ella. También debe declararse que, en caso de que él fallezca, ni su patrimonio sucesorio ni sus herederos tienen interés alguno por la propiedad. No hay que registrar tal documento, pero debe guardarse bien en los archivos de la congregación. El abogado que represente los intereses de la congregación en lo que toca a la propiedad puede orientarlos en cuanto a la fraseología que ha de usarse en la declaración susodicha para que la congregación quede plena y legalmente protegida por las leyes locales. Si optan por tener el título del Salón del Reino a nombre de una junta de administradores, deben comunicarse con el Departamento de Asuntos Legales, el cual ha redactado algunos modelos para juntas de administradores. En cuanto consigan dichos documentos, deben comunicarse con el Comité Regional de Construcción, que tal vez pueda ayudarles a encontrar un abogado local cualificado.

UNA CORPORACIÓN O SOCIEDAD

[13] Los trámites para formar una corporación o sociedad varían de un estado a otro, por lo que tendrán que recurrir a un abogado local para constituirla. Es probable que les aconseje instituirla siguiendo las leyes estatales referentes a organizaciones religiosas o asociaciones no lucrativas. Si les aconsejara seguir otro derrotero, avísennos e infórmennos por qué les ha recomendado obrar de tal manera, o pídanle que nos lo explique él.

14 El nombre de la corporación o sociedad debe ser el mismo que el de la congregación.

15 Para formar una corporación, es necesario que un abogado prepare debidamente una carta constitucional (o las cláusulas de incorporación) y que se la registre en la oficina estatal del funcionario público correspondiente. La corporación no quedará constituida a menos que la carta constitucional se apruebe y registre en la oficina del secretario estatal o la oficina del secretario del condado, según lo exija la ley.

16 Puesto que la congregación forma la corporación o sociedad con el propósito de adquirir el título de propiedad de un Salón del Reino, la carta constitucional debe exponer de manera específica dicho propósito: adquirir y tener el título de la propiedad inmueble para que la congregación local de los testigos de Jehová la utilice como lugar de reunión y culto. También se puede incluir el derecho de aceptar donaciones y legados de bienes muebles e inmuebles y de hipotecar su propiedad. Si las leyes que rigen las corporaciones o sociedades requieren que en las cláusulas de incorporación se designe una organización que haya de recibir los bienes de la corporación en caso de que esta se disuelva, nombren a: Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc.

17 Después que se haya registrado la carta constitucional, puede que también sea necesario que su abogado redacte los estatutos. Si la ley del estado los exige en el caso de una corporación o sociedad como la que ustedes han formado, esta debe adoptarlos. Averigüen mediante su abogado si dichos estatutos son necesarios.

18 A menos que se cuente con la aprobación específica de la Sociedad, la corporación no puede ser titular del Salón del Reino de otra congregación, aunque esta se lo solicite. Es preferible que cada congregación tenga a su nombre el título de propiedad de su salón, salvo cuando dos o más congregaciones compartan el mismo Salón del Reino. En tal caso, la corporación será instrumento de solo una de las congregaciones, preferiblemente una de las que tiene el territorio donde está el Salón del Reino; esto último no es absolutamente necesario, con tal de que la congregación que haya formado la corporación titular se reúna en el mismo Salón del Reino.

19 Si optan por formar una corporación o sociedad, pueden comunicarse con el Departamento de Asuntos Legales, el cual ha redactado algunos modelos de cartas constitucionales, así como de estatutos, que se conforman a las leyes de su estado. En cuanto reciban dichos documentos, deben comunicarse con el Comité Regional de Construcción, que tal vez pueda ayudarles a encontrar un abogado local cualificado con experiencia en la formación de corporaciones en su estado. El uso de dichos modelos reducirá el trabajo del abogado.

FINANCIACIÓN DEL SALÓN DEL REINO

20 La responsabilidad de financiar la compra o la construcción de un Salón del Reino recae sobre toda la congregación. Antes de finalizar los planes de obtención de un Salón del Reino, la congregación debe determinar cuánto dinero puede contribuir a ese fin. Si no contaran con suficientes donaciones, determinen cuánto dinero tendrían que tomar prestado y a cuánto ascendería el préstamo que la congregación podría pagar razonablemente a plazos mensuales. Por consiguiente, debe determinarse: 1) cuánto dinero se puede recaudar de los miembros de la congregación en contribuciones incondicionales, 2) cuánto en préstamos personales, 3) qué cantidad será menester y aconsejable tomar prestada de otra fuente, y 4) cuánto puede contribuir la congregación mensualmente a fin de liquidar todos los préstamos. Para determinar tales sumas de dinero, se pueden distribuir hojas de papel de modo que todos tengan el privilegio y la oportunidad de indicar las cantidades que pueden aportar.

21 Se pueden expedir pagarés a los miembros de la congregación que presten dinero. El Comité de Servicio de la Congregación puede firmar dichos pagarés sin caución, en reconocimiento de que la congregación promete liquidarlos.

22 Si a pesar de los esfuerzos diligentes de la congregación no se puede financiar un Salón del Reino sin ayuda externa, pueden pedir al Comité Regional de Construcción un Kingdom Hall Loan Survey (S-83). Es importante que se presente prueba de que la congregación apoya el proyecto, con el fin de ayudar a la Sociedad a ver cuánto se necesita su asistencia económica.

SOLICITUD DE EXENCIÓN DE IMPUESTOS

23 Casi todos los estados eximen del pago de impuestos sobre los bienes inmuebles a las congregaciones que los usan como lugares de reunión o culto. La solicitud de exención de impuestos debe hacerse al tiempo y de la manera que estipula la ley y la práctica locales. Infórmense acerca de esto en la oficina del tasador de hacienda o recaudador de impuestos local. En algunos estados, la ley no permite la exención de impuestos a menos que la propiedad esté a nombre de una corporación. Además, si se alquila a alguien una parte de la propiedad, puede que no se conceda tal exención, pero esta puede solicitarse para la parte de la propiedad que la congregación utiliza. Por lo general la ley permite que un ministro o un custodio resida en la propiedad sin que ello afecte la exención, siempre que no se le cobre alquiler. Pregunten al tasador de hacienda en cuanto a esto. Tal vez prefieran que su abogado se encargue del asunto en nombre de la congregación. Aun después que se haya obtenido la exención de impuestos, inquieran anualmente en la oficina de recaudación para cerciorarse de que la propiedad del Salón del Reino todavía está exenta del pago de impuestos y de que no se le ha impuesto ningún gravamen.

24 Si la congregación opta por utilizar parte del edificio como vivienda para sus ministros, recomendamos que sea solo para los de tiempo completo, preferiblemente ancianos, de la congregación que utiliza con regularidad el Salón del Reino. No debe haber ningún compromiso escrito u oral de pagar alquiler por la vivienda. Se aceptan contribuciones para la congregación, pero estas deben ser voluntarias y de ningún modo deben estar relacionadas con la vivienda que se provee para ciertos miembros de la congregación. Todos los ocupantes deben comprender claramente que no se paga alquiler por la vivienda. Este entendimiento recalca lo necesario de escoger a ocupantes con un alto nivel de espiritualidad que aprecien dicha provisión. Según este acuerdo, no se derivan ingresos de una propiedad que ha sido renovada o adquirida mediante una deuda con una entidad crediticia.

RELACIÓN ENTRE LA CONGREGACIÓN Y LOS TITULARES

25 Los titulares, o hermanos a nombre de quienes está la escritura de propiedad (sean miembros de una junta de administradores o de una corporación), tienen la misma relación con la congregación que cualquier otro instrumento, equipo o propiedad que se requiera para llevar a cabo su obra. Todos estos instrumentos se utilizan para servir a la congregación de acuerdo con el sistema teocrático.

26 El simple hecho de que se haya formado una corporación jurídica o establecido una junta de administradores no significa que se haya formado una organización distinta que pueda funcionar aparte de la congregación ni que se la pueda usar para guiar y dirigir sus normas. Los titulares son sencillamente siervos especiales de la congregación a quienes se les ha conferido el título perfecto de la propiedad del Salón del Reino. Ellos, en sí, no obran como parte del Comité de Servicio de la Congregación con respecto a la administración del Salón del Reino ni dirigen los asuntos de la congregación. No tienen absolutamente nada que ver con el uso que se dará a la propiedad ni determinan quiénes habrán de vivir en la propiedad ni qué clase de trabajo se hará en ella.

27 La administración del Salón del Reino, las reparaciones y mejoras, el pago de gastos y obligaciones, y cualquier otro asunto relacionado con la posesión y el mantenimiento de la propiedad están, todos, bajo la dirección de la organización teocrática, representada por los ancianos y los siervos ministeriales que ha nombrado la Sociedad. Consideren el consejo y las instrucciones que la Sociedad ha proporcionado para guiarlos en asuntos de servicio y de organización. Si los titulares tienen que desempeñar ciertas funciones que la ley estipula, deben obrar de acuerdo con la dirección del Comité de Servicio de la Congregación y estar dispuestos a cooperar con este.

28 El dinero para el pago de gastos, el coste del mantenimiento, los pagarés y todas las otras obligaciones financieras que se contraigan debido a la posesión y el mantenimiento del Salón del Reino debe provenir de los fondos que la congregación contribuye del modo acostumbrado. De hecho, en la práctica, la corporación o sociedad (si hay una) nunca tendrá fondos, ya que todo el dinero pertenece a la congregación y se ha de depositar en la cuenta bancaria regular que la congregación haya abierto como asociación no incorporada, aun cuando tenga una corporación que le sirva de titular.

29 Debe quedar claro que ninguno de los hermanos que contribuyan o presten sumas de dinero, sean grandes o pequeñas, para la adquisición y el mantenimiento del Salón del Reino tiene voz en su administración, aparte de la que tiene como miembro de la congregación. Los hermanos que presten dinero tienen derecho a esperar que se salde su préstamo y que se administren bien los asuntos económicos. Si se utiliza una corporación o sociedad, sus directores no recibirán ningún salario, pero tendrán derecho, como cualquier otro miembro de la congregación, a un simple reembolso de los gastos que la congregación haya autorizado.

Si alguna congregación que esté pensando adquirir la propiedad de su Salón del Reino tiene otras preguntas después de haber analizado detenidamente lo antes expuesto, con toda libertad puede escribir a la Sociedad para pedir la información adicional que necesite. Nos interesan muchísimo sus esfuerzos por tener buenos Salones del Reino.

Re: Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement

Dear Brothers:

The purpose of this letter is to present you with an annual report on the KHAA. We are pleased to inform you that this is the seventh year that the KHAA is able to provide assistance without increasing the suggested contribution amounts. This is the result of the conscientious manner in which you brothers care for Kingdom Hall properties, property losses, and accidents. A fine spirit is manifest when congregations give loving care to accident victims and provide volunteer labor to repair/replace property losses. Realizing that KHAA funds are not "insurance money," but contributions, many congregations return KHAA funds that were not actually needed to repair/replace their loss.

Please continue to give attention to potential hazards at your Kingdom Hall. Some hazards that have caused serious accidents in the past year are: snow, ice or debris on sidewalks, poorly maintained sidewalks with cracks or uneven surfaces, running children, water tracked into the Kingdom Hall, bookbags in aisles, and trees with dead limbs or hollow trunks. Please be alert to these or any other hazards with a view to correcting them and avoiding possible injuries. To assist, please find enclosed a Loss Control Checklist. Please review this checklist and assign its completion to an elder who will be alert to note potential hazards. Keep a copy of the completed checklist in the congregation's file.

If you experience a loss or an accident, please review the letter Key Facts About the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement of October 15, 1995, carefully follow the instructions outlined therein, and complete a Property Loss Report or Accident Notice and forward it to the Society immediately. If an injured person requires medical treatment or if property loss exceeds $5,000, please telephone the Society's Risk Management Office immediately at the above telephone number.

The suggested KHAA contribution will appear on the October 1996, New York Corporation Statement. It would be appreciated if your congregation would contribute the entire amount when the statement is received. If this is not possible, please forward as much as you can afford and then forward the remainder when you are able to do so. This should be cared for by September 1997.

Please accept our warm Christian love and best wishes.

TO: BODIES OF ELDERS PARTICIPATING IN THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT

Dear Brothers:

We are pleased to inform you that it is again possible this year for the Society to provide comprehensive all-risk coverage through the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. Since 1989 this program has used designated contributed funds to provide assistance for property damage and general liability losses experienced by congregations. The generosity and cooperation of Jehovah's people have contributed greatly to the success of this program.

As of October 1997, there has been an adjustment in the way the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is being administered. Attached is the suggested contribution for KHAA for your congregation(s) covering the accounting period of October 1, 1997, to October 1, 1998. This amount will no longer appear as a charge on the New York Corporation Statement. Therefore, when remitting these funds, list your contribution on the blank line of the Contribution Remittance Form (S(d)-20) with the notation: "Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA)." Or, if your congregation is now using the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS), enter your contribution at the prompt designated KHAA. Please DO NOT include this contribution with any payments on your Congregation Account. If your congregation is able to contribute the entire amount now, this would be greatly appreciated. If this is not possible, please forward as much as you can afford and then any additional amounts when you are able to do so.

This is not a commercial insurance program. The Society administers these donated funds. Thus, if all other available avenues of aid are pursued first when a loss occurs, the KHAA funds remain available for cases of genuine need. A fine spirit is shown when we give loving support to accident victims and provide volunteer labor for property repairs.

Another way to support this arrangement is by giving increased attention to safety matters. During the past year a number of publishers were seriously injured by falling on snow- or ice-covered pavement or uneven sidewalks. Others sustained severe injuries falling from ladders or scaffolds while assisting with construction and maintenance projects. At meetings, we can show consideration for others by eliminating trip hazards. For example, are we accustomed to leaving our bookbag in the aisle? While it may be convenient, it creates a hazard and in many areas it is a violation of regulations. Young ones running in the aisles after the meeting have also been involved in serious accidents with older ones. With the foregoing examples in mind, let each of us consider how we can personally contribute to making attending meetings and working around the hall as safe as possible.

The Society feels privileged to be able to administer the KHAA in behalf of the congregations. We join you in praying for Jehovah's blessing on our efforts to properly care for our Kingdom Halls and all who gather therein to praise Jehovah. Be assured of our warm Christian love and best wishes.

Your brothers,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

P.S. Please note that paragraph two applies only to the congregation which holds title to the property and makes remittances to the Society in connection therewith.

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

We thank all of you for your individual contributions in making the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) so effective. We appreciate very much the efforts the local and Regional Building Committees have made in rebuilding damaged properties and the loving way in which you have cared for those who have been injured while working on Kingdom Halls or while attending meetings. The long-range, positive effects of such sincere effort in caring for Kingdom Halls and Jehovah's sheep cannot be overestimated.

Some property losses have involved Kingdom Halls where the congregations have not updated their property values as listed with the Society for many years. At this time we are requesting that all congregations provide us with an updated appraisal of the value of their Kingdom Hall. If help is needed in making the appraisal, one elder from the congregation or congregations should be selected to take the lead in contacting the Regional Building Committee for assistance. After all of the features of the Kingdom Hall have been noted and appraised, please report the correct figure to the Risk Management Office using the revised Property Description Form (T-50) sent to you in November.

Also enclosed is an Accident Information sheet. Please take a few minutes to familiarize yourselves with these procedures before filing this information where it will be readily accessible in the event that an accident takes place at your Kingdom Hall.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter of updating Kingdom Hall values. We pray for Jehovah's continued blessing upon the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement and thank you for your loyal support.

Your brothers,

ACCIDENT INFORMATION

KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT

(PLEASE KEEP THIS IN AN ACCESSIBLE PLACE FOR READY REFERENCE IN CASE OF AN ACCIDENT)

ACCIDENTS AT KINGDOM HALLS OR ASSEMBLY HALLS:

1. Please ensure that the injured party receives appropriate medical attention as soon as possible. In most instances it is best to call for an ambulance if transport to a medical facility is necessary.

2. If any medical treatment is required, please phone the Society's Risk Management Office at (718) 625-3600 within 48 hours to report the accident. This should be done even if the individual has personal insurance and will not be submitting any bills to the congregation.

3. Keep in close touch with the injured party and his family to see what further assistance may be needed in the home, etc. If the injured is not one of Jehovah's Witnesses, kindly offer to provide additional assistance and make needed arrangements. Show genuine Christian love and concern.

4. Do not make any statements of responsibility or liability about the cause of the accident to the injured or any other party, including governmental officials.

5. Appoint an experienced, mature elder to ensure that matters are cared for as outlined in the letter Key Facts About the Kingdom Hall Assistance of October 1995.

6. Complete an Accident Notice Report (T-5) within one week. To provide necessary information on the Accident Notice Report, please ask the following:

   a) What were you doing when the accident occurred?
   b) How did the accident happen?
   c) What injury did you suffer?
   d) Do you have any type of medical coverage (including Medicare or Medicaid)?

7. If the injured party has personal insurance, encourage him to present his medical expenses to his insurance program. Kindly explain that the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement is based on donated funds and that all expenses incurred are borne by the congregations.

8. Report the accident by phone if there is any threat or mention of legal action. Generally this would only occur if a worldly person happened to injure himself on your property. If this should happen, please obtain his name and address as well as the names and addresses of any witnesses, along with a full description of the incident.

PROPERTY DESCRIPTION FORM

Please fill out one copy of this form for each separate building you are listing with the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement.

KEY FACTS ABOUT THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT

September 1, 1998

(Replaces letter of October 1, 1995, which should be discarded)

WHAT IS THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT (KHAA)?

The Society uses contributions designated for the KHAA to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls as well as expenses and liability claims arising from accidents/incidents at Kingdom Halls. This is not a commercial insurance program. The Society's Risk Management Office administers the KHAA fund, using these contributions to make all payments. In addition, the fund is used to purchase commercial "excess" insurance to protect congregations and the Society from possible catastrophic losses.

If all other available avenues of aid are pursued first when a loss occurs, the KHAA funds remain available for cases of genuine need. A fine spirit is shown by those who give loving support to accident victims and provide volunteer labor for property repairs. Generally, family heads provide for their family's health needs, including accident-related expenses (w97 8/15 19,22). However, the Society is pleased to be able to render assistance when needed.

HOW DO WE PARTICIPATE IN THE KHAA?

Contributions Each year you will receive a letter suggesting a contribution amount based upon the needs of all those supported by the KHAA. Please send your contribution as soon thereafter as possible.

Existing Kingdom Halls The replacement costs for existing structures are reported to the Society on the Property Description Form (T-50). All congregations that own property were asked to update their values in 1997 by filling out one of these forms. If you have not already done so, please send a completed form to Risk Management at the above address. The Regional Building Committee may be able to help you calculate the replacement cost of your building.

Construction Prior to beginning construction, you should complete a Kingdom Hall Under Construction Form (T-56) available from Risk Management. If performance or other bonds are needed, please contact Risk Management. If the building project is canceled, please inform us in writing.

Purchased Buildings and Vacant Lots For newly purchased buildings, you should complete a Property Description Form (T-50). Vacant lots are automatically covered by your existing account.

Apartments Modest apartments on Kingdom Hall property, used by traveling ministers or special pioneers, can be included by request in the KHAA.

A Specific Certificate of Insurance may be obtained for certain cases, such as:

- General Liability coverage for rented facilities (such as are used by some congregations for the Memorial). Also, property damage assistance for contents owned by the congregation.
- Rental equipment damage, up to $10,000 per reported rental

In order for any special coverage to be in effect or for certificates to be issued, Risk Management needs to be notified in advance in writing.

WTPA 00196

Canceling KHAA Assistance If you wish to cancel your participation in the KHAA arrangement, please notify Risk Management in writing, providing the termination date. Your participation will not be automatically canceled due to failure to make the suggested contribution, so please provide cancellation notification in writing.

WHAT CAN WE DO TO KEEP KHAA COSTS DOWN?

Preventive maintenance is the key to controlling costs. Each year you will receive an Annual Congregation Property Documents & Safety Inspection Worksheet (T-34). Its purpose is to help you identify potential areas of property damage or accidents that could result in losses. Please take immediate action in correcting any noted problems and document the action taken. Please file the completed checklist in the file of the congregation that holds title to the property.

Of course, more is required to prevent losses than filling out a checklist once each year. Elders should take the lead in spotting and correcting potential problems and safety hazards. It is our fine attitude towards safety and maintaining our properties in good repair that enables us to operate the KHAA at a cost much lower than would be possible for other organizations through commercial insurance. Since the losses of all those that participate affect the balance of the KHAA fund, it is in everyone's interest to reduce losses.

Often steps can be taken to keep costs to a minimum after a loss does occur. In the case of property damage, quick action can go far in preventing further loss. For example, if a storm causes damage that results in a leak, fixing the leak prevents further damage and reduces the amount needed from the fund to care for the incident. The use of Regional Building Committees and volunteer labor can save valuable contributed funds. Careful shopping for high quality materials will prove economical in the long run.

In the case of bodily injury, prompt, loving care to the injured will ensure as full and quick a recovery as is possible.

HOW TO REPORT ACCIDENTS RESULTING IN BODILY INJURY

1. Please ensure that the injured party receives appropriate medical attention as soon as possible. In most instances of serious injury it is best for an ambulance to transport the injured to a medical facility.
2. Appoint an experienced, mature elder to handle the accident. This will include ensuring that all the steps outlined in this arrangement are followed. The elder should review the information in this letter and complete an Accident Report (T-5) within one week. Have two brothers present while documenting the information for the form. While filling out the report, please follow the questions provided therein. Please do not ask any other questions such as who or what may have been at fault or the cause of the accident. Furthermore, do not make any reference to any legal action.
3. Report the accident by phone immediately if there is any mention of legal action or correspondence comes from an attorney. Generally, this would only occur if a worldly person was injured on your property. If this should occur, please obtain his/her name and address as well as the names and addresses of any witnesses, along with a full description of the incident.
4. Do not make any statements of fault, responsibility or liability about the cause of the accident to the injured or any other party, including governmental officials.
5. If any professional medical treatment is given, please call Risk Management at (718) 625-3600 within 48 hours to report the accident. This should be done even if the individual has personal insurance and will not be submitting any bills to the congregation. Please have the following information when calling: the date of the accident, the name of the injured, the name of the congregation, the name of the coordinating elder, his telephone number, and his address. You will be assisted with reminders concerning these procedures and we will be available to provide answers concerning any questions you may have.

6. Keep in close touch with the injured party and their family to see what further assistance may be needed in the home, etc. If the injured is not one of Jehovah's Witnesses, kindly offer to provide additional assistance and make needed arrangements. Show genuine Christian love and concern.

After you complete the Accident Report (T-5), make a copy for the congregation files and send the original to Risk Management. When you receive any correspondence or bills related to the accident, please make a copy for the congregation files and forward the original to Risk Management.

The Society or its legal representative may contact the coordinating elder. Please keep in contact with the injured person if possible and notify Risk Management of any significant changes in the injured's status.

HOW TO REPORT INCIDENTS INVOLVING PROPERTY DAMAGE

1. Appoint an experienced elder to take the lead in managing the situation.

2. Protect the property from further damage, loss, or break-in.

3. Immediately report acts of theft and vandalism to the police. Please include a copy of the Police Report with the Property Loss Report (T-55) when this is sent to the Society.

4. In the event of a loss for which KHAA funds may be used, please contact Risk Management for recommendations on how to proceed.

5. Within 30 days after you discover the damage or loss, please send us bills or written estimates you obtained for all repairs or replacements made necessary by the loss along with the completed Property Loss Report (T-55). If you cannot do this within 30 days, contact Risk Management. (Loss estimates should not include labor costs if you are planning to use volunteers to do the work.)

In conclusion, we thank you for your careful review of the foregoing information. We are confident that all will continue to make a diligent effort to apply the suggestions set forth so that accidents, property losses and their associated costs will be kept to a minimum. May Jehovah bless our united efforts in promoting the interests of his Kingdom.

1. This Accident Report (T-5-E) should be completed for all accidents, regardless of the amount of medical care required. Please send it to Risk Management within one week, keeping a copy for your file. If you receive accident-related correspondence or bills, retain copies for your file and send the originals to Risk Management.

2. Please ensure that the injured person receives appropriate medical attention promptly. If the injury appears serious, it may be best to call for an ambulance.

3. Appoint an experienced elder to coordinate all postaccident matters. He should keep in close touch with the injured person to see if any help may be needed, even if the injured person is not one of Jehovah's Witnesses. Christian love and concern will move us to be especially kind and helpful.

4. If medical treatment is required beyond first-aid, please call Risk Management at (718) 560-5000 within 24 hours, even if it appears that no funds are needed to pay bills. Failure to report accidents promptly may jeopardize financial assistance or insurance coverage. Please provide the accident date, the injured person's name, the congregation name, and the coordinating elder's name, phone number and address.

5. If financial help is requested or if there are questions about medical bills or other costs, please contact Risk Management promptly. We are pleased to assist as needed.

6. Do not discuss fault or liability with anyone other than a Risk Management representative. If there is talk of legal action or if you receive an attorney's letter, please contact Risk Management immediately. If you receive a phone call from someone representing the injured person, do not discuss the matter with them. DATOS IMPORTANTES SOBRE EL PROGRAMA DE ASISTENCIA PARA LOS SALONES DEL REINO

1 de septiembre de 1998

(Sustituye a la carta del 1 de octubre de 1995, que debe desecharse)

¿QUÉ ES EL PROGRAMA DE ASISTENCIA PARA LOS SALONES DEL REINO (PASR)?

La Sociedad emplea las contribuciones aportadas para este programa con el fin de pagar los daños materiales sufridos por los Salones del Reino y los gastos y las reclamaciones de responsabilidad civil que surgen a raíz de accidentes e incidentes ocurridos en los Salones. No se trata de un seguro comercial. La Risk Management Office de la Sociedad administra el fondo, y utiliza estas contribuciones para hacer todos los pagos. El fondo se emplea, además, para contratar un seguro complementario con el fin de proteger a las congregaciones y a la Sociedad de posibles pérdidas catastróficas.

Si en caso de siniestro se recurre primero a todas las demás ayudas disponibles, los fondos del programa se reservarán para los casos de verdadera necesidad. Quienes dan apoyo amoroso a los accidentados y trabajan de voluntarios en la reparación de la propiedad manifiestan un excelente espíritu. Por lo general, los cabezas de familia se encargan de los gastos médicos de su casa que incluyen los gastos debidos a accidentes (w97-S 15/8 19, 22). No obstante, la Sociedad se complace en poder ayudar cuando se necesita.

¿CÓMO PARTICIPAMOS EN EL PROGRAMA?

Contribuciones. Todos los años recibirán una carta en la que se sugerirá una contribución cuyo importe se basará en las necesidades de todos los que están cubiertos por el programa. Una vez que reciban la carta, envíen su contribución lo antes posible.

Salones del Reino existentes. Los costos de reposición de estructuras existentes se informan a la Sociedad en el Property Description Form (Formulario de descripción de la propiedad) (T-50). En 1997 se pidió a todas las congregaciones que son dueñas de una propiedad que llenaran uno de estos formularios para actualizar sus valores. Si aún no lo han hecho, envíen un formulario rellenado a Risk Management, a la dirección que aparece más arriba. El Comité Regional de Construcción quizá pueda ayudarles a calcular los costos de reposición de su edificio.

Construcción. Antes de empezar la construcción deben rellenar un formulario Salón del Reino en construcción (T-56-S), que pueden pedir a Risk Management. Si necesitan una fianza de cumplimiento de contrato u otras fianzas, pónganse en contacto con Risk Management. Si cancelan la construcción, infórmennos por escrito.

Edificios comprados y solares. En el caso de los edificios recién comprados, deben llenar un Property Description Form (T-50). Su cuenta actual cubre automáticamente los solares.

Apartamentos. Los modestos apartamentos ubicados en la propiedad del Salón del Reino y que utilizan los ministros viajantes o los precursores especiales pueden incluirse en el programa previa solicitud.

WTPA 00202

Puede conseguirse un certificado de s [redacted] específico en ciertos casos, como por e[redacted]o:

- Cobertura de responsabilidad general para instalaciones alquiladas (como las que utilizan algunas congregaciones con motivo de la Conmemoración). También, asistencia por daños materiales para el contenido que es propiedad de la congregación.
- Daños ocasionados a un equipo de alquiler, hasta un límite de 10.000 dólares por alquiler informado

Para que esté en vigencia toda cobertura especial o se emitan los certificados, ha de notificarse con antelación y por escrito a Risk Management.

Cancelación del programa. Si no desean participar más en este programa, notifíquenlo por escrito indicando la fecha de terminación, a Risk Management. Dado que no enviar la contribución sugerida no implica la baja automática del programa, notifiquen por escrito la cancelación.

¿QUÉ HACER PARA MANTENER BAJOS LOS COSTOS DEL PROGRAMA?

El mantenimiento preventivo es la clave para controlar los costos. Todos los años recibirán un formulario Annual Congregation Property Documents & Safety Inspection Worksheet (Documentación anual de la propiedad de la congregación y hoja de trabajo de la revisión de seguridad) (T-34). Está concebido para ayudarles a identificar los lugares donde puede haber daños materiales o accidentes que resulten en pérdidas. Corrijan de inmediato los problemas que hayan observado y documenten lo que han hecho. Guarden la lista de control rellenada en el archivo de la congregación que tiene el título de propiedad.

Claro está, los siniestros no se previenen únicamente llenando una lista de control una vez al año. Los ancianos deben tomar la iniciativa en descubrir y corregir los posibles problemas y peligros para la seguridad. Nuestra buena actitud hacia la seguridad y mantener las propiedades en buen estado es lo que nos permite gestionar el programa con un costo mucho menor de lo que les es posible a otras organizaciones con seguros comerciales. Como los siniestros de todos los participantes en el programa repercuten en el balance del fondo, la reducción de las pérdidas beneficia a todos.

Muchas veces, pueden adoptarse medidas para mantener los costos al mínimo tras ocurrir el siniestro. En el caso de daños materiales, actuar con rapidez será muy útil para impedir más pérdidas. Por ejemplo, si los desperfectos debidos a una tormenta causan una gotera, arreglarla impedirá un daño mayor y reducirá la cantidad de dinero del fondo que se necesitará para hacer frente al incidente. Recurrir a los comités regionales de construcción y a mano de obra voluntaria ahorra valiosas cantidades contribuidas al fondo. Buscar cuidadosamente los artículos de mejor calidad resultará a la larga en un ahorro.

En el caso de daños personales, atender al afectado amorosamente y sin demora asegurará una recuperación lo más completa y rápida posible.

CÓMO INFORMAR LOS ACCIDENTES QUE RESULTAN EN DAÑOS PERSONALES

1. Asegúrense de que la parte afectada recibe la atención médica adecuada lo antes posible. En la mayoría de los casos de heridas graves, es mejor que el transporte del afectado hasta un centro médico se haga en ambulancia.
2. Designen a un anciano maduro y experimentado para que se ocupe del accidente. Entre sus labores estará asegurarse de que se adoptan todas las medidas que se indican en este plan. Debe repasar esta carta y rellenar la Notificación de accidente (T-5-S) en menos de una semana. Cuando documente los datos del formulario, ha de haber dos hermanos presentes. Al rellenar la notificación, hagan las preguntas que aparecen en ella. No planteen ninguna otra pregunta, como por ejemplo, de quién fue la culpa del accidente ni qué lo causó. Además, no hagan ninguna referencia a una acción legal.
3. Comuniquen el accidente telefónicamente de inmediato si se hace mención de tomar acción legal o reciben correspondencia de un abogado. Normalmente, solo ocurrirá si quien se accidentó en su propiedad es una persona del mundo. Si este es el caso, pídanle el nombre y la dirección, y consigan el nombre y la dirección de los testigos del suceso, junto con una narración completa del incidente.

4. No hagan ninguna declaración o [redacted]ponsabilidad tocante a la causa del ac[redacted]nte ni a la persona afectada ni a ninguna otra, ni siquiera a funcionarios civiles.

5. En caso de que se dé tratamiento médico profesional, notifiquen el accidente a Risk Management, llamando al teléfono (718) 625-3600, en las cuarenta y ocho horas siguientes. Deben hacerlo así hasta en el caso de que la persona tenga un seguro y no vaya a remitir ninguna factura a la congregación. Cuando llamen, cuenten con los siguientes datos: fecha del accidente, nombre del accidentado, nombre de la congregación, nombre del anciano coordinador, su número de teléfono y su dirección. Se les dará ayuda recordándoles estos procedimientos, y estaremos a su disposición para responder las preguntas que tengan.

6. Manténganse en contacto directo con la parte afectada y su familia para ver qué más ayuda necesitan en su hogar, etc. Si el accidentado no es testigo de Jehová, ofrézcanle amablemente más asistencia y adopten las medidas necesarias. Demuestren verdadero amor e interés cristiano.

7. Tras rellenar la Notificación de accidente (T-5-S), hagan una copia para los archivos de la congregación y envíen el original a Risk Management. Cuando reciban correspondencia o facturas relacionadas con el accidente, hagan una copia para los archivos de la congregación y remitan los originales a Risk Management.

La Sociedad o su representante legal tal vez se comunique con el anciano coordinador. Si es posible, manténganse en contacto con la persona accidentada y notifiquen a Risk Management cualquier cambio importante en su estado.

CÓMO INFORMAR INCIDENTES QUE CAUSAN DAÑOS MATERIALES

1. Nombren a un anciano experimentado para que tome la iniciativa en tratar la situación.

2. Protejan la propiedad de más daños, pérdidas o robos.

3. Denuncien de inmediato los robos o actos vandálicos a la policía. Adjunten una copia del informe de la policía al Property Loss Report (Informe de pérdida de propiedad) (T-55) cuando lo envíen a la Sociedad.

4. En el caso de un siniestro para el que posiblemente haya que usar fondos del programa, pónganse en comunicación con Risk Management para que se les recomiende cómo proceder.

5. Menos de treinta días después de haber descubierto el desperfecto o la pérdida, envíennos las facturas o los presupuestos escritos que tengan de todas las reparaciones o reposiciones necesarias junto con el Property Loss Report (T-55) rellenado. Si no pueden hacerlo en menos de treinta días, pónganse en contacto con Risk Management. (Las estimaciones de pérdidas no deben incluir la mano de obra si piensan emplear voluntarios para hacer el trabajo.)

Finalmente, les agradecemos su atento repaso de esta información. Confiamos en que todos continúen esforzándose con diligencia por poner en práctica las sugerencias dadas a fin de que los accidentes, los daños materiales y los costos relacionados sean los menos posibles. Que Jehová bendiga nuestros esfuerzos unidos por fomentar los intereses de su Reino.

TO: ALL BODIES OF ELDERS PARTICIPATING IN THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT (KHAA)

Dear Brothers:

The inspired Bible record of the early Christian congregation informs us of several instances where true worshipers in one area who found themselves in financial need due to unforeseen occurrences were assisted by fellow believers who lived elsewhere. This is in harmony with the principle found at 2 Cor. 8:14,15, where Paul explains how one congregation's surplus might offset another's deficiency.

In our day there has been a tremendous increase in the size of the organization while at the same time the world has grown increasingly unstable and dangerous. Wisdom therefore dictates that we now plan ahead for "unforeseen occurrence" and prepare to assist one another. One provision by means of which this assistance is rendered is the KHAA.

We are entering the tenth year of this arrangement through which designated contributed funds are used to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls as well as expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls. These funds are also used to purchase catastrophe coverage to protect the Society's assets here at headquarters and other major locations. Jehovah's blessing on the fine spirit of cooperation and conscientious support that all have shown makes it possible to continue to provide this assistance without any change in the amount of the suggested contributions since the program's inception.

Attached is the suggested contribution for the KHAA for your congregation(s) covering the accounting period of October 1, 1998, to October 1, 1999. When remitting your contribution via the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS), enter the amount at the telephone prompt designated Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. This prompt is accessed under the "other donations or payments" menu. Please do not include this contribution with any payments on your Congregation Account. If your congregation is able to contribute the entire amount now, this would be greatly appreciated. If this is not possible, please forward as much as you can afford and then any additional amounts when you are able to do so.

The Society is pleased to administer this arrangement by which all congregations can share in assisting one another. We join you in praying for Jehovah's blessing on our efforts to properly care for our buildings and all those who turn to such centers of true worship to learn more about our Grand Creator.

Your brothers,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

TO: BODIES OF ELDERS OF TITLE HOLDING CONGREGATIONS PARTICIPATING IN THE KINGDOM HALL ASSISTANCE ARRANGEMENT (KHAA)

Dear Brothers:

We are now entering the eleventh year of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement through which designated contributed funds are used to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls as well as expenses and liability claims arising from incidents on Kingdom Hall property. Jehovah's blessing on the fine spirit of cooperation and conscientious support that all have shown makes it possible to continue to provide this assistance without any change in the amount of the suggested contribution.

December 1, 2002

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS IN THE UNITED STATES:

Dear Brothers:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement uses designated contributed funds to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls and for expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls. Jehovah's blessing on the fine support that all have shown have made it possible to provide this assistance all these years without any change in the suggested contributions.

Previously, the suggested contributions were derived from a formula based on the value of each Kingdom Hall. Thus, brothers in areas where there is only one congregation per Kingdom Hall were contributing much more than those meeting in Kingdom Halls with several, often larger congregations. Consequently, to allow an "equalizing to take place," we are implementing an adjusted way for congregations to contribute, based on the number of publishers.—2 Corinthians 8:14.

If each congregation contributed $4.50 per publisher per year, the total would approximate the amount contributed the previous year by all of the congregations combined. To avoid burdening the brothers with one large expense, we recommend that each congregation pass a resolution to contribute monthly based upon the number of its publishers. (For example, $4.50 x (No. of Publishers) ÷ 12 months = $ per month). Please note that your previous annual contribution covered the period ending October 1, 2002, so you may want to include amounts for three months with your December 2002 contribution. Since this will be a monthly donation, it should be cared for by each congregation instead of by the operating committee in the case of congregations that share a Kingdom Hall.

When remitting your contribution via the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS), enter the amount at the telephone prompt designated Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. This prompt is accessed under the "Other Donations or Payments" menu. Please do not include this contribution with any payments on your Congregation Account.

We are pleased to administer this arrangement by which all congregations can share in assisting one another. We join you in praying for Jehovah's blessing on our efforts to care properly for our buildings and to accommodate all those who turn to such centers of true worship to learn more about our Grand Creator.

TO ALL BODIES OF ELDERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Dear Brothers:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) uses designated contributed funds to pay for property damage to Kingdom Halls and for expenses and liability claims arising from incidents at Kingdom Halls. Jehovah's blessing on the fine support that all have shown has made it possible to provide this assistance all these years without any change in the suggested contributions.

To properly fund the KHAA, we suggest that each congregation once again contribute $4.50 per publisher for this year. To avoid burdening the brothers with one large expense, we recommend that each congregation pass a resolution to contribute monthly based upon the number of its publishers. (For example, $4.50 x (number of publishers) ÷ 12 months = $ per month.) Since this will be a monthly donation, it should be cared for by each congregation instead of by the operating committee in the case of congregations that share a Kingdom Hall. If you prefer to send the entire annual amount at once, you may do so.

When remitting your contribution via the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS), enter the amount at the telephone prompt designated Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement. Please do not include this contribution with any payments on your Congregation Account.

We are pleased to administer this arrangement by which all congregations can share in assisting one another. We join you in praying for Jehovah's blessing on our efforts to properly care for our buildings and all those who turn to such centers of true worship to learn more about our Grand Creator.

A LOS CUERPOS DE ANCIANOS DE ESTADOS UNIDOS

Estimados hermanos:

El Programa de Asistencia para los Salones del Reino (PASR) emplea los fondos que recibe con el fin de pagar los daños materiales sufridos por los Salones del Reino y los gastos y las reclamaciones de responsabilidad civil que surgen a raíz de accidentes ocurridos en tales salones. La bendición de Jehová sobre el magnífico apoyo que ustedes han dado ha permitido suministrar esta cobertura durante los pasados años sin la necesidad de aumentar las contribuciones sugeridas.

Para aportar fondos al programa, volvemos a sugerir que cada congregación contribuya este año 4,50 dólares por publicador. Para no cargar a los hermanos con un gasto grande, recomendamos que cada congregación presente una resolución para efectuar dicha donación mensual. (Ejemplo: $4,50 x [número de publicadores] ÷ 12 meses = $ al mes.) Como se trata de una contribución mensual, cada congregación deberá hacerse cargo de ella, en vez del comité de mantenimiento (en el caso de que varias congregaciones compartan el mismo salón). Si desean enviar la cantidad total de una sola vez, pueden hacerlo.

Al remitir su contribución mediante el Sistema Watchtower de Transferencia Electrónica de Fondos (WEFTS, por sus siglas en inglés), introduzcan la cantidad cuando la grabación telefónica llegue al apartado Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (Programa de asistencia para los Salones del Reino). No incluyan esta contribución junto con ningún pago de la cuenta de su congregación.

Nos complace administrar este programa mediante el cual todas las congregaciones se apoyan entre sí. Pedimos a Jehová, al igual que ustedes, que bendiga nuestros esfuerzos por cuidar adecuadamente de nuestros edificios y de quienes acuden a estos centros de adoración pura para aprender más de nuestro Magnífico Creador.

Sus hermanos,

Watch Tower B. & T. Society

INSTRUCTIONS FOR WATCHTOWER ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER SYSTEM

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1. Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System (WEFTS) is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
2. When making the call, please have the Record of Electronic Funds Transfer Form (T(d)-62) filled out and this script with you for reference.
3. Verify sufficient funds are available for transfer, including time for deposited checks to clear.
4. You must use a touch-tone telephone. For security reasons do not use a cordless phone.
5. All amounts are entered in dollars and cents followed by the pound key (#). For example, to enter $5.03, you would press "503#".
6. To enter a zero amount or bypass a prompt, simply press the pound key (#).
7. For faster entry, once you identify the prompt, you may enter the amount without listening to the complete message.
8. If you hang up before authorizing the funds transfer, it is simply cancelled. No transaction will occur.
9. To exit the system or complete the funds transfer, press the star key (*) after the standard prompts are played. WEFTS will indicate the point from which the (*) key may be used.
10. Always record the confirmation number given after you authorize any transfer. If it is necessary to contact the Society about a transfer, you will need this confirmation number.
11. In the event of a rejection of the funds transfer due to insufficient funds in your bank account, please refer to the Revisions to S(d)-27 New Paragraph 27a for further instructions.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN I HEAR . . .

☐ "The information you have entered is invalid."

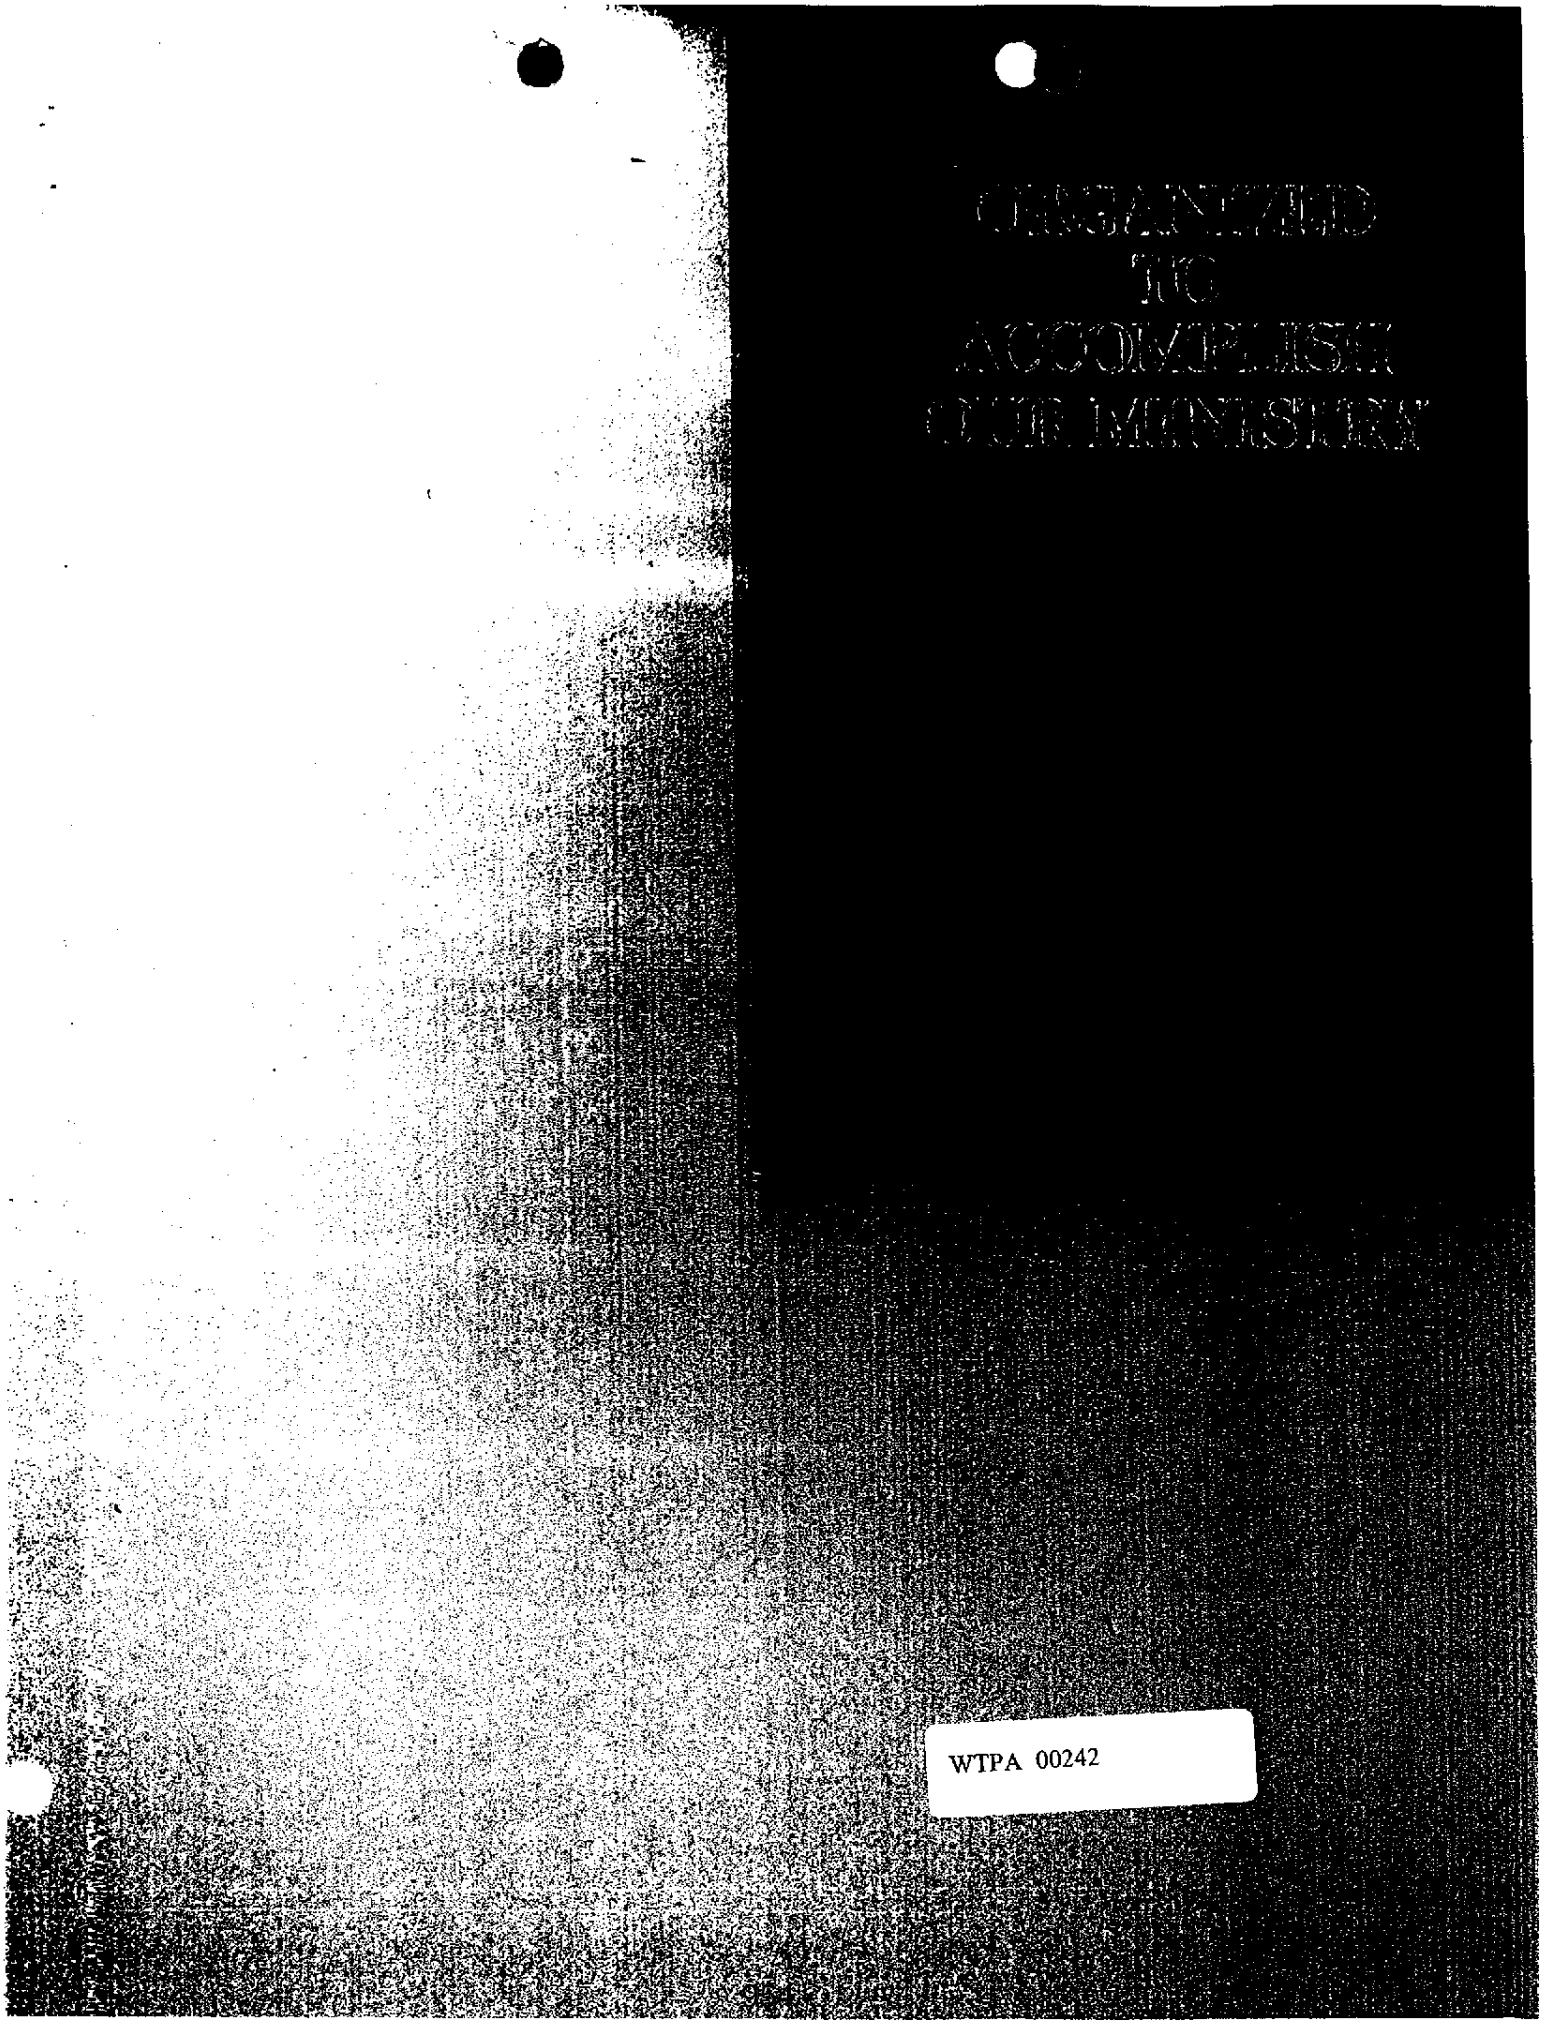
An incorrect congregation number or an incorrect authorization code was entered; try entering the information again.

☐ "We are sorry you are experiencing difficulties. Please contact the Society's offices during regular working hours."

After three opportunities to enter the correct congregation number and authorization code, you will hear this message if you still have not entered a valid combination. If you feel that you have been entering the correct information, you will need to contact the Society's offices so we can determine why you are not able to use the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System.

☐ "No transfer will be made."

You did not enter any donation or payment amounts to be transferred.



☐ "Thank you for calling the Watchtower Electronic Funds Transfer System. We regret that the system is not available. Please try again at a later time."

WEFTS is not available due to a temporary problem. Try calling a few hours later.

☐ A busy signal.

Try calling again. If you continue to hear a busy signal, try calling a few hours later.

and to care for all His "belongings," or Kingdom interests on earth. (Matt. 24:45-47; Luke 12: 42-44) Rather than being an individual Christian, the 'faithful slave' today is the remnant, still living on earth, of the composite body of Christ's anointed footstep followers. Such remaining ones are a part of spiritual Israel, the anointed congregation of God. (Gal. 6:16; compare Isaiah 43: 10.) This remnant is faithfully discharging the responsibilities of the "slave" during this time of the end by taking the lead in the preaching of "this good news of the kingdom" throughout all the earth and by providing spiritual food at the proper time for the household of faith.—Matt. 24:14.

USE OF RELIGIOUS CORPORATIONS

During these last days of the present wicked system of things, the "belongings" of the Master have increased abundantly throughout all the earth. This has placed a heavy responsibility on the 'faithful slave.' In discharging its responsibility to provide spiritual food at the proper time and in order to get the good news of the Kingdom preached before the end comes, the remnant on earth, as "the faithful and discreet slave" class, has formed certain agencies, or legal entities. It has proved to be the course of wisdom for the 'faithful slave' to organize certain corporations that are recognized by the laws of various countries. These religious corporations own and operate printing facilities that produce and distribute Bibles and Bible literature on a worldwide basis for use in the Kingdom ministry.

The first in time and the principal corporation used in this way is the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania. This nonprofit religious society was incorporated in 1884, is made up of dedicated, baptized Christians and is exclusively devoted to advancing the interests of tr worship in the earth. The Watch Tower Soci has extended its works worldwide, establishi branch offices in various countries. Also, in compliance with local governmental regulations, a number of other religious societies have been legally formed, such as the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (1909) and the International Bible Students Association in London, England (1914). All these legal instrumentalities cooperate with one another. These and other legal corporations are used by the modern-day Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses to facilitate the preaching of the good news worldwide and to care for the spiritual needs of the entire congregation of God in all parts of the earth.

STRUCTURE UNDER BRANCH ORGANIZATION

Whenever a branch office is established, Branch Committee of three or more elders appointed to care for the various responsibi ties involved in looking after the work in the country or countries under the jurisdiction of that particular branch. One member of the committee serves as the coordinator of the Branch Committee.

Local congregations under each branch organization are arranged into circuits and a number of circuits make up a district. Circuits and districts may be of various sizes depending on geographical and language considerations, as well as the number of congregations within the area assigned to a branch. A circuit overseer is appointed to serve the congregations in each circuit. District overseers visit the different circuits, serve at circuit assemblies and spend some time serving

COUNTY OF NAPA

CHARISSA W. and NICOLE D.,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

WATCHTOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF NEW YORK, INC., et al.

Defendants.

AND COORDINATED ACTIONS.

CASE NO: 26-22191

Judicial Council Coordination Proceeding No. 4374

SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCHTOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES FORM INTERROGATORIES

Date: 4/8/05
Time: 9:30 AM
Dept. B

Trial Date: None

FORM INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.1:

At the time of the INCIDENT, was there in effect any policy of insurance through which you were or might be insured in any manner (for example, primary, pro-rata, or excess liability coverage or medical expense coverage) for the damages, claims, or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, for each policy state:

(a) the kind of coverage;

(b) the name and ADDRESS of the insurance company;

(c) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of each named insured;

(d) the policy number;

(e) the limits of coverage for each type of coverage contained in the policy;

(f) whether any reservation of rights or controversy or coverage dispute exists between you and the insurance company; and

(g) the name, ADDRESS, and telephone number of the custodian of the policy.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

FORM INTERROGATORY NO. 4.2:

Are you self-insured under any statute for the damages, claims or actions that have arisen out of the INCIDENT? If so, specify the statute.

RESPONSE:

Objection. REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS, SET ONE

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 1:

Please produce the Corporate Book relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, set forth in their Corporate Book, is directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. The by-laws and internal rules and regulations of a corporation will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

The Serbian objection raised by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 2

Please produce the Bylaws relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

See the attached documents Bates nos. WTPA 00001-4.

ARGUMENT:

Watch Tower Pennsylvania provided the 4 pages attached hereto as Exhibit 1. These 4 pages hardly reflect all of the by-laws of Watch Tower Pennsylvania, a multi-million dollar corporation. This response is incomplete and the remaining by-laws should be produced.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 3

Please produce the organizational meeting minutes relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Organizational meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 4

Please produce all Board of Director meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Board of Director meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 5

Please produce all shareholder or member meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Shareholder or member meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 6

Please produce all committee meeting minutes from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Committee meeting minutes will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 7

Please produce all resolutions from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome.

ARGUMENT:

Corporate resolutions will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 8

Please produce a complete list of shareholders and/or members from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad.

ARGUMENT:

A list of all shareholders and members since 1970 will provide background information regarding the individuals, and/or other corporations, that formulate policy making decisions or carry out the activities of the corporation. This evidence is directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California, especially if such individuals reside in California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 9

Please produce any and all documents indicating corporate restructuring or reorganization from 1970 to the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has no responsive documents, because there has been no corporate restructuring.

ARGUMENT:

Documents regarding corporate restructuring or reorganizing will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania indicated in its response that there has been no restructuring but failed to identify whether there has been any reorganizing.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 10

Please produce all documents describing the hierarchical flow chart of positions/personnel from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, no responsive documents.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California. It seems implausible that a multi-million dollar corporation like Watch Tower Pennsylvania will not have documents describing how its personnel interacts with one another.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 11

Please produce all documents reflecting officers and directors from 1970 through the present relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, see Watch Tower PA's response to special interrogatory no. 10.

ARGUMENT:

Documents identifying officers and directors from 1970 to the present may assist in identifying who is responsible for governing the conduct of this statewide, national, and international corporation. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 14

Please produce all documents which indicate a relationship to or with other business or corporate entities relating to your organization/operation.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and vague. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA will supplement this response if Plaintiff's clarify specifically what "other business or corporate entities" this request refers to.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel clarified to defense counsel that this request is an attempt for Plaintiffs to understand the relationship between Watch Tower Pennsylvania and "other business and corporate entities"; more specifically, any person, organization, corporation or entity that is somehow related to the Jehovah's Witnesses organization. Watch Pennsylvania never supplemented its response.

Documents regarding the relationship Watch Tower Pennsylvania has with other business or corporate entities will likely contain evidence regarding Watch Tower Pennsylvania's existence, which are directly relevant to the issue of their contacts with California. This information will shed light on their operations and the existence of a principal-agent relationship between various church bodies, their "religious workers" and their business operations within California.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 20

Please provide documents relating to financing or purchases of building(s) for use by assemblies and/or congregations in California, including but not limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA has provided funds to 197 congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California.

ARGUMENT:

These requested documents relate to Watch Tower Pennsylvania's business contacts with California. They are directly relevant to "minimum" contacts inquiry this Court will be asked to make as a result of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's Motion to Quash for lack of Personal Jurisdiction. Watch Tower Pennsylvania indicated in their response that they have provided funds to 197 Jehovah's Witnesses' congregations to build Kingdom Halls in California, but failed to provide any document referencing these loans. These documents should be produced.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 21

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to organizational financial statements from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential financial information in the form of financial statements for purposes of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request. Further, Watch

Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 22

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that indicate or reflect the origin of monies received by you.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO.23

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that describe how monies from California congregations are received by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and violates privacy interests and privacy rights. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California, which contributions are received by cash, checks and electronic transfers.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 24

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to treasurer summaries and reports from 1970 to the present

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, vague, and unduly burdensome, and seeks private and confidential documents for purpose of harassment. In addition, this request violates privacy interests and privacy rights of the persons who make donations to Watch Tower PA. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request. Further, Watch Tower PA responds that it receives contributions from approximately 1,997 congregations in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 25

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to tax returns and other government filings or reportings from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request violates privacy interests and privacy rights. This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and is intended to harass Defendant.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will reflect monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 26

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to documents that memorialize wire transfers or deposits from congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 27

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to deposit summaries from individuals and/or congregations in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to respond to this request.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 28

Produce all documentation that relates to monies you have received from California including but not limited to bank statements reflecting amounts received from California by you from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, violates privacy interests and privacy rights, and is intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that contributions, and/or donations it receives are not segregated by state of origin, and it would therefore be unduly burdensome to attempt to respond to this request.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents regarding monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. 29:

Produce all corporate and/or governmental filings (state or federal) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request seeks documents and information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This request is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and intended to harass Defendant. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that there are none in California.

ARGUMENT:

The requested documents will likely reflect monies received by Watch Tower Pennsylvania from 1,997 California congregations is directly relevant to Watch Pennsylvania's "contact" with California. And while they indicated that they receive monies from 1,997 California congregations, they failed to provide any documents responsive to this request. They claim such information is somehow protected by privacy laws, but provide no legal reason for this alleged privacy. The requested information is hardly intended to harass this corporation. Rather, it is sought to establish their general and specific contacts with California to refute the motion to quash that they filed.

EXHIBIT 1

BYLAWS
OF
WATCH TOWER BIBLE AND TRACT SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA

ARTICLE I–MEMBERS

1.1 There shall be one class of members, and it shall consist of not more than 500 and not less than 300 members.

1.2 Members shall be only dedicated and baptized Jehovah's Witnesses who are serving or have served as elders and devoting (1) their full-time efforts to performance of one or more of the corporation's chartered purposes under its direction and by its authority or (2) their part-time efforts as active ministers of congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any new member nominated and approved must be an elder.

1.3 Members of the corporation shall be those persons who have been nominated by a director or officer and who receive approval of the Governing Body of Jehovah's Witnesses.

1.4 The secretary shall issue a certificate of membership to each member of the corporation. Said certificate of membership shall be countersigned by at least one other officer of the corporation. The fact that the corporation is a nonprofit corporation shall be noted conspicuously on the face of each certificate.

1.5 All members shall be of the same class. Each member shall be entitled to one vote, in person or by proxy, at meetings of members of the corporation.

1.6 Membership shall not be transferable and shall automatically terminate on the date of a member's: death; voluntary resignation, removal under section 1.7; or disassociation from or disfellowshipping as one of Jehovah's Witnesses. If a member is deleted as an elder of Jehovah's Witnesses, his membership may be terminated at the sole discretion of the board of directors. If any member desires to resign, he shall do so by giving notice in writing to the president or secretary of the corporation to that effect.

1.7 Any member of the corporation may be removed from membership in the corporation for cause by a majority vote of the directors at an annual meeting of the directors or at a special meeting of the directors called for that purpose. Cause for removal shall include but not be limited to willful violations of the corporation's charter, bylaws, or reasonable rules adopted for its operations; willful conduct prejudicial to the interests of the corporation; and failure to meet and maintain the initial qualifications for membership in the corporation.

ARTICLE II–MEETINGS OF MEMBERS

2.1 An annual meeting of the members of the corporation will be held on the first Saturday or on a subsequent Saturday in October. Meetings of the members of the corporation may be held anywhere in the world. The Board of Directors shall fix the time and place of annual meetings.

2.2 Special meetings of the members may be called at any time by the Board of Directors and may be held anywhere in the world. Special meetings may also be called if at least fifty percent (50%) of the members so request. The Board of Directors shall direct the reasonable time and place of any special meeting.

2.3 Notice of annual or special meetings shall be given in writing at least ninety (90) days before the meeting and shall state the place, date, and hour of the meeting. In the case of special meetings, the notice shall be given in writing at least fifteen (15) days before the special meeting, state that it is being held by or at the request of the persons calling the meeting, and state the purpose for which the special meeting is called.

2.4 Notice of a meeting need not be given to any member who, in person or by proxy, submits a signed waiver of notice either before or after the meeting. The attendance, in person or by proxy, of any member at a meeting without protesting at or before its commencement the lack of notice of such meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice by him.

2.5 A majority of the members present either in person or by proxy shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of members. Voting shall be by written ballot. The affirmative vote on any matter of a majority of the members present, either in person or by proxy, at a meeting at which a quorum has been declared shall constitute the act of the members.

2.6 Every member entitled to vote at a meeting of members or to express consent or dissent without a meeting may authorize another member of the corporation to act for him by proxy. Every proxy must be in writing, signed by the member giving it, and filed with the secretary of the corporation.

2.7 Whenever members are required or permitted to take any action by vote, such action may be taken without a meeting on written consent that sets forth the action so taken and is signed by all of the members entitled to vote thereon.

ARTICLE III–DIRECTORS

3.1 The number of directors of the corporation shall be seven (7). Except as otherwise provided in section 3.2, each director shall be elected for a term of three years. Directors in office at the time that these bylaws are adopted shall continue to serve their existing terms. A director may be reelected for any number of consecutive terms.

3.2 Directors shall be elected by a majority of the votes cast at the annual meeting of members. A director must be a member of the corporation. If a director is terminated as a member, then he shall automatically be removed as a director without any further action by the members. Any director may be removed for any or no reason by the affirmative vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the members present, in person or by proxy, at an annual meeting or a special meeting called for that purpose.

3.3 A vacancy in the Board of Directors, arising from any cause, shall be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members of the Board of Directors, who shall meet for that purpose within thirty (30) days after the vacancy occurs. In the event that the directors fail to fill such vacancy, then the president or, if the office of the president be vacant, the vice-president performing the duties of the president, shall fill such vacancy by appointment. The person so elected or appointed shall hold office until the next annual meeting of members.

ARTICLE IV–MEETINGS OF DIRECTORS

4.1 The annual meeting of the Board of Directors shall be held each year in October at any place in the world designated by the Board of Directors. It shall be held after the annual meeting of members. A majority of the directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The acts of a majority of the directors present at the annual meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the acts of the Board of Directors.

4.2 Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be called at any time by the president, and vice-president, or secretary or by a majority of the directors. Special meetings may be held anywhere in the world. Oral notice of at least twelve (12) hours shall be sufficient for any special meeting to be held at any of the corporation's properties in Brooklyn, New York. Written notice given at least five (5) days in advance shall be required for any special meeting to be held outside Brooklyn, New York. Notice of a meeting need not be given to any director who submits a signed waiver of notice, either before or after the meeting. The attendance of a director at a meeting without protesting at or before its commencement the lack of notice of such meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice. The notice of meeting or a waiver of notice need not specify the purpose of any special meeting of the directors. The acts of a majority of the directors present at the annual meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the acts of the Board of Directors.

4.3 Any director may participate in a meeting of the directors by means of a conference telephone or similar equipment that allows those participating in the meeting to hear one another at the same time. Participation by such means constitutes presence in person at such meeting.

4.4 Any action required or permitted to be taken by the directors may be taken without a meeting if all directors sign a consent in writing setting forth the action so taken and file the same with the secretary of the corporation.

ARTICLE V–OFFICERS

5.1 Officers of the corporation shall be chosen from among members of the Board of Directors. Officers shall be a president (who shall preside at the meetings of the Board of Directors), one or more vice presidents (any one of whom shall preside in the absence of the president), a secretary and a treasurer. The corporation may have such other officers and assistant officers as the Board of Directors shall authorize from time to time. At the option of the Board of Directors, the secretary may also hold the office of treasurer. Except for the offices of president and secretary, any two offices may be held by the same person.

5.2 The Board of Directors shall elect the president, vice presidents, the secretary and treasurer at the first meeting of directors, following the annual meeting of the members. Officers shall hold office for a term of one year, unless removed sooner by the Board of Directors.

5.3 Whenever a vacancy occurs in any office, within thirty (30) days after such vacancy occurs, the Board of Directors shall elect a successor from among the directors or other members of the corporation to fill the unexpired term.

ARTICLE VI–SEAL

6.1 The Board of Directors may authorize the use of a corporate seal, but a corporate seal shall not be required to validate acts of the corporation.

ARTICLE VII–MISCELLANEOUS

7.1 No officer or director of the corporation shall receive a salary.

7.2 Deeds and other instruments of conveyance, instruments to satisfy or release the lien of mortgages and deeds of trust or other security instruments, upon due authorization of the Board of Directors, shall be executed in behalf of the corporation by the president or any vice president and countersigned by the secretary, the treasurer, any assistant secretary, or any assistant treasurer.

CASE NO: 26-22191

Judicial Council Coordination Proceeding No. 4374

SEPARATE STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO COMPEL WATCHTOWER PENNSYLVANIA'S RESPONSES TO SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

Date: 4/8/05
Time: 9:30 AM
Dept. B

Complaint Filed:
Trial Date: None

SPECIAL INTERROGATORIES, SET ONE

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe your function/purpose within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous. The phrase "within the Watchtower Society/Jehovah's Witnesses organization" is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory is overly broad in time and geographic scope. This interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence with respect to the limited issue of whether Defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Defendant's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to, and without waiving those objections, Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania (Watch Tower PA") responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a legal non-profit corporation that in the past has communicated with Governing Body's spiritual supervision to Branch Committees of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world. Watch Tower PA no longer does so. Watch Tower PA never communicated the Governing Body's spiritual counsel to the U.S. Branch Committee which went into operation in about April 2002. Watch Tower PA is the copyright holder for publications of Jehovah's Witnesses, holds funds donated for the world wide work of Jehovah's Witnesses and to the Kingdom Hall Building Fund, operates the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement, and provides funds to branches and congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world who may be in need of such funds.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent (1) they are the holder of the copyright for Jehovah's Witnesses' publications (which are disseminated throughout California), (2) they communicated the Governing Body's counsel to the Branch Committees throughout the world (which include California) over an extended period of time, (3) they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, (4) they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

With respect to Defendant Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, Inc., please describe all of the changes to your function/purpose since 1970.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant refers Plaintiffs to the answer to No. 1 above.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, (5) they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and (6) they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, why and when such changes were made.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

A more detailed response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 4:

If your answer to Interrogatory No. 2 is in the affirmative, please state who made the changes.

RESPONSE:

Watch Tower PA here incorporates its objections to No. 1 above. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Defendant responds: Not applicable.

ARGUMENT:

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses - Napa Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v.

Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

Other discovery uncovered by Plaintiff's counsel reveals there is a "financial" relationship between the congregations in Napa and Watch Tower Pennsylvania, as discussed in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at page23.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with its own Napa based congregations.

INTERROGATORY NO. 14:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Jehovah's Witnesses - Oak Knoll Congregation (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

INTERROGATORY NO. 15:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc. (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship, because Watchtower NY is a separate legal entity that is neither a parent corporation nor subsidiary of Watch Tower PA.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry out the essential purposes of this organization. Surprisingly, Defendant Watch Tower New York and Watch Tower Pennsylvania are located in the same building in the State of New York, but Watch Tower Pennsylvania filed a motion to quash for lack of personal jurisdiction, while Watch Tower New York did not. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California.

INTERROGATORY NO. 16:

Describe the relationship between you and Defendant Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California.

INTERROGATORY NO. 17:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Service Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Service Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Service Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

INTERROGATORY NO. 18:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Legal Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Legal Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Legal Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

INTERROGATORY NO. 19:

Describe the relationship between you and Watchtower Writing Department (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA holds the copyright to writings published by the Writing Department of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Writing Department is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Writing Department is essential to understanding their contacts with California.

INTERROGATORY NO. 20:

Describe the relationship between you and Office of Public Information (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA is a client.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Office of Public Information is a branch of a Jehovah's

Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. A description of this defendant's relation to the Office of Public Information is essential to understanding their contacts with California. Their response that "Watch Tower PA is a client" is rather vague and further clarification should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 21:

Describe the relationship between you and Public Affairs Office (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: The Public Affairs Office is now known as the Office of Public Information. See also response to No. 20 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

The Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is comprised of multiple corporations that carry the essential purposes of this organization. How these corporations operate in relation to one another will help address their contacts with California. Based on information and belief, the Office of Public Information is a branch of a Jehovah's Witnesses' organization that help carry out its purposes. INTERROGATORY NO. 22:

Describe the relationship between you and Governing Body (including corporate, organizational and theocratic).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: No legal relationship.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with Governing Body and how the Governing Body uses Watch Tower Pennsylvania, generally and specifically (in California), in light of the deposition testimony of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that monies are held with Watch Tower Pennsylvania for loans, funding and insurance of California congregations.

INTERROGATORY NO. 23:

Please describe the relationship between the Board of Directors for Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Until October 1971, Watch Tower PA's board of directors consisted exclusively of individuals who later became members of the Governing Body. Since about October 2000, no Governing Body member is or has been on the Watch Tower PA board of directors.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." Watch Tower Pennsylvania's response seems to indicates that the members of the Board of the Directors and Governing Body are somehow one in the same. If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 24:

Please describe the relationship between the officers of Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania and the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: See response to No. 23 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." If so, it appears the Board of Directors is also responsible for directing "congregational activities" as references in the affidavit of Don Adams. A further response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 25:

Please describe every way that the Governing Body used the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania to help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, including but not limited to the State of California, from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). This interrogatory is overly broad, vague and ambiguous as to what is specifically meant by the phrase "help carry out the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses." Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Up until about 2001, Watch Tower PA was occasionally "used" to communicate with congregations in California by mail. Watch Tower PA has held, and still holds, copyrights to literature published by Jehovah's Witnesses and used by many publishers in California. See also response to No. 1 above.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

INTERROGATORY NO. 26:

Please describe how Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania has operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "used." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: Watch Tower PA has not operated as the Service Committee of the Governing Body.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall financing from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it has provided money to congregations upon request so that the congregations could build Kingdom Halls.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. The relevance of Watch Tower Pennsylvania's function and/or purpose within the context of the entire Jehovah's Witness organization is discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 9-12.

The inadequate response they provided fails to explain how and to what extent they hold funds from congregations in California and worldwide, they operate the Kingdom Hall Building Fund for congregations in California, they operate the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement for California congregations, and they provide funds to branches and congregations throughout the world, including California.

A more detailed response should be provided.

INTERROGATORY NO. 29:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangements (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that is has received annual contributions from congregations to fund the KHAA since about 1989 and has managed the funds in KHAA.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

This request covers the period of time that this corporation engaged in nefarious conduct as alleged in Plaintiff's Amended Complaint. INTERROGATORY NO. 30:

Please describe any and all involvement you have had with risk management for California congregations and their respective Kingdom Halls from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds as follows: None.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

INTERROGATORY NO. 31:

Please describe your involvement with the purchase and/or financing of Kingdom Halls, generally, and the specific Kingdom Halls used by Defendant Napa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses and Defendant Oak Knoll Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "involvement." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that it provides money to congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses upon request in order to financially assist the congregations with building Kingdom Halls of Jehovah's Witnesses. Watch Tower PA was not involved in the purchase or building of the Kingdom Hall used by Defendants Napa and Oak Knoll Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses and did not provide any monies to those two congregations for that purpose.

ARGUMENT:

The Serbian objection asserted by Watch Tower Pennsylvania is without merit, as discussed in extensive detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-9.

Other discovery uncovered by Plaintiff's counsel reveals there is a "financial" relationship between the congregations in Napa and Watch Tower Pennsylvania, as discussed in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at page23.

At page 15 of the concurrently filed Motion to Compel, excerpts of an affidavit by Don Adams, Watch Tower Pennsylvania's current President, discusses in limited fashion that Watch Tower Pennsylvania is used by the Jehovah's Witnesses' Governing Body to direct "congregational activities." This should be explained. Watch Tower Pennsylvania should be ordered to respond to this request in sufficient detail to understand its relationship with its own Napa based congregations.

INTERROGATORY NO. 32:

Please describe the existence and operation of the Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "describe the existence" of KHAA. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the KHAA was established in about 1989 to consolidate the insurance needs of congregations Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the United States. Each congregation may contribute to the fund. In turn, those monies are used to purchase a CGL insurance policy for all congregations and to cover certain claims for which there is no insurance.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

INTERROGATORY NO. 33:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide all of the functions of the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous. This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that the Risk Management Office of Watch Tower PA does not operate within the United States, except with respect to KHAA.

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. INTERROGATORY NO. 34:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please provide who at the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania oversaw/oversees the Risk Management Office from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by "organizational relationship" and by "theocratic relationship." This interrogatory seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976). This interrogatory seeks information irrelevant to and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period").

ARGUMENT:

As discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 26-32, Watch Tower Pennsylvania collects monies from 1,997 California Congregations for a variety of reasons, including to purchase comprehensive general liability and umbrella insurance policies. Deposition testimony was proffered by Watch Tower Pennsylvania's person most knowledgeable that these policies provide coverage for California Kingdom Halls, California Assembly Halls, California Elders, California Circuit Overseers, and California Distract Overseers. These policies were purchased in part with monies received from approximately 2,000 California Congregations. Watch Tower Pennsylvania also self-insures itself and California entities for claims arising on property owned by Watch Tower Pennsylvania and arising from misconduct of their agents.

Watch Tower Pennsylvania failed to provide any meaningful response to assess this corporation's intent to provide coverage for, and actually cover, claims arising within this State.

INTERROGATORY NO. 35:

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe how the Society's Risk Management Office administers the KHAA Fund 1970 to the present.

With respect to the Risk Management Office of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania, please describe from 1970 to the present how the Risk Management Office purchases commercial excess insurance to protect congregations from catastrophic loss.

Objection. This interrogatory is vague and ambiguous with respect to what is specifically meant by the word "input." This interrogatory seeks information concerning

See Court's Order on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower Pennsylvania's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Subject to and without waiving those objections, Watch Tower PA responds that Watch Tower PA informs congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States once each year of the need to support the KHAA and suggests to them a dollar amount per publisher in each congregation that they may wish to contribute toward the fund.

Trial Date: None

FOURTH AMENDED NOTICE OF DEPOSITION OF PERSON MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE - INQUIRIES

INQUIRY NO. 1:

Organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the tine of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr. 2d 888. In this case, the years of alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Also, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected from discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony relevant to the secular organizational structure of the Watch Tower PA corporation for the time periods of 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Rainmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Rainmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Rainmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the conconcurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's organizational structure.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the organizational and corporate structure of this "out-of-state" corporation since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

INQUIRY NO. 2:

The make up and function of the Governing Body from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This request is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). Also, because the Governing Body is involved with spiritual and ecclesiastical matters related to the Jehovah's Witnesses religion, this line of questioning seeks information concerning religious doctrine and teachings and the internal ecclesiastical government of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is outside the scope of proper inquiry in civil courts and protected fro discovery by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and its California analog. See, e.g., Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich, 426 U.S. 696 (1976).

INQUIRY NO. 3:

Relationship between Watch Tower PA and the other Watchtower Society entities from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to the Governing Body, Watchtower New York, Branch Committees, Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, California District, California Circuits and California Congregations).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. INQUIRY NO. 4:

The Kingdom Hall Assistance Arrangement (KHAA) and its operation from 1970 to the present (including but not limited to amounts collected and amounts paid by the KHAA).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). In analyzing general jurisdiction, the relevant time period is the defendant's contacts when the alleged conduct occurred and at the time of service of summons. DVI, Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal.App.4th 1080, 128 Cal.Rptr.2d 683; see also Boaz v Boyle & Co., (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 700, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 888. In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Further, furnishing details as to amounts collected and paid by the KHAA is unduly burdensome, an invasion of privacy, harassment, and is not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to KHAA and its operation with respect to California in 2003. The KHAA did not come into existence until 1989.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Rainmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Rainmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Rainmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the conconcurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's KHAA.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the KHAA since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

Watch Tower PA asserted a further objection to this area of inquiry premised on the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and its California analog in reliance on Serbian Eastern Orthodox Diocese v. Milivojevich (1976) 426 U.S. 696. This objection is without merit as discussed in great detail in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 3-8.

It appears the KHAA acts as a conduit for receiving monies from California and then purchasing insurance or acting as a self-insured retention fund to cover claims that occur in California. Accordingly, inquiry into the KHAA is proper to address the Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

INQUIRY NO. 5:

The Risk Management Office and its operation from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. This line of questioning is not limited to Watch Tower PA, in that this request seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony as to the scope of Risk Management's operations through Watch Tower PA in California, if any, from 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Rainmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Rainmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Rainmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the conconcurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's Risk Management Office.

Watch Tower PA should be compelled to provide a person most knowledgeable, preferably Don Adams, the President of Watch Tower PA, to testify regarding the Risk Management Office since 1970 to the present in order to assess Watch Tower PA's contacts with the foreign state. Plaintiffs' alleged in their complaint that the sexual abuse perpetrated by an elder in the Watch Tower organization and the cover up by the Watch Tower entity Defendants occurred back in the 1970s. Accordingly, the time span and geographical scope are appropriate.

INQUIRY NO. 6:

Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to the present.

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence on the limited issue of whether Watch Tower PA is subject to personal jurisdiction in California. See Court's Order dated December 2, 2003, on Watch Tower PA's motion to quash service of summons and complaint ("Plaintiff shall be permitted to conduct limited discovery concerning Watch Tower PA's contacts in California during the relevant time period"). The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing in California from 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Rainmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Rainmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Rainmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the conconcurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's organizational structure.

It appears that Watch Tower PA provides mortgages for the loans and financing of Kingdom Halls within the Watchtower organization. Approximately nine areas of inquiry referenced in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 24-26 were addressed at the deposition of Mr. Rainmueller. Mr. Rainmueller and Watch Tower PA's counsel failed to provide appropriate documentation and meaningful testimony to adequately respond to the nine areas of deposition injuries sought to be compelled. These areas of inquiry will shed further light on Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

INQUIRY NO. 7:

Financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California for use by Jehovah's Witnesses (assemblies or congregation functions) from 1970 to the present (this category to include but not be limited to Kingdom Halls and Assembly Buildings).

RESPONSE:

Objection. This request is overly broad as to time and geographic scope. Further, this line of questioning seeks information not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of

In this case, the years of the alleged abuse were 1972 to 1985, and the summons and complaint were filed and served in 2003. The scope of proper inquiry should therefore be limited to 1972 to 1985 and 2003.

Subject to and without waiving those objections, the designated representative of Watch Tower PA will provide testimony concerning Watch Tower PA with respect to Kingdom Hall financing, leasing and/or ownership of property/real estate in California from 1970 to 2003.

ARGUMENT:

Plaintiff's counsel attempted to obtain information about Watch Tower PA's structure and its inter-relationship with the Governing Body and other Watch Tower defendants through examination of Alexander Rainmueller, Watch Tower PA's designated person most knowledgeable. Defense counsel refused to permit Mr. Rainmueller from testifying regarding reporting relationships within the Jehovah's Witnesses' organization as to their ecclesiastical structure prohibiting full inquiry at the deposition regarding the organizational and corporate structure of Watch Tower PA from 1970 to the present. Mr. Rainmueller testified in his deposition at page 49, lines 2-24, attached as Exhibit H to the conconcurrently filed Motion to Compel that he was not the person with the most knowledge about the Watch Tower Society's organizational structure.

It appears that Watch Tower PA provides mortgages for the loans and financing of Kingdom Halls within the Watchtower organization. Approximately nine areas of inquiry referenced in the concurrently filed Motion to Compel at pages 24-26 were addressed at the deposition of Mr. Rainmueller. Mr. Rainmueller and Watch Tower PA's counsel failed to provide appropriate documentation and meaningful testimony to adequately respond to the nine areas of deposition injuries sought to be compelled. These areas of inquiry will shed further light on Watch Tower PA's minimum contacts with the State of California.

Related Case: Tabitha H, vs. Watchtower Bible Tract Society of New York, LLC, et al
Case NO: 26-23929

This matter comes on at this date for case management conference.

The Court is informed of the following:

- That Defendant Timothy Silva filed a bankruptcy proceeding and therefore the case is dismissed.
- Out of the eight Sonoma cases, six have been dismissed and dismissal will be filed next week. Plaintiffs' counsel have no communication with the Defendants in the two remaining cases and will therefore proceed with a motion to withdraw.
- With the above stated dismissal of the other cases, that leaves to seven lawsuits and eleven plaintiffs left in these coordinated actions.

The Court makes the following rulings:

- As to Track I cases, response to written discovery is extended until March 4, 2005.
- As to Non-Track cases, response to written discovery is extended until June 3, 2005.
- Tehama County case (Wimberly et al vs. Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, Inc., et al) is approved as Track I case.
- With regards to out-of-county cases, all filings must be done in the home county. The original documents will stay in the home county and copies will be sent to Napa Court.
- Motions and discovery are stayed for Non-track cases unless otherwise specified.
- Setting of trial is deferred to April 29, 2005.

The Court further orders that this matter shall be continued to April 29, 2005 at 9:30 am in Courtroom B for continued case management conference. TE: 1 hour. Parties in Non-Track cases are not required to be present at this hearing.

Ex parte application to extend page limit for memorandum of points an authorities in support of Plaintiffs' motion to compel Watchtower Pennsylvania's responses to form interrogatories, special interrogatories, request for production and PMK deposition responses is granted.

Motion to compel and any other motions are approved to be calendared on April 8, 2005 at 9:30 am in Courtroom B. TE: ½ days.

The following is the briefing schedule:

Replies to all motions are due by March 30, 2005
Responses are due by March 11, 2005

The Court executes the order in the form submitted.

The order is sent to Civil Division for filing.

APPLICATION

Pursuant to California Rules of Court, Rule 313(d) Plaintiffs apply to the Court ex parte for an Order extending the page limit for their Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of their Motion to Compel Watchtower Pennsylvania's Responses to Form Interrogatories, Special Interrogatories, Requests for Production and PMK Deposition Responses. Counsel for Plaintiffs advised Defendants' counsel in writing that this ex parte request will be made to this Court. Counsel for Plaintiffs requests permission to file a Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of their Motion to Compel of up to approximately 36 pages.

This application will be based upon the contents of this application, the Memorandum of Points and Authorities filed herewith, the declaration of William L. Brelsford, and other papers filed in the above-entitled action. Pursuant to the practice of this Court, no hearing has been set for this ex parte application. Should the Court subsequently schedule a hearing on this application, Plaintiffs will provide opposing counsel with the earliest possible notice of such hearing.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT OF EX PARTE APPLICATION TO EXTEND PAGE LIMIT

Date: February 4, 2005
Time: 3:00 p.m.
Dept: B

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs, Charissa W. and Nicole D., identified in the concurrently filed ex parte application hereby request permission pursuant to California Rules of Court, Rule 313(d) to file a Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiff's Motion to Compel Watchtower Pennsylvania's Responses to Form Interrogatories, Special Interrogatories, Request for Production and PMK Deposition Responses of up to approximately 36 pages in length. Written notice of this application was made to Defendants' counsel on February 1, 2005.

II. REASONS NECESSITATING PAGE LIMIT

"A party may apply to the court ex parte but with written notice of the application to the other parties, at least 24 hours before the memorandum is due, for permission to file a longer memorandum. The application shall state the reasons why the argument cannot be made within the state limit." California Rules of Court, Rule 313(d).

Plaintiffs require up to approximately 36 pages to adequately address all of the necessary elements and legal authorities related to their Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of their Motion to Compel. The Memorandum of Points and Authorities involves, among other things, complex constitutional law issues involving jurisdictional issues of a "religious" entity. Specifically, Defendants' contend certain corporate entities under their control are not subject to the jurisdiction of the State. An extension to the page limit is needed to adequately explain why Watch Tower Pennsylvania should respond to voluminous discovery requests regarding their general and specific contacts with the State of California. Further Watch Tower Pennsylvania asserted objections to approximately 49 separate discovery requests claiming that the First Amendment precludes Plaintiffs from obtaining responses to their discovery.

Additionally, if Plaintiffs are not granted the extension to adequately explain why Watch Tower Pennsylvania is required to provide the pertinent discovery responses, Plaintiffs risk losing the ability to hold culpable Watch Tower Pennsylvania liable for their tortuous behavior that injured Plaintiffs.

III. CONCLUSION

For each of the forgoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request they be permitted to file a Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of their Motion to Compel up to approximately 36 pages in length.

BRELSFORD OF EX PARTE APPLICATION TO EXTEND PAGE LIMIT Date: February 4, 2005 Time: 3:00 p.m. Dept: B

I, William L. Brelsford, declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney at law duly licensed to practice before all the courts of the State of California and can testify competently to all the matters set forth in this declaration.

2. On February 1, 2005, I sent a written notice to defendants' counsel, Robert Schnack, that Plaintiffs would file with the Court this ex parte application for an order to extend page limits pursuant to California Rules of Court, Rule 313 (d).

3. Attached as Exhibit A is a true and correct copy of my February 1, 2005, letter to defendants' counsel.

4. I have personally reviewed and evaluated the Motion to Compel.

5. Plaintiff's Motion to Compel raises complex jurisdictional and First Amendment issues as discussed in the concurrently filed memorandum of points and authorities in support of the ex parte application and requires a lengthy discussion regarding why Watch Tower Pennsylvania should provide meaningful responses to extensive discovery requests.

6. Plaintiffs reasonably require up to approximately 36 pages in order to adequately address and discuss the applicable legal authorities raised in Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States and of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

Dear Mr. Schnack:

This is to inform you that we are filing an Ex Parte Application to Extend the Page Limit for Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel Watchtower Pennsylvania's Responses to Form Interrogatories, Special Interrogatories, Request for Production and PMK Deposition Responses. We believe that because of the complexity of the case law involved in this matter, our briefing will consist of approximately 36 pages for our Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

Please call our offices immediately if you have any objections to this Ex Parte Application. We will be serving this Ex Parte Application to you tomorrow morning via facsimile.

On another note, could you please have your assistant e-mail to my assistant at sgilbert@nsb-law.com all of Watchtower Pennsylvania's responses to the Special Interrogatories and Request for Production.

Thank you for your courtesies in this matter. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact this office.

Re: Charissa W., et al. v. Watchtower, et al. and all coordinated cases

Dear Mr. Schnack:

This is to inform you that we are filing an Ex Parte Application to Extend the Page Limit for Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion to Compel Watchtower Pennsylvania's Responses to Form Interrogatories, Special Interrogatories, Request for Production and PMK Deposition Responses. We believe that because of the complexity of the case law involved in this matter, our briefing will consist of approximately 36 pages for our Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

Please call our offices immediately if you have any objections to this Ex Parte Application. We will be serving this Ex Parte Application to you tomorrow morning via facsimile.

On another note, could you please have your assistant e-mail to my assistant at sgilbert@nsb-law.com all of Watchtower Pennsylvania's responses to the Special Interrogatories and Request for Production.
