endeavoring to find ways of reducing the cost of construction. Some of the shipbuilders, the message continues, are meeting this situation "in a commendable way" and are in Washington in consultation endeavoring to find further means of reducing construction.

The steel company's reply, signed by E. G. Grace, president, reads in part:

"It is our disposition always to do our part, and to meet you in this direct appeal we will be willing to make a reduction of 10 per cent in the prices already quoted. This to apply alike for one, two, three or four ships.

"We estimate if other interests meet you in the same spirit that you can effect the desired saving. We trust the Navy department will recognize the position we are taking in this instance and reflect same in future relations."

The cost of material necessary to build a $16,500,000 cruiser is about $10,000,000, it was asserted, but all this material would not be supplied by the Bethlehem, if it received the contracts.

WAR'S RESULT TO BE TOPIC AT SESSION

That the present order of things is coming to an end with the termination of the world-war is the belief of Judge J. F. Rutherford, who arrived in Oakland last night to attend the convention of the International Bible Students' Association, of which he is president.

Judge Rutherford stated this morning that something better is coming after the war, and what that something is he will explain at his public lecture on "Are We At the End of the World?" to be given at the municipal auditorium tomorrow afternoon. This lecture has aroused a great deal of interest wherever it has been given, and it is expected that several thousand persons will be in attendance.

The present convention is one of a series which started in Boston August 1, and which has moved westward, stopping at Aurora, Illinois, and Tacoma, Washington. Next week the convention and delegates will be in Los Angeles, terminating the present trip. All the delegates travel at their own expense, special trains being provided for the purpose. Several hundreds have attended all the conventions held this year, which are held particularly for the intensive study of the Scriptures.

SUCCEEDS RUSSELL.

Judge Rutherford succeeded Pastor Russell to the presidency of the association, after the founder's death last winter. The judge has been intimately connected wtih the work for the last ten years, having devoted both his time and his money to the propagation of the association's work. No salaries are paid to any members of the association, and no collections are taken up. The work is conducted solely by voluntary contribution.

According to Judge Rutherford, the circulation of the association's publications is greater than that of any other books with the exception of the Bible. Last year more than 50,000,000 copies of one magazine were distributed free.

This afternoon Judge Rutherford addressed the convention on the subject, "The Harvest Truly is Plenteous." The last of the four parts of the mammoth photo-drama, Creation, will be given in the auditorium this evening.

IMMERSION PLANNED.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the baptismal service followed by water immersion will be held at Piedmont Baths. The convention will come to a close at 7 p. m. with the love feast, and the delegates will prepare to leave for Los Angeles.

Judge Rutherford said the Bible Students' Convention was different than many other conventions of like nature in that it took no money out of the town. No collections of any kind have been taken up during the stay of the convention here.

SOUVENIR OF ANCIENT OAK FOR HEESEMAN

Charles J. Heeseman, who retired as a member of the board of park directors July 1, is the proud possessor of the first relic to be shaped from the old oak tree that stood in the city hall plaza until the first of this year, when it came to a natural death and was removed to make way for young "Quercus."

A silver-mounted gavel, suitably engraved, was presented to Heeseman by members of the park board at a banquet held in his honor last night at Hotel Oakland. Those present were President Walter Cole, Dr. S. H. Buteau and Dr. L. F. Herrick, directors of the park board, and Lee S. Kerfoot, superintendent of the playgrounds.

REPORT AT CAMP

REED CAMP HEAD

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—Major Elvin C. Reed was today designated commander of the second officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind. He was a senior instructor in the first camp. Major Reed was chosen after General Glenn had recommended Colonel Gignilliat, because the latter had already been assigned to a post in the national army.

Woman Battles for Existence on 10 Cents a Day

While the high cost of living has been causing consternation among housewives, the discovery has been made that in a squalid basement abode in the midst of more affluent surroundings, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, 67 years old, has been endeavoring to eke out existence on ten cents a day. Neighbors who became acquainted with the situation and notified the police of the Northern station.

Patrolman William Haldeman, who was assigned to the investigation, went to the aged woman's address, 960 Fifty-third street. His report, which will be referred to the Associated Charities, recites that his "survey of the conditions of the place she calls home" brought to light that the aged woman is dependent upon charity and that she "drags out a weary existence amidst the squalor of the basement." He found, he says in an interview, that Mrs. Clark is allowed $6 a month by the charitable organization, with wood and coal. Of the allowance $3 goes for rent, leaving $3 for sustenance.

LEADERS MARKED BY VIGILANTES

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 25.—Warnings similar to the one found on the body of Frank Little, murdered I. W. W. leader, have been sent to R. F. Dunne, leader in the Metal Trades Council strike movement, and Joe Shannon and Tom Campbell, prominent in the Metal Mine Workers' Union.

The labor leaders today appealed to the police for protection.

The warnings, which were sent through the mails to the men at Finlander Hall, union headquarters, were written in the same hand as the warning found on Little's body. They it is believed, for Dunne, Campbell and Shannon.

The warnings bear the vigilante numerals, 3-7-77, which were also found on Little's body. Posted on them is a large hand, with a finger pointing at the word YOU. The hand was cut from Liberty bond advertising posters.

Dunne and several other strike leaders have been made deputy sheriffs and given permission to carry a gun. They have a bodyguard all the time and the places where they sleep are kept a secret. The three men said today they did not fear the warnings and would not lessen their activities.

ENEMY ALIENS CAUSE STRIKE

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Employment of enemy aliens on government work in shipyards at the port of New York is one of the chief grievances the thousands of striking mechanics have against their employers, it was alleged by J. J. McIntee, business agent of the International Association of Machinists. He declared the strike would be long unless the government intervened.

"All that we ask," McIntee said, "is that the government remain neutral in regard to its labor contracts. We do not want to have employed on government jobs men whose loyalty and fealty to the United States is a matter of question.

"If Secretary Daniels wishes to be fair in this matter he will, in the first place, insure that no enemy aliens are employed on the so-called repairs of troopships which the government intends to place in operation in the near future.

"We would like to settle this strike tomorrow, but we cannot do so, so long as the employers continue to be obstinate."

S. P. IS MENACED

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Aug. 25.—Two attempts were made last night, it was learned here, to damage the Southern Pacific tunnel at Wolf Creek, nineteen miles from here. The first attempt was frustrated by guardsmen who fired forty-five shots at a gang of men prowling in the brush near the tunnel. The men returned the fire, but no soldiers were hit. After the fight, which lasted fifteen minutes, the prowlers disappeared in the woods. An hour later four men appeared in an automobile near the tunnel, but when challenged by soldier guards put off at full speed.

SLAYS FAMILY

IDABEL, Okla., Aug. 25.—The bodies of Ward Briton, a farmer of Ringgold, thirty-five miles northwest of here; his wife, infant son and cousin, George Hughes, were found in the Briton home by neighbors. Idabel officers who investigated reported that apparently Briton had killed himself after shooting the other three. It is believed he was temporarily insane.

RANCHER IS HURT

ONTARIO, Aug. 25.—"Devil's dance floor"—so named because of frequent fatal accidents due to the slippery surface of the highway—claimed another victim today in the person of W. A. Moore, well-to-do rancher, who was fatally hurt when a car skidded into his ranch wagon. Moore was knocked from his seat and the automobile passed over his body.

PALO ALTO CAMP ORDER MUST STAND

The War Department will not modify its decision to transfer the Forty-first division national guard troops from Palo Alto to Charlotte, N. C.

Representative Kahn of California sent a telegram to Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco today to that effect after a conference with Major General Scott, chief of staff and other army officials.

However, if a water-borne sewer system can be built at Camp Fremont for $80,000, as California business men say it can be, the army department will not abandon the $400,000 camp, sending to it at some future date, probably by winter time, another division of troops. The Forty-first division, originally destined to train at Fremont, has been ordered to a cantonment at Charlotte, N. C., Secretary Baker refusing to countermand his order, made immediately upon receipt of injunction threats from officials of the California State Board of Health.

Officers at Camp Fremont look for a troop movement about September 1. Records, sent down from the Presidio and to be installed in Major-General Liggett's headquarters, are being packed up again and will be shipped back to San Francisco along with army clerks and an office force. Officers of the medical and hospital corps say that they have received orders which indicate an empty Camp Fremont for some time to come. Men, sent here to man the big base hospital, capable of holding 1500 patients, are getting ready to move again.

DELAY WOULD BE FATAL TO WAR PLANS

John S. Dunnigan, clerk to the board of supervisors, San Francisco, is on his way to Washington to tell the army men that a modern water-borne sewer system may be built for the additional expenditure of $18,000, making it possible to eliminate the latrine system over which western business men, health officials and Washington army officials battled.

Late reports from Washington indicate that Camp Fremont will be in use for troops by the time that cold weather sets in. These troops will, in all probability, be transferred from American Lake, Wash., numstationed there.

Representative Kahn has sent to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, one of the leaders in the telegram battle to save Camp Fremont, a message saying that the War Department would regard it fatal to its plans to have four week's delay entailed in putting a proper sewerage system into Palo Alto camp. It is regarded here that this may indicate the government's wish to have Fremont ready immediately for service and that the long wait for winter and cold weather may not follow. Western estimates place the construction time at two weeks.

That the recreation commission at Camp Fremont will not abandon plans is the statement issued today by James R. Williams, war representative of training camp activities. Williams believes that a large body of soldiers will be at the local cantonment within a short time and is continuing his plans for a large recreation center at the San Francisquito creek park, near the camp. Williams is looking for a permanent office headquarters.

PROMISES MADE TO BOARD; NOTHING DONE

Representative Kahn, Senator Phelan and Aacting Secretary of Interior Alexander Vogelsang, a former San Franciscan, join in bewailing someone's blunder and the consequent danger to Camp Fremont. Dr. George Ebright, head of the State Board of Health, and who has been accused of bringing about the present trouble through his orders against the latrine system, wrote the following letter to Governor Stephens, explaining his side of the controversy:

"The real trouble came further back. Dunnigan, clerk of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco, had been promising the army everything in the way of sewerage systems and water supply systems.

"Captain Fleischhauer informs me that in spite of everything he could do nothing materialized from Dunnigan's promises. Dunnigan represents a committee of business men of San Francisco. Two weeks ago I called his attention to the fact that it was urgently necessary that his committee and San Francisco should do something to get the matter straightened out or the Board of Health would have to enjoin the military authorities if it came to a show down. I was informed by him that he thought the military authorities could take care of themselves and he continued to do nothing but promise anything he saw fit to Captain Fleischhauer. I was finally informed Friday by Colonel Littell that the orders of August 3 prvided for complete sewerage system. I immediately interviewed Captain Fleischhauer, who informed me that orders of August 3 received by him provided for the construction of a sewerage system large enough to take care of everything, but that only the connection should be made for water for baths and kitchens and specifically stated that pit latrines should be continued. I then sent a telegram to Colonel I. W. Littell reading as follows:

"'Instructions August 3 expressly provide for use of latrines at Camp Fremont. Unless orders are received by officer in charge of construction at Camp Fremont within twenty-four hours to dispose of use of latrines and construct acceptable sewer I will order injunction proceedings.'"

BELIEVED COST WOULD REACH $500,000

That Secretary Baker believed the new sewer system would cost $500,000 is indicated in a statement issued by Senator Phelan yesterday. Senator Phelan has been working hard for California's retention of the cantonment. The message from the Senator is in part as follows:

"I found Secretary of War Baker very reasonable in his discussion of the affairs of Camp Fremont.

"The facts are that the quartermaster-general and chief of staff reported to the secretary that the State Board of Health, on August 17, threatened to enjoin the army from the use of Camp Fremont unless a water-borne drainage system was installed, which was estimated to cost $500,000 and which would take from one to two months to construct. The secretary had no criticism whatever to make of the State Board of Health, but said it would be poor economy to spend that amount in completing Camp Fremont when the department had a vacant camp at Charlotte, N. C. By sending the Forty-first division to Charlotte, the department would save a month or more awaiting the completion of Camp Fremont, and in any event the department had no intention of keeping the Forty-first division in California for a longer period than six weeks. So he approved the recommendation of the quartermaster to close the camp just as it was."

Bootlegging Into Oregon by Pullman Employee Charged

Pullman Car Company officials here are investigating charges, made in Oregon, that their train employees have been doing a thriving bootlegging business for some time. According to news from Portland, D. E. Stevens, Pullman car conductor under arrest in the northern city for alleged bootlegging, is said to have confessed. He is alleged to have made the claim that almost every employee of the corporation, working on the trains between Oakland Pier and Portland, is guilty of bootlegging.

According to word from the north, state, city and county officials are preparing to war on what is termed a serious situation. Other arrests, in addition to that of Stevens, lend credibility to the claim made by northern officials that the traffic is wide-spread and its organization extensive.

CLUB TO HOLD FLAG-RAISING

Patriotic exercises will accompany a flag raising ceremony tomorrow afternoon, when members of the Steinway Terrace and Boulevard Park Improvement Club dedicate a new flagpole at Forty-first avenue and Mera street. Prominent men of Oakland and nearby cities have been invited to witness the ceremony.

The program includes opening remarks by W. E. Rowlands, president of the club, who introduces Edwin W. Woodward as chairman of the day. Patriotic pieces by the Fremont High School band will precede a poem, written and read by Fred Emerson Brooks. The Lawrence Brothers Quartet follows, after which the raising of the flag will occur. Mrs. Lucile Hartsook and Miss Gertrude Martin will raise the flag, while the band renders the national anthem.

Professor H. D. Bracefield, principal of Fremont High School, will give a patriotic address, following which Miss Barbara Miller is scheduled to render a vocal solo. Emile Cordinal will give a tenor solo. The audience will close the exercise with a rendition of "America."

OUTING PLANNED

Two hundred Native Daughters of the Golden West from Bahia Vista parlor, Oakland, will hold a family outing at Pinehurst tomorrow, for which all arranguments have been completed by a committee composed of Miss Louise McDougall, chairwoman; Miss Eva Pine and Miss Evelyn Johannsen. Dancing, prize waltzes and other attractions have been arranged for.

PLAN MEMORIAL

Memorial service will be held at the Salvation Army Hall, 533 Ninth street, Oakland, Sunday, August 26, at 8 p.m. for Major Tanner, the late matron of the Army Bulah Home for Girls in Oakland, who died Wednesday, August 22d. The major was a successful officer of the army for over thirty years. She had been stationed at the Oakland home for tht past nine years.

HARBOR WORK FUNDS SHORT, KEITH HOLDS

Despite the probable addition of $45,000 to the harbor funds by release of the cash bond in the appeal of the Merritt waterfront suits, the city will fall short $62,667 in the amount necessary to fulfill its contract obligations on harbor improvements this year, according to W. W. Keith, former harbor manager, who resigned last July.

Including the budget allowance of $4,962 with the probable net cash receipts over the waterfront, the total amount available for necessary work is estimated at $38,295, said by Keith to be wholly inadequate for what will be demanded.

It was this construction of the situation which caused Commissioner Morse to oppose the budget in its adoption by the council. He protested that he was not allowed a sufficient sum to carry on the work of the department.

PART OF BONDS.

The $45,000 put up as bond money in the suits was a remant of bond money voted by the peaple years ago to start harbor development and it can only be used for restricted purposes. The city is under obligation to do dredging work in the Key Route Basin adjacent to the Albers plant, and to maintain certain property. New sheds and repairs are considered necessary at this time in addition to the acquisition of dredging pipe.

The budget allowance this year was based upon an estimated revenue of $96,000 from the waterfront leases and tolls and wharfage.

Keith points out that the figures are misleading for the reason that approximately only one-third of that amount will actually be available. He cites that the other two-thirds must be refunded to companies operating over the leaseholds to reimburse them for improvements made by them and which are chargeable to the city under their contracts.

As an example of the situation confronting the city, Keith recites the following:

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, the total earnings from dockage, tolls, wharfage and rentals amounted to $104,976.89. Of this amount $40,075.95 was paid back to the Sunset Lumber Company, Howard Company and Albers Milling Company on account of construction in accordance with the terms of their leases. $25,219.49 represents charges accrued against numerous shipping concerns for use of shipping facilities of the Southern Pacific Company, the Western Pacific and the E. K. Wood Lumber Company leaving a balance of $39,681.45 as the actual cash receipts or about 26 percent of the total accruals.

REVENUE FIGURES.

"Providing the tonnage passing through the port of Oakland keeps pace with last year, which is doubtful, due to abnormal conditions brought about by the war, the total port revenue would again reach $100,000 in round figures. Apply a more liberal percentage, say 30 percent, or even one-third of the total as actual cash receipts, $33,333 coupled with the budget allowance of $4,962, would make the total allowance for harbor improvement for the fiscal year, $38,295 or $62,667 short of enough to cover the budget provisions.

"Last year there was apportioned out of the tax levy $73,280.90 and a further allowance of $30,000 to be derived from port revenue or a total of $103,280.90."

TREASON CHARGED

LEWISTON, Ida., Aug. 25.—Victor J. McCone, Socialist party secretary of Oregon, is under arrest here today charged with treason. McCone was taken into custody by Captain W. P. Morse, commanding federal troops here, after it had been charged he came here from Portland to cause discord in labor circles and to work against the selective draft law.

New Eruption of Lassen Is a Violent Shock

REDDING, Aug. 25.—A violent eruption of Mount Lassen, California's volcano, which began at 5 o'clock yesterday, was reported today by campers arriving here. The eruption was not visible here because of the pall of forest fire smoke hanging over this vicinity.

The campers, who were eight miles from the crater, heard a rumble and roar and the earth quivered. A column of smoke shot far above the atmospheric cloud which hung over the crater.

NEW POLICE HEAD WILL 'HARMONIZE'

Chief of Police J. H. Nedderman, who will assume the duties of his new position on September 1, plans to put forth his best efforts to harmonize the workings of the department which has been in a state of internal upheaval for many months during the bickerings of the council over the question of who should be chief. With the unanimous endorsement of Sergeant Nedderman to head the department, the council, it appears, is ready to work together to back up the new chief in any policies that may be determined upon.

Whether or not there will be any radical changes in the hitherto policy of the administration as carried out by retiring chief Walter J. Petersen, has not been announced. For his part Chief Nedderman has expressed a desire to bring about such harmonious conditions as will reflect to the highest efficiency and with credit to the city.

"I am ready and willing to assume the responsibilities entrusted to me by the council as head of the police department," said Chief Nedderman. "My appointment came unexpectedly to me although I had consented to become a candidate for appointment following the resignation of Chief Petersen. I did not particularly seek the job but when it was offered I accepted.

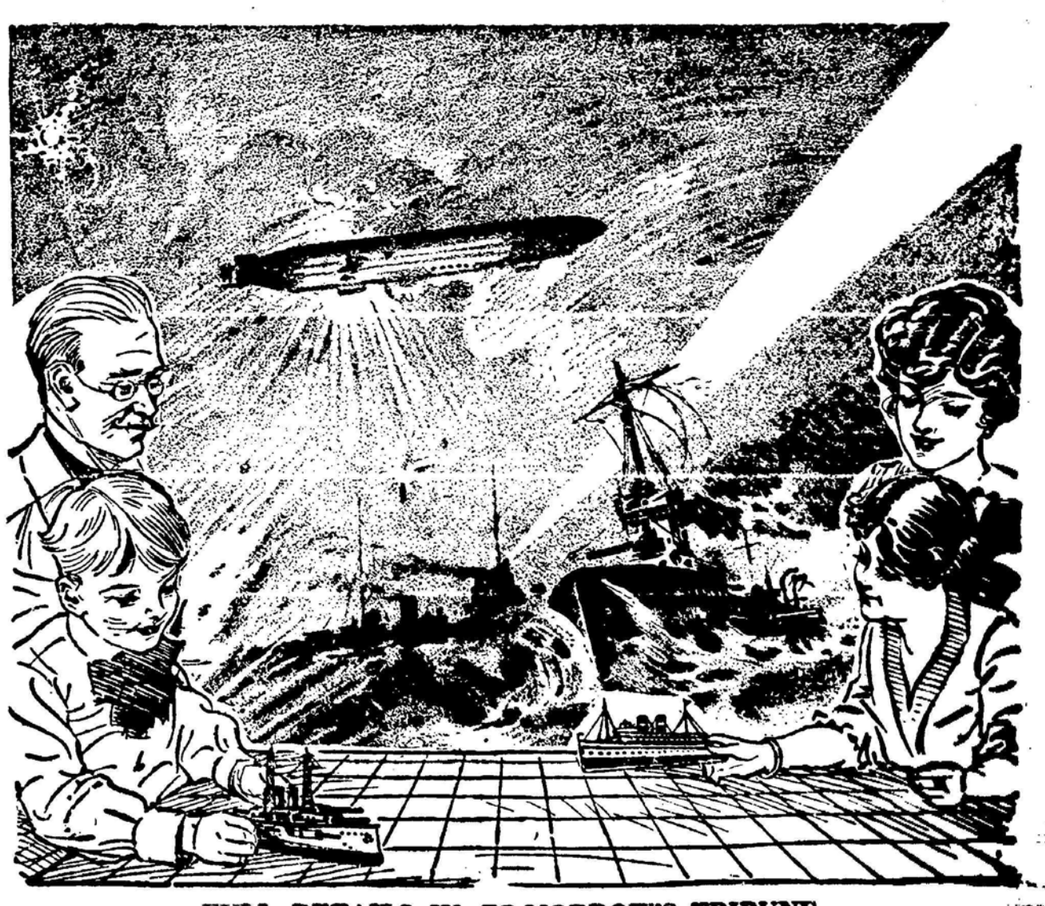

"As to the future policy of the department I am not prepared at this time to make any statement. That will be determined later. However, my first effort will be toward harmonizing the department to the end that we all can work for the best interests of Oakland."

Between now and the first of the month Chief-elect Nedderman will put in his time at the city hall getting in touch with the inner affairs of the office. He will be under the tutelage of Senior Captain J. F. Lynch with whom he has worked for many years and, until recently, at the northside station. Captain Lynch has been acting chief since August 1 when Chief Petersen went to Arcadia in command of Battery E.

Probable transfer of officers and patrolmen may include Captain Charles Bock who is now at the Central station, and changes in the inspection department. Present acting inspectors, four in number, Frank Nolan, John Gannaw, William Smith and Frank Roesick, may be put back on the street and their places in the inspector office filled with other patrolmen if this is considered necessary.

STUDENTS OF BIBLE HOLD "IMMERSION"

The picturesque sight of sixty members in bathing suits undergoing the solemn rite of Water Immersion will be witnessed by several hundred members of the International Bible Students Association at Piedmont Baths this morning. The water immersion, signifying the washing away of sin and the birth into a new life is optional with members of the association, and this morning's baptism will be the largest ever held at one time on the Pacific Coast.

Today is the concluding day of the convention in Oakland, most of the delegates leaving tomorrow to attend the last of the conference in Los Angeles. The main purpose of the convention is that members of the association may come together for purposes of intensive Bible study.

The feature of the convention will be the address this afternoon by Judge J. F. Rutherford on "Are We at the End of the World?" This lecture is free to the public and will be held in the Municipal Auditorium.

LECTURE CRITICIZED.

This address has aroused considerable criticism wherever it has been given, and in Tacoma, where Judge Rutherford spoke last week, the most prominent minister in the town jumped upon the platform and called the judge a liar.

An enterprising newspaper man, who happened to be near the stage, managed to obtain a fine photograph of the minister shaking his fist in the judge's face.

In the belief of Judge Rutherford the present world is to come to an end with the termination of the world war, and the establishment of a new order of things which will be "Christ's Kingdom upon earth." The judge has been accused of being against the government because he asserts that the bond issue will never be paid.

WHAT DIFFERENCE?

"But what difference will that make in a world where money has no significance?" the judge exclaimed. "If a new order of things is to come within a few years it will make no difference whether they are paid or not."

Judge Rutherford has spoken in every city of consequence in the United States and Canada, and has made several lecture tours to Europe, Australia, and South Africa. The convention ends at 7 o'clock this evening with a Love-feast.

REWARD McGRATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Edward McGrath, former superintendent of mails in San Francisco, who was suspended two years ago and subsequently reinstated as chief clerk, has been appointed assistant superintendent of the railway mail service in the New England states. McGrath's selection for this important post came as a reward for his services in improving the railway mail service in many eastern states. A number of innovations were introduced by him which caused increased speed in the transportation of the mails.

The will of the decedent leaves the major portion of the property to Mrs. Dorn.

HAIR ON FACE DISAPPEARS QUICKLY

This method of removing superfluous hair is totally different from pastes and rub-on preparations, which merely remove hair from the surface of the skin, just like a razor.

The only common sense way to remove hair is to attack it under the skin. DeMiracle, the original sanitary liquid, operates on this principle. It alone contains certain ingredients which give it the power to rob hair of its vitality. It does this by absorption.

DeMiracle works equally well for removing hair from face, neck, arms, under arms or limbs to prevent it from showing through stockings.

Insist on the genuine DeMiracle. It is the only depilatory that has a money-back guarantee in each package. In 60c, $1 and $2 bottles at all toilet counters, or direct from us in plain wrapper on receipt of price.

FREE booklet mailed in plain sealed envelope on request. Write for it today and read it before you make another application of any depilatory. DeMiracle Chemical Co., Dept. 16 H Park Av. and 129th St., New York.—Adv.

How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a lake trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.—Advertisement.

A Voice From the Trenches

German Defeat Only War Cure

By G. David Stelling.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—He wore three chevrons above the elbow and two little perpendicular stripes of gold below, and on his face the look of a man who has seen death. I met him in the tube lift at Charing Cross and prevailed on him to come and share a war lunch with me at my club.

It was our third meeting since the war broke out. The first was in August of 1914, when he announced he had been accepted in the ranks of a famous battalion of the London regiment. The second time was in a rat-infected, German-built dug-out near Loos, in September, 1915. Our meeting and greeting was a hurried one, for various reasons, of which the Boches' seven-to-one superiority of shell power was not the least.

So we met again in a tube lift. He was on leave and I, being a "crock," was engaged in a fairly comfortable job at Battalion depot. I felt apologetic and humble before this veteran of the trenches. I had known him well in the days before national life was a struggle and when he used to write articles for a weekly journal, which lived mainly on its unfaith. It didn't believe in patriotism and it didn't believe in the empire. It didn't believe in religion and it didn't believe in humanity—except foreign humanity, of course. If it had a motto that motto was "Whatever is, is wrong." My friend, who was young, enthusiastic, sincere and rebellious against the inequalities of the social system, was one of the most brilliant contributors to the columns of this journal. The realities of the barbarian invasion of Belgium sobered him and he was among the first to forsake the pen for the rifle. I had enlisted in another battalion of the London regiment at the same time, but the fortunes of war took him to France eight months earlier than me.

HIT BY SNIPER.

My old impressions of the man rushed back to my mind as we walked together along Whitehall. What, I wondered, had become of all his early shibboloths? I asked him about himself. A sniper's bullet through the thigh had brought him back as far as an inland base hospital for a fortnight, and a bomb splinter in the face had caused a longer sojourn at Boulogne four months later.

"Except for my three months in hospitals and at base camps I have been two and a quarter years in the field," he told me as we walked along.

"And how many times have you been home on leave?" I asked.

"This is my second time home," he said. "It's good to be here, isn't it?"

"Aren't you getting about fed-up with things out there?" I put the question tentatively. "I was only out about six months myself, so can't judge what war feels like to the man who has had two years of it at first hand."

"Fed up, good heavens, no! I wouldn't have missed it for worlds. Don't misunderstand me. I hate war. I hate bloodshed and suffering and cruelty and all the bloody horror that war brings with it. God, I've had my fill—mangled horses, mangled men, the gasping agony of the gassed, the cries of the gradually dying, the blood-lust of the best men in the heat of battle. But, for all that, I wouldn't change places with the men who have stayed at home. For one thing it's the men you live with. You get down to the bedrock of humanity when you're living the primitive sort of simple life we lead in the trenches. And all the inherent good that centuries of Christianity and the English tradition have instilled into our national character comes out of them. That's why I have never accepted a commission. I love my men too much to get separated from them in the way that you people are, near as you get to them sometimes. Our mode of life is in its way an epitome of ideal democracy. It's all for all and none for himself. Two things make it possible. We're all working for one end; and we're living under a rigid discipline which we accept cheerfully because we realize how absolutely essential it is."

I smiled. "You were very nearly an anarchist once," I said.

LEARNS A LOT.

"That was before I had any experience of life," he replied. "I may have been almost an academic anarchist in those faraway days before I knew anything. But I have learned a lot since then. Anarchy might be possible to a race of intellectuals without the human emotions. But human beings want some sort of rule. Otherwise they don't progress; they follow the line of least resistance. That is one of the two big lessons that war has taught me."

"And what is the other?"

"I used to be a pacifist," he said, "was against armaments and military preparations and all that. I know now that we pacifists of the old days were dreamers in a world of stark realities. Force respects only superior force. We were blind to that, we sentimentalists of the peace era. Now I have learned different, I am fighting force with force. And that is the idea at the back of every man I have ever met in the trenches."

"Yes," I demurred, "but they'd be only too glad to be done with it and get back to their homes and live peaceful lives."

"Of course they would, if they could feel that they'd finished the job they set out to do. But they haven't done that yet.

"The British Tommy is, as a general rule, a reserved and inarticulate person, not given to subtleties of opinion. But he's quite clear on this point—and I've had plenty of opportunities for ascertaining his views. He joined the army mostly of his own free will, because he was vitally conscious that principles to which he was vaguely, subconsciously attached were being outraged. He saw a power that, as he might have expressed it, was 'hitting below the belt.' What has happened since has only confirmed him in his views of Germany. 'Belgium' was only an earnest of the manner in which the Hun carries on war. Tommy isn't a plaster saint by any means, but he does from the very depths of his being abhor the atrocities that have made the name of Germany stink in the nostrils of every right-thinking man. So in his own quiet way he subscribes entirely to the declaration that 'we shall not sheathe the sword' until the principles for which we entered the war have been established. And he knows that the only way to establish those principles is to beat the German in the field."

HALTON TO SPEAK ON HAWAII WONDERS

Fred J. Halton, Pacific Coast representative of the Hawaii Promotion committee, will address the Advertising Bureau of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon next Tuesday at the Hotel Oakland. His address will practically be a travelogue through the Hawaiian Islands and will be illustrated by both still and motion pictures, the very latest that have been taken in the islands.

All of the wonderful features of the islands will be shown, including views of the volcano of Kilauea, both by night and by day and in moving picture reels. The volcano was more active at the time that these were taken than at any time within the last quarter of a century.

DECORATE QUINAN

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The first list of those on whom the King has conferred the newly created Orders of Companions of Honor and Order of the British Empire, was issued last night. The list of new Companions of Honor which is a comparatively new one, is headed by Lieutenant-General Jan Christian Smuts and includes K. B. Quinan of California, who is mentioned for "special work in connection with the explosives supply of the ministry of munitions." Many women are among those who received honors.

LAD FIGHTS BULL

CHARDON, O., Aug. 25.—It's a long way to Barcelona, Spain, but it means nothing to fourteen-year-old Herbert Hosmer.

Herbert sought to feed a bull a nice ripe apple. The bull raged. Quick as a flash Herbert grasped the bell ring of the infuriated bovine and succeeded in landing squarely on its back. Roaring and snorting, the bull raced about the lot. It stopped suddenly and Herbert was projected through the air for a spell and then landed hard. It looked like it was all over with Herbert, but the lad fought gamely. When the bull charged he rammed his little hands into the animal's nostrils and gripped tight. The bull sank to its knees and Herbert took a chance and raced for the fence, made it, and vaulted lightly over to safety. Herbert breathlessly told the story of the fight to his father.

'PREX' SPEAKS U. C. CO-EDS NEAR REVOLT

Rebellion is seething in the hearts of the co-eds of the University of California. Anger has been simmering ever since that ominous day when President Benjamin Ide Wheeler gave his fatherly talk to the women students—that talk of which no official report was made—and the boiling point has been reached. Whenever a group of co-eds gathers anywhere on the campus, spluttering is the word that most accurately describes their manner of conversation. There is even talk of a mass meeting of the women students for the formal expression of the resentment aroused by "Prexy" in his address.

It is said that Dr. Wheeler gave advice on divers matters ranging from cinema performances to the care of gardens. He warned his auditors to keep off the sacrosanct ivy that surrounds the executive mansion; he added knitting as a fourth "K" for the Germanic womanly virtues—Kuche, Kirche and Kinder; he spoke with almost Methodistic severity of dancing; he depreciated slang; he was disparagingly animadversive.

The result has been the same that always follows when December admonishes May, when Sixty-three gives advice to Eighteen. There is tossing of heads on the campus and a general inclination to proceed at once to do all the things that "Prexy" disapproves of just to "show him."

If you hear more slang than usual among your co-ed acquaintances and a greater tendency to clip word endings and make abbreviations, you may know that it is a reaction to this remark of the eminent Greek scholar who guides the destinies of the University.

"I wish that slang might be omitted from college life. It is a shock to hear a young woman of apparent good breeding and attractive appearance talking about the 'Daily Cal' and the 'gym.'"

If you see queues of co-eds blocks' long waiting in front of moving picture theaters, the cause may not be unrelated to this dictum:

"College is no place where young people are to be amused. That there are many who feel that such is the case is manifest by the nightly pilgrimages to the movies. I hope to see these curtailed this year."

If you should see a young woman in an evening gown descend from a limousine in front of the Doe Library and proceed to waltz up the steps into the august precincts of the temple of learning, don't hastily judge her to be temporarily demented. She would merely be a rebel against these sentiments:

[illegible] no more of the nightly, or even weekly, affairs."

"I hope to see the last of sororities and fraternities soon.

"The ivy growing around the president's house is to be respected; it is not to be trampled upon.

"That so many of you have taken to knitting is evidence that there is a serious strain in some college young people. It is merely a symbol, however, and I hope it may be turned into something more useful and significant than something with which to adorn your backs."

GUARD TO MEET

The fifty-sixth annual reunion and banquet of the Oakland Guard and Company A, Fifth infantry regiment of the National Guard of California, one of the pioneer organizations of the state, will be held on Thursday evening, August 30. Invitations have been extended to all ex-members, many of whom played an important part in the early history of Oakland, to be present. The old-time organizations will meet in front of the city hall at 7:30 p. m. and march to the banquet hall.

The arrangements for the reunion and banquet are in the hands of the following committee: R. J. Cavasso, chairman; W. W. Curnow, H. A. Longfellow, George W. Cunningham, A. L. Hamilton and W. J. Downie.

WILL FIGHT RAISE

Delegates from thirty-two civic and improvement clubs in East Oakland will meet tonight at the headquarters of the Melrose Business Men's Association, East Fourteenth street and Forty-sixth avenue, to begin organizing against the Southern Pacific's efforts for higher local train rates. The body will resolve itself into the East Oakland Protective League, three delegates from each of the smaller organizations voting for officers and measures brought forward.

John L. Sullivan on Overeating.

John L. Sullivan, the ex-pugilist, says that more people die from overeating than from drink. One of the most prominent physicians in England says that is also the case over there. No wonder that so many people are troubled with indigestion. If you have trouble with your stomach adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation. Then if you should have indigestion take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally.—For sale by Osgood Bros drug stores.—Advertisement.

Evil and Good to Follow War

"End of World," Says Rutherford

Revolt and Anarchy Is Predicted by Rutherford

That the present war is the forerunner of the end of the world was the statement made yesterday afternoon by Judge J. F. Rutherford, president of the Bible Students' Association, in the closing address of the convention at the municipal auditorium.

Judge Rutherford, who is considered one of the foremost Bible students in the world, advanced as proof of his statements prophetic utterances from the Bible. He pointed out that Jesus had predicted the war which would be followed by a revolution, and this revolution by "a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation."

"Jesus further said," continued Judge Rutherford, "that there would be famine and pestilence and it needs no philosopher to show such is now threatening the nations of the earth."

BLAMES CLERGY FOR WAR.

The clergy as a class are the ones directly and indirectly responsible for the great world war, said Judge Rutherford. It was this statement that caused a minister in Tacoma last week to jump on the platform and call the judge a liar.

Judge Rutherford explained his statement by saying that the Lord had commissioned the clergy to preach the gospel of His kingdom, and contrary to their divine commission, the clergy as a class (with few exceptions) have convinced the kings and rulers of the earth that these earthly governments and kingdoms constitute God's kingdom of peace, holiness, justice, love and truth, and that the earthly kings are ruling by divine right as God's representatives. Instead of preaching the Lord Jesus and his kingdom, they have encouraged the nations in selfishness and urged them on to war. For this cause the blood of all the nations of the earth is upon their heads, and God will require it at their hand.

PREDICTS REVOLT, ANARCHY.

The present war will end and within less than a year, prophesies the judge, but the armies will not be disbanded. The Bible clearly teaches that thereafter revolution will follow. Increased shortage of food, the high cost of living, the burden of taxation followed by famine and the spirit of discontent among the people of the earth will bring a condition of revolution and anarchy such as was never known.

"We are at the death-bed of the [illegible] said Judge Rutherford, in closing his address. "The systems of unrighteousness are dying. We are standing at the birth of a new and better order—we are at the portals of the golden age."

Benefits to Come After Conflict, Say Pastors

The war spirit which chastens, which preserves, which conserves for future peoples even though at great toll for itself and the races of today, which is based not upon militant aims but upon the ultimate conservation of human ideals—this formed the subject for discourses and sermons in most of the east bay pulpits yesterday. That the United States was more than justified in entering the great conflict and that out of the struggle would come ultimate good was the general trend of the talks.

"The first drop of American blood dropped in France will tell the listening world that we are our brother's keeper, and that we are not a sham nation as to the Christian ideal," declared Rev. Frank M. Silsley, speaking on the "First Civilized War" at the First Presbyterian Church.

"America's aim, even through the dreadful means of war," he declared, "is to interpret truth and heart to the world. Conscience has been the commander-in-chief of every war America has fought. Yet terrible as this war is, America is justified in her entrance.

THIS WAR MOST BRUTAL.

"The first civilized war was between Cain and Abel. Cain was the first militarist. He wanted world domination and his 'place in the sun.' Greed, selfishness and ambition have played on one side or another or on both in all wars. Cain cold-bloodedly killed Abel. War, per se, in its nature, is just killing, and the present civilized war is the most inhuman, barbarous and brutal in history. We shudder at the battle-ax and the knife of the savage. But the implements of the savage are humane in comparison with big guns, machine guns, Zeppelins, poisonous gas, earth mines, high explosives and the submarines of modern warfare. This is the day of horrors—submarine horrors, air-raid horrors, famine horrors."

That great social good will develop out of the present titanic struggle of nations, is the opinion of Rev. Albert W. Palmer of the Plymouth Congregational Church, who spoke on "Some Social By-products of the War." Rev. Mr. Palmer said:

"Some good is bound to come out of this dreadful conflict of nations and no matter how much we must regret it we must look at it in this light. Of course, many advances that were registered in social work prior to the terrible day in 1914 have been temporarily abandoned; but in their places we are performing a greater work."

Sermons at other east bay churches were as follows: Brooklyn Presbyterian, "A Certain Faith"; First Methodist Episcopal, "The Redeemer's Complaint"; First Congregational, "The Law and the Harvest"; First Unitarian, "So Little Done, So Much to Do."

EX-CONVICT TO FACE NEW CHARGE

Patrolman T. F. O'Neil had a narrow escape this morning when he arrested Charles Harris Smith, a former convict who later admitted to Inspectors Gallagher and Robinson that he would have shot the patrolman if he had known that he would face a more serious charge than petty larceny. Smith carried a loaded revolver. Under a new state law it is a felony for any ex-convict to carry a loaded revolver. He has been charged under this statute, the case being the first of this nature in Oakland.

Patrolman O'Neil had been watching a location at Fifth and Harrison streets where two men had been seen to cache a quantity of wire last night. When Smith and his companion appeared at the scene, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, O'Neil confronted them but the two men started to run. The officer pursued and finally overtook Smith. The other men made his escape and the police have sent out a dragnet for him in the belief that he is possibly wanted on other charges. The police also believe that Smith and the other man were members of a gang of junk thieves that have been operating extensively in a manufacturing district during the past few months.

PLAN CEREMONY

With visiting officers from Alameda county and San Francisco lodges present, Elmhurst Lodge, No. 277, Rebekahs, will hold initiation ceremonies tonight when Mrs. Helen Mackintosh is first introduced to the mysteries of the order. Following the ceremonial a banquet will be held.

LOSES THREE FINGERS.

Harold de Leon, a 17-year-old boy, residing at 638 Sixty-first street, is in the Roosevelt hospital, recovering from the shock consequent upon the loss of three fingers. The accident happened in San Francisco, where De Leon was employed operating a cutting machine

WIDOW OF LOST SAILOR BURIED

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Littlejohn, widow of the late Captain George W. Littlejohn, who will be buried in Redwood City tomorrow, recalls one of the famous mysteries of the sea of a score of years ago, when the schooners Otter and Helen Blum sailed away into the depths of the Arctic sea with sixty men aboard and never were heard of again.

Captain Littlejohn was commander of the Otter on that fatal trip and Captain Henry Harmson was master of the Helen Blum. But though the wives and families of both, and relatives of the crews of thirty men each which the two schooners carried, watched and waited as only those who follow the sea are able, through long, weary months that grew into years, there has never been a message or a clew from the frozen North that swallowed them up.

The two schooners left port on a hunt for otter and seals. The two mariners had heard of valuable catches in the Arctic circle, with its long twilights and bitter cold, and they enlisted the services of a hardy crew. There were plenty of supplies aboard—enough to last for two years—and they sailed bravely out through the Golden Gate for the loot of the Northland waters. Edward Littlejohn, eldest of Captain Littlejohn's sons, who had always been on previous trips with his father, decided he would ship to a southern port and see more of the world. This action saved his life.

Mrs. Littlejohn will be buried in the Union cemetery at Redwood City. She is survived by three sons—Edward and George Littlejohn, who live in Alameda; Charles Littlejohn, who is manager of the Interisland Navigation Company of Honolulu—and a married daughter, Mrs. Annie D. Gilbert of Oakland.

BURGLARIES MAY BE WORK OF NEW GANG

Numerous burglaries committed during the last twenty-four hourse in different parts of the city have led to unusual activity on the part of the police in efforts to trace the source of what they believe to be a new gang of thieves.

C. F. Hilton of 1629 Eighty-sixth avenue reported that his home was looted of $300 worth of jewelry by porch climbers, who entered through a bathroom window on the second floor.

C. J. Seeman of 736 Lakeshore avenue complains that a quantity of jewelry, value not given, was removed from his home by someone who pried open a window.

Edward A. Howard of 107 Kempton avenue is out $4.50 in coin and considerable jewelry, according to his report, while W. B. Fageol, 384 Sixty-second street, says that a window on his premises was jimmied and a gold watch stolen.

Thieves who entered the Union Street Presbyterian Church some time prior to last night's services, carried away the silver communion set and a typewriter from the study of Pastor P. S. Payne. Inspectors Gallagher and Robinson investigated, but no clews as to the identity of the thieves were found.

GARDEN PARTY IS LEAGUE PLAN

Alameda County Chapter, woman's section, of the Navy League, is arranging for a garden party on the afternoon of Saturday, September 15, in the Fruitvale gardens of Mrs. Henry Wetherbee. This is the first large function which has been arranged by the patriotic organization which stands for preparedness. Five hundred prominent women are associated with the local branch. They are emphasizing the point that although they are affiliated with the Navy League, which has been engaged in a national controversy, their organization does not form a part of the men's body.

Instructors in knitting are each day in the headquarters in Capwell's roof-garden, where the wool which is used in the knitting of the comfortable sets for the sailor lads may be obtained. More than 200 workers are engaged in knitting the four-piece sets, which later will be sent to the crew of the mosquito ship which the Alameda county section will adopt. Mrs. Fred Samuels is chairman of the comforts section, which is in charge of this phase of the work.

The officers are: Regent, Mrs. Lee Richmond Smith; vice-regent, Mrs. Charles E. Miller; recording secretary, Mrs. Grace Alexander Gray; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Barrington; treasurer, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain. Mrs. A. J. Snyder has been named chairman of the committee on United States service comfort bags, with Mrs. Raymond Perkins chairman of the committee on books and magazines. Mrs. John Perine is directing the committee on ways and means.

In Elmhurst there is an active unit of which Mrs. Lucy Barker is chairman, with forty-five neighborhood friends who are knitting the sweaters, scarfs, wristlets and caps which are required. That funds might be provided for the purchase of wool, a tea was given at which $50 was raised for that purpose.

YOUTHS HELD IN COUNTERFEIT CASE

Further investigation of the mystery of eighty-two counterfeit dollars found in a house at 527 Castro street last Saturday, is being made by the Federal authorities, and Louis Babbino of 527 Twenty-ninth street who occupied the house before it was partially destroyed by fire recently, is being held pending results of the inquiry. He was taken to San Francisco today by Federal Inspector Harry Moffitt. The four boys who discovered the cache of bogus dollars have been released from the Detention Home.

The authorities are also holding Jack Springer, of 625 Third street, who is alleged to have purchased several of the counterfeits from the boys. He is accused of having counterfeit money in his possession.

The house in which the coins were found is owned by Mrs. Mary O'Brien of 3896 Webster street. It was while she was moving some furniture in the house with the boys' assistance that they came upon the tin can full of coins hidden under a trap door in the kitchen floor.

The boys, Joseph Carter, 731 Third street; Herman and Peter Ceremello of 724 Fifth street, and their cousin, Pete Ceremello of 507 Castro street, all between the ages of 8 and 14 years, attempted to purchase something to eat at a restaurant conducted by A. H. Sneed in Seventh street when the proprietor detected the bogus coins and notified the police. Statements made by the boys led to the arrest of Springer. Mrs. O'Brien later turned the balance of the coins over to the authorities.

OPPOSES DUCHY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Alsace-Lorraine's desire only to be part of France again will oppose the reported plan of Chancellor Mchaelis to make it a federal duchy, Daniel Blumenthal, formerly an Alsatian member of the Reichstag, declared today. He also insisted that virtually all Alsatians will oppose the Pope's peace plan as having been conceived in part at least by the German government. Blumenthal, who fled from Germany on the night of July 31, 1914, a few hours before soldiers called at his residence to arrest him, is here in the general interest of his country.

LYNCHING AVERTED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A lynching was averted in the capital's suburbs when Virginia state troops hurried William Burgess, a negro, aboard a train for Richmond. A large crowd that gathered at Alexandria was kept in check by the militia. Burgess was arrested for attacks on two women.

KILLING IN NORTH STIRS LOCAL TONGS

With the killing of a Chinese identified as Yee Bing, alleged head gunman for the Hop Sing tong on the Pacific Coast, in Seattle by two countrymen believed to be members of the Bing Kong Bow Leong tong, local authorities are taking precautions today to prevent another feud between the two organizations, which has been simmering for some time, from developing further hostilities.

Yee Bing is one of the most important men in the whole tong organization. He was wanted in the northern city by the authorities for murdering Charlie Ling, a rival tongman, on June 11, and is believed to have been responsible for numerous other murders along the coast. Bing was killed while walking along the street with a loaded revolver in his belt. Six shots were fired, one of them striking K. Susuki, a Japanese, inflicting a slight wound in the neck. The assailants escaped.

The renewal of tong hostilities which is expected by the authorities all along the coast as a result of the killing of Bing will mark the end of a period of comparative peace obtained through the efforts of state and Federal officials and the authorities of different cities where the tongs have been active.

PEACE PACT BROKEN.

More than three months ago, following a conference of all the tong heads, a peace pact was entered into which was expected to settle most of the feudal disturbances. The pact came at the conclusion of a reign of terror during which more than twenty tongmen were murdered in varios parts of the coast.

Police and federal officials express little hope of being able to effect a permanent peace for some time to come, however. The feud between the Hop Sings and the Bing Kongs is not a local warfare, but traces its inception to China, where the enmity of the two organizations first broke out. The enmity simmered in this country for many years with occasional killings of a private nature until about ten years ago when it broke out in full force in San Francisco.

DEADLY TOLL TAKEN.

At that time a Chinese slave girl, valued at $2000 was stolen from the head of one of the warring tongs and spirited away to parts unknown. She was never recovered. The losing tong took deadly toll of their opponents for the theft, and the war was on. Thereafter slave girls were abducted by both sides, the children of wealthy members of both tongs sold into slavery, and killings became numerous. The federal and police authorities finally wiped out the slave traffic to a great degree, but the target practice remained.

Other tongs including the Suey Ongs, the Suey Sings, and several smaller organizations became involved in one way or another in the trouble. Despite the efforts of the Chinese Six Companies, the powerful mercantile organization comprising most of the wealthy Chinese merchants, the murders have continued.

Chanticleer Is Silenced; Keefe Solves Problem

No more will chanticleers of the early morn disturb the slumbers of residents in the vicinity of Sixteenth and Brush streets. Harmony now prevails where discord over the situation resulted in complaints to the police for the secret of muzzling the lusty-throated fowls has been discovered, according to a report made by Patrolman Con Keefe today.

First procure a box of suitable size to hold Mr. Rooster comfortably in repose. Nail narrow slats across the opening to hold him in and at the same time allow for plenty of air. Estimate the height of the bird in natural posture. Have the box just high enough so that he can stand.

At night catch the subject and place him within. That's all. There will be no clarion in the A. M.

The secret, as discovered by Patrolman Keefe, is that a rooster cannot or will not crow if he is unable to stretch his neck. For the last three nights two roosters belonging to R. Butler of 1621 Brush street have been thusly suppressed with satisfactory results. Other neighbors have adopted the same course and the plan is highly recommended by the police department, which from time to time receives numerous complaints on the subject.

PIONEER IS BURIED

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Waltrip, California pioneer, who died Saturday, after a long illness, was held today. Members of the immediate family surviving include Mrs. Charles Wallace, Mrs. L. E. Fulwider, Mrs. Charles Lehman, Mrs. Grace Hansen and J. B. and L. E. Waltrip. Although 70 years old Mrs. Waltrip remembered early California days to the last.

Born in Pike county, Mo., in 1847, she accompanied her parents to Sonoma county via the plains route, when a girl of five years. Her father was Judge H. W. Baker, widely known pioneer. When 18 years old she married Nathaniel Waltrip, cattleman and one of Mendocino's early leading citizens.

BUDGET ACT SUBJECT TO REFERENDUM

Holding that the so-called budget act of the last legislature is subject to referendum, the Supreme Court, in a decision from the bench today, issued a writ of mandate directing Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan to hold the act in abeyance until the law had been submitted to the voters on referendum in November, 1918.

Forty-six thousand signatures to the referendum petition on the act, which has already been certified, were gathered in Los Angeles county and one other southern county, where the opposition to the act centered in the belief that it limited the increase in the county budget for schools.

The attorney-general's office held that no referendum could act against the law, as it affected taxes and went into effect immediately. State Senator W. J. Carr, attorney for Mark Keppel, superintendent of schools in Los Angeles, argued that despite the fact that the law became effective July 30 instead of three months after adoption in the case of acts that must allow time for referendum, the budget act was subject to referendum and the court upheld this view.

Fifty-six out of fifty-eight counties in the state have already complied with the provisions of the act, which regulates and limits the amount that may be produced by tax levies in the political subdivisions of the state. The act also creates a state board of authorization and provides for the making and filling of budgets by county officials with this board. In effect it provides that after county boards of supervisors have made up their budgets for the year they must be submitted to the board and hearings held to justify any increase in the budget over 5 per cent from the previous year.

ALLIED BIROMEN TAKE HEAVY TOLL IN GERMAN CITY

Neutral Traveler Says Germans Were Fearful American Aviators Coming.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, March 19.—Fifty persons were killed and great material damage was done by bombs dropped by allied airmen when they raided Coblenz.

Germany on March 12, according to a neutral traveler who arrived Monday at The Hague, the Times says.

"The people believed the raiders were Americans," the traveler said. "I was in the neighborhood of a big munition works at Mulheim (north of Coblenz and also on the Rhine) at ten minutes past noon when suddenly all the factory whistles started blowing and the sirens were sounded. Many women rushed from the works for the bomb-proof shelters, while passing streetcars were stopped as the crews bolted into houses. Four or five airplanes were visible in the clear sky.

"Presently someone exclaimed: 'They are Americans!' Another persons screamed aloud: 'The Americans are coming!' A Dutchman I knew rushed up to me and said: 'Didn't I tell you the Americans would come sooner or later.'

"I cannot say whether the machines actually were American but the striking thing was the evidence that there has been general skepticism whether American airplanes ever would come and equal fear of them when they do."

The neutral traveler added that although the machines merely passed over Mulheim on their way to Coblenz, it was not until 4 o'clock that the "all clear" signal was sounded.

Coblenz is the capital of the Rhine province of Prussia. On March 12 the British war office announced that British aviators had dropped a ton of bombs on factories, stations and barracks there. The attack was made in daylight and two fires and a violent explosion were seen to have been cause by the bombs.

Berlin always has denied any serious losses caused by allied air raids over German territory, but if fifty were killed at Coblenz, the British raid resulted in more serious losses than ever have been reported from Germany before.

Baker Sees 100 U. S. Fliers in French Aviation School Take to the Air for Special Maneuvers

ON BOARD SECRETARY BAKER'S SPECIAL TRAIN IN FRANCE, March 19.—Newton D. Baker, the American secretary of war, is making important decisions in France upon such questions as in his judgment require immediate action.

Thus in the headquarters of one of the American aviation centers, Secretary Baker inquired if all of the host of aviators sent first from America were first to complete their training in France and if all of them had been commissioned. The chief of the aviation told the secretary that all of them had not yet, because of reasons which he explained, had a chance to take their final training.

The secretary directed at the conclusion of the inquiry, with General Pershing's approval, that aviators so delayed should have their commissions, when they were ready for them, dated a day ahead of those issued in America to men who had entered the service later, because these men had a right to their priority.

When the secretary's train came into the aviation region the sky was darkly overcast and the clouds were of a blue-gray color, which the aviation observers say constitutes the finest background for seeing air work. Many monoplanes and biplanes awaited the secretary's arrival upon the field; then with a rush one after another took the air, until toward the end of the morning a hundred machines were in flight and every machine was driven by an American. Individual aviators practiced maneuvers used in combat, such as reversing the direction of the flight by turning edgewise upon one wing, spinning in nose dives, then there were evolutions in flotilla formation of fives, after that in squadrons of fifteen.

Only a Tenth.

"With all these machines in the air," remarked a French officer, "we see no more than a tenth of what America has in this one school. You will soon have no more need for French instruction. We have shown everything we know and your young men have taken to the art with astonishing facility, as well as audacity, nerve and resource. The danger and difficulties fascinate and inspire them. I think it must be what you call the sporting spirit."

Secretary Baker discussed with various of the aviators themselves the differences between the machines. He brought to the subject much knowledge of detail and unvaried interest. He spent hours talking with the men and examining with them the types of machines, some of which he saw for the first time.

The closing incident of the morning's air training was a combat and the escape of one plane when attacked. The secretary watched with intense interest. He then visited the machine shops and settingup shops and the storage buildings. He had explained to him the school organizations, which include eight classes, each with a separate camp. Sharp sporting rivalry exists among them.

Hits Observed In Two Towns—Aviators Drop Explosives On Metz.

(Associated Press.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, March 18.—American artillery on the Toul front today bombarded towns within the enemy lines. On several occasions a considerable number of gas shells were used. The gunners also dropped projectiles on German batteries. Some shells hit in the town of Essey and others in Mont Sec.

Former Deputy Game Warden Fined for Shooting Ducks

Arrest and fining of a former deputy game warden at Rosalie, in the western edge of the county, who is now the constable and village marshal at that place, besides being the editor of a newspaper called the "Buzz-Saw," was accomplished by Chief Game Warden Koster and Traveling Deputy Harms, while scouting in the vicinity of that place a few days ago.

Three others were taken into custody at that time, and all pleaded guilty. Each member of the quartette was charged with shooting three ducks, that being the number found by the officers in a camp near the Missouri river where the men had been staying. The fine assessed against each one for that offense was $15 and costs.

They were also made defendants on the second charge of hunting with a license, to which they pleaded guilty. For this they paid fines of $1 apiece, making a total of $19.80 for every one of the five to pay, or $79.20 for the whole bunch.

It is supposed that they had killed a good many more ducks, but three were all that Warden Koster and his assistant could find. The camp was three miles from a little settlement called Mace. When Bickler was arrested, he and one of his companions were out shooting. Pretty soon the other two came along and they also were taken into custody.

U. S. PUTS BAN ON 'SEDITIOUS BOOK

Government Forbids Distribution and Sale of "Finished Mystery."

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Because "The Finished Mystery," a bible study text book, described patriotism as "a certain delusion," and "a narrow minded hatred of other peoples," and war as "a work of Satan," distribution of the book was forbidden yesterday by the department of justice, acting under the espionage act.

Thousands of copies of the book have been seized in many states, but it was not until yesterday that the department decided to prohibit its distribution. District attorneys were notified to prosecute any dealers or other persons selling or offering the book for sale or distribution.

The book purports to be the posthumus work of the late Pastor Charles Taze Russell and was published in Brooklyn by the peoples' pulpit association, with which are affiliated the International Bible Students' association, and the Watchtower Tract and Bible Class. It was compiled by Clayton J. Woodworth of Scranton, Pa., who has been arrested on a charge of seditious writings. He is alleged to have prepared the book since the war started, and to have inserted derogatory references to America's cause in the war.

The department of justice explained that it would not have taken action against the book if it had been written before the war, or if all the material had really been that of Pastor Russell, who died in 1916. It is understood the publishers have agreed after consultation with postoffice department officials to eliminate the objectionable passages. Some time ago the book was barred from the mails by Canadian authorities.

Shallenberger Wants Draft Quotas Based On Total Registration

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Representative Shallenberger of Nebraska, democratic member of the house military committee, sought to interest President Wilson last night in a plan for basing future army draft quotas for volunteers. He said afterward he hoped at a conference tomorrow to induce the war department to acquiesce in the idea. Officials, however, did not appear encouraged over the outlook for the remainder of his plan.

Mr. Shallenberger, who was accompanied to the White House by Representative Dent of Alabama, chairman of the military committee, is one of six committeemen who joined in a minority report against the administration bill to base quotas on the number of men in class A.

Relieve Your Indigestion With A Laxative

Dyspeptics know that indigestion is accompanied by constipation, and, that until the bowels can be regulated so they will act freely and naturally every day at a stated time, swallowing dyspepsia tablets is of little use.

A great and growing number of sufferers from this trouble find immediate and then permanent relief by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The laxative herbs act on the bowels and the pepsin and extracts on the digestive tract, forming an exceptionally effective laxative-tonic.

It is a combination that has been found wonderfully helpful in indigestion, constipation, biliousness, headaches, bad breath, belching and gas on the stomach. A small dose is all that is required.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

NO INCREASE
In spite of enormously increased labor and other costs due to the War the manufacturers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are not increasing their prices and shall do so during the war unless, as may remain at the present low price. Buy a large bottle. Sold by druggists for 26 years.

RECAPTURE A PORTION OF A FRONT TRENCH

British Gain Victory In Counter Attack North-east of Albert

ARTILLERY ACTIVE ALONG SOMME AND ANCRE RIVERS

French Success On Somme Front Is Very Important

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

London, May 10.—The British forces engaged in counter attacks north-east of Albert yesterday recaptured a portion of the trench that was lost by an enemy advance coming by a counter attack. We also made a successful raid on the enemy's lines southeast of Albert in the valleys of the Somme and Ancre rivers and captured fifteen prisoners, a field gun and a machine gun.

The operations in which the British regained a portion consist the trench lost to the enemy on the Albert-Amiens road, were carried out by the Australian troops, which, a small force, it was announced, had penetrated the enemy lines for an hour and a half on the night of yesterday and inflicted considerable casualties on the Germans.

GREAT TRIUMPH IS CLAIMED BY PETEN POET

(Compiled from A. P. dispatches).

Over a million men were engaged on April 23 at Scarborough, when the invasion of England was attempted, according to Belgian reports, now apparently backed up by the statements of Marconi operators on the Belgian coast. Not only was the attempt not successful, but two vessel were destroyed or rendered useless by the fire of the British batteries, according to the reports. The Germans were apparently attempting to land troops at Scarborough, for "all flocking ships" were seen in the harbor, according to the dispatches.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

London, May 10.—Professor Miliukoff, leader of the Russian Constitutional Democratic party, in yesterday's issue of the Russian newspaper Rietch, in Petrograd, says he was invited some days ago by Professor Hans Delbruck, editor of the Preussische Jahrbucher, to call at his office in Berlin, where he was informed that the German government, recognizing the impossibility of a military victory, was ready to make peace on the basis of the status quo ante bellum.

Professor Miliukoff says he declined to go to Berlin, but that he wished to prepare a memorandum for the information of the Russian people, which he would send, and was willing to make the following statement:

Despite Tactics' Use of 300,000 Men, Drive Is Slowing—Has Cost 10,000 More Prisoners

The French troops fighting northeast of Montdidier have thrown on the Germans in a violent counter-attack and succeeded in a severe defeat in their efforts to cross the Ancre, between Demuin and el Mont. It was over this front that the French struck in the drive which the Germans had held back the Crozat Canal footing for a time. The advance they were making from the center of the line toward Montdidier and Moreuil was forced to the east and, when the enemy counter-attacked, the invading troops were met with a determined resistance and gave ground, but only to the extent of their original position.

The villages of Belloy, Genlis Wood and the heights rising between Courcelles and Mesnil were recaptured by the French and in addition to the number of enemy casualties on the enemy, the French have taken more than 1,000 prisoners and also captured guns.

Government Independents and Vacillating, Says London News—Rush Land Bill Unlikely, Believe Post.

Times Believes Federalism May Result—Austerity, Says Graphic.

[Associated Press Leased Cable Report for The Washington Post.]

LONDON, June 22.—Sir Edward Carson's statement in the House of Lords yesterday that the present British government has given up the idea of conscription in Ireland and Home Rule for the present fully confirms the forecast made in these dispatches last week.

Sir Edward Carson's statement was made in the course of a debate on the government's policy in Ireland, and was received with cheers by the Unionists. Lord Curzon's statement, which followed, was also cheered by the Unionists.

Lord Curzon's speech.

[By the Associated Press.]

Lord Curzon, Lord President of the Council, speaking on behalf of the government, said:

"I am sorry to say that the government has not been able to make any progress with the Irish question. The government has been unable to secure the agreement of the Irish parties to the proposals which they have made. Therefore the government is not in a position to proceed with the introduction of any measure dealing with the Irish question during the present session of parliament."

Lord Curzon's speech created the impression that the government has abandoned the idea of conscription in Ireland for the present, and that it has also abandoned the idea of introducing a Home Rule bill during the present session of parliament.

Lord Carson's speech.

Lord Carson, Unionist leader, declared that the Irish Nationalists had refused to accept the government's proposals because they would not agree to the exclusion of Ulster. He said that the government had not been able to secure the agreement of the Irish parties to the proposals which they had made.

Lord Carson declared that the government had not been able to make any progress with the Irish question. "PUT UP OR SHUT UP" IS PRESIDENT'S DEFI

HERE'S TEXT OF ADDRESS AT CAPITAL

"It is with very profound pleasure that I find myself face to face with you. I have for a long time chafed at the confinement of Washington. I have for a long time wished to fulfil the pledge with which my term was full when I returned to our beloved country, namely, to go out and report to my fellow countrymen, concerning these affairs of the world which now need to be settled.

"The only people I owe any report to are you and the other citizens of the United States, and it has become increasingly necessary, apparently, that I should report to you. After all the various angles at which you have heard the treaty held up perhaps you would like to know what is in the treaty. I find it very difficult in reading some of the speeches that I have read to form any conception of that great document.

"It is a document unique in the history of the world for many reasons, and I think I cannot do you a better service for the peace of the world a better service than by pointing out to you just what this treaty contains and what it seeks to do.

"In the first place, my fellow countrymen, it seeks to punish one of the gravest wrongs ever done in history, the wrong which Germany sought to do to the world and to civilization and there ought to be no weak purpose with regard to the application of the punishment. She attempted an intolerable thing and she must be made to pay for the attempt.

"The terms of the treaty are severe but they are not unjust. I can testify that the men associated with me at the peace conference in Paris had it in their hearts to do justice and not revenge but they knew perhaps with a more vivid sense of what had happened there we could possibly know on this side of the water the many solemn covenants which Germany had disregarded, the long preparation she had made to overwhelm her neighbors, the utter disregard which she had shown for human rights for the rights of women and children and those who where helpless.

Lands Devastated.

"They had seen their lands devastated by an enemy that devoted itself not only to the effort of victory, but to the effort of error, seeking to terrify the people whom they fought, and I wish to testify that they exercised restraint in the terms of the treaty. They did not wish to overwhelm any great nation; they acknowledged that Germany was a great nation and they had no purpose in overwhelming the German people, but they did think that it ought to be burned into the consciousness of men for ever that no people have a right to permit its government to do what the German government did.

"In the last analysis, my fellow countrymen, as we in America would be the first to claim a people must be responsible for the acts of their government if their government purposes things that are wrong, they ought to take measures and see to it that purposes like that are changed.

"Germany was self-governed. Her rulers had not concealed the purposes that they had in mind. They had not deceived their people as to the character of the weapons they were going to use and I believe from what I can learn that there is an awakened consciousness in Germany of the utter deep iniquity of the thing that was attempted.

"When the Austrian delegates came before the peace conference they said so many words spoke of the originators of the war as a crime and admitted in so many words that it was a thing intolerable to contemplate. They knew in their hearts that it had done them the deepest conceivable wrong that it had put their people and the people of Germany and of the whole world of mankind, and throughout this treaty every term that was applied to Germany was merited, not to the people of Germany, but to rectify the wrong that she had done.

No Indemnity in Reparation.

"Look even into the severe terms of reparation, for there was no indemnity. No indemnity of any sort was paying for the destruction done, merely making good the losses so far as such losses could be made good which she had unjustly inflicted, set upon the governments, for the governments not to go to the governments, but upon the people whose rights she had trodden under foot, absolute assume of everything that even resembled pity. There was no indemnity in the treaty, but there is reparation, and even in the terms of reparation a method is devised by which the reparation will be adjusted to Germany's ability to pay.

League Based On War.

"The character of the league is based upon the experience of this very war. I do not meet a people in all the world who did not admit these things, that Germany would not have gone into the war if she had known Great Britain was going into it, and that she most certainly would never have gone into this war if she dreamed America was going into it, and they all admit that if we had looked forehand that the greatest powers of the world in order to combine to prevent this sort of thing would have prevented it absolutely.

"Now look what else is in the treaty. This treaty is unique in the history of mankind because the center of it is the redemption of weak nations. There never was a congress of nations before that considered the rights of those who could not enforce their rights.

"There never was a congress of nations before that did not seek to effect some balance of power between them by means of serving the strength and interests of the strongest powers concerned; whereas, this treaty builds up nations that never could have won

The Most Sensational Story Since the World War Began

Authorities Differ In Probable Coal Supply For Winter Consumer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Sharp differences of opinion on the probable coal situation this winter were expressed by Director General Hines and H. S. Peabody, formerly of the fuel administration today before the senate interstate commerce subcommittee investigating increases in the price of coal.

Director General Hines declared the coal operators would lay aside no transportation difficulties to explain the increased coal prices, although in his opinion the railroads would be able to move all the coal necessary. Peabody denied that unduly high prices were being charged for coal, and said legislation calculated to alter the laws of supply and demand would not remedy the coal problem. He added there was no probability of a coal shortage this winter unless deliveries were held up by a shortage of cars or by labor troubles.

"The mines of America can supply 90 per cent more coal than the present demands of the country," Peabody asserted, and the labor supply is adequate.

Roads' Supply Reduced.

He declared the shutting down of the railroad storage to 8,600,000 tons was reducing the roads to a 10 day coal supply, which might result in confiscation of coal supplies by the railroads.

The director-general suggested that the government retain enough of its war powers to enable it to control coal prices until normal conditions were restored completely. The transportation difficulties will be up before the public, exploited and, perhaps expanded, Hines said, in an effort to justify rising prices to as high a point as the public will stand and for which it should not stand.

John S. Sherbon, of Massachusetts, told the committee that in New England there now was a shortage of approximately 33 per cent in bituminous coal.

SANDUSKIAN IS ARRESTED WITH EX-SAILOR'S WIFE

Chester L. Werner is Caught in New Jersey City. Served Overseas in Big War; Here Are Details.

Chester L. Werner, 23, son of Louis L. Werner, glass worker of 224 Scott st., was arrested Wednesday night at Hackensack, N. J., on a statutory charge according to news dispatches. He is in the county jail there on complaint of Ensign John C. Melchior, formerly of the United States supply ship Westwood, which operated off Brest during the war, and who now resides at 261 Melrose ave., Rutherford, N. J.

Werner, with Mrs. Anna C. Melchior, wife of the ensign, was taken in custody by the police after Melchior had seen the wife and co-respondent in the dining room of a Hackensack restaurant.

The coupon was taken before Justice of the Peace Thomas H. Cunningham, who held Werner on the more serious charge, while Mrs. Melchior was retained as a material witness.

Werner is said to have served nine months with a hospital unit in France, returning to this city last December. For a time he was stationed at Camp Merritt, later being sent to Camp Sherman, where he received his discharge.

While at Camp Merritt Werner says he met Mrs. Melchior at a dance in Englewood, N. J. After he came east and has since been stopping in Hackensack.

Mrs. Melchior, who is 28 years old, while her husband is 32, is said to have been independent means from property in Rutherford and elsewhere, from which source she is said to have been furnishing funds to young Werner.

Werner says he wrote home a few months ago about the young woman, telling his father he wanted to marry her as soon as she obtained a divorce.

"For this," he declared, "my father left me flat."

When informed of his arrest his relatives declined to comment further than to say they did not know of his trouble. He was last heard from in New Jersey, they said.

CITY COLUMBUS STILL WALKING

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4—Wearied, footsore Columbus struggled valiantly to work this morning, the second day of the street car strike hopeful that tomorrow morning would see the end of the tie-up.

The company has offered to arbitrate differences, providing the striking carmen and the linemen, who struck August 2, asking increased wages, return to work pending a result of arbitration conferences. The strikers will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock to consider what action may be taken upon the proposal.

Mostly improvised taxis and trucks hauled thousands to work again today from outlying districts, while thousands living within the city zone two miles of the downtown section walked.

GAS SHORTAGE IS SEEN IN CLEVELAND CIRCLES

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—Martin D. Daly, president of the East Ohio Gas Co., announced tonight that he had been instructed by his board of directors not to entertain proposals for new gas contracts or franchises at the present time. They said that this action may mean that Cleveland and other northern Ohio cities will not have natural gas after the present franchises have expired February 1, 1921.

TREATY IS REPORTED TO SENATE

Committee Adopts 4 Reservations and Many Amendments; Minority Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The senate foreign relations committee late today finished its work on the peace treaty with Germany, and, after adopting four reservations to the league of nations' covenant, ordered the treaty reported to the senate with about two score amendments previously incorporated.

The treaty, signed at Versailles June 28 and submitted by President Wilson to the senate and referred to the committee July 10, now passes, so far as the United States is concerned, into its final stage, that of open consideration by the senate for ratification or rejection. Committee action was deferred on the special treaty to protect France, and on other treaties submitted.

Chairman Lodge will return the treaty to the senate with a formal majority report late next week. A minority report by the democrats, opposing both amendments and reservations, is to be filed within nine days thereafter, and it is expected that actual consideration of the treaty will begin about Sept. 15.

Weeks of debate, before the final vote, are expected. The first contest will be over the committee's amendments, with the final and decisive struggle over the reservations which the resolution provides must be accepted by the four great powers, France, Japan, Italy and Great Britain.

End is Unexpected.

Conclusion of the committee's work, which has taken nearly two months, came somewhat unexpectedly today at a special executive session of three hours stormy debate which divided both the republican and democratic membership.

The four reservations to the League of Nations covenant which were sponsored by Chairman Lodge and written into a resolution providing for ratification of the treaty, provide:

First, for "unconditional" withdrawal of the United States from the league.

Second, refusal of this nation to assume any foreign territorial commitments under article 10 of the league covenant or mandates without action by congress.

Third, exclusive action by the United States on domestic affairs, and

On all four reservations the party line-up of the committee was shattered. Senator McCumber, republican, of North Dakota, voted with the democrats in opposition to those dealing with article 10 and the withdrawal provision, but joined his colleagues in supporting those provisions affecting the Monroe Doctrine and domestic affairs.

Senator Shields, democrat, of Tennessee, joined the republicans in supporting all of the reservations except that concerning territorial guarantees, on which he withheld his vote. The other democrats of the committee voted solidly against all reservations.

After the vote on the resolution of ratification and the reservations, the treaty as amended was ordered reported without a record vote.

FROM COAL MINES TO CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—A man who did his first work as a boy in the coal mines of Ohio is the possible successor of John W. Warrington of Cincinnati, as circuit judge. He is Martin H. Dumbles, now in the supreme court of Columbus.

Judge Donahue's name, it is said, has not been sent to the senate, but has been made up to be sent to the Capitol for confirmation. The jurist has strong endorsements, organized labor from Gov. Cox and other state officials.

MINIMUM SALARY IS URGED FOR PASTORS

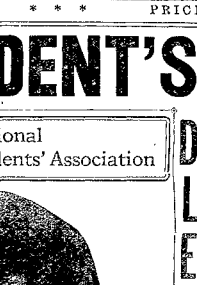

FINDLAY, O., Sept. 4.—A minimum salary of $1,200 for pastors was urged in resolutions adopted this afternoon by the committee on stationing of the West Ohio conference of the Methodist church in session here. A resolution favoring $200 a year for automobile expense for pastors as an additional help to their regular salary was defeated.

E. T. Antrim, Van Wert, was elected president, L. H. Newman, Cincinnati, corresponding secretary; Chas. Hoffman, Findlay, recording secretary. Three hundred laymen attended the meeting.

PERFECT EARTH TO BE CREATED IN NATURAL WAY

Pastor Alford Tells Bible Students God is Now Perfecting Earth—Prof. Robinson Shows Vital Relationship Between Obedience and Christian's Eternal Welfare.

Describing creation from the beginning until the present day, Pastor J. B. Alford, Texas, told the 5,000 Bible student assemblied at Cedar Point yesterday, that God was bringing about His wonderful creation of a perfect earth in a perfected sinless way, in harmony with His own natural laws.

The address created a profound impression, as did one by Prof. T. H. Robinson, Pittsburg, formerly of Cleveland, serving as foreign secretary of the International Bible Students Association. He spoke of the episode of the Lord with His disciples after the woman of Samaria had been greeted by Him at the well. A. H. Macmillan, New Scotland, also talked.

Saturday will be a big day at the Point as all students who have not been baptised but who wish to will be immersed in the lake. It is not known how many will accept through provision, but joined his colleagues in supporting those provisions affecting the Doctrine and domestic affairs.

Sunday afternoon Judge Joseph Rutherford, president of the International Bible Students association, will deliver a public address on "The Hope for the Distressed World." This will be at 3 o'clock and is expected to draw an immense crowd.

Pastor Alford spoke on the topic "The Wonders of Creation." He stated: "The Bible students had often heard and studied of the times or restitution of all things in respect to mankind, but it had remained for the Bible students, plant and animal life, and cosmogony in general.

Man's Commission.

He said in part: "Man was created perfect in mind, body and morals, an earthly image of his Creator, and to him was given the blessing of dominion and the commission: "Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it, and have dominion." (Genesis 1:28.) Evidently the purpose of the Lord was that it should be realized in his primitive purity and perfection, that he would not only take care of the earth, but the reservation, Eden, where everything was perfect, but would extend that garden until it took in the whole remainder of the earth, which was not brought up to the same standard of perfection as Eden.

However we must not think that the commander of the earth was in any condition in which it is now. In spite of all the progress during the last century along agricultural lines, the earth outside the Garden of Eden was far in advance of the best-cultivated parts of the earth today. This is partly on the theory of buried fossil remains or many varieties of luscious fruits now extinct; such a discovery was reported as having taken place in the state of Pennsylvania on July 23rd of this year, the report being in the "Saturday Blade" published in Chicago, July 5th, 1919.

DECLARES LEAGUE IS ESSENTIAL

New Plan Makes War "Violently Improbable," Many Hearers Are Told.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—Before a crowd that filled to overflowing the fair ground coliseum with a seating capacity of 10,000, President Wilson tonight made the second address of his tour.

The president told his hearers that no one believed the league of nations would make all wars impossible, but that he expected it to make war "violently improbable."

Calling on opponents of the League of Nations to present a "better program" for peace, President Wilson declared it is a case of "put up or shut up."

Opponents of the League of Nations, he said, had discussed only three out of 26 articles of their covenant. The articles which would make war improbable had been overlooked.

The economic and arbitration sections of the covenant, he asserted would "keep war on the outskirts," and make it only a "last resort."

Labor Peoples Support.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4.—Urging the American people to exert their influence for acceptance of the peace treaty by the U. S. Senate, President Wilson declared here today, "when the treaty is accepted the men in Khaki will never have to cross the seas again." It was his first speech of his transcontinental tour in support of the treaty.

The president spoke to a capacity audience in Memorial hall. He declared it was not his intention to "debate the league on this trip, but to expound it to the people. He predicted that the senate would ratify the treaty, which he termed, "this unconquerable consummation of mankind."

Instead of listening to "captious criticism," the president advised Americans to "get the facts for themselves, or to accept the interpretations of those who did write it and know what its intentions are.

Treaty Is Explained.

The purposes of the treaty, the president explained, are to punish Germany for the greatest wrong in history; to prevent future wars through the League of Nations; to redeem weak nations, and to "make the world a magna charta of labor, which, he said, "is the charter by which statesmen will realize that no nation has the right to use as chattels the people contended in their industrial circumstances of their lives."

"Yes," he declared, "with the League of Nations," President Wilson said, "would have been unfaithful to those who had died. Now that the world was formed in fulfillment of the promise of the dead, the United States was fighting this war to "send bursting of that sort forever."

Despite charges of selfish ambitions of other governments at the peace conference, the president declared there was a unity of purpose and policy unknown before in the history of the world. The treaty, he said, is one of just settlement and therefore strategic or military considerations did not have to enter into it."

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 4.—Frank

Krug was dismissed by Judge Bernard Fox today in an affidavit charging him with failure to keep proper records as manager of the Cincinnati Ice Mfg. and Cold Storage Co. The judge sustained the demurrer offered by Krug's attorneys on the ground that the defendant was not legally licensed to operate a cold storage warehouse, and therefore not liable to prosecution.

Grandparents Smilingly Wait Return of Soldier With 1st Overseas Bride

Out at 621 Jackson st. there is a perpetual atmosphere of smiles and white aprons these days. Grandmother Beckley and grandmother Priest are happy. Grandfather Priest reminiscences on Civil war days, and they all wait expectantly for Eric to be coming home, with his bride. He may be here in the middle of the month, perhaps sooner according to a letter that came yesterday.

Enlisted at seventeen, married at eighteen, and with 23 months of service to his credit Eric Beckley will add another unique distinction when he arrives here this month with his wife. Mrs. Beckley will be the first Erie soldier's bride to arrive here from overseas.

Two years ago adventurous Eric, a student in the Sandusky High school, left his home, according to his fervent wish to his grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Beckley, of Jackson st., with whom he had made his home for several years, and ran away 18 months in the army. For the past 13 months he has been overseas and 18 months ago he was married at Oxford, England. His bride has continued to reside with relatives there, but will now join her husband at Erie, France, for the voyage to America.

Thursday night Grandma Beckley's face fell as she welcomed the reporter. "I thought it might be a boy with a telegram from Eric," she explained. "Two years is a long time and we're anxious to hear from him. He will wire when he gets to New York.

"This is Eric's other grandmother and his grandfather," she continued, "Mr. and Mrs. Alden Priest. They came here all the way from Santa Rosa, Florida, and they have waited for weeks to see the boy. I'm don't know how we will have to get back without seeing him."

Grandfather Priest shook her head sadly. "He was just a boy when I left him, a fine boy, if he don't seem possible somehow."

Grandfather Priest chuckled. "War is a fine thing. Tomorrow we are going to Cedar Point in honor of my regiment. I was in the war too and I understand. Just a little bit too old for the World War. I was in Company G, of the twenty-fourth Main Division. It was a fine boy, and I hope we get to see the boy, but fail is coming on and we don't see word that he is here within a few days we will come back. We'll go on home to Florida."

"What will you do when he gets here?" inquired the reporter.

Grandmother Beckley sighed. "I don't know," she said. "I will be two only a school boy when he left. I don't know him but now I don't know. Of course I will be with them but he's a man and married. I suppose I'll have to stay in my Sandusky, and then again he may decide to go somewhere else, but we're going to make him feel that he's welcome home, he and his bride," and the old lady smiled happily.

BELLEVUE

BELLEVUE WILL MEET NEED FOR NEW DWELLINGS

BELLEVUE, Sept. 4.—(Special.)—Plans made by the local Chamber of Commerce for the erection of from twenty-five to fifty new houses in Bellevue on a co-operative plan, mean increased population for Bellevue. A need for at least twenty-five new houses in Bellevue has been felt for some time. The Chamber of Commerce is trying to secure the names of prospective builders and ten sites or natures have already been secured. It is planned to purchase material for the houses collectively, ship it here and distribute it at the different sites. Plumbing, hardware, furnaces and lighting fixtures would also be purchased in a similar way and contractors would be asked to figure on all the houses. This would be sure to lessen the cost of building houses which has prevented a number from building in the last couple of years. The co-operative plan looks good. Prospective builders are asked to see Chas. Metz, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. It is probable that later on prospective builders will hold a meeting to discuss plans for the movement.

PERFECT EARTH SEEN BY PASTOR ALFORD

sustained as long as the earth was surrounded by the canopy of vapor, called by scientists "the heat ring," which caused the whole earth to be one vast green-house, because the rays there could not strike the earth directly, but gave a diffused, equable light and temperature.

A tremendous change took place when the ring broke and precipitated itself upon the earth, causing the Biblical flood, the "Ice Age" of the scientists. Our seasons began at that time, with the extremes heat and extreme cold; and from that time began the present condition of the earth, when the curse began to operate fully: "Thorns and thistles shall the ground bring forth." (Genesis 3:18). A whole earth-full of exuberant life was destroyed, both animal and vegetable, also millions, doubtless, of the human race.

This is evidenced by the present atmosphere surrounding the earth. Scientists tell us that 77 per cent of the atmosphere is nitrogen, an inert gas which undergoes no change when it is breathed by animal and plant life. This, we are informed by those who have made a study, is largely composed of organic substances decomposed and changed to gaseous form, in other words, the elements called nitrogen is the direct result of decomposition of organic matter, at the time of the flood.

Promised To Save Earth.

The Lord promised that in the time of the end of the present evil order of things, when the time has come, not to destroy the earth, which "abideth forever." (Ecclesiastes 1:4) but to usher in a new order of things; that then "knowledge shall be increased, and the wise shall understand" (Daniel 12:4, 10). Even the scientists and evolutionists are learning more and more about the earth, in fact everything is learning something except the modern theologian.

Now that the time is near when man will regain his lost dominion he is learning how to "subdue the earth," to harness the elements to do his bidding. For instance, by growing certain leguminous plants, which have the power to extract the nitrogen from the air by a process of growth through nodules on their roots caused by certain microbes, the nitrogen is returned to the soil, oftentimes increasing the value of the land $25.00 per acre. Also, in the cultures of pecans in Texas, where previously in the wild state it took 40 years for a pecan tree to come into full bearing, now it begins to bear fruit eight times the size of the wild-pecan in the third year after planting, and is in full bearing in eight years, producing $250.00 worth of fruit per acre.

The wonderful economy of God is evidenced by the fact that when the resurrection takes place, and "all that are in their graves shall come forth," by the end of the thousand years of the Millenium, all the nitrogen will have been used from the air for the creation of the 20 billions of human bodies, and for the enriching of the soil of the earth, so that the restored human race will find the atmosphere composed of oxygen and carbon-dioxide, the oxygen for the human race and the animals, and the carbon-dioxide for the plants—life, and all in the process of respiration animal life breathing in carbon-dioxide and taking in oxygen, and plant-life the opposite, each would harmonize and cooperate with the other.

This gives a faint idea of how the Lord God Almighty will bring about His wonderful creation of a perfect earth in a perfectly natural way. In harmony with His own laws of nature. If the world of mankind could only catch a glimpse of Jehovah's grand plans, it would bring them on their knees before Him in heartfelt praise and adoration for such a wonderful plan and such a wonderful God.

Professor Robinson selected as his topic John 4:32-36, describing the episode of the Lord and his disciples after He had spoken with the woman of Samaria at the well. His disciples urged the Lord to eat, as it was noon and He replied: "I have meat to eat that ye know not of." The speaker explained that at this time the Lord had been anointed with the Holy Spirit, and thus had been begotten as a New Creature, but he was speaking to those who had not yet been thus begotten, hence his words "meat to eat that ye know not of." And what this meat, or food, was, the Master explains, saying: "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work."

Comparison Used.

What was the comparison the Lord used here? The Lord was here telling them that his food (otherwise translated "meat" meaning "food" in a general sense) was to do what God wished him to do. Food is what we take into the system, to nourish it, keep it active, and to sustain it. So the Master, as a spirit-begotten new creature, was simply stating that to do the will of God was what was nourishing his new creature, keeping it active and sustaining it. Of course, the disciples could not understand him, even as no one not begotten of the spirit can understand this at the present.

Prof. Robinson.

At Pentecost, however, the followers of the Lord were also anointed with the Holy Spirit, thus being begotten as new creatures, and from thenceforth the church, composed of the true followers of the Lamb wherever they might be, can and do appreciate the Lord's words. Also, they themselves are of the same mind, and their food as new creatures is to do the will of the Father in heaven.

But, was not our Lord always doing the Father's will, even before His coming to earth? To tell us He came to do God's will. (Hebrews 10:7) The distinction is that now for the first time He was doing God's will when it meant the suffering of persecution, ignominy and shame. Yet, even in the Garden of Gethsemane, He was able to say: "Not my will, but thine be done," that is, Although I would that this cup pass from me, that if it be possible, I be not crucified as a blasphemer, against God nevertheless, nothwithstanding, irrespective of my own will, choice, or preference, not my will, but thine be done."

Think what this meant! The one in all the universe most faithful to the Father would have to die an ignominious death, as a malefactor. And not only at the end of His ministry, but from beginning to end of His three and one half years of trial time, the Lord Jesus showed the same spirit, manifested that His meat was indeed to do the will of Him that had sent Him.

Died as Ransom Price.

He had left the courts of heavenly glory, had come into a rebellious and sinful world to die as the ransom price for mankind, a willing sacrifice. After two years of the proclamation of His coming kingdom, and the performing of many miracles, we read in the sixth chapter of John, how he fed five thousand in the wilderness, and how the multitude would have taken him by force and made him king. (John 6:15) We can see why they did this. The Jews had a scheme of their own for the carrying out of God's plans. They wished to rebel against Rome, set up their own kingdom, and thus bring about the blessing of all the peoples of the earth. Doubtless they chose Jesus as being the most popular leader, who would be able to lead them against Rome, and although they thought Him a fine moralist, they hoped that if they used force, he might capitulate to their wishes.

"The psychological moment was at hand, if he wished, to take another course than that of self-sacrifice, but he wavered not at all, for in the same verse he read: "He departed again into a mountain himself alone."

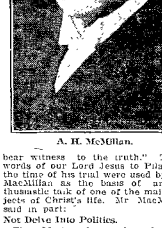

Popularity on Wane.

From that time on, it seems that his popularity with the people was more or less on the wane. When at the Feast of Tabernacles, which was one of the three great feasts of the Jews, he stood in the temple and cried: "If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink." (John XX 7:37.) He was offering them the very thing they needed, yet none came to Him for He knew how he proposed to give them the living water of life, although fully 30,000 people must have been within the range of His voice, for this feast was attended by Jews from all parts of the empire.

At the close of His ministry, even Peter, the oldest of the disciples, older than our Lord in the flesh, gave way under the pressure of the time, and turned against the Master. The Lord might have said: "Here he has been with me for three and a half years, and should certainly have imbibed something of the Truth; yet he, the oldest of my disciples, has had the most advantages among the 12 apostles, who hafe had the most advantages among the sum total of Israel, which has had the most advantage of all the races of earth—if Peter would turn against me and deny me thus, what would not the rest of them do?" But no, the Lord knew the will of God was for him to die as a sacrifice, and He remained faithful to the very end.

A. H. MacMillan, of Nevia Scotia said:

"To this end was I born; for this purpose came I into the world, to bear witness to the truth." These words of our Lord Jesus to Pilate at his trial were used by Mr. MacMillan as the basis of an enthusiastic talk of one of the most vital subjects of Christ's life. Mr MacMillan said in part:

A. H. MacMillan.

Not Delve Into Politics.

The Master here showed with clearness that one of the main objects of his advent into the world was not to delve into Jewish politics, nor to spend his time in various moralistic and humanitarian works, great and admirable though such works would be, but to bear testimony to the truth concerning God's plans and purposes for the blessing of mankind. It is true there were other objects in his leaving the heavenly glory which he had with the Father before the world was: He came "to seek and to save that which was lost," he came to "give himself a ransom for many;" but his bearing witness to the truth was almost inseparably bound up with these exalted missions.

That kingdom, the true testimony of which the Lord bore and which true testimony he passed on to the faithful followers of this Gospel age, will prove to be the very thing which man has wanted and needed all along. It will be the "desire of all nations." For the privilege of testifying to that message our Lord and all his faithful followers have counted shame, ignominy, imprisonment, persecution and death as nothing. If they called the Master of the house Beelzebub for his faithfulness in declaring the Messianic kingdom and for the things necessarily associated with this declaration, it need not be surprising if they apply similar epithets to his followers who are, of course, imperfect and much more likely to call forth the criticism of the enemies of truth.

Xmas Tree For Children Of Employees

The announcement by the Pittsburgh Steel company that a big Christmas tree will be provided and that Santa Claus will visit the thousands of children of the employees of the mill, is welcome news to those who will share in the good things provided. The immense tree, the largest to be brought here, will be placed in the fabric room of the Pittsburgh Steel company and on Christmas morning between 11 and 12 o'clock the little folks will assemble from all sections to the number of more than three thousand and they will receive such gifts as the good Santa scatters among little children.

Superintendents, foremen and officials of the big plant will gather in the room to enjoy the rarest treat that has ever been offered during a holiday season in watching the little folks in their enthusiasm grab up the gifts and cheer the program as it is caried on. Santy will be there himself with two assistants, and will hand out the candy and the presents.

This is the first time in the history of the big mill that such a task has been undertaken and there is no doubt but what the idea will prove a most popular one and that the thousands of little folks as well as their parents will fully appreciate an effort like this.

Struck By Auto

Paul McCoy, aged 23, of Black Diamond, suffered a broken arm and other injuries about the body last night when he was struck by an automobile on the Donora pike between Victory Hill and Black Diamond.

The driver of the machine did not stop after hitting McCoy, but continued towards Donora. McCoy, who was enroute to his home from Victory Hill, was hurled to the ground with such force that his forearm was fractured above the wrist. He walked to a nearby house, and then was assisted to his own residence. The injured man was unable to give a clue as to the identity of the driver, or the number of his car. He told the police that he only noticed the curtains were on the driver's side of the machine. McCoy stated that after he was truck by the car it continued on its way at rate of speed which he estimated at 25 miles an hour.

Entertains Club

Mrs. J. W. Pritchard very pleasantly entertained the D H. D. Klub last evening at her home on Second street. The evening was spent in games, music and guessing contests. Mrs. P. A. Dalton won two prizes and Mrs. Esther Holt and Mrs. Paul Kessler each won a prize. Two new members were admitted into membership. At a late hour Mrs. Pritchard invited the guests to the dining room where the table was fairly groaning with good things to eat. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frew, Mrs. C. Keller, Mrs. Paul Kessler, Mrs. Esther Hott, Misses Claire Smith and Jennie Kessler. Mrs. J. W. Pritchard, Ed Smith Cy Edwards and Howard Higgins.

Condemns Puzzle

Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, pastor of old "Brimstone Corner" in Pittsburgh, doesn't like the cross word puzzle craze. He says: "The working of a cross-word puzzle is the mark of childish mentality.

"A matue mind recognizes the value of studying the dictionary, but juvenile psychology which is the psychology of the country as a whole has to make a game out of it and kid itself into the belief it is having fun. There is no use for persons to pretend that working one of the puzzles carries any intellectual value with it."

Near Death

When thrown into the Monongahela river as a barge towed by the steamer Keystone struck a wall of Lock No. 1 at 7 o'clock last night, Thomas Long, aged 35, of Charleroi, first mate, was rescued by other boatmen. His head struck the barge as he fell overboard and he was rendered unconscious.

He was carried to shore and given first aid. After attempts at resuscitation with a pulmotor he was taken to the Mercy hospital, where it was said his condition is serious.

The fact that Long had a rope lashed about him when he was forced overboard is believed to have saved his life. The boatmen were able to catch an end of the rope and the unconscious man was pulled to the barge.

Defeat Alumni

The High school varsity girls' basket ball team easily defeated the Alumni in a practice game at the Junior High school gymnasium last evening by a score of 30 to 7. Their first home game against an out of town opponent will be played on January 6th, when West Newton girls, cahmpions of Western Pennsylvania in 1922, will try conclusions with them. This game will be a preliminary to the boys' contest with West Newton.

Season tickets for the season are on sale, adult's $2.50 and student's $1 50. They can be secured from any member of the ticket committee, the Motz Lumber Co.'s office, Kirk's drug stores or at the principal's office in either the High school or Junior High.

Toys Burned

(By United Press)

Warren, Pa., Dec. 23—Fire early today destroyed the barn and all the Christmas presents for the 40 children at the Ruth M. Smith home for children at Sheffield. House furnishings for a new dormitory for boys to be occupied January 1st, also were destroyed.

The home was maintained by the Erie Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. The presents were from churches in the conference

Pittsburgh, Dec. 23—The Hanover shoe store on Smithfied street was robbed of $116.00 today by two armed men who escaped. The bandits overlooked the office safe which stood unlocked in a rear room with more than $400 in its cash drawer.

State Police Are Active

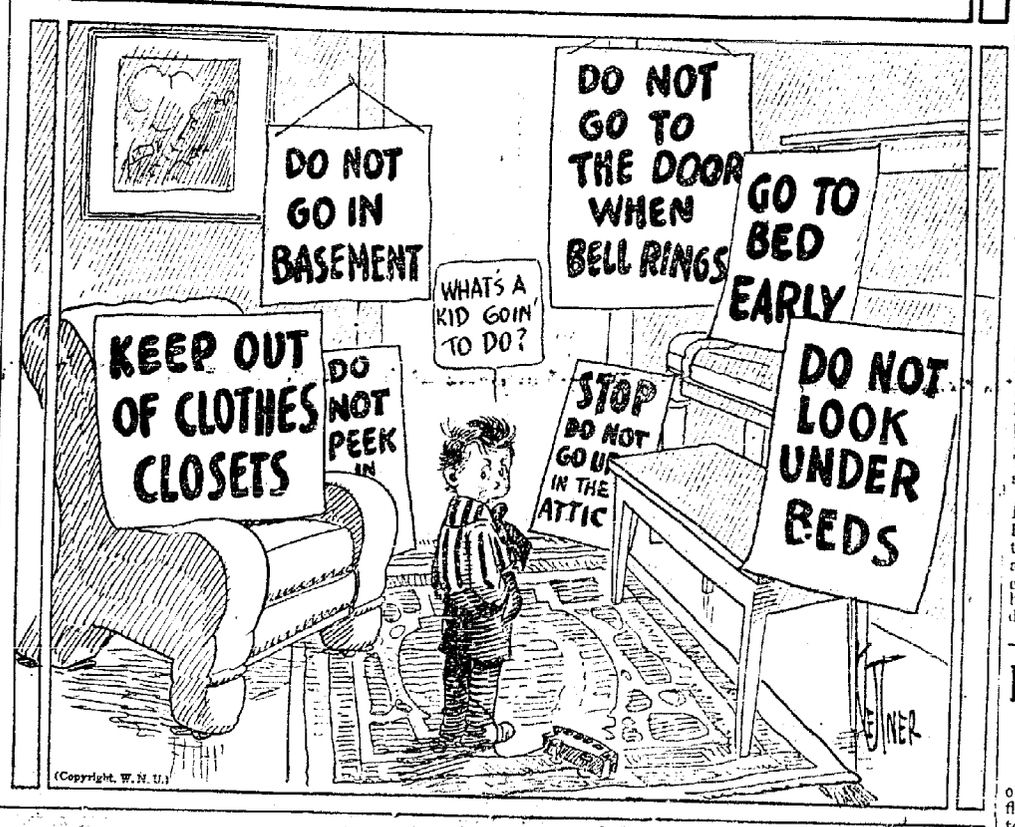

State police are domiciled in Charleroi and it is understood they have instructions to remain until after the holiday period. The troopers are patroling the roads leading into the town searching for contraband liquer. Charleroi has been under observation of late on account of numerous cellar parties that have aroused the ire of the citizens of the town, who have been putting forth a constant effort to improve living conditions and who oppose gambling and the illegal liquor traffic and who are responsible for five members of the state police being stationed there.

The first raid made by the troopers was the old Hotel Arthur on McKean avenue when Andrew Oates, a bartender was placed under arrest.

Oates furnished bail in the sum of $1,000 before Justice of the Peace J. B. Smith, of Charleroi, before whom information was made by Sergeant E. T. Cohee for his appearance at the February term of court. The Arthur Hotel is conducted by Frank B. Oates.

It is understood that the very presence of the troopers has had a quieting effect and some of the "big fellows" who play great stakes are waiting for the activities of the reformers to cease before dropping around.

The Last Two Days Are the Hardest

HAPPY CHRISTMAS ASSURED ALL WORTHY POOR AND UNFORTUNATES OF COMMUNITY

This is the time when good cheer is manifest, when peace on earth and good will to men permeates throughout all mankind, when the spirit of the lowly Nazarene is demonstrated in the thought and care and interest given to others, when in remembrance of His birth and commemeration of His acts man becomes thoughtful of the less fortunate.

Christmas with all its joys and happiness is in full tide. Kind words, good deeds, generous impulses are in evidence all around us, and it is with more than gratification, it is with joy that we note that the Northern Italian Political Association, corner of Fourth street and Knox avenue, have voted to contribute to the Board of Charity of the city $25.00 and to the Salvation Army $25.00 and will make a further disbursement of $50.00 under personal supervision.

This act upon the part of this Association will meet the approval of all good people, will merit the gratitude and thanks of those who receive of its bounty, and the Association will find to its credit that such deeds bring joy and delight not only to the donors but also to those receiving. It is just acts like these that bring man into the full realization that the greatest duty of man is to man and that no greater joy can come to one than that which comes from service, for a real blessing comes to him who serves.

A new organization in the field this Christmas that is doing much to relieve the suffering and add to the joys of the unfortunate at this glad Christmas time is the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion. They have not confined themselves to the aid of ex-service men and their families, but this season after taking care of these unfortunates they started out over the district in answer to calls and have aided many families.

Eight well filled boxes were dispatched last week to ex-service men who are patients in the various hospitals over the country. This week the committee, headed by the president, Mrs. A. R. Wilson, visited homes in this city, Belle Vernon and Webster. At Belle Vernon the destitute family of a blind man was given clothing and provisions. Eight small children are included in the family. At Webster a lonely widow, whose husband was killed a short time ago, was given aid while at Webster Hollow a widow and two children was furnished with clothing and provisions.

On Seneca street, this city, a family of a man and his wife and eight children were given aid. The father is ill in bed and there were no signs of Christmas cheer until the arrival of the committee. A tubercular patient on Schoonmaker avenue was furnished with blankets and other necessities to make him as comfortable as possible.

The Monessen Lodge of Elks No. 773 will, as usual, carry out its holiday charity program on a large scale and many families will be made happy with well filled baskets of groceries, clothing, shoes and money, where it is found necessary. Seventy-two baskets containing ham, potatoes, candy, oranges and other groceries, will be distributed by the lodge before Christmas Day.

The Salvation Army has an extensive program for the holidays, the local workers are in close touch with those who are in need of aid and they will distribute baskets of groceries, clothing, shoes and toys to the worthy poor of the district. Just now they are appealing to the public through their pots on the street corners for contributions in order that none of the unfortunates may be passed by.

The Croatian Society of this city will look after all their poor and needy and recently held a benefit concert and bazaar by which to raise funds for this purpose.

The Croation Beneficial Society distributed $237.00 in cash among 28 unfortunates. This money included the proceeds of the benefit concert and a check from John G. Cheek for $61.00, which previously had been given him to defray his expenses while attending a convention as a delegate from the local society.

Charity committees of the various other lodges and organizations in the city have made a careful survey of their membership and the section in general and will see that none of the unfortunates are passed by at this time of the year.

The charities committee of the Board of Trade does not carry a fund to be dispersed at Christmas time, but confines its activities to all seasons of the year. The report at the last meeting, which is as follows, shows the work that is being done by this committee.

Report of charity committee for year 1924:

50 adults served, of whom
30 are widows with children
2 deserted wives with children
9 sick husbands with families
9 wives with sick husbands and families.

There are 156 children in these families. Amount expended $3000.00.

The statistical phase of the work does not in any way reflect the work of your committee, nor does it in any wise measure the great service rendered the unfortunate and indigent of this community through the instrumentality of the Board of Trade.

When it is understood that the expenditure of this money is done under circumstances the most needy, and that our withholding aid would mean in a great many cases actual starvation, it will be seen that this is a most worthy activity. We have used our good offices to have imbecile children sent to the proper institutions; and demented adults to Dixmont; tubercular victims sent to Cressan. We have given medical attention to the sick, which they were unable to provide for themselves.

In the carrying out of our work as your representatives we have endeavored to be intelligent, patient and sympathetic.

We hope that our treatment of these children will teach them that society is not heartless, that they in turn when they grow to manhood and womanhood may serve others and thus justify the interest you are now taking in them.

For Radio Fans

The International Bible Students are broadcasting a special program this week from Watchtower, Station WBBR, at Brooklyn, N. Y., which is one of unusual merit. The Monessen radio enthusiasts are asked and urged to "listen in" as they will hear something of real worth. A good program was rendered Sunday and yesterday and on Thursday, Christmas Day, an unusually good program has been arranged. At 8 o'clock in the evening the Watchtower orchestra will play several numbers and at 8:20 there will be several vocal solos and duets, embracing Christmas selections. At 8:30 the program proper will begin at which time there will be several violin solos by Dr. Hans Haag, and Christmas carols by the International Bible Students Association Choral singers, following which at 9:10 Judge Rutherford will give a Bible lecture "Rapture of the Angels." At the conclusion of the lecture a vocal quartet will sing "O Holy Night," the accompaniment being played by the Watchtower String Quartette.

Sewer Gas Causes Alarm In Hill District

Residents of First street hill were given a scare and many were driven hurriedly from their home late yesterday evening when deadly gas fumes were detected in many of the houses.

Calls for aid were sent to the Peoples Natural Gas Company, and the city officials and in a few moments the gas company had a force of men in the community while J. A. Watkins, superintendent of streets and public improvements, Health Officer Francis Gibson and City Engineer Thomas Finnie also hurried to the scene to investigate.

The homes of C. C. Bolig, C. L. Kehlenbeck, W. M. Trago, Boyd Bloom and many others in the vicinity of First and Linden were visited and the poisonous gas fumes were easily detected. The occupants of the houses went to the street while windows and doors were thrown open and furnace fires were extinguished.

After investigation the gas officials stated that the fumes were not from a leaking gas main and the city officials the traced it to the sewer and down the hill to First and McKee.

Yesterday shortly after the noon hour a huge truck of the Hagan Ice Cream company ran away down the hill and was wrecked at the corner of First and McKee. The gasoline tank was broken and ten gallons of gasoline ran into the sewer. By evening the fumes had reached the hill district and were escaping into the cellars of the residences giving cause for the alarm.

A force of city employees soon had a stream of water pouring into the sewers and after flushing the pipes thoroughly all danger had passed and the occupants of the homes again closed their houses and retired in comfort and safety.

Address Rotary

George W. Hughes was the speaker before the Rotary club today, his subject being the "History of Steel." He dealt with his subject both from a historical and scientific standpoint and he demonstrated that he has a knowledge of the industry of which he has made a life study. He started with the history of the iron industry and traced it through its various developments into what is commonly termed the iron age, or the present time. Mr. Hughes spoke practically without notes which is evidence of the fact that he is familiar with the growth and the development of the steel business in all of its various phases. His talk was doubly interesting locally because Monessen has developed as a city as a result of the growth of the steel business.

Youthful Thieves Arrested

A trio of youthful thieves are prisoners in the local city jail after having confessed to entering the store of Edward Edwards in Pricedale and stealing $40.00 in cash from a register and taking merchandise valued at over $100.00. The prisoners are Charles Kutick, John Tylowski and Frank Chaboy, all about 18 years of age and living in Pricedale.

It is alleged that late Sunday night they gained entrance to the store by breaking a front door, and once in the building they ransacked the cash register, taking the money which was principally in small change. After helping themselves to candy and other articles they departed and the robbery was not discovered until the following day.

Constables Mochnaiv and Wyatt were called and immediately started to investigate. Their first clue was discovered in Belle Vernon, where one of the youths had purchased a pair of trousers and other articles and paid the bill in quarters. It was known that he had two companions with him at the time and the officers trailed them to a theatre, where the trio was found.

They were placed under arrest and confessed and charges were brought against them before Alderman J. B. White of this city and they will be given a hearing today.

Can the American Government Endure? No! Says Judge Rutherford

Judge Rutherford says by his talk of June 26th over a national chain of radio stations as follows: (Excerpts from Judge Rutherford's talk.)—

"Today there is no true patriotism among the rulers of the nation. It is now impossible for the people to elect men to public office and to expect them to speak their own and to administer the affairs of the government for the general welfare."

"Big Business has no regard for the rights of the common people."

"It controls the two major political parties of America, and names and elects as will the public men to office who will best serve their selfish interests. Big Business controls the army and the navy, the guns and the ammunition and the police power of the nation."

"Satan has used commerce, politics and religion that he might get complete control of the human race and defame the name and Word of Jehovah God. For this reason it is written in the Bible (1 John 5:19), The whole world is now under the wicked one."

"The rulers have been duly informed and duly warned that Jehovah God's kingdom is here. They have refused to give heed. They disregard the Word of God and go on with their forbidden schemes, and will continue to try one after another, all of which shall fail."

"The greatest crisis of the ages is now upon the world, and this includes the American government."

"The clergy, while claiming to represent God, in fact represent the Devil and his organization. In order that the people might hear the truth and determine with respect to themselves, recently I challenged the combined clergy of America to select their best man to debate this question before radio audiences with representatives of God and serving Satan. Those gentlemen decided either cowa fraid and spurn the debate of the charges, or, failing in that, should cause to be published as authentic as the Word of God. Jehovah foretold the outcome of such a challenge and the attitude that would be assumed by the preachers, when he caused his prophet Jeremiah to write, at chapter 51 verse 30: 'The mighty men of Babylon (Christendom) have forborn to fight; they have remained in their holds; their might hath failed.' Let the people take note of this fact."

"In 1917 Big Business, for ultrselfish reasons, needlessly and wantonly forced the American nation into the World War, which resulted in the greatly increased wealth and power of a few men and made safe and passports of many millions of people."

"While grappling across like the tentacles of a mighty octopus, Big Business has had hold upon practically all of the visible wealth of the nation."

"The American government has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It cannot endure. Together with all other nations, it must shall fail. Satan's fall will be in spite of everything Big Business, politicians and clergymen, the military and the 'strong-arm-squad,' and the devil and all his hosts can do to help uphold the organization rule. It must and will fall because Jehovah God's kingdom is here. Hasten to take shelter under Jehovah's kingdom."

"The same selfish interests own and control the professional clergyment, and these men make merchandise of the Word of God in order to deceive the people in supporting and submitting to the ruling powers. Thus it is plainly seen that the power of the government is controlled in the hands of a very few."

"Within a short time Jehovah God will destroy the Devil and his entire organization."

"Jehovah made this earth for man to live upon in peace and plenty, health and happiness; and under the reign of Christ, the Restorer, the earth shall regain its former beauty and God shall bless the people, and all in the earth shall know Him."

If you want to get a copy of the Golden Age Magazine which contains this talk of Judge Rutherford, write to the Watch Tower Bible & Tract Society, 117 Adams Street, Brooklyn, New York.

Trees Are Not Dead—Just Slow

Development of Leaves, Bloom Delayed as Result of Warm Winter Temperatures

Many growers are worrying about the condition of their deciduous fruit and walnut trees this spring, according to M H. Kimball, assistant farm advisor in Los Angeles county for the University of California. Inquiries and comments are frequent to the effect that walnut, peach, apricot and other deciduous fruit trees must be almost dead, as they are slow coming into bloom and putting out leaves. Mr. Kimball points out that these trees are not dead, but that the normal development of leaves and bloom is delayed as a result of warm winter temperatures which existed during December, January, and February past. This condition, known as "Delayed Foliation" or "Abnormal Dormancy," has occurred in Southern California many times in the last ten years. Growers who have been in the business that length of time will remember that the seasons of 1924, 1926, 1928, 1930, and 1931 were abnormal to a greater or lesser extent, 1924 and 1928 being the worst

The delayed condition is not a failure of the tree to go completely dormant. It is rather a failure of the tree to "wake up" in the spring. Most of our peach, apricot, apple, pear, plum, walnut, and some of our berry varieties have grown for centuries under more northern or temperate zone conditions rather than the subtropical conditions in Southern California, and therefore require for proper growth a certain amount of cold weather in the winter time. Failing to experience this cold weather, they are not in condition to grow properly in the spring.

There is nothing one can do to bring them out Irrigation is of no avail, in fact, irrigation should be delayed until the trees have had a chance to develop leaves and use the water in the soil. While trees are somewhat weakened by delay and poor crop usually results, Mr Kimball points out, they do not die from this cause; adding that some varieties may not be in full leaf until May or early June.

Walnut Bacteriosis (Blight) Bulletin Available

The results of many years' experimental work in developing a control spray for walnut bacteriosis, commonly called "blight," are available in bulletin form, according to M. H. Kimball assistant farm advisor in Los Angeles county for the University of California This bulletin is called "Bacteriosis (blight) of the English Walnut in California and Its Control." It was issued recently as University of California Bulletin No 564

In this bulletin, Professor B. A Rudolph, associate plant pathologists, University of California, has described and illustrated the various stages of bacteriosis infection in the walnut. Formulas for spray control and the results obtained in the experimental work are clearly set forth in a very excellent manner.

This bulletin is available to any one who desires it at the office of the Farm Advisor, 524 North Spring, Los Angeles.

Judge Rutherford to Speak on World Control

The people of Southern California will soon have the privilege of hearing Judge Rutherford in person when he delivers his lecture on "World Control," March 25, 3.30 p m., at Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles.

Judge Rutherford is probably one of the most favorably known men in America today, due to the fact that his interesting speeches are being broadcast by more than 300 radio stations.

When Judge Rutherford steps on the stage at the Shrine auditorium the people will behold the man that is known throughout the world as the people's friend, and their faith in Judge Rutherford is evidenced by the fact that the largest petition ever presented to Congress was recently sent to that body asking that he be kept on the air. Selecting Members of Industry Board

Study Egg and Poultry Marketing Situation in Area Affected

Four out of six of the producer representatives to the Southern California Egg Industry board have been selected, according to information from L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm advisor in Los Angeles county for the University of California. District No. 1, which includes Madera, Fresno, Kings, Tulare, and Kern counties, selected Raymond D Nelson of Kingsburg. District No. 2, composed of San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, and Ventura counties, has not yet made its selection. District No 3, made up of the San Fernando and Antelope valley, selected Fred R. Schindler of Canoga Park. District No 4, which includes San Gabriel valley, Pomona valley, and south Los Angeles county, has not yet made its selection. District No. 5, comprising Riverside and San Bernardino counties, selected J. . Gallinas of Ontario. District No. 6, which includes Orange, San Diego, and Imperial counties, selected M. A. Schofield of Vista.

At a conference of producers and distributors at which W. D Termohlen, in charge of the poultry work under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, was present, some few changes were recommened. R. F. Wilcox, marketing specialist for the University of California, was instructed to revise the agreement and place it in the hands of the Distributors' committee, as eventually any agreement worked out under the A. A. A. will have to be between distributors and the secretary of agriculture. However, producers have equal representation on the Industry board, which is set up to regulate the agreement as well as to present their side of the story at the public hearing.

According to Sanborn, Mr. Wilcox is conferring with Professor E. C Voohries and Dr. H. E. Erdman of the Economics division of the University of California relative to revising the agreement, as these two gentlemen are conducting a study of the egg and poultry marketing situation in the area covered by the agreement It is expected that this revised agreement will reach the distributors at an early date.

VETERAN'S PLAN SEEMS REASONABLE

The American Legion, at is recent national convention in Chicago, adopted what is known in Legion circles as the "Four-point program." This represents the conservative plan and expectations of the masses of Legionnaires throughout the country. It is a fair, reasonable and just program. These are the four points of the program:

1 That no war veteran disabled in the line of duty suffers any reduction of those benefits granted such veterans in the World War Veterans' Act as in effect prior to March 20, 1933

2. That hospitalization under federal government auspices be afforded all veterans not dishonorably discharged who require hospital treatment and who are not able to reasonably pay for their own treatment

3. That perpetuation of service connection for all veterans properly granted such service connections, under laws in existence prior to March 20, 1933, be recommended as an item of Legion policy.

4. That the benefits provided for dependents of veterans as established in the World War Veterans' Act be resumed and maintained as the government's policy and that in no event shall widows and/or dependent children of deceased World War veterans be without governmental protection

Surely there can be no valid objection to this program, which calls for an increase of not to exceed $100,000,000 allowance for veterans, the nation over. Should not these deserving veterans who, at the call of their country, left home and family and jobs and all that men hold dear, to stake their lives, to offer their bodies maimed or to become infected with disease—should not these veterans have first claim among all the classes and groups, to the fair and generous consideration of their government? Surely they should.—Pasadena Star-News, March 3, 1934.

DEPENDABILITY

Now, at the start of the 1934 baby chick season, is the time when poultrymen must select their feed supply. These times have taught us all the value of dependability. Through the years Ace Hi feeds have maintained unfailing dependability and many poultrymen now know that it pays to buy good feeds. Ace Hi dependability has been conclusively proven.

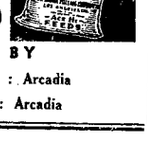

Start your baby chicks on Ace Hi and follow through with Growing-Mash and Laying Mash to greater poultry profit. Ace Hi feeds have years of success behind them, and thousands of poultrymen today are profiting from feeding them.

BABY CHICK BROODING MASH
Fast Growth with Low Mortality
GROWING MASH
For Healthy Growth
LAYING MASH
For heavy fall and winter production as well as spring

People who depend on poultry for their entire income have come to know that Ace Hi feeds are, year after year, dependable, high grade feeds, at prices which always justify the cost. Our 1934 chick feeds are the best we have ever made.

Our poultry field supervisors, who have a thorough knowledge of modern poultry research, are available upon direct request to the California Milling Corporation at Los Angeles, or through feed stores who stock Ace Hi.

Lesson for Boys on "Sprinting" by World Record Holder

Emerson "Bud" Spencer former world's record holder for 400 meters, gives the following pointers to improve speed:

The first principle of running and all forms of competition in athletics, is relaxation. Every boy should strive for this relaxation in running.

Starting is conceded to be the most difficult part of sprinting to master. A race is won or lost in the first few yards, but not because a man leaves his holes a fraction of a second later than his opponent. Many of the world's fastest sprinters won fame because of a sweeping finish, but these cyclonic finishes would never have been possible had not the winner come from his holes with the degree of perfection which found him in excellent running position before he started his drive.

You cannot run until you have propelled yourself into running position. Starters take shorter steps coming from their holes because they cannot take a long, full stride until momentum is all warrant it. Perfect running position is a slight lean forward with the heel and back of the head in a straight line.

The crouching start is used with tips of your fingers and thumbs acting as a prop. Hands should not be spread too far apart, and when you are in your marks properly your elbows should lock. In other words, your arms should be straight, elbows not bent.

The placing of holes depends on the physique of each individual; long-legged boys naturally require a greater spread than short, stocky youngsters. The position should be comfortable and the back hole must not be so far back that the rear leg becomes too straight in the "get set" position. Don't worry about which leg you use to push from the holes. That comes natural.

At the command, "On your mark," the runner assumes a relaxed position with his weight forward on the tips of his fingers. In this way, at the command, "Get set," the boy's weight is forward and he is immediately ready to throw himself onward with the report of the pistol.

It is necessary that the first stride be made in the proper manner, for if it isn't, it delays the runner from attaining speed. Many boys take short, jab-like strides when learning to start. This is a good practice because it breaks down a tendency to make strides too long before gaining proper speed.

Two of the difficulties boys will experience in learning to start will come from an improper starting position and in taking long strides before running position.

Boys should run full tilt to the tape. Many boys have a bad habit of slowing up when the tape is near. Make it a rule to run clear through the tape. Try to master the start. It is essential in the latter part of your race that you get out of your holes in the proper prescribed manner. That is more than half of sprinting—as far as boys are concerned.

Central Control of Rural Roads Being Discussed

Widespread interest has developed in the theory of centralized administration of all rural roads, recently endorsed in principle as an economy and efficiency measure by Automobile Club of Southern California directors.

Various angles of the present setup versus the central control idea for road maintenance and development are now being discussed in many sections between officials concerned, informed highway students, and auto club representatives. Also being considered is the matter of a more equitable allocation of gasoline tax revenue as between city streets and rural roads.

Pointing out the evident duplication of effort and lack of correlation in the building and improving of roads by fifty-eight county boards of supervisors on one hand, and the state itself on the other, club directors in a resolution instructed the organization's engineering and legal departments to draft detailed recommendations for possible revision of the system.

FIRST AVE. SCHOOL NOTES

MUSIC NEWS

The departmental system of the First Avenue school is having something very interesting in music. Each class is having a musical program once a month consisting of piano solos and things of that nature. Miss Leaver's 7B class is going to have one Thursday, and Mrs. Twomby's 7A class will have one in the near future. Also each class will have an accompanist known as the "Class Pianist." The tryouts will take place soon and the best one will be chosen by the class.

Singing is coming along fine, and Mrs. Wadleigh, who recently tested the voices, says that there are a number of very good basses, altos, tenor-altos, sopranos, etc.

The 8A's are working on "The Beautiful Blue Danube," by Strauss, as a choral number which will be used for graduation in June.—Elsie Mae Schermerhorn, Music Editor, Grade 8A.

VISIT TO SOUTHWEST MUSEUM

Mrs. Twombly's 7A class visited the Southwest museum Friday, March 3. The children were transported to and from the museum in private cars driven by Mrs. Twombly, Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Brookover, Mrs. Ramuz, Mr. Davidson, and Mr. Allen.

The children saw many interesting things, some of which were: Three Indian mummies, relics belonging to the Indian religion; weapons, rugs, pottery, totem poles, Katchina dolls, masks, miniature teepees, boats, Fremont's American flag, an eagle, maps, old books, and skulls. This interesting visit will greatly help the children in their study of Indians. They are now preparing to write paragraphs on "What they saw at the museum."—Thelma Sprague, 8B.

MRS. HAWLEY'S ROOM

In athletics, the pupils in Mrs. Hawley's class are planning a series of activities. One of them will be the high jump. The other is to be a horseshoe pitching contest.—Mary E. Griffin, 8B.

OFFICE NEWS

The patrolmen and safety committeemen have succeeded in stopping all bicycle riding on the school grounds. No accidents have been reported as yet.—Thelma Sprague.

The Easter vacation will start Monday, March 26, and end Friday, March 30.

Everybody is going to have a good time, dyeing eggs and fixing up baskets to give to the little children at home.—Lo Ree Gansner, 8B.

A REAL TREAT

Thursday last, the students and faculty of the First Avenue school were treated to a real surprise. About 9:30 that morning Principal Nelson announced that there was a mounted policeman from Canada to talk to us. After assembling on the bleachers, Major Gustav H. Shoof introduced himself as the mounted constable of the Dominion of Canada. He was dressed in full uniform, with a bright red coat much like that of the red coats of long ago. At the age of 67 he is very active, still being in service under the British government.

While serving as a mounted police in Africa he collected numerous articles of interest, among them being skins of the leopard, wolf, tiger, zebra, some of which are over forty years old. Major Shoof also had many kinds of artillery from different places. Some of the weapons were those of the natives of Africa.

The major showed us an overgrown lizard skin that was killed in Mexico over 250 years ago. A very large bullet was used and the hole from the bullet is still visible on the head. It is a beautiful specimen for a reptile 250 years old. Everything Major Shoof said was breathtaking and was enjoyed by all.—Elsie Mae Schermerhorn, 8A.

OFFICE NEWS

Mr. Palmer has gone to a great deal of work and trouble getting sawdust to put under the acting bars, so that if anyone falls he will not injure himself severely.—LoRee Gansner.

California Highway Patrol to Watch for Drunken Drivers

E. Raymond Cato, chief, California Highway Patrol, March 8, to all traffic officers:

An alarming situation is fast developing due to the increase of deaths in motor vehicle accidents throughout the state. Analysis of these accidents show an enormous increase in the number of drunken drivers involved.

Another alarming fact is that while drunk-driving accidents have increased in January, 1934, there has been a reduction in the number of arrests made for drunken driving as compared with January, 1933.

This condition must be improved immediately. District inspectors and captains will call officers together and apprise them of the above facts. Further, you will so arrange the the schedules of your officers and assign officers at strategic points and peak-traffic hours where they can observe traffic, and particularly the condition of operators of motor vehicles for violations of Sections 112, 113 and 121 of the Motor Vehicles Act.

I shall expect an immediate increase in activities and decrease in the accident problem. District inspectors and captains will seek the support of the local press in a continued effort against the above mentioned violations. You will also advise the justices of the peace in your district of the facts abov estated.

Rifle Club to Hold Shoot

Membership in Club Closed Indefinitely; Visitors Are Welcome at Range

The Arcadia Rifle club scheduled shoot will be held this week-end at the Police range. Starting Saturday afternoon about 1:30, a group of about fourteen will fire the 50-foot course with the small bore rifle. Four position will be fired—prone, kneeling, sitting and standing—five shots in each position, with three sighting in shots. This shoot promises to be a "hard nut" for the majority of the club members to crack with the exception of a few close distance shooters, who may be able to find the target at fifty feet, standing position, free rifle (no sling allowed to be used with free rifle).

Sunday, the remainder of the club will fire the 75-foot course, fired the same as the 50-foot, including positions, shots and sighting in shots.

After the shooting this week is finished the members will have completed all ranges up to and including the 100-yard line. Upon completion of the contemplated new range, the club will then take in the 200 and 300 yard line, along with the 300-meter small bore course. However, upon the present range site 100 yards is the longest distance it is possible to fire.

Word was received from the Kansas club in regard to the postal match they were supposed to fire against the local club two weeks ago. The letter stated they would fire the course as soon as they could possibly find a spare day, due to being thrown out of firing the course on March 11 on account of cold weather.

Membership in the local club is closed indefinitely, unless one of the present members drop out or a suitable range is secured. Visitors are always welcome at any of the club shoots.

Thursday Night Illustrated Lecture to Be Held Next Week

New Spring Excursion Rate Offered by Southern Pacific

A new spring vacation round-trip excursion rate having a return limit of ten days will be in effect from March 20 until May 31 between Southern California cities and those west of Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans, it was announced today by G. W. Wetherby, district passenger agent for Southern Pacific company.

The tickets will be honored on all trains and will be on the basis of one and one-third of the new low one-way fare for the round trip, it was stated.

The spring rates were planned for those desiring to make vacation or other trips of short duration prior to the opening of the summer tourist season, which will provide for more extended journeys.

Los Angeles Times: Walter M. Claire, alias Walter Maxwell, was sentenced to fifteen months in federal prison by United States District Judge Holizer on a charge of passing counterfeit $20 note. Claire refused to explain the source of the bogus currency.

Foreclosure Curb Upheld

Los Angeles Times: Persons foreclosing street improvement bonds will be compelled to pay the penalties due to the city for delinquencies and also to procure a cancellation of the bond before the entry of the judgment of foreclosure by the county clerk, according to a decision rendered by Superior Judge Wilson.

Mushroom Gift Rejected

Claremont Courier: A Claremont family was recently the pleased recipient of a "mess" of freshly gathered mushrooms, the gift of a friend. Great was their rejoicing and greater their anticipation as this delight of the epicure was prepared to add zest to the coming meal.

Enter the wolf. When the busy housewife ceased her duties later in the day, she opened the daily paper and noted a headline in large display type: "Many Die From Mushroom Feast." That was enough news for one sitting. Without further ado, said housewife took the mushrooms in hand and led them sans ceremony to the burial ground in the back yard. Apparently 'were better that if daisies must be pushed up, the mushrooms should do it themselves and not pass the buck.

New Penalty Devised

Los Angeles Post Record: A new system whereby automobiles are jailed instead of drivers, is to be instituted in Los Angeles traffic court, according to Judge Condee. The penalty will be invoked in minor cases where incarcerating the defendant might work a hardship on his family.

Runaway Boys Located

Sierra Madre News: Roe Wagner and Lynne McCray, two 15-year-old Sierra Madre boys who some weeks ago set out to see the country in a rattletrap model T Ford, managed to arrive safely in Chicago unmolested by the police of a dozen states who had been notified to be on the lookout for them. Saturday young Wagner's parent's received a telegram from the eastern city which stated their son and his boy friend were visiting his grandmother, and concluded: "Don't worry."

No Lions in San Gabriel Canyon

Glendora Press: Charles Ledshaw, California state lion hunter, accompanied by Forest Ranger Miller E. Newman and five dogs, spent two days in upper San Gabriel canyon in February, looking for mountain lions which were reported to be roaming the game refuge. Although intensive search was made around Burro, Suzanne, Graveyard, Rattlesnake and Devil's canyons and at Iron Fork, no traces of lions were found. Evidences of depredations of bears recently released at Crystal lake, were plentiful, however.

County Automobile Use Abused

Los Angeles Herald: A declaration by John R. Quinn, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, that the use of county automobiles is "being abused" by employees, resulted in the board of supervisors canceling all permits to house public cars anywhere except in the county garage on Market street.

Mulholland Dam a Threat

Los Angeles Post Record: Councilman Hyde said that the thickly populated section of Hollywood is safe from flood damage only if the water is kept below the spillway in the dam. The controversy on the dam question was started by Mrs. Fred V. Watson, club woman, who charged that the dam was an absolute menace to the lives and property of persons residing in the film city.

Olvera Street Fiesta

Los Angeles Times: Plans for a grand entertainment on Olvera street on the 31st inst., to celebrate the close of Lent and the fourth birthday of the Olvera street project, were completed Friday at the historic Avila Adobe, by sixty citizens of Los Angeles who have organized the Olvera Street association.

The new association plans to conduct monthly meetings in the interests of Olvera street, but its immediate objective is the support of "La Fiesta del Sabado de Gloria," or "Festival of the Glorious Saturday," which will feature street singers and musicians, gay senoritas and their caballeros and many theatrical performances.

A MOTHER DIES OF JOY

While her two sons in the United States, worked to be able to bring her to this country, Mrs. Romona de Nunez, of Venzuela, waited ten years for the glad tidings that she would at last be united with her boys.

The other day they were at the pier in New York to welcome her. She died of excitement as the ship came within sight of the Statue of Liberty, when her dream was at hand.

How often do men plot and plan, only to discover the futility of earthly power. The sons and their mother are now separated by a gulf that no boat can cross, and which science, with all inteligence, has been unable to fathom.

Jordan State Game Farm To Be Dedicated August 24

An elaborate program is being planned for the dedication of the Jordan State Game Farm, Harlansburg, Lancaster County, named for Hon. C. G. Jordan, Secretary of the Department of Agriculture.

The event is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association. Governor Fisher has been asked to attend the ceremonies and will be present if at all possible. The principal speakers will be Secretary Jordan and Mr. Ross L. Leffler, President of the Board of Game Commissioners.

In addition to the ceremonies of dedication, a trap shooting event is being planned for the afternoon and an Ox Roast, costing $1.00 per person, will be the feature of the evening. Preparations are being made to care for not less than 3,000 people. The association expects in the neighborhood of 5,000 however.

Following the banquet, motion pictures of various wild life subjects will be shown.

Approximately 28,000 eggs were produced at the Jordan Farm this season, and these were distributed among various Game Refuge Keepers, Sportsmen's Associations, and ndividual sportsmen throughout the State, a number being retained at the Jordan Farm however. Approximately 3000 young pheasants were successfully raised at the Jordan Farm.

These birds, with the exception of a sufficent number for next year's breeding stock, are now being shipped to various sections of the State.

HERE'S ONE GOOD CAMPAIGN.

Automobile traffic deaths attract attention everywhere. That the fatality list is excessive appears plainly to all.

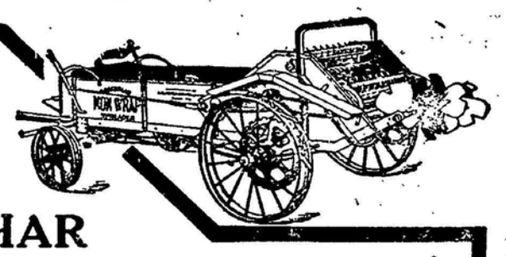

We hasten to commend the Rotary Clubs of this county for their decision to launch a nation-wide campaign to curb the mounting toll of automobile traffic deaths.

Safer highway construction, annual inspection of motor vehicles and standardizatio nof traffic regulations are suggested as a beginning.

The Edison test for the smart boy to follow in his footsteps, and become his successor, attracted a great amount of attention in the press. It was interesting, largely because everybody feels sure that the committee didn't have a ghost of a chance.

WEEKLY HEALTH TALK

"The wayside eating stand has ceased to be an incidental affair. Both in numbers and types it has had an enormous growth in the past few years. Motorists by the thousands are now depending upon these establishments, not only for occasional refreshment but for their full fledged meals as well. It has thus become a great seasonal business of national importance," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"It is true that conditions are improving in many of these places and that the regular standards of cleanliness and sanitation are being more carefully observed than formerly was the case. On the other hand, there are yet many stands of this character whose proprietors pay little if any attention to the conditions in and around them. And it is rather surprising how many people who are finicky concerning their food when served at home or in restaurants pay no attention whatsoever to insanitary and even unsafe service when they are on the road.

"Health departments and national distributors of food and refreshments stuffs are cooperating extensively in the movement for better and cleaner stands. But even with public health and big business thus allied, the deciding factor in the last analysis is the patron himself.

"Before patronizing these establishments the automobilist should reasonably assure himself that the drinking water is safe, that the milk, if purchased, is sold in original containers, that facilities for the proper cleansing of eating and drinking utensils exist and that they are employed, and that the employes themselves present a clean appearance with particular reference to their hands and finger nails.

"Despite the concerted effort to improve conditions, unless a personal and intelligent cooperation of the thousands who daily avail themselves of the wayside service is exercised, the situation will continue to fall far short of that which should be expected of it. Let better and cleaner stands be a personal slogan. And govern yourself accordingly."

HERES A YOUNG HERO!

This is to sing the praise of Harold Weltick, thirteen year old, of Long Island, N. Y., who, playing in his rear doorway, heard a mother upstairs scream.

Looking into the air, he saw five year old Emily Donoghue falling toward the stone courtyard. He leaped forward, planted his legs firmly, and caught her in his arms, as both of them hurled to the pavement.

Besides a few bruises neither was hurt. The quick thinking youngster saved the girl's life. Unlike fairy stories she was not a princess, and they will probably never marry, but that doesn't mean that this young fellow won't make a splendid man when he gets older, which is better than marrying a princess.

CAN YO UREAD? AND HOW?

The average American reads less than one book a year, according to figures in World's Work which calls attention to the fact that only 100,000,000 volumes, exclusive of text-books, are read each year by 120,000,000 lusty Americans, who are constantly shouting about their intelligence.

It is amazing to learn, from the same cource that five other nations printed more new books than this vast democracy, where only 10,153 new titles were published. Against these figures, Russia has 36,680, Germany 31,062, Japan 19,967, Great Britain 13,810 and France 11,922.

In Bedford County there are any number of good readers, who like new books and appreciate that at present prices a new volume costs no more than a good show. Still, there is tremendous room for improvement in our midst. Reading is vital to the development of keener intellects and stimulates thought, as valuable a product as modern industry or commerce produces.

As the World's Work says, "considering our eagerness for the acquisition of fresh knowledge, the profit and diversion to be found in a good book, and the number of good books offered us each year we could do better."

Judge Awaits Next Coming Of King David

Feels Ancient Ruler Will Return; Deeds Him $75,000 Home

One of Most Unique Religious Beliefs to Strike California

Los Angeles, March 22 (UP).—A $75,000 Spanish mansion commanding a superb mountain view and lying almost within a stone's throw of the ruins of California's first mission awaits the coming of King David, slayer of Goliath.

Judge James Rutherford, owner of the mansion in San Diego and president of the International Bible Students and Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, admitted today that he was not quite sure when King David would appear, but added that "everything is ready for him when he does."

Judge Rutherford, once a Circuit judge of Missouri and a friend of William Jennings Bryan when the great Commoner first ran as the Democratic nominee for President, has deeded the property to King David, preferably, but he included any of the kings or prophets mentioned in the 11th Chapter of Hebrews as alternatives.

David, Gideon, Barak, Sampson, Jepthae, Joseph and Samuel are the Biblical characters who will find a great welcome at the hands of Judge Rutherford and his associates if they ever become residents of Southern California.

"I purposely landscaped the place with palm and olive trees so King David and these princes of the universe will feel at home when they come to offer man the chance to become perfect," said the all, dignified judge.

"But how will you identify King David or any of the other representatives from God?" Judge Rutherford was asked.

"Before I signed the deed I realized the possibility of some old codger turning up bright and early and declaring he was David," the judge replied. "The men I have designated to test the identity of these men are officers of my societies and, having consecrated themselves to the Lord, they will be divinely authorized to know imposters from the real princes."

Records on file in San Diego show that the 10-room, two-story residence was turned over to Judge Rutherford by Robert J. Martin of Brooklyn, N. Y., for $10 consideration and that Judge Martin subsequently deeded it to the ancient kings.

Judge Rutherford's plan to establish the famous Biblical characters in comfortable California quarters is one of the most unique religious plans on record in a state where novel religious ideas are many.

A few months ago a cult known as the royal arm of the Great Eleven stepped into the limelight when authorities found the body of a young girl preserved on ice under the home of her parents in Venice, a suburb of Los Angeles.

Investigation satisfied the police that there was nothing irregular about the girl's death. But after her demise the members of the Great Eleven decided to preserve the body until the girl arose. She had been buried with elaborate cult rituals and the bones of a number of puppies—each representing some cult concord—had been placed in metal caskets at the head and foot of her bier.

Mrs. Mae Otis Blackburn was the leader of the Great Eleven sect which held forth in the picturesque Santa Susana hills.

During the investigation of the girl's death trouble developed for the leader when Clifford Dabney, a man who made a fortune in the oil business, charged he had given Mrs. Blackburn $40,000 to publish a book which would disclose the hiding places of fabulous stores of minerals and jewels.

Sensational testimony was heard when Mrs. Blackburn came to trial on a grand theft charge.

Some cultists told how during a seance around a departed member Dabney suddenly snapped his fingers and shouted "Hey! Hey!" believing he could raise the dead. Others told of angels and divine aspirations of all sorts.

Dabney, apparently disillusioned, maintained that all he received for his heavy donations was the impressive title "The Prince of the Hereafter and Now."

Mrs. Blackburn was convicted, sentenced to a term in prison and immediately appealed the case. She returned $30,000 to Dabney under a court ruling.

An order with a strong group of followers is the Ojai Star Institute, a group which gathers each summer in the Ojai Valley to camp and listen to words of wisdom from the lips of Jeddu Krishnamurti, noted young Hindu philosopher.

Krishnaji, as he is familiarly called by his followers, now is in Los Angeles preparing for his summer's work, which will be carried on between May 24 and June 3.

East Indian philosophy claims thousands of adherents in the district of Yoga philosophy and the teachings of the Sika saviors are two of the leading beliefs embracing teaching resulting from the meditations of East Indian savants.

One Los Angeles order finds solace in [illegible] and has created an impressive creed around the water lily and the giant cobra. The lily is adulated because the cobra takes strength from its fragrance while the members, seeking wisdom, sit cross-legged on the floor in imitation of the coil of the cobra—a very wise serpent.

Eckener Here To Get Medal

Will Arrange for Graf's Flight in May

New York, March 22 (AP).—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, arrived today from Germany on the liner Hamburg en route to Washington, where on Thursday he will be presented with a special gold medal of the National Geographic Society commemorating the trip of the Graf around the world last year.

Dr. Eckener said the purpose of his trip was fourfold:

1.—To get the medal.

2.—To complete preparations for the Graf's proposed flight to South America and Lakehurst this May.

3.—To survey possible airport sites in this country, with the probability that a base near Baltimore or Richmond, Va., will be selected.

4.—To confer with officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company on business matters.

Dr. Eckener said that when the Graf makes her Friedrichshafen-Pernambuco-Lakehurst flight it will be her last to the United States until the Zeppelin people have their own airport in this country. How long that would be he did not know.

tariff changes, and the export debenture plan, by which exporters of farm surplus crops would be given a Federal bonus equal to half the tariff on similar imported products.

While it has not been disclosed whether the President, who initiated the tariff legislation shortly after he entered the White House with a request for a "limited revision," favors the rate revisions made by the Senate and House, Republican leaders believe he will sign the bill if the two administrative provisions are removed.

On the whole, the Senate bill represents a lower percentage of protection that the House measure passed last May. However, it would have been still lower if the coalition, in control of the revision for nearly six months, had not wilted in the closing days of debate and permitted many important increases to go through.

By virtue of this break in coalition ranks, a new coalition formed around the Old Guard Republican high protectionists got through the increase in Cuban sugar rates and duties on brick, cement, and soft wood lumber, all now on the free list.

All of these rates, however, are below those passed by the House, except that on lumber which the House kept on the free list. The House, however, placed duties on cedar lumber, shingles, hides, leathers and shoes and the Senate retained these in the free category.

Both measures carry higher rates on raw wool and increases all down the line on the products of wool.

The most important reductions in duties approved by the Senate were on pig iron, aluminum, plate glass and automobiles. On the other hand, higher levies were placed on furniture, pottery and chinawares, and rayon yarn and clothing of all kinds.

Long staple cotton, used in the manufacture of tire fabric and fine cotton goods, was taken from the free list by the Senate. To compensate the manufacturers using this Egyptian cotton, approval was given an additional duty of 10 cents a pound on all products made from it.

To assist the textile manufacturers of mixed cotton and wool fabrics, approval was given an amendment today to increase the rates on all of these goods containing 17 per cent and over of wool by weight. The wool content would be dutiable at the higher wool rates and the cotton portion at the cotton rates.

Motor Killed One Person Every 17 Minutes in 1929

New York, March 22 (UP).—Motor accidents took an average of one life every 17 minutes in 1929, said a statement today by Owen B. Augspurger, president of the New York Automobile Club.

A total of 31,500 persons were killed in such accidents last year, according to the statement, based on figures compiled by the A.A.A. Safety Department. The death rate represents a 12 per cent increase over the previous year.

The statement said the figures were particularly alarming because the increased fatality was much higher than should have been caused by increased motor vehicle operations.

French Reds' Peace Pleas Stir Reprisal

Military Authorites Arrest Two and Begin Inquiry of 29 Others

Paris, Oct. 4 (AP).—Military authorities cracked down today on persons whose names appeared as signatures to an appeal for "immediate peace," arresting two and starting an inquiry against 29 others.

These steps seemed to characterize the government's reaction to the German-Soviet Russian offer of peace based on the partition of Poland. The appeal, in tract form, had been circulated among members of Parliament.

The two men arrested were identified as writers. One named Lecoin and the other Jean Giono. The arrests were made under a decree law of Sept. 1 forbidding any publication "susceptible of exercising an unfortunate influence on the spirit of the army and the people."

Meanwhile, semi-official sources asserted that French guns dominated six German industrial centers in the Saar and Palatinate regions of the western front—Bergzabern, Pirmasens, Zweibruecken, Saarbruecken, Saarlouis and Merzig.

Along a curving front of more than 60 miles, the French army was fighting patrol skirmishes in efforts to surround these cities, it was reported. Previously, the French were reported to hold 150 square miles of German territory containing 65 villages.

The French constantly were trying to widen their flanking movements aimed at capture of the six cities, while their planes photographed effects of artillery fire on Siegfried line fortifications.

This morning's War Ministry communique said the night was calm, but reported artillery fire from both sides in the region south of Zweibruecken.

Reports published in Paris said German motorized divisions had gathered at several interior points, such as Munich, Nuernberg and Hanover. It was said these units could move swiftly over superhighways for the west whenever Adolf Hitler gave the word to end the diplomatic interlude in the war.

The French press interpreted British Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech yesterday as a "tremendous slap in the face" for Hitler.

(Chamberlain made a flat declaration before the House of Commons against dealing with Germany on the basis of "mere assurances" from the Nazis, but said he would welcome any peace proposals granting Britain's aim of ending "German aggression.")

The French Cabinet gathered this morning under chairmanship of President Albert Lebrun to review German-Russian diplomatic moves and consider other foreign and domestic problems involved in prosecution of the war.

Newspapers hailed Chamberlain's statement that "no threat can persuade our country or France to abandon the purpose for which we have entered the struggle." Some sources said Daladier would set forth the same attitude at the cabinet meeting, and also this afternoon at a Chamber of Deputies foreign affairs committee meeting.

The press predicted Daladier and his ministers would consider further action against French Communists whose party and party organs already have been dissolved.

Forty-three of the 70 Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies sent a letter to Edouard Herriot, Chamber president, backing the German-Russian overture for cessation of hostilities and suggesting that Parliament be called in to public session to discuss the peace question.

The Communist legislators have formed a new Chamber group which they call the French Peasants' and Workers' Party. It was under this title that the 43 sent the letter to Herriot.

The letter brought quick attacks in much of the press which declared it constituted proof of "intelligence with the enemy." The newspapers called for action against the new party.

Socialist Leader Leon Blum called the letter "scandalous."

Any measure depriving the Communist members of the Chamber of their parliamentary privileges must be adopted by the Chamber itself. Daladier has been in touch with Herriot.

Puts Gun to Head To Amuse Fellow Pupils, Kills Self

ALLEN H. SAUL, JR

Rochester, Oct. 4 (UP).—East High School pupils mourned today the death of their youthful bandleader, who shot himself accidentally during a trigonometry class.

The victim, Allen H. Saul, Jr., 15, was killed yesterday when he slipped an old revolver from his pocket while the teacher's attention was diverted and pulled the trigger while pressing the weapon against his head, apparently to amuse classmates.

The giggles of fellow students changed to screams when the gun exploded and young Saul slipped from his seat, fatally wounded. Principal William Wolgast later ordered all classes dismissed for the day.

Dr. Richard Leonardo, Monroe County coroner, ruled the death accidental. He said that two of the victim's classmates told him that young Saul had brought the revolver to school the previous day and pulled the trigger several times without the gun discharging.

Higgins Again Is Grilled in Buffalo Trial

Democratic Chairman Carr to Take Stand in Own Defense

Buffalo, Oct. 4 (AP).—Special Prosecutor Frank G. Raichle planned today to continue cross-examination of former Police Commissioner James W. Higgins, charged with gambling conspiracy.

On trial with Higgins are former Erie County Democratic Chairman Frank J. Carr and five others, all charged with conspiracy to obstruct enforcement of gambling laws.

Meanwhile, Clayton M. Smith, attorney for Carr, announced the former political leader "would take the stand in his own defense against the State's charges either late today or tomorrow."

Higgins, who testified in his own behalf yesterday, denied he told Glenn H. McClellan, present police commissioner, he removed him as head of the gambling squad because "Frank Carr doesn't want you on the squad."

McClellan previously testified for the State that Higgins told him he was removed as chief of the squad because of Carr.

On cross-examination by Raichle, Higgins said he placed McClellan in charge of the gambling squad in 1934 "partly at Carr's suggestion."

Higgins added that Carr never directly asked him to "appoint or remove anybody in the police department to or from any job."

Higgins quoted Carr as saying to him:

"You're always changing the heads of the gambling squads. Why don't you give that fellow McClellan a chance.

The former police veteran told the jury there were 2,093 gambling raids in 567 locations during the four years he was commissioner, 1934 to 1938, and said some of the places were "raided anywhere from 5 to 29 times each."

Radio May Put Ban on Fr. Coughlin

'Spokesmen of Controversial Subjects' to Be Kept Off Air

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—Radio time will not be sold to "spokesmen of controversial public issues," except under rigid limitations, under a new rule adopted by the code committee of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Father Charles E. Coughlin was said by the association's secretary, E. M. Kirby, to have been mentioned yesterday in discussion preceding adoption of the rule, which will apply to all stations in the organization.

Kirby said others mentioned were Judge Joseph F. Rutherford of New York, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, and the Rev. Walton E. Cole of Toledo, O., a Unitarian minister who has purchased radio time to reply to Father Coughlin's speeches.

Controversial public issues, the committee said, may be discussed on the radio during free time available for such broadcasts or on public-forum type programs under control of the station or network. Manuscripts of speeches must be submitted in advance.

Discussing the fight over the arms embargo, retention of which Father Coughlin has advocated, the committee said:

"While all Americans desire to stay out of war and preserve neutrality, the methods of achieving and maintaining the same are matters automatically falling within the sphere of 'public controversial issues' and as such should be presented on free time and not sold."

Association officials said they believed Father Coughlin may have radio contracts extending for two weeks into the future. The contracts can be fulfilled, they said, after which the ban will take effect.

In explaining its rule, the committee said:

"This does not mean, of course, that those who wish to discuss matters of public controversy are barred from the air. Far from it. Through the new code, representative spokesmen of groups will be given free time to present their views, in accord with the public interest, program balance and availability of time."

The code, will permit sale of time to political speakers during a campaign.

Officials said that the association's 437 members represented 92 per cent of commercial radio. The committee action is final unless a member station appeals to the association's board of directors, and the board upholds the appeal.

No Dollar Exchange In Latin-America Handicaps U.S. Trade

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP).—Lack of dollar exchange in Latin-America is seen by a group of business men and foreign trade experts as the greatest handicap to increased United States exports there.

The best remedy, they said last night after a discussion at the Commerce Department, would be for the United States to buy more from Latin-America in order that it could obtain more goods from this country.

The group proposed also that the United States station a financial representative in every important commercial center in Latin-America.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he favored any steps which would increase trade with Latin-America. He said he had told Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import Bank, that he hoped the 1940 Congress would provide extra capital for the bank.

Rochester, Oct. 4 (UP).—National executives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union charted the organization's legislative program today as delegates to the 65th annual convention scattered to their homes.

At concluding sessions yesterday, the militant campaigners for prohibition turned their attention to world affairs and adopted a resolution calling upon President Roosevelt to use all the forces at his command to insure this nation's neutrality. Delegates declined to go on record, however, as to what course of action the President should adopt.

The Rev. Sam Morris, Del Rio, Tex., evangelist, told the convention that the "problem of drinking women is the worst of three produced by repeal." He listed the drinking driver and "camouflaged charity" as the others.

"The wets seek to avoid responsibility for development of drinking women by saying that prohibition got the women into a habit of drinking," the Rev. Morris asserted. "We brand that statement as a falsehood. Drinking women are the products of repeal."

Mrs. Nelle G. Burger of Springfield, Mo., asked American women to rededicate themselves to the patriotism, the home protection, and christianity of Frances E. Willard, nineteenth century leader whose centenary year now is being observed internationally.

Polio Rises Again In Buffalo With Warmer Weather

Buffalo, Oct. 4 (UP).—Hopes that Buffalo's infantile paralysis outbreak had been checked faded today as the Board of Health announced that seven new cases had been reported during the last 24 hours.

Cool weather over the week-end, coupled with Sunday's record of only one case, had arroused hopes that the disease was diminishing. Return of higher temperatures was blamed for the sudden increase.

Latest reports brought the total number of persons stricken in the city since midsummer to 293.

Here's What we were Shooting at!

ROME, they tell us, wasn't built in a day. Well, neither was this 1940 Buick you see burning the breeze here.

You'll understand why when you know what we were aiming for. We wanted to combine in one car all the best we've learned in our 36 years in this business.

We think we've got it now. A standout sparkling car with action power and staying power.

It would be hopeless to try to list the whole range of new features—there are some 72 in all.

But you can't drive this car a mile without knowing that you have got hold of something that tops anything you ever handled.

It's smoother, steadier, firmer on the line. It gets up and goes right now, and keeps going without wander, tailwag or wind-swerve.

It takes the roughest roads in its stride, and while we don't want to go hinting about speed, this eager baby can whisk you to forty-five in first.

The sudden, soaring, millrace power of its matchless Dynaflash straight-eight engine, electrically balanced after assembly to micropoised perfection, is velocity smoothed to velvet.

Yes, this beauty is our all-time high—the car we've been shooting at for lo! these many years.

Come drive it and you'll see why.

GOV. LANDON TO 'SPEAK TO POINT' AT NOTIFICATION

WILL NOT ATTACK OPPOSING PARTIES

By LEWIS LARKIN
(U. P Staff Correspondent)

Topeka, Kans., July 21.—Gov. Alf M. Landon will speak "to the point" on at least six public questions in an address directed to the "average American" when he accepts nomination as Republican Presidential candidate Thursday night, his advisers said today.

The questions, the Governor's advisers indicated, would be relief and social security, economy, centralization in government, monetary problems, the Constitution, and agriculture. In each subject, they said, Governor Landon's stand will be stated definitely.

Some of those who aided the Governor in drafting the speech said he would not attack the opposition party or any other group.

"The speech will be devoted to a comprehensive treatment of the important problems and questions of today," one of his advisers said. "Governor Landon has approached his speech from the viewpoint that American people are entitled to know what he will do if elected"

Spain's rebellion approached a climax today. Rebels and government forces massed for battles that seemed certain to bring tragedy to many thousands of homes of Spaniards of all classes.

Developments included:

MADRID—Government airplanes bombard rebels advancing on Madrid from Burgos, inflicting numerous casualties. Government columns move against Seville and Jaen in the south. Major engagements expected north of Madrid and at Seville.

Topeka Prepares

While Topeka, a quiet town of 65,000 persons, prepared to welcome, entertain, feed and house an expected 100,000 visitors Thursday, a steady stream of Republican partisans from all parts of the country came to talk to the candidate who has been described as a "Kansas Coolidge."

The visiting Republicans were optimistic. One, Rep. John B. Hollister of Ohio, told the Governor he felt safe in predicting Republicans would sweep Ohio in November. Another, Col. Henry W Anderson, Republican candidate for Governor of Virginia, said that Governor Landon had an excellent chance of winning the Democratic states of Virginia, North Carolina and Florida.

"Ohio is keenly alive to the necessity of putting a stop to the spendthrift policy in Washington that has emphasized the Democratic administration as the most wasteful in the history of the country," Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, former Governor of Ohio, said.

Brilliant Decorations

Kansas Avenue, from the Kaw River bridge to the Southern residential section, was brilliantly festooned with banners today. Huge portraits of Governor Landon were placed in virtually every office and shop window. Carpenters were fitting the last planks in place in the platform on the capitol steps. Hotels and restaurants hoarded stocks, anticipating the biggest and most lucrative business in Topeka's history.

The Governor's advisers emphasized the brevity of the acceptance

Senate Amends Insurance Bill

Measure Will Be Debated

By MOREY J. POTTER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Harrisburg, July 21—The Administration Unemployment Insurance bill, drastically amended by the Senate, was returned to the hostile House today, virtually certain to be consigned to a conference committee for possible settlement of partisan differences.

Senate approval of the measure, given last night after the legislature reconvened for the 12th week, was by a 39 to 6 vote.

The bill, which requires 400,000 employers to contribute one per cent of their 1936 payrolls for job insurance, was opposed by Senators Clarence J. Buckman, Bucks, majority floor leader; President Pro Tempore John G. Homsher, Lancaster; Leroy E. Chapman, Warren; Charles H. Ealy, Somerset; Henry J. Pierson, Lebanon, and George L. Reed, Dauphin, all Republicans.

Meanwhile, the Senate deferred action on $7,450,000 in tax bills listed on its calendar for final action and referred to the finance committee the proposal of Sen. Frank J. Harris, R., Allegheny, that managers of state custodial funds be asked to advance unemployment relief money as prepayment for a tax anticipation note issue. The last $3,000,000 borrowed from special funds for relief were exhausted today.

Senator Law Objects

Harris pointed out that funds of the school and state employes' retirement and workmen's compensation systems must be invested in state securities. Sen. Glen R. Law, D., Mercer, objected to immediate consideration of the Harris resolution and the finance committee deferred action.

The resolution suggested the possibility of issuing immediately tax anticipation notes secured by the $26,000,000 worth of tax bills already enacted toward providing the $45,000,000 compromise estimate of relief requirements to Feb. 1.

The controversial G. O. P. amendment to the unemployment insurance bill, key measure in the administration program to adjust state statutes to the Federal Social Security act, would transfer the state employment service and the job insurance personnel from the labor and industry department to a board of five.

Appointments to the board would be made by three Republican officials—the auditor general, state treasurer and senate president pro tempore—and two Democratic officials, the governor and speaker of the House, serving terms identical to those of the appointing powers.

Weapons, But No Fight, Couple Says

Although one was carrying a paring knife and the other a brick when arrested then the Negro man and wife told Mayor Gold in police court this morning that they weren't fighting.

Police answered a call to Morgan avenue yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and found William Morgan and his wife, Josephine, of 1033 Morgan avenue, struggling on the street.

The policemen declared the woman had a knife in her hand and that her husband was fingering a brick when they intervened. The woman denied she and her husband were fighting, insisting that "we was just foolin' a bit."

Fanny Smith, colored, of 1458 Schoonmaker avenue, entered Weiss' Garage at 9 o'clock last night and hampered the windshield of her husband's automobile into small bits, her husband, John Smith, and a garage employe testified in police court.

She was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly

Belle Vernon WPA Worker Injured

Hugh McGarity, 23, Water street, Belle Vernon, suffered a severe injury to his right eye while at work on a WPA sewer project in East Belle Vernon this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

As McGarity stepped into a ditch in which a fellow-worker was digging, a piece of stone struck him in the eye and caused an injury which may cost him the sight of the eye.

He was taken to the office of a Belle Vernon physician and later removed to the Charleroi-Monessen Chamber of Commerce

Continuing his efforts to keep "Jehovah's Witnesses" out of Monessen, Mayor James Gold in police court today fined J. S. Ruffner, 907 Mickle Street, Northside, Pittsburgh, $15 and costs for soliciting and peddling in the city yesterday.

Allegedly selling small booklets describing the beliefs of the "Jehovah's Witnesses," Ruffner was arrested yesterday at 1:55 p. m., at Fourth Street and Donner avenue by Officer James Horan. He was charged with soliciting and peddling without a permit.

When given a hearing today, Ruffner pleaded not guilty. However, upon hearing evidence that the man had tried to sell the booklets and other material of the religious sect in the city, Mayor Gold imposed the fine

Several books allegedly published by the society, were found in possession of Ruffner He also was carrying a petition which urged a radio debate between "Judge" Joseph R Rutherford and a Roman Catholic clergyman.

The fine imposed by Mayor Gold was the maximum amount for the offense of soliciting and peddling without a permit. If Ruffner does not pay the fine he must serve five days in jail.

Lewis Leaders Consider Trial

Uncertain Whether To Accept Summons

By EDWARD W. LEWIS
(U P Staff Correspondent)

Washington, July 21.—Labor union leaders representing 1,250,000 workers gathered today to decide whether to accept or spurn an American Federation of Labor "insurrection" trial summons threatening to break labor's cherished united front.

The "rebel" group of 12, headed by John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, incurred the wrath of the Federation's executive Council through activities for industrial union organization clashing with the Federation's traditional craft union policy.

Today's meeting of the "insurgent" Committee for Industrial Organization was called to consider a summons to stand trial before the Executive Council Aug. 3 on charges of fomenting "dual unionism" and "insurrection."

Decision of the insurgents may go far toward determining whether the serious breach within the organization can be mended or outright warfare will be declared between the two schools of thought.

Compromise proposals were put forward, but from neither the Lewis camp or from President William Green of the Federation were there signs of yielding.

The "insurgent" committee, it was reported, planned to consider an outright refusal to accept the summons. Some conciliation moves were under way to delay such a move, based on the hope that further delay might make possible some sort of compromise.

One "compromise" which had a face saving guise, to it, but met lukewarm comment called for dis-

Rebel Armies Advancing On Madrid Today

(By United Press)

A formidable army of regulars, they asserted, is advancing from the Burgos region to the North of the capital—a force compromising regulars from the Zaragoza, Pallencia, Pamplona, Longrones, Valladolid and Burgos garrisons.

A second army, a complete new development so far as is known here, is advancing from the South, the rebels asserted, made up of rebel troops reached there over Spanish peninsula from Morocco during the early phase of the rebellion.

The rebels in a broadcast asserted also that they hold prisoner Gen. Miguel Nunez Del Prado, director general of aeronautics loyal to the government, and that they will shoot him if government aviators shell open towns and cause casualties among the people.

The assertions were made over the rebel broadcasting system by Gen. Emilio Mola, commander in chief of the northern army and its leader in the field Ending his statement, he shouted:

"Long live Spain! Long live the Republic!"

There was further indication that, as forecast, the rebel move was one of generals to impose a right wing dictatorship and not one to restore the monarchy.

It was believed here that it might be several days before the decisive battle between rebel and government armies occurred.

The government announced a 48-hour suspension of operatio n of stock and other exchanges, banks, commerce and credit throughout Spain, effective as from yesterday morning. A moratorium was declared on commercial payments. Withdrawals from bank accounts were limited to 2,000 pesetas ($270) in each instance.

Washington, July 21 — Intense street fighting, in which 30 persons were killed before the American Consulate at Vigo, Spain, was reported today by American diplomatic officials, who said, however, they believed all Americans had escaped injury thus far in the Spanish outbreak.

offensive against the Army-Fascist revolutionists.

The planes flew northward to meet a formidable rebel army advancing on the capital from Burgos, and met it at Aranda De Fuero, 90 miles north of Madrid.

Machine gun and bombs were used against the rebels in a brisk bombardment.

Confident that it has the strength to win, the government organized five strong columns and ordered them to start today to smash the rebellion in the north.

A sixth column was sent by train across Southern Spain from Alicante, on the southeast coast, to attack Seville, the rebels' chief stronghold in the Gibraltar area.

Northern columns will proceed toward Valladolid, Burgos, Zaragoza and Toledo.

They will be made up of civil guards, storm guards, loyal regulars, and labor militiamen, with the addition of the air force which has proved entirely loyal.

The government hopes that they will smash the rebellion completely.

Rebel Activity Suppressed

News of government successes started during the morning. A message to the Interior Ministry that rebel activity in the Balearic Islands off the east coast had been suppressed.

It was announced that civil guards, storm troops and militia dispersed rebels at Alcala De Henares, 20 miles east of Madrid.

Rebel and government forces in the area north of Madrid are expected to meet in force for the decisive battle of the rebellion.

Unless airplanes disperse the rebels, it was indicated that the fight might occur on ground selected by the government in the Sierra de Guadarrama mountains 37½ miles north of the capital. But today's assertions made it likely that the government columns would proceed farther afield to take the war into rebel territory

There is every reason to believe that the fighting in prospect will be bitter and sanguinary. Upon the engagements depends the fate of the rebellion.

— o —

Gibraltar, July 21—Spanish rebel leaders today broadcast an appeal for all fascist, monarchists and other right wing adherents to mobilize at 4 p. m. (11 a. m. EST) under arms for a supreme test of strength against government.

The appeal flashed out over Spain from the broadcasting station at Seville, chief rebel stronghold in the south, against which government forces are announced as advancing.

RUTHERFORD DEAD BUT BURIAL OF SECT LEADER IS DELAYED

He asked disciples to bury him at dawn of the day after death in a hillside crypt at Beth-Sarim, the estate he built here for the biblical King David's return to earth.

But today Rutherford's body was still unburied, his last wish thwarted by a county law forbidding burial on the estate because it is not a legally zoned cemetery.

Followers of the Jehovah's Witnesses' movement obtained a hearing date January 24 to present their burial permit petition before the county health commission. Preparations went ahead, meantime, on an apparently elaborate memorial to be erected at the estate.

Rutherford, an enemy of organized Christianity which he termed an "unholy alliance against the common people," had been ill here for two months. Dr. George Roy Stevenson, who signed the death certificate, said Rutherford had

Chief of a movement that spread to thirty-six countries, Rutherford claimed two million followers to whom he prophesied a millenium.

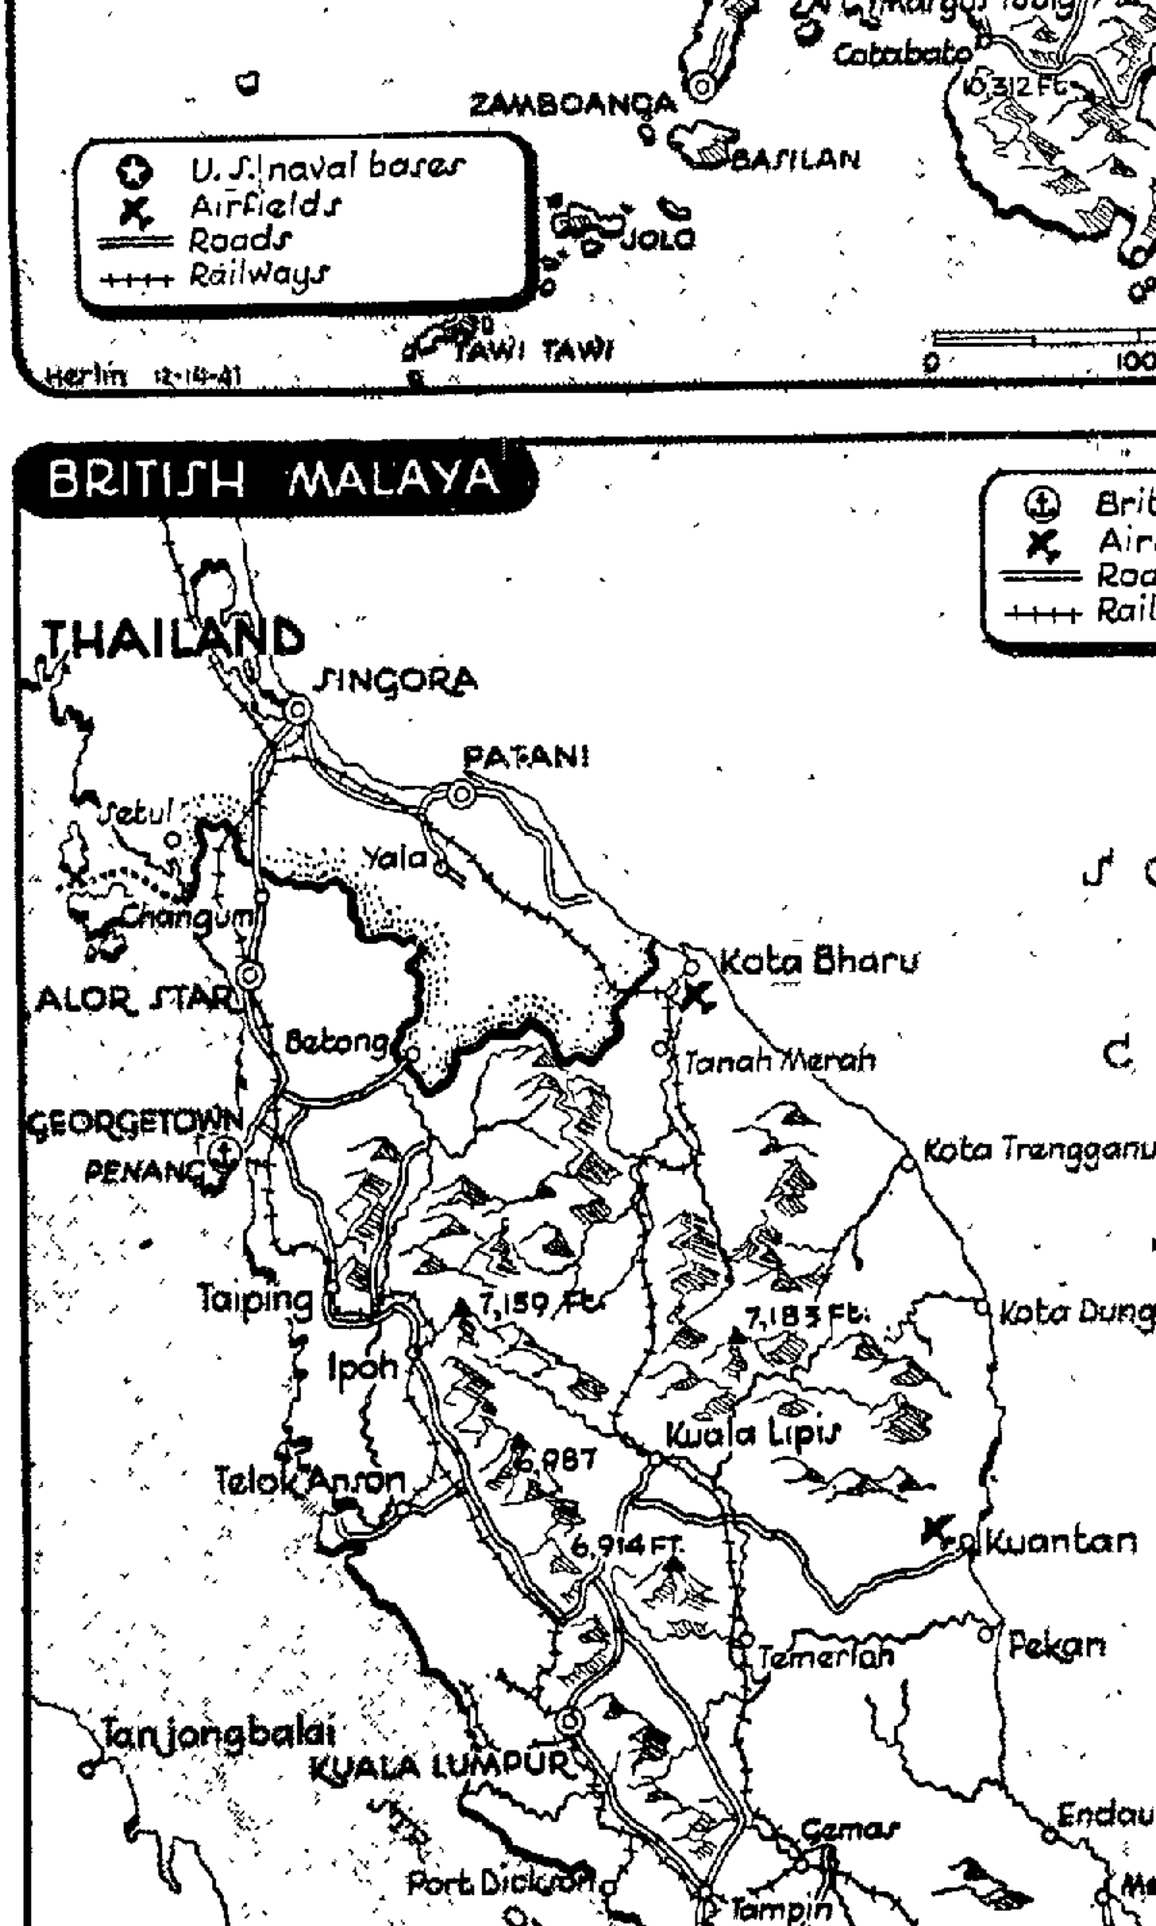

Dignified and severe, the former Missouri lawyer made thousands of addresses to gatherings of Witnesses and in later years over the radio. He campaigned for William Jennings Bryan in 1896, but some time later abandoned political affairs to become a follower of Pastor Charles Taze Russell, prophet of an approaching Armageddon and a man who preached hell was a myth.

After Russell died in 1916, Rutherford assumed the leadership of an expanded movement. Although Rutherford refused to set any definite year for the arrival of the millenium, his followers kept alive the statement that "millions now living will never die."

During recent years, Jehovah's Witnesses have been involved in incidents attracting national attention, such as that of a 1940 contest before the United States supreme court of a case of two Pennsylvania children who opposed a requirement that they salute the American flag in school.

RED CROSS DRIVES FOR WAR RELIEF FUNDS

The Zanesville and Muskingum county Red Cross emergency war relief campaign was boosted an additional $35 Saturday with the observance of "Red Cross Day" at the Times News company, Sixth and Main street.

Entire proceeds from yesterday's sales at the establishment were turned over to the campaign by Jack Vlachos, the proprietor, following the precedent established last week at the Presto restaurant.

Of the total, $5.00 was in the form of tips left by customers, and yesterday totaled $118, while additional reports are expected Monday from the industrial division

Anglo-American Fliers Blast Japs

Rangoon, Burma, Jan. 10—(UP)—American and British fliers, seizing the initiative in a duel for air supremacy over Burma, today had boosted to 19 the total of Japanese fighter planes destroyed in a series of attacks on enemy air bases in western Thailand.

Successful raids have been in progress all week, with the newest attack launched on Friday by both British and American pilots against the Tak base, near the Thai-Burma frontier. Other bases attacked earlier by the American fliers included Mehsod. In addition Allied bombers have twice attacked Bangkok.

While the Americans attacked Tak, R. A. F. planes Friday destroyed several enemy aircraft at the Meshod airdrome. The British said all their planes returned safely.

The Japanese were said to have been taken completely by surprise and offered no resistance except to fire their rifles as they stood beside grounded planes. There were no Allied casualties and all planes returned safely.

Exhibit Perfect Teamwork

In their first raid together, the Americans and British were said to have exhibited "perfect teamwork."

British observers here believe Japanese hit-and-run night raids during the past week constitute an enemy attempt to crush Anglo-American air strength and close China's vital back-door supply route through Burma.

The Japanese apparently have decided the observers said, that Allied air power must be broken before China can be choked in an economic pincers.

To the northeast, Chinese planes are returning to action for the first time in many months, attacking Japanese positions in northern Hunan province.

One important development this week was the air assault on Bangkok. Twice in 24 hours time British and American fliers raided docks and a Japanese airdrome in western Thailand.

American pilots said they left seven to nine Japanese planes in flames, strafing the field twice from a height of 20 feet. One American plane was missing, but it was believed the pilot might have reached the Burma frontier before he was forced down.

One of the American pilots, known as "Slim" of Scarsdale, New York, said the raid was "like a football game."

"Two of us blocked out the Japanese while other planes strafed Japanese aircraft on the ground. It wasn't any trouble knocking those boys off," he said.

Silence From Philippines; Expect All-Out Assault

Chinese Victories May Turn Tide Against Japanese Armies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Britain grimly swore its "absolute determination" to defend Singapore and "other vital areas" today (Sun.) as its troops fought an apparently losing battle for Kuala Lumpur, crude rubber center 180 miles north of Singapore.

Gen. Sir Henry R. Pownall, British commander at the British naval base in Malaya, told defenders in a broadcast tonight that there were days of bitter struggle ahead but that Britain and her allies were not idle.

"We are engaged," he said, upon the task of holding "the enemy from vital areas and as far from them as possible while we renew, regroup and supplement our forces."

The Japanese meanwhile claimed the capture of Kuala Lumpur after the British reportedly abandoned it and Japanese forces came in from the rear. The report was not confirmed by British sources. The British did concede that their front along the Slim river, 220 miles from Singapore, had been broken after the Japanese suddenly began appearing with 12-ton tanks.

Silence From Philippines

There was an ominous silence from the Philippines which some Washington observers calculated was the prelude to a double Japanese attack upon U. S. forces on the island of Luzon and an invasion of the Dutch East Indies.

Japs Plan Full Scale Assault On Americans

Washington, Jan. 10—(AP)—Fragmentary news from the Philippines led some tacticians here tonight to the opinion that the Japanese might be planning an immediate full scale assault upon the Dutch East Indies, simultaneously with an effort to drive General Douglas MacArthur's forces off the island of Luzon.

This view was bolstered, they said, by army reports of an enemy fleet concentration off Mindanao, the southernmost of the large Philippine islands, together with a massing of Japanese reinforce-

Interest in the campaign for $25,000 mounted last night with the announcement that a boxing program would be held Monday, Jan. 26 at the municipal auditorium, with the proceeds going into the campaign.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, has been invited to referee the bouts, which will be staged under the direction of Charles Wynn, manager of the Zane hotel. Further details of the program will be found on the sport pages.

Singer Contributes

The youngster, Bobby Wright, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright, of 339 Putnam avenue, appeared yesterday at the Red Cross campaign headquarters in the Clarendon hotel before the office opened.

Unable to find anyone to accept his contribution, he finally approached the hotel clerk and handed the two one-dollar bills to him, saying:

Judge Rutherford Death Revealed

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 10. — (UP) — Judge Joseph Franklin Rutherford, founder and leader of an estimated 2,000,000 Jehovah's Witnesses, died at his palatial "King David's mansion" here yesterday, Mortician Harvey Lewis, Jr., revealed today.

News of Judge Rutherford's death did not leak out until today when Lewis revealed that the body was being held at the mansion parlors awaiting instructions for burial.

Rutherford was 72 years old and leader of one of the largest sects in the world. He claimed a following of more than 2,000,000 in 36 different countries.

Death occurred in the 20-room Spanish mansion which Judge Rutherford had built less than 10 years ago as a home for King David "when he returns to earth." The judge has been occupying the house since its completion as a "caretaker."

May Draft Married Men

Columbus, O., Jan. 10.—(UP)—New classification instructions sent to Ohio's local draft boards today by state draft headquarters state that men who married after Dec. 8, 1941, will be given a 3-A deferment unless "the status was acquired under circumstances which were beyond his control."

Any man of draft age who seeks to continue a dependency deferment, the regulations stated, "must present information which convinces the local draft board that the status was not voluntarily acquired at a time when his induction was imminent or for the primary purpose of providing him with a Class 3-A deferment."

Present regulations require that any who acquired a dependency after Sept. 16, 1940—the date the selective service act was passed—must prove to the board that he did not assume the dependency to avoid military service.

Weatherman Relents Temperature To Rise

The weatherman—that fellow who sent temperatures to the cellar last week after predicting yesterday that Ohio was in for "much colder temperatures" has apparently changed his mind and will send warmer weather today accompanied by strong winds.

The weather recently has not been without its benefits to the skaters here, who for the first time in several years were able to glide across the wide expanses of the upper pool of the Muskingum river. Many took advantage of the more sheltered frozen pools at Mc-Intire park and Memorial park.

Civilian Pilots Are Reinstated For 90 Days

Thirty-nine civilian pilots in Zanesville and southeastern Ohio, have been reinstated for a period of 90 days, it was announced last night.

District representatives of the Civilian Aeronautics Authority were in Zanesville yesterday to assist aviators in obtaining their licenses. All civilian fliers were grounded by the C.A.A. shortly after war was declared on Dec. 8.

It was necessary for the civilian pilots to furnish proof of their American citizenship before licenses could be obtained. They were photographed and fingerprinted for C.A.A. identification cards.

Fingerprinting was done by Detective Ivan Penn and William Thompson. Arrangements for Saturday's registration were made by the Amateur Ohio Pilot's Association here.

R. L. Hutton, of Columbus, C.A.A. district inspector, and Eugene Searle, of Columbus, ground school supervisor for the civilian pilot training service, directed the work, which took place at Hotel Rogge.

Data compiled here yesterday will be sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington for filing and checking.

Paul Taylor, instructor of Briggs airport, returned Saturday from his home in Newcastle, Pa., and was reinstated as instructor, it was announced.

Permanent reinstatements will probably be granted within a short time, to fliers who received temporary license Saturday, it was said.

Axis Forces In Desert Flight

Cairo, Jan. 10. —(AP)— Broken Axis mechanized forces were reported by a military spokesman tonight to be fleeing "hell for leather" from the Libyan battleground of Agedabia, 90 miles south of Benghazi, toward El Agheila on the Gulf of Sirte, which was said such speed that the pursuing British imperial mobile columns were unable to keep up with them.

The spokesman said that while the British have not yet contacted the main body of Gen. Erwin Rommel's retreating Afrika Korps, the British columns have engaged with the rear guards thrown out as a covering force.

(London reports said that about half of the forces falling back on El Agheila were German and that the Nazis were critical not only of their Italian comrades but of their own commanders).

The Axis troops were expected to make a stand at or near El Agheila where permanent salt marshes would provide Rommel with excellent defensive positions.

Germany Seeks Army Recruits

Germany was reported dipping into the limited manpower of her satellites to bolster her frozen, retreating army on the long Russian front as six Russians claimed the reoccupation of still more populated centers by their uninterrupted offensive.

Reports from the German frontier said Nazi agents were offering high wages for soldiers in Croatia. Other recruiting drives were said to be under way in Bulgaria, other Baltic states and even Norway.

While reports seeped out of unusual Nazi activities to stifle rumors of revolt, many European observers conceded that no organized effort to revolt exists or is likely to exist soon.

Yet foreign correspondents in Berlin were awakened in the middle of the night to take an official denial of revolt in the ranks and Gen. Otto Dietrich, German press chief and a close observer of the United States, told German newspaper readers that German military operations have entered a serious and critical phase.

London reports on the Russian front said that the Russians advancing westward from the north and south of Moscow were extending to the point where they were half of the way from Orel to Smolensk and trap 300,000 Nazi troops in that town, 57 miles west of the capital. The two advances were 150 miles apart and about 150 miles from Moscow.

Germans appeared preparing to make a stand in the Staritsa-Rzhev area northwest of Moscow and the British said the Vyazma-Bryansk railway line from which the Russian are only 25 miles away, is another likely German holding spot.

Despite denials from Berlin and Helsinki reports from Europe insisted the Finns were seeking peace with Russia through Stockholm intermediaries.

House Price Bill Flayed By President

Measure Is Called "Farm Relief" By Senate

By UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt confers with his congressional leaders today about congress' refusal to follow his advice on wartime price control legislation.

Administration senate leaders have described the bill passed by the senate late Saturday as "farm relief" legislation rather than price control.

One of the senate bill's provisions—give Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard veto power over any farm price ceilings fixed by Price Administrator Leon Henderson—was approved, over the express opposition of the president, who had asked in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky that there be no division of authority.

Wickard, in an interview today, said he still wanted control of prices as well as production of farm products, contending that they should be administered jointly to assure the Allied nations adequate food supplies.

The legislative problem on price control legislation is a knotty one. The senate and house versions differ radically on important provisions. Senate-house conferees are expected to begin work tomorrow or Wednesday in an effort to reach a compromise.

The senate passed its version of the measure late Saturday, 83 to 1, with only Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., dissenting, after the strong farm bloc limited the government's power to regulate the prices of agricultural commodities.

Both senate and house bills are alike in these respects:

1. Both confer price fixing au-

Admiral Hart Visits Indies

Naval Head Makes Trip in Submarine

SOMEWHERE IN JAVA—(Delayed)—Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet and supreme naval commander for the united nations in the southwest Pacific, authorized the United Press today to reveal that he had arrived in the Dutch East Indies by submarine. Hart arrived in an American submarine more than a week ago.

Admiral Hart, a specialist in submarine operations, was retained in command of the U. S. Asiatic fleet by special direction of President Roosevelt after he reached the usual retirement age of 64 last spring.

When British General Sir Archibald P. Wavell was made supreme commander of the Allies in the southwest Pacific on Jan. 3, Hart was made commander, under Wavell, of all the American, British and Dutch naval forces in that region.

Java, where Hart now has arrived, lies directly south of the Dutch islands which the Japanese now are attacking—Borneo and Celebes.

TO ASSIST VENDORS

Sales Tax Examiner E. C. Beall will be at the Warsaw mayor's office Tuesday, Jan. 20, to assist vendors in making out their reports for the last half of 1941.

The little, inexpensive want ads are helping the defense program. The BIG demand for used furniture enables many to SELL articles for CASH with which to buy Defense Stamps and Bonds.

American Reporter Tells of Fighting In Mayala Jungles

By HAROLD GUARD
U. P. Staff Correspondent

SINGAPORE—Strange flashing lights sometimes peep out of the dense jungle growths on the east coast, guiding Japanese planes to British Imperial troop units.

Imperial troops with whom I spent a night at an east coast outpost have learned much from the surprise tactics of the Japanese. They have developed an alertness against surprise in the future.

"We never were able to tell where they were coming from," one veteran said. "We never knew when we were going to turn around and find Japanese in native dress aiming Tommy-guns at us from the rear."

The troops have been having an unwanted peaceful time in recent days, but are by no means relaxing their vigilance for a single moment. They know by expereince the crafty tactics of the Jap.

Some I talked with had opposed the Japanese landing at Kelantan

Viereck on Stand In Hill Trial

WASHINGTON — George Sylvester Viereck, ace German propagandist, was called as a government witness at the George Hill perjury trial today but confined most of his responses to a reiteration of the sentence "I refuse to answer on the ground that it may tend to incriminate me."

The slightly built German agent, clad in a gray suit with blue shirt and tie, was called after Mrs. Gordon Spielman, a tall blonde, had testified concerning telephone conversations between Viereck and the defendant, a $2,000-year secretary of Rep Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y.

Government counsel, who contend that Viereck directed Hill in the mailing of more than 500,000 pieces of isolationist literature under congressional frank, warned Viereck that he had the right to refuse to answer questions on constitutional grounds.

Viereck, now under indictment charged with failure to reveal all of his Axis propaganda activities when he registered with the state department as an agent of the German government, accepted the warning with a smile.

Mother Abandons Baby Boy in Church

TOLEDO, O.—An unidentified woman who signed herself "a heartbroken mother" yesterday abandoned a baby boy, about seven weeks old, in a confessional booth at St. Francis de Sales church.

Lying beside the baby was a partially-filled nursing bottle and a pencilled note addressed to "Father Reverend" which read:

"Will someone give this baby a home? I am not able to keep him. I have no work or money to give him milk or provide clothes for him. May God forgive me but I am destitute and can find no other way."

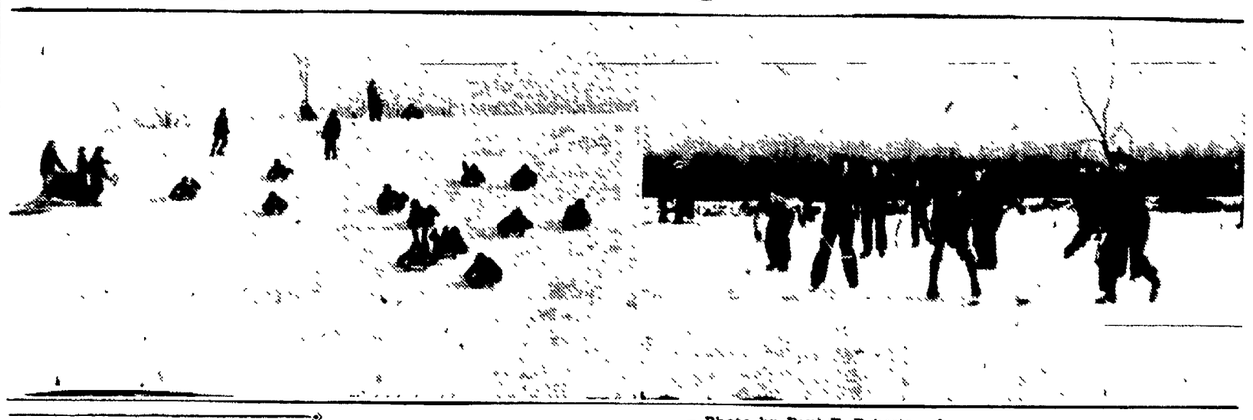

The baby was taken to St. Vincent's hospital. Atendants said the boy was healthy, weighing seven pounds and 14 ounces.

Birth Notes

Births reported at city hospital were: a daughter this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shearn, 240 North Fifteenth st., and a daughter Sunday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stevens, 105 Coe av.

The daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. John DeCessna at White Cross hospital has been named Donna Maria. Mrs. DeCessna was formerly Georgia Grace Chaney of Adams Mills and Coshocton.

Winter Sports Flourish During Record Cold Weather

King Winter relaxed his icy grip somewhat over the weekend after a near-record week of frigid weather but Coshocton county residents yesterday were taking full advantage of the snow and ice brot by the plummeting mercury.

The picture at the upper left shows a few of the boys and girls who took advantage of the excellent coasting on the rolling hills of the Country club golf course.

With the weather man promising fair and slightly warmer weather tonight, possibility was seen that skating, skiing and sledding might pass out of the picture temporarily in the next few days.

Temperatures from the Ohio Power sub-station this afternoon showed that any further rise would bring the mercury past the freezing point and start a thaw here for the first time in more than a week.

Hourly temperatures at the sub-station were: 1 a. m., 15; 2 a. m., 15; 3 a. m., 16; 4 a. m., 16; 5 a. m., 17; 6 a. m., 17; 7 a. m., 17; 8 a. m., 20; 9 a. m., 23; 10 a. m., 25; 11 a. m., 28; noon, 30, and 1 p. m., 31.

Weather Observer Owen Popham's official thermometer showed that thawing weather had already started, a temperature of 34 being recorded there at 1:30 p. m. Low for the past 24 hours was 15 early this morning. Mr. Popham stated that only a trace of snow had been recorded in the brief flurry this morning.

Still Oppose Objectors

Commissioners Act To Block Camp

Action to block the conscientious objector's camp, definitely ordered established at the Fresno CC camp last Saturday, was taken today by county commissioners.

The commissioners sent to Congressman J. Harry McGregor ath Washington a petition bearing the signatures of 39 farmers in the camp vicinity, who state they will not permit conscientious objectors to work on their farms in connection with soil conservation work.

H. D. Abbott of Washington, assistant soil conservation chief, Saturday approved the abandoned CCC camp as a site for the military objectors.

Besides the petition sent to McGregor today, the commissioners this afternoon said that eight or nine other papers are being circulated to oppose the new camp. The county board members claim that farmers near Fresno are bitterly opposed to the conscientious objectors and opposition is growing thruout the rural districts.

In place of the conscientious objectors to take the pace of CCC workers on the soil conservation project, the commissioners propose to set up a WPA project for county men to work in conjunction with the soil station. County Relief Director Ross K. Lawrence conferred with the board and said such a project could be arranged. Mr. Lawrence pointed out that a similar project was operated by the commissioners at the soil station, prior to the establishment of a CCC camp.

The commissioners claimed that D. T. Herman of Columbus, a CCC official, informed them recently that the CCC camp near Fresno was being abandoned because their soil conservation work was completed. They also quoted Mr. Hermon as saying that any future work there would be in the nature of contour farming on land in that vicinity.

Two Injured When Auto Crashes Tree

Two county men escaped with minor injuries when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree on Route 643, one mile northeast of Keene, at 1:30 Sunday morning.

James Mowery of near Cooperdale, driver of the 1941 Ford coach, was taken to city hospital where he was treated for abrasions about the head and body bruises. Eddie McCormick, 313 South Third st., a passenger in the car, suffered a bump on the head.

Mr. Mowery said he lost control of his auto on the icy road. Considerable damage was done to the car.

Says Ireland Hopes To Remain at Peace

DUBLIN—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera said today that Eire intends not to enter the war "if we can possibly avoid it" and added "we will avoid it, please God, unless we are attacked."

"If we are attacked," De Valera said in a statement, "we will defend ourselves."

Shrine Planned For Rutherford

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Followers of Judge Joseph Franklin Rutherford, leader of the Jehovah's Witness sect, planned today to establish a shrine at the sprawling Spanish-style "House of Prophets" in which he died.

Altho Rutherford wanted to be buried "after sunrise and before sunset" on the day of his death, burial plans were delayed while the sect sought legal authority to place his body in a crypt at his house. Rutherford died Thursday at the age of 72, but his death was not revealed until Saturday night.

Given the 20-room, two-story, stucco house in 1930, he accepted it "in trust" and filed a deed asserting that the property would be held "until the arrival of the prophets who are to return in perfect human form and rule justly."

He surrounded the house with palm trees and olive trees "so that these princes of the universe will feel at home when they arrive."

Rutherford's group claimed a membership of 2,000,000 in 36 countries. It grew out of another called the Russellites, which was led by Charles Hayes Russell. When Russell died, Rutherford, a former Missouri attorney, became leader and named his followers "Jehovah Witnesses."

The group attracted attention because of its anti-war stand and its religious objections to children saluting the American flag in school.

Russians Strike in Arctic; American Planes Aid in East Indies As Enemy Attacks Islands

By UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's men today hurled back the initial "tremendous" wave of Japan's all-out attack on their Luzon positions and America's heavy bombers blasted a Japanese battleship—possibly the war's fourth—in slashing air defense of the Dutch East Indies.

Action on a front of thousands of miles sent the crash of bombs, the crescendo of big gun bombardment and the death chatter of machine-guns echoing over vast reaches of the far Pacific.

Developments:

American and Filipino lines in Bataan province stood firm against a terrific Japanese assault, repulsing with "heavy enemy losses," the first wave of a grand attack designed to overwhelm their positions.

A full-scale Japanese attack on the Dutch East Indies was launched with enemy landings in Dutch Borneo and the northern Celebes arm despite powerful intervention by the American and Dutch air arms.

A Japanese warship attacked the U. S. naval station at Tutuila in the Samoan islands—a key position on the island chain linking Hawaii and Australia—but inflicted only slight damage.

The Japanese, after five weeks of war today were engaged in three major offensives. These were the reduction of MacArthur's hard fighting forces in the Philippines; the opening phase of an attack on the Dutch islands, and the No. 1 Japanese offensive down the Malayan peninsula toward Singapore.

American planes and American fighting men were in the thick of it and the Dutch reported from Batavia that American warships shortly may be expected to shoot their way into action in defense of the East Indies.

The big news was the second major assault by forces of heavy American bombing planes, presumably flying fortresses and consolidated bombers, upon the major forces which Japan has assembled at the base she has established at Davao, 500 miles south of Manila, on the southern Philippines island of Mindanao.

The American bombers, despite low visibility, attacked a large

RANGOON, Burma—Japanese bombers attempted today in the mist and darkness of the early dawn to raid the airdrome north of Rangoon for the sixth time in seven days, but their bombs dropped harmlessly onto adjoining fields.

WASHINGTON — The war department in a communique today said that a heavy artillery duel is in progress along the entire Philippine front, with the Japanese moving up heavy reinforcements and increasing their air attacks.

BATAVIA, N. E. I.—Allied armed forces, including American flyers, struck heavy counter-blows against Japanese invaders of the East Indies today, bombing a Japanese cruiser and two enemy transports and shooting down four enemy planes over Celebes.

RANGOON — Royal Air Force planes ranged over Thailand today, strafed a railroad station and an airdrome, where three planes were destroyed on the ground, and wrecked a moving train.

BERLIN (Official broadcast recorded by UP in London)—An official news agency dispatch from Tokyo today said that Japanese had announced surrender of the Dutch defense forces on the oil-rich island of Tarakan, east of Borneo.

Used Tire Price Ceiling Is Set

Government Acts Against 'Gouging'

WASHINGTON. — Widespread profiteering at motorists' expense will be halted by the government's decision to fix prices on retreaded and used tires, price officials said today. The office of price administration said some dealers boosted prices on second-hand and retreaded tires as much as 100 per cent following the OPM order banning sales of new tires and tubes. Some tires which normally sold for $3.95 were said to have cost motorists —"overnight"—about $7.

To offsett "gouging," Price Administrator Leon Henderson issued an emergency price schedule on "retreadable" tire carcasses and retreads which are used for passenger cars, trucks, busses, agricultural implements, industrial machines, motorcycles and other common vehicles.

The schedule will be effective Monday, Jan. 19.

Henderson said a price ceiling over used tire prices will be imposed by the government "in the very near future."

All tire carcass prices, acceptable for retreading or recapping were seat at $1 50 for passenger cars. Here are the following prices you will pay after 8 a. m. Jan 19 for having your tires retreaded or recapped, (two grades):

	(A)	(B)
6 00x16	$ 7 50	$6 45
6.25x16	8.25	7 10
6 50x16	8.70	7 50
7.00x16	10 25	8 95
5 25x17	6 55	5.55
5 50x17	7 10	6.05

If you need a new retreaded or recapped tire, just add $1.50 to the price given for your size either in Grade A, the most expensive grade or camelback of Grade B, the second most expensive grade.

Junked Cars Doomed by Metal Drive

Great Need for Iron and Steel Scrap to Reduce Car "Graveyards"

OWNERS' AID ASKED

Woman Proposes Abandoned Farms Be Worked by Needy Persons

Immediate need for iron and steel scrap for war purposes will reduce automobile "graveyards" in and about Syracuse to a minimum, under orders from the Bureau of Industrial Conservation of the War Productions Board. The nation's scrapheaps contain from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 junked cars which must be turned into useful channels, Lessing J. Rosenwald, the bureau's director, has informed the owners. Syracuse has its share.

Field agents are to be sent out to request these "graveyard" proprietors to sell their dilapidated vehicles to scrap dealers. In the event of non-compliance, the Government, in 24 hours, can requisition the wrecks and call for lump sum bids on all the cars, the owners are being told.

Those who volunteer to strip their collections of all saleable parts and dispose of the scrap stel and iron to the highest bidder will be given a month, or possibly two, in which to complete the job. The others, the bureau states, may lose their cars with all the saleable trimmings still on them.

In a communication to The Herald-Journal, a Syracuse women signing herself as "A Farmer at Heart" offers a suggestion for iron salvage.

"There is a great need for iron," she writes. "Why not take down the old trolley line bridges throughout the countryside? There are many, doing no earthly good."

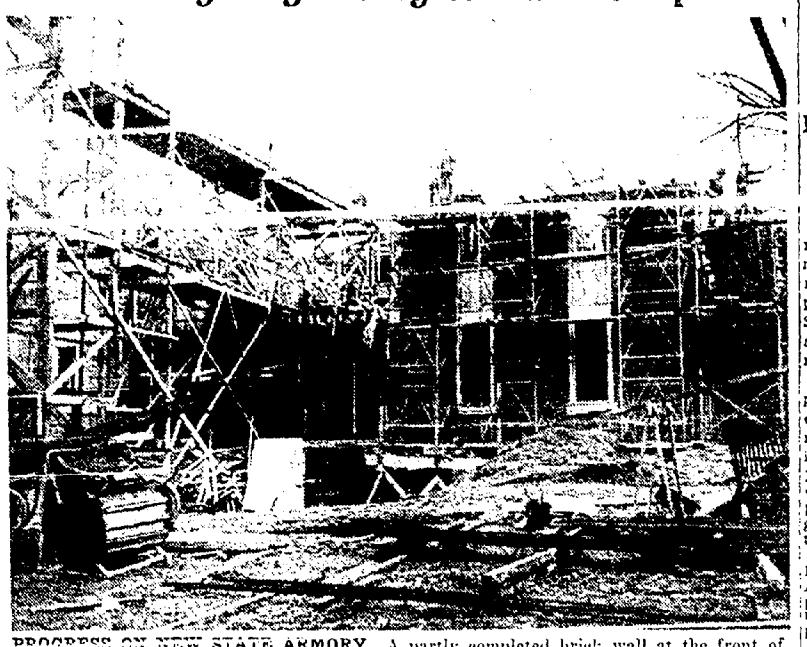

She also suggests the turning over of abandoned farms to "give the poor people a chance to work them and build them up without paying a heavy rent," and she adds: "There is so much going to waste it makes one envious when you ride through the country."

Whether or not the carrying out o fthe steel program will be one of the duties of the new Conservation committee of the Council of Defense is not yet known here. Samuel B. Sisson [illegible] of this committee by General Chairman Alexis N. Muench of the council on Saturday, will spend tomorrow in Albany, conferring with State defense and conservation officials on the duties of his group. Members of his committee are to be named this week.

The salvaging of waste materials needed by the Government is the purpose of the committee, but this is believed to have more to do with household and store accumulations of essentials, such as metal containers, tinfoil, toothpaste and shaving soap tubes, cardboard boxes, paper, rags, and similar odds and ends, than bulk steel and iron. However, the Sisson committee may be called upon to furnish the impetus that will clean out the junk yards of much needed metal.

Washington announces that the salvage of paper is most essential, and has urged the cooperation of manufacturers, distributors and the public in conserving its use and saving its scrap.

Nazis Must Feed Finns To Keep Ally

New Bribe Is Reported Keeping Helsinki in Line

By PAUL GHALI
Special Radio
Copyright, 1942, by the Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Bern, Jan. 26.—Torn between German pressure and her people's longing for peace, Finland today gives definite signs that Hitler's trump cards—food and military assistance—are keeping the upper hand.

A dispatch from Helsinki announces that Finnish Minister of Supplies Ramsay has returned home after a visit to Berlin, where he contacted Reich Minister of Agriculture Walther Darre. Ramsay's declarations to the Finnish press yesterday indicated that the results of the Berlin conversa- [illegible] that Finland's grain supplies were "assured" until the next crop. No figures on the amount of grain promised by Germany have been disclosed.

According to figures contained in a Stockholm dispatch to the Bern newspaper Bund, Finland needs 200,000 tons of grain to keep up her current rations. Germany previously promised 75,000 tons but, confronted by her Ally's unwavering insistence, she has now presumably decided to raise that quota.

An article by a Swiss professor at Helsinki University, Jean Louis Perret, published in today's Tribune de Geneve, reveals that "German generosity" has further allowed 2,000,000 kilograms of butter to the Finns in order to raise the February fat rations to 300 grams monthly. Fat rations in December had dropped to 150 grams monthly, which is about half of the severely curtailed French ration.

Not speaking of military assistance, the above examples from neutral sources depict how the Germans "blackmail" the Finns for continued participation in the common war against the Soviets.

To what extent German help will keep Finland at war depends mainly on two conditions:

(1) How long the Finnish troops will be able to keep up their resistance on the front. The highly qualified Finnish skiers are at their best now, as in the winter of 1940. Nevertheless, the latest communiques have mentioned no changes in the Ladoga-Karelian fronts.

The Finnish Army is undergoing the hardest test in its history. According to Bern observers, 15 per cent out of the 4,000,000 population of Finland have been called to the colors, of which 150,000 have been killed and disabled in both wars.

(2) How much food Germany will be able to put at the disposal of the Finnish government. A sidelight on this question is thrown by the Munchener Neueste Nachrichten (Munich). Speaking of the potato shortage in German cities, the paper attributes this to "lack of transport."

Undoubtedly, Germany, if in need, will endeavor to get all the supplies necessary to feed herself [illegible] occupied vassal states.

School Shake-up Seen As Registration Drops

Drastic shifting of teachers and pupils in the high schools, to meet an expected major slump in registration for the January-June term that commenced today, was indicated today by Dr. G Carl Alverson, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Alverson said there is no question but that the registration will be down considerably, as several hundred pupils have left school to take jobs in private industry.

During the September-January term just ended, some 647 students quit school to take jobs. The greatest leave-taking occurred in October, when 192 obtained working permits.

This number does not include these who obtained permits for part-time jobs so that they could work and continue their studies at the same time.

Dr. Alverson said it will be several days before the total registration figures are reported, and once these figures are available the work of shifting teachers and pupils will be started.

Dr. Alverson expects to meet with his staff of supervisors, directors and principals this week to discuss defense work, including evacuation of pupils in the event of an emergency.

Bernard O. Larsen, principal of Apprentice Training School, returned to his duties today after undergoing tonsil operation last week.

Western Union Offices to Sell Defense Stamps

To make it easier for the public to purchase defense savings stamps, 5,000 Western Union telegraph offices will place them on sale this week, the Treasury Department announced today.

A. N. Williams, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company told Secretary Morgenthau that in making stamps available in all its offices, the company desired "to encourage the widest possible participation in our nation's war effort." Mr. Williams also announced that Western Union has made available a voluntary payroll [illegible] employes to purchase defense savings bonds.

In a telegram acknowledging these undertakings, Secretary Morgenthau said the additional outlets for stamp sales "will be a major contribution to the defense savings effort."

Memorial Group To Elect Officers At Feb. 2 Meeting

The first 1942 meeting of the Memorial Association of Syracuse and Onondaga County, for election of officers, will be held on Monday, Feb. 2, at 8 P.M. in the assembly hall of the Court House.

Regular meetings will be held on the first Monday of each month following until Memorial Day activities. Under the leadership of Dr. Paul Steinberg, president, the association will make plans for Memorial Day services and decoration of veterans' monuments in city and county parks and cemeteries.

Reports of committees will be received at the first meeting. Dr. Steinberg has asked all commanders and presidents of affiliated organizations to send a list of delegates to the association to him not later than Feb. 1.

Accused of Attack, Man Pleads Guilty

Samuel Houseley, 33, of 823 South State Street admitted in Police Court today that he made an unprovoked attack upon Walter Klockowski, 36, of 505 East Fayette Street, Saturday night in the 100 block of South McBride Street.

Houseley pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was ordered held until Jan. 27 for sentence. He was arrested after leaping upon Klockowski and striking him in the face.

Employers Urged To Plan Replacement Of Inducted Men

Albany, Jan. 26 (UP).—Selective Service Director Ames T. Brown today urged employers to make necessary preparations for replacement of workers inducted into military service, but cautioned against such replacements until the prospective draftee actually has been called for duty.

Brown pointed out that many employers had been "replacing workers called for pre-induction physical examination although it is not certain the men will pass their examinations and be called for induction."

Brown also urged employes to request a leave of absence if they are called in order to prevent any employer from considering a workers' departure as a termination of his employment.

Woman Saved After Threatening Leap From 18th Floor

New York, Jan. 26 (AP).—For 55 minutes today Mary Kovatch, a 37-year-old cleaning woman, stood on the ledge of the 18th floor of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company waving to the crowd below and threatening to jump. Then, as she stepped back momentarily into the building, two [illegible] Herbert Juch, building superintendent who discovered the woman had not checked out of the building on schedule, said she ignored his pleas to leave the sill, shouting: "I'm poisoned." While she stood on the ledge, she tossed down a paper napkin on which was written: "I want help." She was taken to a hospital.

Canadian Farmers Demand Increase Of Produce Prices

Regina, Sask., Jan. 26 (AP).—A delegation of some 400 Saskatchewan farmers with a wheat pool petition signed by nearly 200,000 persons demanding higher prices for farm produce leaves next Friday on two special trains for Ottawa where they will meet Agricultural Minister Gardiner in a conference Feb. 2.

R. H. Millikin of Regina, wheat pool counsel, will go East in advance of the main party to complete arrangements. President J. H. Wesson and Secretary George W. Robertson, of the wheat pool, are already in Ottawa to attend the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention opening there today. They will remain in the capital to head the delegation placing the petition before the Government.

One major point in the petition is a demand for an initial payment of not less than $1 a bushel on wheat delivered to the Canadian wheat board compared with the 70 cents, Basis No. 1 Northern at the Lakehead and Vancouver, paid on the 1941 crop.

The petition also requests the government to accept the principle of "parity prices" for all agricultural products.

Any denomination of stamp up to $1 may be used by the members, who are divided into eight teams of 24 each.

Nazis Report Sinking of Spanish Ship

HELD SUBMARINE VICTIM. (AP—Wirephoto). A Berlin broadcast today reported the 5,473-ton Spanish freighter Navemar was sunk Saturday by a British submarine west of Portugal, and said the entire crew of 36 was believed lost.

Berlin, Jan. 26 (Official Broadcast recorded by AP).—A German dispatch from Madrid today reported that the 5,473-ton Spanish freighter Navemar was sunk Saturday by a British submarine 150 miles west of Cape St. Vincent, Portugal, and that the entire crew [illegible] of 36 was believed lost.

The cargo included 3,500 tons of grain destined for Switzerland, the dispatch said.

Milk Hearing Will Resume In February

Postponement Urged in Behalf of Proposed Added Areas

New York, Jan. 26 (AP).—Arguments on the proposed enlargement of the metropolitan milk marketing area, one of 85 proposed amendments to the Federal-State milk marketing orders, probably will be resumed about the middle of February.

Opponents of the enlargement—principally representatives of dealers and producers from Pennsylvania, where 16 counties would be included in the enlargement, and New Jersey, where nine counties would be included—had urged postponement of this issue on the ground that insufficient notice of the hearing had been given.

E. O. Mather, of the Bureau of Dairy Economics, Department of Agriculture, who moved for a postponement of this phase of the public hearings, said that his motion had not been influenced by these claims.

Glen J. Clifford, presiding officer appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture for the hearings, said that although the extra session regarding enlargement will actually be a resumption of discussion rather than a reopening, formal notices will be distributed to interested parties as soon as a definite date is decided upon.

Also to be taken up at the postponed session, he said, will be Amendment No. 2 dealing with level production; an amendment proposed by Dr. Leland Spencer, professor of marketing at Cornell University, which would revise zoning and producers payments; an amendment defining "new producers," and an amendment offered by the Dairymen's League concerning service to city dealers.

Mather explained that he moved for the postponement "because the dairy bureau feels it is most important to place before the Secretary of Agriculture testimony and evidence concerning the proposed increase in the price of fluid milk."

Testimony regarding the proposed increase of from 1½ to 2 cents was taken when the hearings opened here early this month and later at Utica and Binghamton.

Mather said it is "evident that both the advocates and opponents of Amendment No. 1 (enlargement of the marketing area) as well as the Department of Agriculture can [illegible] study its provisions."

Mrs. Morgenthau 'Pinch-Hitter' in Bond Sale Talks

Detroit, Jan. 26 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau has found his wife an invaluable pinch-hitter on tours to spur sales of defense bonds and honor sales drive leaders.

The secretary made two of his engagements here yesterday, but when a slight indisposition developed and kept him to his hotel room he called upon his wife for help.

It appeared she did a good job as, smiling and waving, she climbed atop a tank to make her husband's speech to workers in the Chrysler tank arsenal. She lauded the Sunday shift for "producing the things that are going to crush Hitler and the Japs."

Earlier Secretary Morgenthau participated in the award of a defense bond flag—blue banner with 13 white stripes and figure of a minute man—to the Great Lakes Steel Corporation. His wife presented a similar banner to the tank arsenal. The two employe groups were honored as the first in the nation in which more than 90 per cent have agreed to payroll deductions to buy bonds.

Rutherford's Body Unburied 3 Weeks After His Death

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 26 (AP).—The body of Judge Joseph Franklin Rutherford lay in a mortuary today, nearly three weeks after his death, while Jehovah's Witnesses made a final plea for permission to bury their leader in accordance with his dying wish.

Rutherford, 72, died Jan. 8, asking a simple burial at dawn the following day in an orange grove at Beth Sarim, the estate he kept ready for the resurrection of Biblical prophets.

Frustrated by county health authorities and the planning commission, who held that the estate was not a legally zoned cemetery, the international religious organization carried its fight to the Board of County Supervisors.

Witnesses charged that prejudice had caused authorities to refuse to waive the zoning law.

June in January Storm Hits N. Y. City

New York, Jan. 26 (AP).—That "shooting" early today which caused some frightened citizens to telephone the police was a June-in-January thunderstorm that hit the city along with lightning and a light snowfall.

The freak storm, the Weather Bureau explained, was caused by a mass of cold air coming into conflict with warm air.

Prospectors Get Shovel Priorities

Denver, Jan. 26 (INS). — The bearded prospector of the West is an important figure in the Nation's war effort and he's going to get his priorities right along with big defense industries, Dr. Wilbur A. Nelson of Washington, D. C., director of mine priorities, said today.

Under the plan announced, any prospector who desires may apply for a serial number and be granted priorities on shovels, picks and other materials he requires in this work, Dr. Nelson said.

Red Cross Invades Business Area in $170,000 Campaign

Booths Set Up in Stores, Banks, Public Buildings Downtown

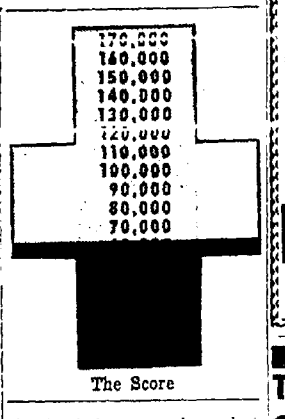

Collection booths were set up in 17 downtown stores, banks and public buildings this morning as Syracuse and Onondaga County Chapter of American Red Cross entered the second and final week of its war relief drive.

Campaign workers reported confidence they would achieve their $170,000 quota by the scheduled Saturday night deadline.

Each down town booth was under supervision of a Red Cross captain, with a staff of trained volunteers assisting. They will continue open from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. through Friday.

No tabulations have been made since Saturday night, when the campaign total to date was reported as $67,057.14. A large group of subscription teams is conducting the canvass throughout Syracuse and Onondaga County, soliciting residents at their places of employment rather than by a house-to-house check. All persons not reached by canvassers are urged to mail their contributions direct to Red Cross War Fund headquarters in the Loew Building.

Russians Are Getting First U. S. Supplies

Moscow, Jan. 26.—American war materials promised to Russia during the three-power conference here are at last beginning to arrive in the Soviet Union in quantities that count. Deliveries were slow in starting but have reached sizeable volume in the last couple of weeks. However, most of the stuff now being delivered was shipped from the United States prior to the beginning of the Pacific war.

It is naturally expected that the Pacific conflict will temporarily affect the flow of American munitions to this country, especially in certain categories required for the American war effort. Nevertheless, the Russians have been given to understand that despite modified delivery schedules, the United States has no intention of reducing the total amounts pledged to Russia over the long run. If anything, the quantities will be augmented when American production and shipping capacity ultimately makes that feasible, it is understood.

So far American and British material has not reached sufficient volume seriously to influence the course of the war in Russia. But it is a growing factor and by spring or summer should be making itself felt in an important way.

The United States is providing moral as well as material ammunition for the Russians against Hitler. Unabridged German translations of President Roosevelt's speech to Congress have been dropped by thousands over the German lines by Russian airplanes. The President's forecasts of the American airplane, tank and gun output during the coming two years appear in extra black type in these booklets, copies of which I have seen.

Another kind of leaflet, which the Russians have showered over German positions, tells of the 26-power Washington agreement and points out the futility of continued Nazi resistance against the opposition of the whole democratic world.

Most of this airborne propaganda, of which there is an infinite variety, bears the following postscript in German:

"German Soldier: When you surrender say the words, 'Long live Moscow, down with Hitler!' The Russian Command guarantees you your life, warm quarters, good food and the possibility of exchanging letters with your family."

Farm Bureau Asks Action Of Roosevelt

110 Per Cent of Parity in Price Control Urged in Appeal

Holding they are against inflation but that farmers must receive fair prices to compete with industry for labor, the executive committee of the Onondaga County Farm Bureau has appealed direct to President Roosevelt that the ceiling prices on farm products be fixed at no less than 110 per cent of parity.

The executive committee of the bureau took this action and is hopeful it will have some effect on the price control bill now pending in Congress.

Copies of the telegram, signed by Harold Loveless, secretary, were sent to United States Senators James M. Mead and Robert F. Wagner and Congressman [illegible].

The telegram read:

"Onondaga County Farm Bureau executive committee, by unanimous action, urged that the Secretary of Agriculture have prior approval of ceiling prices on farm products and that ceilings be fixed at not less than 110 per cent of parity.

"We do not want inflation, do not favor changing the established basic parity formula, but do insist upon that stated above.

"We wish to point out that farmers are only getting back to where we belong and it will take a considerable period of good prices to bring back losses of depression years.

"We also wish to point out that those dealing with price ceilings on farm products must understand that production costs of farmers are rising materially. Farmers must receive fair prices to compete with industry for labor."

Discussing the bill, committee members said that if ceilings be placed at parity it would not be attained due to the seasonal fluctuation in farm prices.

To date there has been no inflation in farm prices, they said, and stated the farmer is just beginning to get back where he belongs and that it will take a considerable period of good prices to build back the farm losses of the depression years.

TRAVER RECOVERING

Raymond B. Traver, county highway superintendent, was said today to be recuperating satisfactorily from a surgical operation performed in Memorial Hospital the first of last week. He is expected to leave the hospital in a few days.

All Enemy Aliens Must Register From Feb. 9 to 28

All German, Italian and Japanese aliens residing in the Syracuse area must apply for certificates of identification at the Federal Building between Feb. 9 and 28, Postmaster Cornelius J. Nugent announced today.

Mr. Nugent also announced the task of registering the so-called enemy aliens will be handled by Vincent J. Killian, foreman of the registry section, who had charge of the compulsory alien registration here in 1940.

In a warning to aliens who must register, Mr. Nugent said:

"Enemy aliens are asked to meet all government regulations and requirements, otherwise they will face prosecution."

Mr. Killian said that, of the 12,180 aliens residing in Onondaga County, approximately 3,000 are enemy aliens and will have to be re-registered.

The registrations will be filed with Arthur Cornelius, Jr., special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in charge of the Albany-up-State New York district.

Unlike the 1940 registration, enemy aliens must furnish three photographs of themselves, one to be attached to each form, the photographs to bear their signatures. The forms also are to be signed by the enemy aliens. Those for those 14 years of age or [illegible] pictures must have been made within 30 days of the time they register.

VINCENT J. KILLIAN

An enemy alien must also produce the registration card given him when he registered in 1940, and in event the card is lost, must apply to Washington for a new one.
