

An Event You Should Not Miss

"Keep doing this in remembrance of me." Those words of our Lord Jesus Christ, found at Luke 22:19, were spoken at the time he instituted the memorial of his death. It is Jesus' death that opened to humankind the prospect of attaining everlasting life in Paradise conditions. So his death is something we must remember.

Will you observe the memorial of it this year?

Please accept this invitation from Jehovah's Witnesses to join them in memorializing this important event. This observance will be after sundown on the date that corresponds with Nisan 14 on the Bible's lunar calendar. Mark down the date on your calendar so that you do not forget. It is Saturday, March 30, 1991. The one giving you this invitation can tell you the exact meeting place and time.

You Are Cordially Invited

The death of the man Jesus Christ over 1,900 years ago was a most important event in human history. It opened to all of us the prospect of attaining everlasting life in Paradise conditions. During a simple ceremony Jesus used wine and unleavened bread as symbols of his loving human sacrifice. Then he told his disciples: "Keep doing this in remembrance of me." (Luke 22:19) Will you remember?

Jehovah's Witnesses warmly invite you to join them in observing this Memorial celebration. It will be after sundown on the date that corresponds with Nisan 14 on the Bible's lunar calendar. You can attend at the Kingdom Hall nearest to your home. Check with Jehovah's Witnesses locally for the exact time and place. The date for the celebration in 1992 will be Friday, April 17.

An Event You Should Not Miss

God's greatest expression of love was sending his only-begotten Son to earth to suffer and give his life as a ransom. (John 3:16) As mankind's Redeemer, Jesus Christ will make possible everlasting life on a paradise earth. He commanded his followers to memorialize his death, as we read at Luke 22:19.

Jehovah's Witnesses invite you to share with them in heeding Jesus' command. This annual occasion will be after sundown on Saturday, March 26, 1994, the date corresponding to Nisan 14 on the Bible's lunar calendar. Carefully note this date. The one giving you this invitation can tell you the exact meeting place and time.
